

2 ATLANTA GIRLS HELD PRISONERS BY ALLEGED COUNTERFEITER, CLAIM

HELD BY THREATS OF DEATH BY PAIR
IN NEW ORLEANS

Cecilia Beatty and Betty
Donaldson Accept Ride
Here and Are Abducted
by Autoists.

PAIR IS BELIEVED
FUGITIVES OF LAW

Men Put Up Desperate Battle When Found by U. S. Agents in New Orleans Apartment.

Mysterious disappearance of Cecilia Beatty, 15, and Betty Donaldson, 20, from their Atlanta homes more than three weeks ago was explained
Saturday when press dispatches revealed that the girls, abducted and carried on an automobile tour of several states, were the prisoners in New Orleans of an alleged counterfeiter, Jesse Herman Smith, of Birmingham, held by police in New Orleans for the alleged kidnapping.

While secret service operatives are seeking E. R. Ross, Atlanta youth, as another alleged member of the gang,
Linwood A. Collins, 32, of New Orleans, was arrested by detectives with Smith as the pair entered an apartment in a fashionable section of the city, where the two girls said they had been kept prisoner under threat of death since their arrival in New Orleans the middle of last week, according to press dispatches.

White a story told by the two girls of having accepted an automobile ride in Atlanta only to be taken on a wild tour of several states as prisoners, was under investigation, secret service operatives were endeavoring to apprehend Ross and connect him and Smith with a gang of counterfeiters which operated in Miami, Fla.

Beatty Refused to Talk.
Samuel J. T. Beatty, of 1035 Euclid avenue, N. E., father of Cecilia Beatty, Friday night refused to discuss the case, but it was learned from the department of justice, with whom
Mr. Beatty has been in constant touch, that he plans to go to New Orleans today to bring his daughter back to Atlanta. Efforts to get in touch with local relatives of the Donaldson girl were fruitless. At the Euclid avenue home, Mrs. Beatty said that her daughter left her residence three weeks ago last Tuesday, and that she had not been heard from since until found in New Orleans.

Continued on Page 6, Column 4

Al's 7 Dogs Will Patrol Albany Home

New York Governor Will Guard Clothes From Snatch Thieves.

Albany, N. Y., November 26.—(AP)—
By order of Governor Smith the seven dogs resident in the executive mansion must do patrol duty to earn their keep. The governor's decision followed upon the arrest of two snatch thieves who stole three coats from the mansion on Thanksgiving day.

150 ARRESTS MADE IN NEW ORLEANS

Federal Agents Swoop Down on 131 "Speak
Easies"; Several Women
Included in Arrests.

New Orleans, November 26.—(AP)—
Federal agents swooped down on 131 alleged "speak-easies," cafes and soft drink establishments here today and when they had completed their roundup shortly after 9 o'clock tonight well over 150 persons, including several women had been arrested on charges of violating the prohibition law.

The agents would make no estimate of the amount of liquor seized, but declared the raid had been more productive of results than the campaign of August, 1925, when several score persons were arrested and liquor valued at $2,000,000 seized.

Assistant Prohibition Administrator
A. H. Hoch, who directed activities in the absence of Administrator O. D.
Jackson, announced he had ordered a special investigation of a report from several raiding squads that persons upon whom warrants were served had boasted they knew in advance of the raid plans. The result of the investigation will be laid before Administrator Jackson for action, Mr. Hoch said. He was inclined to minimize the report, pointing out that comparatively few of the raids were unproductive of results in both seizures of liquor and arrests.

Continued on Page 6, Column 5

AL SMITH BOOM FOR PRESIDENCY DECLARED HALTED

New York Paper Says
Governor Will Not Consent To Have His Name
Placed on State Tickets.

New York, November 26.—(AP)—
The New York American will say tomorrow that Tammany Hall leaders, acting on express orders from Governor Alfred E. Smith, have temporarily abandoned negotiations with democratic spokesmen from other states to promote the governor's nomination for the presidency on the democratic ticket.

The Tammany representatives assert that prominent democrats from many states have called to offer their support to Smith. The American will say, but the governor has refused to receive the visiting delegations. He has informed Tammany leaders, the article will assert, that he will not talk about presidential nomination, nor do anything to influence the next democratic national convention.

The American will say that a delegation of Michigan democrats came to see Governor Smith a few days ago, seeking permission to place his name on the ticket in the Michigan primaries.

"The governor courteously but firmly declined to see the visitors,"
The American quotes its Tammany informant as saying. "He sent word that he would not consent to have his name on the primary ballot in Michigan or elsewhere."

The delegation replied that since the state laws did not require the consent of the candidate for use of his name, they would "go back home and put Smith's name on the ballot."

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO DISCUSS STORY.
Albany, N. Y., November 26.—(AP)— Governor Alfred E. Smith, when informed tonight of reports current in New York that he had ordered Tammany Hall leaders temporarily to abandon negotiations with democratic spokesmen from other states in preparation of his nomination for president on the democratic ticket, said:
"Don't know a thing about it."

SMITH IS ROOMED
IN WESTERN STATES.

Salt Lake City, Utah, November
26.—(AP)—A rapidly crystallizing sentiment for Al Smith in the west was reported today by an executive committee member of the "Al Smith for President" club recently organized at Ogden by representatives from several western states.

The meeting was called to organize the various state committees and press the campaign in their states.

Unofficial canvasses of democrats of several states have indicated much pro-Smith feeling and almost no anti-
Smith feeling, according to Fred W.
Johnson, of Rock Springs, Wyo., who was present at the meeting. He was appointed chairman of the club at the Ogden convention, September 23 and 24.

Legislators from Utah, Wyoming, Arizona and Idaho were present today and a telegram from the Montana member of the committee declared that Montana was "sure" for Smith.
State Senator Andrew R. R. of Nogales, Ariz., declared that reports from the officers and men of the overpowered before he could use the weapons.

In another raid one of the dry agents was bitten by a woman, who put up a desperate fight before she was subdued.

At "The Bat," the most widely known establishment visited by the raiding squads, a card index list of "members" was taken. The agents said, from the names revealed, it looked like a "financial and professional register of New Orleans." The names were not made public but they were sent to the United States district attorney's office for possible use as evidence in the case.

Atlanta Boy, 18, Girl 16, SCIONS OF PROMINENT FAMILIES TO FINISH EDUCATION Wed and Will Live Apart

Young Mr. and Mrs. Langley Thomas Shearer, who decided that they wanted to marry and did so. Their parents have decreed that they shall live apart until the groom has completed his freshman year at Oglethorpe, when they will be permitted to make their own home.

With the exuberance of youth, two young people, members of prominent Atlanta families, Saturday announced their wedding to astonished parents.
The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
J. Minor Estes, of 1009 Clifton road, is 16, while the bridegroom is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shearer, of 250 Hampton terrace, Kirkwood.

They embarked on their venture by elopeing November 21 to be married in the manse of the Rock Spring Presbyterian church. Saturday they reported at an executive committee meeting of the "Al Smith for President" club on the folks and after a hasty conference in which they were told that the were too young to settle down to married life, they decided to begin their wedded life apart, waiting until the husband can complete his freshman year at Oglethorpe.

Plea of Insanity By Remus Upheld By Two Witnesses

PLANS FOR WORLD
PEACE ATTACKED

Senator Borah Condemns
'Aggressor Nation' Idea
as 'Unworkable'; Would Make War Illegal.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—
World peace plans hinging upon the question of aggressor nations were condemned today by Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, as "unworkable."

Senator Borah, who has a resolution to declare war illegal as a basis for outlawing warfare, declared it is impossible to determine what nation is the aggressor.

This view is shared in part by President Coolidge and was brought forward following announcement by Senator Capper, republican, of Kansas, that he would introduce a resolution to outlaw war and to prevent the United States from trading with countries which wage aggressive warfare.

"So far as I am concerned," Senator Borah said, "I would not support a peace plan which recognizes war as legitimate at any time or under any circumstances. If war has to come, it should come in contravention and in violation of peace plans and international law and not under their aegis, approval or protection."

There never has been an "aggressor nation" and never will be in the sense that it would be a workable basis for the operation of the machinery of peace. There is no practical way in an emergency to determine what nation is an "aggressor nation." Indeed, there is no way to determine, it seems, after the war is over.

If you set up an arbitrary standard, such as treating that nation as an "aggressor nation" which refuses to arbitrate, you may accomplish the very reverse of what you desire to accomplish. An evil disposed nation could very easily so present the proposition that it would be impossible for a nation to arbitrate. Such a standard is purely artificial and might very easily compel a nation to choose between complying with an artificial standard and taking sides against a just and moral cause. This standard substitutes formality for substance."

Continued on Page 6, Column 2

LITHUANIAN PREMIER TELLS WORLD LEAGUE POLES THREATEN WAR

PROBE OF $50,000
ANTI-INHERITANCE
TAX LOBBY ASKED

Representative Johnson Asserts Committee Could Have Proved Large Payments to Witnesses.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—
An inquiry by the house ways and means committee into reports that $50,000 has been used to pay expenses of witnesses recently appearing before it in favor of repeal of the federal inheritance tax was demanded today by Representative Johnson, republican, South Dakota. He declared that if no committee member initiated such action he proposed to introduce a resolution demanding an investigation.

The South Dakotan said that he had advised Speaker Longworth of the report that "a well-financed anti-inheritance tax lobby" had been operating in the capital. He added that he also had written the speaker that if the committee, at the time of the recent tax hearings, had possessed authority to investigate, it could have ascertained what he said was a fact.

$50,000 Pay Off, Man.
"Had this committee possessed legal powers," Johnson's letter continued,
"it could undoubtedly have proven that the pay-off man of this group at the Raleigh hotel recently had approximately $50,000 in hundred dollar bills and paid off those hired to be in Washington to make the demonstration before the alleged committee."

"It could have been shown that $100,000 was contributed to this fund for the purpose of bribing or influencing interested in it."

Called Meetings Illegal.
Johnson, who is now undergoing treatment at Walter Reed hospital here, said that in his letter to the speaker he had argued that the recent tax hearings of the ways and means committee were illegal inasmuch as a resolution to give the committee authority to sit during the adjournment of congress had failed of enactment last session.

Johnson said that in connection with the reported activities of the inheritance tax lobby he had been advised that money was distributed so freely that in one case a world war veteran had been paid $400. He asserted he had been told the pay-off man, under the impression that the veteran had come from South Dakota to advocate repeal of the estate levy, paid him without question.

MITE BOXES, AID
IN CONTRIBUTION TO HOME MISSIONS

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—Mite boxes, those small cardboard receptacles in which widows and other women of scant means are wont to drop their charity offerings, contributed 20,567,180 pennies in 1927 toward the total of $3,252,549.33 received by the Woman's Home Missionary society, of the Methodist Episcopal church.

France Likely To Lift Paris
Gambling Ban

Sixty-Mile Restricted Zone Around City May Be Opened to Resorts.

Paris, November 26.—(AP)—Public gambling houses seem likely to flourish again just outside of Paris, around which there now is a 60-mile restricted zone.

The finance committee of the chamber of deputies has approved a bill abolishing this ban and many deputies are working earnestly for passage of the law. Andre Tardieu, minister of public works, among other prominent politicians, advocates additional facilities for the public to take a chance.

Parisians and their foreign guests at present are obliged to go to glorified gambling resorts such as Deauville, Le Touquet, Biarritz and La Baule, if they want to risk their money outside of the private gambling clubs and race track pari-mutuel clubs.

Some opposition may be expected in the chamber of deputies for it was activity of gambling wives of parliament members who spent their time and the money of their law-making husbands at the Engien casino, just outside of Paris, that had much to do with the enactment of the restrictive law in 1911.

54 Years a Railroader

Rail Veteran Begins 55th Year on Road

Henry J. Young, Southern Engineer, Once Piloted
the Famous "General."

Forty-four years of railroading will be celebrated today by Henry J.
Young, of 657 Ormeau avenue, engineer on the Atlanta-Columbus line of the Southern railway system. Mr.
Young is the oldest employee of the Southern from the standpoint of engine service.

Days when he sat at the throttle of the old "General," famous war between the states engine, on the Atlanta-Fort Valley run, were remembered Saturday by Mr. Young in discussing his career as an engineer. The "General," which was stolen by Andrews' raiders during the war, and recovered by the Confederates after a long chase, was used as a coal burner when Mr. Young drove it, and the wood burning stack was put back in place later when the engine was retired as a relic.

"The old 'General' was a fine locomotive in its day, but it is but a midget compared to the engines of today," Mr. Young commented. "Those were the days when we did not have any air brakes and worked 12 hours a day for a fourth of what we receive today for eight hours' work.
Each engineer was his own hostler then, and had to make his own repairs on the engine, while today an engineer rarely visits the shop at all."

Became Railroader in 1883.
Mr. Young entered railroading on November 27, 1883, as a fireman on the old East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, which later was taken over by the Southern. The imposing terminal station of today had not even been thought of then, and instead, the trains used an old wood-shed as a station. The superintendent's office then was at the northeast corner of Forsyth and Hunter streets.

Continued on Page 6, Column 1

GARVEY LIBERATED, TO BE DEPORTED

Negro "Ponzi" Leaves Atlanta Pen for New Orleans and Return to Native Jamaica.

Marcus Garvey, "black Ponzi," whose Black Star Line and his "Back to Africa" colonization project resulted in his receiving a five year sentence for using the mails to defraud,
Saturday started back to his native
Jamaica as an undesirable alien following the commutation of his prison term.

Whether Garvey's deportation will be accomplished smoothly was a matter of doubt, however, as it was reported that his attorneys were preparing to wage a battle to keep him in the United States. It was regarded as likely that the legal fight will be staged at New Orleans, Garvey having left for that city Saturday afternoon under guard.

Garvey will be deported to Jamaica through New Orleans, unless some unforeseen hitch occurs, it was said.
The official papers for his deportation arrived Saturday morning from Washington, and he was released early in the afternoon from the federal prison in the custody of immigration officials.

The negro was sentenced to federal prison in a case growing out of the operations of his Black Star steamship line and an African colonization project which drew thousands of dollars from negro citizens, and which aroused a tremendous amount of discussion among negroes.

NOTE INTIMATES PILSUDSKI BACKS LITHUANIAN FOES

Marshal's Friends Discuss How Long It Would Take to March to Kovno, Is Claim.

EUROPE SEETHING
AS PERIL GROWS

Red Russia Awaits First Opportunity To Retake
Rich Bessarabia From Rumania.

BY JACOB SIMON.

Kovno, Lithuania, November 26.—
(United News.)—Premier Woldemaras, of Lithuania, was understood tonight to have sent a new note to the League of Nations, adding details to Lithuania's original complaint about Poland's seizure of Vilna, former capital of Lithuania.

It was understood the new note alleged that Lithuanian emigrants in Tauragien, near Vilna, were organizing with the intention of invading Lithuania. The note concluded by alleging that persons "close to Marshal Pilsudski, (president and military dictator) of Poland, have discussed how many days it would take to march to Kovno."

Reliable, but unconfirmed reports, said garrisons in the provinces of Lithuania have issued an ultimatum to Premier Woldemaras calling upon him to resign and make room for a coalition cabinet. Attempts already were under way, the unconfirmed report said, to form a coalition ministry.

EUROPE IS SEETHING
AS WAR THREAT GROWS.

BY HENRY WALLS.
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Paris, November 26.—The chancel-eries and foreign offices of Europe are seething with activity and the telegraph lines between the capitals are buzzing with coded secret messages, as the various powers line up behind their allies and proteges from the Baltic to the Balkans.

Three danger signals, warning against another disturbance of the peace of the world are blazing brightly, causing serious misgivings among the diplomats and politicians playing their intricate game for the grim stakes of war or peace.

The Balkans, the canker of the old world's troubles, is the scene of two distinct danger spots—the complicated situation in Jugoslavia and Albania, puppets, with France and Italy respectively pulling strings—and Rumania, where the sudden death of Premier Bratianu has left the country in a state of confusion, and if former Crown Prince Carol at-

Continued on Page 3, Column 2

The Weather
FAIR AND WARMER.

Washington—Forecast:
Georgia—Fair and somewhat warmer Sunday; Monday cloudy; showers and somewhat colder in north portion.

Local Weather Report.
Highest temperature 69
Lowest temperature 53
Mean temperature 59
Normal temperature 54
Rainfall in past 12 hours, ins.00
Deficiency since Jan. 1, ins. 1.63
Deficiency since Jan. 1, ins. 18.36
Total rainfall since Jan. 1, ins. 25.82

7 a.m. N'n. T'm.
Dry temperature 54 60 61
Wet bulb 45 51 54
Relative humidity 50 55 63

Report of Weather Bureau Stations.
STATIONS AND STATE OF WEATHER Temperature Rain
T'm. H'm. I.in.

ATLANTA, clear	61	69	60
Augusta, clear	62	72	60
Birmingham, clear	68	76	60
Boston, clear	42	50	60
Buffalo, raining	52	58	22
Charleston, clear	62	68	60
Chicago, cloudy	62	64	7
Denver, pt. cloudy	54	64	00
Des Moines, cloudy	56	58	00
Galveston, clear	70	78	00
Hartford, clear	52	58	00
Harve, cloudy	58	62	00
Indianapolis, clear	68	74	00
Kansas City, pt. cloudy	68	70	00
Memphis, pt. cloudy	70	76	00
Miami, clear	74	78	00
Mobile, pt. cloudy	68	74	00
Montgomery, pt. cloudy	70	78	00
New Orleans, clear	68	74	00
New York, clear	46	52	00
North Platte, clear	60	68	00
Oklahoma City, clear	70	76	00
Phoenix, clear	68	76	00
Pittsburgh, cloudy	56	60	14
Raleigh, clear	62	68	00
San Francisco, clear	58	68	00
St. Louis, cloudy	68	74	00
Salt Lake City, cloudy	50	52	00
Savannah, pt. cloudy	60	68	00
Tampa, clear	70	80	00
Toledo, cloudy	60	68	00
Vicksburg, pt. cloudy	78	78	00
Washington, raining	52	68	7

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

A Bargain Rush Without the "Rush"

Every Sunday Constitution brings you a wealth of bargains offered in every line of fine merchandise by the best-known advertisers of Atlanta and the nation.

Now is a time when shopping becomes heavy.
Winter's advent; the harvest, with plentiful cash, and the approach of the holidays calls for more extensive buying. To realize cash savings on purchases, buy at direction of Constitution ads.

Advertising in The Constitution Pays the Advertiser and Saves the Buyer

Largest Home Delivered Circulation in Atlanta

Complete City and Suburban Circulation
Largest of Any Daily Paper in Atlanta

Wayne County Chief Will Be Tried Tuesday In Ernest Dyal Slaying

W. B. Aycock To Plead Self-Defense; Bride-Widow Will Be Chief State Witness.

Jessup, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—Wayne county is again over the approaching trial of W. B. Aycock, a chief of Wayne county police, on a charge of murdering Ernest Dyal, a son of a wealthy and prominent south Georgia family. Aycock will be tried Tuesday. In the trial a bride, Mrs. Ernest Dyal, will tell how her husband of two months was slain as he sat by her side in his parked auto on the Lane bridge road near Jessup on the afternoon of August 22. Aycock will plead self-defense. His attorneys will seek to prove that he fired only after Dyal had drawn a pistol and made a threatening move. Dyal's bride-widow will say that her husband was slain in cold blood—that he was not armed at the time of the shooting. To support her statement, Mrs. A. H. Nunn, who watched the scene from her front porch near by, will be placed on the stand by the prosecution. Aycock was indicted by the Wayne county grand jury last Monday. Aycock says that on that August afternoon, he was driving near Jessup with Captain W. Kemp, of the Atlantic Coast Line police. Dyal, he says, sped by and he gave chase, ordering the driver of the speeding car to stop. The chased auto came to a stop, and Aycock, unable to curb his anger in time, slid past and halted a short distance beyond. Suspicious, he alighted and went back. "What's the matter?" he says he asked Dyal. Whereupon, he says, Dyal drew a pistol and he shot twice to save his life. Dyal was killed almost instantly. Mrs. Dyal says that her husband was unarmed, and therefore did not draw any weapon. Mrs. Nunn corroborates in this particular—her story being that she did not see Dyal draw a pistol and that she was in full view of the entire scene. Immediately after the shooting Aycock told this story to fellow officers and to others. He was first arrested on a murder warrant obtained against him by Solicitor General W. B. Gibbs, of the Brunswick circuit. Interest was created in and around Jessup and throughout the county, due chiefly to the prominence of both Aycock and Dyal. A hard-fought and bitter legal contest is expected.

LITHUANIA WARNS NATIONS OF WAR

Continued from First Page.

tempts to return to the throne at the behest of certain political leaders seeking power.

Hungary Ready to Strike.

Hungary, deceived and despoiled by the Trianon treaty, is awaiting an opportunity to recapture the pillaged province of Transylvania and Bukovina and Bulgaria, shown of rich Dnieper valley between the Danube and the Black sea, seeks a moment to come into its own.

Far to the north the fate of Lithuania trembles in the balance with Poland preparing the public opinion of the world to accept the seizure of what is left of the little state since General Zeligowski grabbed the principal city and capital, Vilna, and huge strip of land cutting the country off from Russia in 1920.

South of this line sets red Russia with the largest army in the world, quiet arm, ready to seize an occasion to retake the vast granary, Bessarabia from Rumania when the time is propitious, and to intervene by force of arms if necessary against Warsaw's determination to overrun Lithuania via Estonia, the soviet sole gateway through neutral territory to western Europe.

Germany Backs Russia.

Germany, determined to maintain untrammeled communications with her economic outlet, Russia, supports Moscow's debt to Poland, but France, tied to Warsaw by a military alliance, is forced to support Marshal Pilsudski's ambitions or risk smashing the little entente ring it forged between the Teutons and the Slavs.

Great Britain, stung to reprisals by the bolshevik domination among the Chinese, which wrecked its commercial stranglehold on the Celestial empire's economic life through the promulgation of a boycott of English goods and tearing up the English concessions, lends a favorable ear to Poland's honored suggestion of a "union" with Lithuania, thereby cutting the reds' line of transit with the rest of Europe.

Confidential reports reaching here from Warsaw state that Poland already has concentrated sufficient troops and cavalry in the vicinity of Vilna to march through Lithuania and seize the freeport to Motal, torn from Lithuania and administered by the League of Nations since four years ago.

Depend on Lithuania.

The fate of the other Baltic states—Estonia and Latvia, carved fringes of the pre-war German and Russian empire—depends on Lithuania, as the Warsaw leaders envisage a greater Poland, eventually swallowing the entire Baltic.

Poland aims to appease Germany by relinquishing its grip on the Danzig corridor, which amputates East Prussia from the Reich, but maintaining the right of free transit and granting Moscow certain rights in Estonia.

The Balkan border has been flaring up since France and Jugoslavia signed a treaty last week, which Premier Mussolini immediately translated as an alliance against Italy, and rejected it in a radio speech.

With Albania practically making the little Adriatic state a military base for the Italian operations on the Balkan peninsula.

France has found the treaty with Belgrade an excellent counterweight to the Fascist demonstration along the Mediterranean frontier with batteries of Italian field guns holding target firing along the border and spent shells falling into the French vineyards. Here, too, Great Britain's interest is awakened, just as it was when Premier Mussolini seized Corfu and defied the League of Nations. The London admiralty is seriously concerned over Rome's appropriating such potential dominating the entrance to the Adriatic and nullifying Malta.

First Story Is Defense.

The defense lawyer who will stand on Mrs. Lilliendahl's first statement that her husband was killed by two negroes.

The aged physician was motoring with his wife on September 13, when Mrs. Lilliendahl says, they were stopped by two negroes in another automobile. The men jumped on the run-down board of the Lilliendahl car and shot and robbed the physician and then fled.

Mrs. Lilliendahl was found by a truck driver on a highway near Hammon, and was taken to state police barracks at Hammon. She was detained there several days when the police doubted her story. Police investigation led to the arrest of Beach and he and the widow were jointly accused of killing the doctor.

So far as is publicly known, the pistol with which the doctor was shot twice had not been found.

Mrs. Lilliendahl, who is 42, has a son about eight years old. He is with control of the soviet oil export or to cut off its markets.

Mrs. Lilliendahl Happy as Date Of Trial Nears

Drastic Changes In Immigration Laws Are Urged

Washington, November 26.—(United News.)—Pressure from many sources will be exerted to persuade congress to tighten the restrictive American immigration policy this winter.

Secretary of Labor Davis, Immigration Commissioner Harry E. Hull and Representative Albert Johnson, republican, Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration and naturalization, each will place before congress recommendations to tighten the immigration laws.

Johnson will re-introduce his bill providing for deportation of aliens who have committed criminal offenses. The bill passed the house in 1926, but was rejected by the senate.

Johnson also is sponsoring a bill to reduce by one-half immigration quotas now in effect. Recently he has spent considerable time in California studying the Mexican labor question.

He is opposed to the continued flood of Mexican workers into the United States and may introduce a bill seeking to regulate immigration from that country. Johnson will be supported by Commissioner Hull.

Johnson also may introduce a bill

his uncle, Mrs. Lilliendahl's brother, at Bridgeport, Conn.

Beach is 57 and married. He has a grown-up son and daughter who live with their mother at the Beach home in South Vineland.

Drastic Changes In Immigration Laws Are Urged

Washington, November 26.—(United News.)—Pressure from many sources will be exerted to persuade congress to tighten the restrictive American immigration policy this winter.

Secretary of Labor Davis, Immigration Commissioner Harry E. Hull and Representative Albert Johnson, republican, Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration and naturalization, each will place before congress recommendations to tighten the immigration laws.

Johnson will re-introduce his bill providing for deportation of aliens who have committed criminal offenses. The bill passed the house in 1926, but was rejected by the senate.

Johnson also is sponsoring a bill to reduce by one-half immigration quotas now in effect. Recently he has spent considerable time in California studying the Mexican labor question.

He is opposed to the continued flood of Mexican workers into the United States and may introduce a bill seeking to regulate immigration from that country. Johnson will be supported by Commissioner Hull.

Johnson also may introduce a bill

Washington, November 26.—(United News.)—Pressure from many sources will be exerted to persuade congress to tighten the restrictive American immigration policy this winter.

Secretary of Labor Davis, Immigration Commissioner Harry E. Hull and Representative Albert Johnson, republican, Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration and naturalization, each will place before congress recommendations to tighten the immigration laws.

Johnson will re-introduce his bill providing for deportation of aliens who have committed criminal offenses. The bill passed the house in 1926, but was rejected by the senate.

Johnson also is sponsoring a bill to reduce by one-half immigration quotas now in effect. Recently he has spent considerable time in California studying the Mexican labor question.

He is opposed to the continued flood of Mexican workers into the United States and may introduce a bill seeking to regulate immigration from that country. Johnson will be supported by Commissioner Hull.

Johnson also may introduce a bill

Washington, November 26.—(United News.)—Pressure from many sources will be exerted to persuade congress to tighten the restrictive American immigration policy this winter.

Secretary of Labor Davis, Immigration Commissioner Harry E. Hull and Representative Albert Johnson, republican, Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration and naturalization, each will place before congress recommendations to tighten the immigration laws.

Johnson will re-introduce his bill providing for deportation of aliens who have committed criminal offenses. The bill passed the house in 1926, but was rejected by the senate.

Johnson also is sponsoring a bill to reduce by one-half immigration quotas now in effect. Recently he has spent considerable time in California studying the Mexican labor question.

He is opposed to the continued flood of Mexican workers into the United States and may introduce a bill seeking to regulate immigration from that country. Johnson will be supported by Commissioner Hull.

Johnson also may introduce a bill to provide forfeiture of American citizenship by persons who have taken the fascist oath. Another change advocated by Johnson would require an alien to live in this country ten years instead of five as at present before being eligible to citizenship.

Would Admit Aliens' Wives.

Secretary Davis will recommend to congress admission of wives and minor children of aliens married at the time of their entry and admitted to the United States for permanent residence prior to July 1, 1924.

Other changes in immigration laws to be recommended by Davis are:

1. Extension of the non-quota status to unmarried minors who are children of American citizens; to the husbands of an American citizen; and to an alien born in the United States who has for some reason lost citizenship.
2. Exemption of all North American Indians (including natives of adjacent nations) from the provision forbidding aliens ineligible to citizenship to enter this country.
3. Preference for "contract laborers" within quotas which may be authorized to enter.
4. A new procedure for granting preference within the quota to aliens "skilled in agriculture," and their families.
5. Classification of alien students as non-immigrants instead of the present classification of non-quota immigrants, with the provision the government be permitted, when deemed necessary, to require bond for admission.
6. Codification and strengthening of existing deportation provisions with new classes of deportable aliens to be created, among them alien narcotic peddlers.
7. Penalties as well as deportation for persons reentering the United States unlawfully after having been previously deported.
8. Imposition of fines on steam-

JUNKERS SEAPLANE FAILS ONCE AGAIN TO RISE FROM SEA

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, November 26.—(AP)—The Junkers plane D-1230 made another unsuccessful attempt to hop off for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The plane made several attempts earlier in the week to continue the journey with the three members of its crew and its passenger, Lilli Dillenz, a young actress. It started from Nordenf, Germany, over a month ago.

The German consul and the Junkers crew told The Associated Press today: "We earnestly request you to tell the American public that rumors of disagreements among the crew are unfounded."

(Johann Ristic and Alexander von Benheim replaced Ralph Starke and Karl Loebe, who flew the plane from Germany last Saturday. Shortly after the replacement reports of disagreements among the new crew developed. Friedrich Loose, one of the original crew, is still with the plane.)

Batavia Epidemic.

The Hague, November 26.—(Dispatches from Batavia state that a cholera epidemic has broken out, taking among its toll many Europeans. One hundred thousand natives were vaccinated this week. The authorities have declared the city contagious, according to the contagious diseases act.

GENERAL CHIANG AND WELLESLEY GIRL WILL MARRY

Shanghai, November 26.—(AP)—General Chiang Kai-shek, one time nationalist generalissimo, and Miss Wellesley, a young American girl, will be married on December 1, it was announced today. About thousand prominent Chinese political leaders have been invited to the ceremony.

Miss Soong, who is a member of the widely known Soong family in China, is a sister of Madame Su Yet Sen, widow of the Chinese republic leader, and T. V. Soong, the nationalist financial expert. General Chiang Kai-shek, who has been taking a more active part in nationalist politics recently, made a trip to Japan to obtain the permission of the Soong family for the marriage.

PRESIDENT SAILS FOR WEEK-END TRIP ON MAYFLOWER

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge sailed on the Mayflower today for a week-end cruise.

Their guests were Senator and Mrs. McNary, of Oregon; Senator and Mrs. Oddie, of Nevada, and Senator and Mrs. Dale, of Vermont; Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Clark.

Mr. Clark is personal secretary to the president.

MANHATTAN SHIRTS

A Really Fine Shirt That Is Not Expensive

WHEN you buy a Manhattan Shirt for dress, sports or business wear, you buy a finely tailored garment, of stylish, tasteful pattern and durable fabric.

If you want to solve your shirt problem for all time and find out what real satisfaction is—standardize on Manhattan Shirts. There's a variety to choose from for every occasion and they are as durable as they are good-looking.

Come In Tomorrow And See The New December Arrivals

$2.50 To $5.00

New Neckwear—Gloves—Fancy Socks and Hosiery

Parks-Chambers Inc.

MOTHER!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feverish

Look at the tongue, mother! If it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a spoonful of "California Fig Syrup" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and our bile gently moves out of the little ovals without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative"; her love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold everywhere. To be sure you get the genuine, use any other kind with contempt. Ask to see that it is made by the (adv.)

SOVIET DELEGATION ARRIVES IN GENEVA

Geneva, November 26.—(United News.)—The Soviet Russian delegation to next Wednesday's meeting of the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission arrived today.

Because of fear that monarchists might try to assassinate the leaders, the Swiss government intends to place the delegation under heavy guard.

The members will stay at a special hotel, which will be guarded both by detectives and uniformed policemen. No one will be admitted to the disarmament meeting without an identification card, and no automobile will be permitted to park in the courtyard.

Sixteen persons comprised the delegation, including four women. They drove in closed motorcars to their headquarters at the hotel De La Paix, where the entire third floor and a private dining room had been reserved for them.

Few persons of the large crowd that gathered at the railway station to stare at the visitors were permitted on the train platform. There was a strong police guard.

LITHUANIAN GOVERNMENT OVERTHROWN REPORTED.

London, November 26.—(AP)—In connection with a report of the overthrow of the Lithuanian government Reuters Berlin correspondent says there has been no news from Lithuania since last night, when a Kovno message reported that proclamations had been posted about the city summoning the citizens to participate in an armed uprising against the Waldemaras government.

The movement was said to be engineered by Lithuanian emigres under Colonel Pletskaitis, who is alleged to have assembled his adherents at Vilna with Polish support, intending to march against Kovno.

It is also reported from Berlin that Premier Waldemaras in a note to the League of Nations declares he has positive information of the formation of an army of Lithuanian emigres, organized with Polish aid.

UKRAINE REVOLUTION DENIED BY RUSSIA

Moscow, Russia, November 26.—(AP)—The Russian foreign office made a flat denial this evening that there was any revolutionary movement in Ukraine. It was stated that there was not even a semblance of unrest there.

BRATIANU WARNED OF BALKAN DANGERS.

London, November 27.—(Sunday AP)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Sunday Times sends an interview which he had with the late Premier Bratianu on November 7, in the course of which the premier reviewed the whole field of European relations with special reference to the Balkans.

M. Bratianu is quoted as asserting that Mussolini's policy might one day bring about war, even if Mussolini himself desired to avoid it. In this connection the premier deplored the relations existing between Italy and Jugoslavia, but added that Italy could do little without Great Britain's support.

He voiced a striking warning of the consequences of any attempt to extend Hungary's existing frontiers.

ITALIAN KING APPROVES OF ALBANIAN PACT

Rome, November 26.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel in a message to Ahmed Zogu, president of Albania, declares that the Italian people wholeheartedly rejoice at the conclusion of a defensive pact between Italy and Albania, and the concentration of their century-old friendship.

The collaboration of Italy and Albania, the monarch added, "fulfills the constant desire of my country to safeguard the peace and independence of the proud and noble Albanian people and the pact will therefore be an efficacious instrument of fruitful progress."

Ahmed Zogu, in a telegram to the king, expresses "sentiments of devoted admiration and profound thankfulness of my country to your august person and the noble Italian nation."

SOVIET ENVOY DENIES TROUBLE IN UKRAINE

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—Boris E. Skvirsky, through the soviet union information bureau here, today issued the following statement: "I have received a cable from the soviet foreign office emphatically denying the story originating in a newspaper in Bucharest, Rumania, and extensively circulated in the United States, about uprising and disorder in the Ukraine. There have been no such disturbances in the Ukraine or in any other part of the soviet union."

"The autumn crop of fake stories about the soviet union has been particularly large in a number of European capitals. It has grown amazingly since Sir Henri Deterre and his associates failed either to gain

FRANCO-JUGO-SLAV TREATY RATIFIED

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, November 26.—(AP)—King Alexander today ratified the Franco-Jugo-Slavian treaty of friendship and arbitration.

Commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium were ratified by parliament unanimously. Both include most favored nation clauses.

PEACE PRESERVATION DEPENDS ON POLAND

Moscow, Russia, November 26.—(AP)—The soviet note presented by M. Bogomoloff, to the Warsaw government Thursday, as published here, points out that the preservation of peace depends to a much greater extent on Poland than on Lithuania. It cannot be to Lithuania's interests, in view of her resources, to seek a solution of her claims through an armed conflict.

The note says that while the soviet government has also called Lithuania's attention to the need of avoiding steps likely to aggravate the situation, it is convinced that the solution of the dispute can be reached only by peaceful means, and invites Poland's attention to the immeasurable dangers of any Polish attempt to infringe Lithuanian independence.

FRANCO-JUGO-SLAV TREATY RATIFIED

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, November 26.—(AP)—King Alexander today ratified the Franco-Jugo-Slavian treaty of friendship and arbitration.

Commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium were ratified by parliament unanimously. Both include most favored nation clauses.

Don't Let a Cold Put You on Your Back

A cold is a serious germ attack, highly contagious. Don't neglect it for an hour. Nobody knows where a cold may lead.

Four things should be done for a cold—and at once. Break the cold, check the fever, open the bowels, tone the system.

HILL'S Cascara-Bromide-Quinine

This is the only music store where you will find side by side for careful comparison the world's greatest phonographs—Victor, Brunswick and Columbia.

Orthophonic Victrola

Have an Orthophonic Victrola in your home for the Christmas holidays. Here at Cable's you can have your choice of the very latest models, all beautifully finished in brown or red mahogany and walnut. Enjoy the best in reproduced music of every kind. Fully equipped with albums $300.00

Viva-Tonal Columbia—your choice of the latest famous Viva-Tonal Columbia in any of the new shades and tones of walnut and mahogany. Any of these marvelous instruments will bring to your home new musical delight. You can buy this Viva-Tonal Columbia on exceptionally easy terms . . . $90.00

Special Christmas Offerings

Cable-made Upright—Moderately priced, yet a fitting instrument for the best homes. Fully guaranteed—a quality-built piano in every respect. Charming case lines of unusually graceful proportions. Has a tone of clear, singing quality. Specially priced now at $360

Cable-made Player—As fine an Inner-Player Piano as there is on the market. Quality-built from top to bottom in our own great factories. Possesses many features not found in ordinary players. The tone is rich and resonant. Modern lines in case designing, and handsomely finished. One of the highest resale values in the player field. An exceptional value at $595

Kingsbury Grand—Built in our factory which specializes in Grand Pianos—hence the high quality at such an unusually low price. Especially suited in size and tonal volume for apartments and small homes. Beautifully finished, and of charming case lines. This is not a stencil piano. One of the biggest values on the street. Now only $750

Cable Baby Grand—An exceptionally high quality art product. Built in our own factories. Very compact, requiring little space, yet possesses a volume and tonal richness not to be found in many larger grands. Exceptionally pleasing lines. Case-work, beautifully finished mahogany. An instrument you'll be proud to have in your home. Priced now at only . . . $950

The Mason & Hamlin—The finest piano that money can buy. Musically the most beautiful piano the world has ever known. Used and endorsed by leading musicians everywhere. Mason & Hamlin Baby Grand, now offered at $1,800

A Small Initial Deposit will place any piano or phonograph in your home now—or we'll hold for Christmas delivery if you prefer. Balance on easy payments to suit your convenience. We urge immediate selection, as holiday buying will quickly deplete our present stock. Your old piano accepted as part payment

CABLE Piano Company

Home of the Celebrated Mason & Hamlin Piano
84 Broad St., N. E. WAL. 1041

HOMES FOR COAL STRIKERS SOUGHT

Pittsburgh, November 26.—(P)—The task of providing housing facilities for 3,200 striking coal miners and their wives and children today held the attention of officials of the United Mine Workers.

The strikers have occupied houses owned by coal companies for eight months, retaining possession by appealing eviction actions to the higher courts. The eviction decision early this week was in favor of the companies, and it is expected that the higher court's opinion will be filed with the sheriff here for execution early next week. The union, at the present time, is caring for more than 13,000 persons in barracks and other houses.

Union leaders said that while counsel for the miners might appeal to the United States supreme court in an effort to halt the evictions, they must be prepared to care for the strikers and their families in the event the decision is made not to appeal. Phil Murray, international vice president of the union, said that some nine superintendents already have notified strikers to vacate the houses. Officials of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation said they wanted to obtain possession of the houses as soon as possible to provide shelter for non-union workers. They added the strikers were notified of the court decision so they could obtain other houses before the sheriff proceeds to evict them.

Murray reports that if the strikers

Iowa School Boy Captures Junior Livestock Honor

Chicago, November 26.—(P)—A 17-year-old Iowa high school boy is the new grand champion junior livestock raiser of the United States.

Clifford Johnson, of Elkhorn, won the title today at the Four-H club judging contests held as a chief event of the opening day's program at the international livestock exposition. His yearling calf, Corroctor, brought him the national championship, with Tim Pierce, a 15-year-old lad from Creston, Ill., running second.

Young Johnson also won first prize in two of the judging contests. Johnson attributed his success partly to feeding cracked barley and cracked corn.

Richard McIntyre, of Charleston, Ill., won first prize in the Short-horn steer class; Johnson won the Hereford class, and William Wilson, of Muncie, Ind., the Angus selection.

and their families were forced to move out immediately, the union would shelter them, but he was not certain that barracks could be erected in time. Thomas Kennedy, executive of the United Mine Workers, recently informed labor leaders that the union expected to expend $500,000 during the next few months in construction of barracks.

SARAH BOWMAN GETS HIGH RANK IN GIRL SCOUTS

After five years of active participation in various activities of the Girl Scouts, Miss Sarah Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bowman, of Peachtree Hills avenue, and a member of the Peachtree Road Troop No. 29, will be awarded the rank of Golden Eagle at a dinner meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' association Thursday night.

Miss Bowman will be presented by Mrs. C. V. Logan, leader of Troop No. 29, and will receive the award from Miss Corinne Chisholm, national staff representative of the Girl Scouts in Juliette Low region. Miss Bowman has been a member of Troop No. 29 since its organization five years ago and is now assistant leader. She was recommended by the local council to receive the signal award of Golden Eagle.

ATLANTA DOCTOR SHOT HUNTING NEAR LEXINGTON

W. O. Martin, of Oakdale road, was called to Athens, Ga., early Saturday afternoon to the bedside of his son, Dr. Nelson Martin, who accidentally shot his foot while hunting near Lexington, Ga., it was learned Saturday night. No details of the accident have been received here.

Dr. Martin, in company with Dr. Caldwell Holliday and George H. Holliday, both of Atlanta, and W. T. Cunningham, of Lexington, Ga., had been on a three-day hunting trip, as the guests of Dr. Cunningham and were near Lexington Saturday, when Dr. Martin was accidentally shot. He was rushed to a hospital in Athens, Ga., and was reported to be resting well late Saturday night.

HURT BY BRICKS Well Digger Suffers Fractured Ribs and Broken Shoulder.

The proverbial "ton of brick" Saturday descended upon H. E. Byrd, 45, of Oak Grove, a well digger, and he is now in Grady hospital with three ribs and his right shoulder broken as a result of what bystanders declare to be a miraculous escape from death.

Byrd was cleaning a well at a residence on Hill street, when the windlass broke, allowing a bucket of brick to come crashing 50 feet down upon his shoulder. A helper called for aid, and a rope was tossed down to the injured man, who was able to tie it around himself and be hauled up.

FORMER SAXON KING BARS SERIAL STORY

Dresden, Germany, November 26.—(P)—Former King Frederick August, of Saxony, like the former kaiser, has his hands full keeping out of the limelight of theater and fiction. Frederick August today refused to join in publication in the periodical "Dresdener Echo" of a serial story called "Das Schlossgespenst" (The Castle Ghost), in which one of the characters is the king thinly disguised.

The former kaiser obtained an injunction Thursday against portrayal of himself in the play "Rasputin" by Alexei Tolstoy, at the communist theater.

CAPT. GORDON BETTER AFTER OPERATION

Captain J. L. Gordon, veteran Atlanta police officer in charge of the morning watch at police station, was reported resting well Saturday night, following a major operation earlier in the day.

During his absence Captain Gordon's place will be filled by Lieutenant O. R. Jones.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN EARNING MORE MONEY? Big money in drilling wells. Write for catalogue showing our well drills and riggers. Sold on easy terms. Gus Pach Foundry & Mfg. Co. 400 Clark St. LeMars, Iowa.

Terrible—Dangerous Pellagra CAN BE Cured

Are your lips, throat, tongue sore and red, with much mucous and choking? Are your hands red, skin peeling, feel sick, extremely weak? Check these danger signals of dread pellagra NOW and prevent the development of this terrible disease into the frightful advanced stages which affect the brain.

Pellagra can be cured if taken in time. Act NOW. Take no chances. Neglect of early symptoms may bring results that will cast the shadows of despair and agony over your entire life. Pellagra can be cured. Free proof to you.

Write now for 50-page book describing signs and symptoms, stages of development and startling new scientific facts about cause and cure of this horrible affliction. Send no money, just your name and address.

AMERICAN COMPOUNDING CO. Box 587-A, Jasper, Ala. Dr. D. D. Hollis, Chief Medical Adviser. Valuable Pellagra Book Sent FREE.

Kidney and Bladder Pain

Promptly Ease by SANTAL MIDY Be sure to get the Genuine Look for the word "Midy"

VITAL PROBLEMS AWAIT CONGRESS

Washington, November 26.—(P)—The 70th congress has made a running start for its first session, which begins a week from Monday, but it has a long, hard winter and spring ahead of it.

The host of returning senators and representatives today found a tax revision bill and several appropriations measures practically ready for house action, and a fair beginning made on the tremendous problem of flood relief.

Likewise, organization slates in the two houses have been set up for formal approval with every indication that the republican majorities would again have control of the senate and the house.

While organization of the house bill will be perfected on the opening day, that of the senate may be delayed until the second or third day while the row over the seating of Senators-elect Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, republican, is being threshed out.

Senate Fights.

Thus the senate as well as the house will start right out on some of the most important questions which will face it and the Christmas recess is apt to find the Smith-Vare case disposed of and the tax reduction measure passed by the house.

The Smith-Vare fight will be launched when those senators-elect are called to take the oath of office. Objection is to be raised to administering the oath and after the free discussion, in which the senate invariably indulges, a majority will decide the question.

Leaders on both sides predict that neither Smith nor Vare will be given the oath and that their cases, involving expenditures in their primary campaigns, will be referred to the elections committee.

Organization of the senate is expected to follow the vote on the oath to these members and then the two houses will appoint the usual committee to notify President Coolidge that congress is ready to function.

On the day following, the president's annual message will be sent to Capitol Hill and the flood of annual reports from various governmental departments and agencies will descend upon congress.

As the members continue to come into town during the pre-session week, party leaders who have been here for some time will hold various conferences in an effort to iron out some of the difficulties which are to beset the new congress.

Some Differences.

One of these will be the division of committee representation between the republicans and democrats. The minority in the senate probably will be given an additional place on each of the important standing committees with the republican memberships reduced by one.

Senate republicans will have their party conference next Saturday to make up its slate of officers with the prospect that George Moses, of New Hampshire, will be renominated as president pro tempore and Edwin P. Thayer, of Indiana, as secretary of the senate.

During the opening days members will be most concerned in introducing measures and the bill clerks will be worked day and night seeking to keep their heads above the flood.

All measures, or practically all, which died with the 69th congress will be reintroduced. These number far into the thousands. In addition there will be many new bills, dealing with claims, pensions, bridges, farm relief, Muscle Shoals, railroad consolidation and the many other problems with which the 70th congress will have to deal before the adjournment gavel falls a few days in advance of the meeting of the republican national convention in June.

North Carolina And Virginia Join In Opening Road

South Hill, Va., November 26.—(P)—Virginia and North Carolina clasped hands anew today at the state line in a formal ceremony marking the opening of federal highway No. 1 from Canada to southern Florida.

Governor Harry F. Byrd, representing Virginia, and Governor Angus W. McLean, of North Carolina, opened gates between the two states and shook hands across the line. The same form of greeting was given by H. F. Schuler, Virginia highway commissioner, and Frank Page, North Carolina commissioner.

"The event we are celebrating today is merely another evidence of the close relationship that has existed from the very beginnings of the two colonies," the North Carolina governor said. "This slash of cement is only an outward sign that the ties of friendship between us are cemented all the closer."

The opening of the gates over this imaginary boundary line is symbolic of the utter absence of any barrier between the Old North State and the Mother of States.

Governor Byrd of Virginia, former Governor Trinkle of Virginia, and the two states' highway commissioners also spoke on the benefits to be derived from this great trans-continental highway, the Virginia link of which was opened today.

TOWN BALL East Point Citizens Disport Selves in Old Game.

East Point, Ga., November 26.—The old sages of East Point joined in an old-fashioned game of town ball on the athletic field of the William A. Russell High school, which was sponsored by the pupils of that school.

The choosers were Dan McDuffie and Tom Callaghan, and the referees were Hon. Ed. R. Humphries and Professor James T. McGee.

The balls were of the old yarn sock style with a piece of rubber inside to make it bounce, and the bats were paddles as in old days. The score was 29 to 36 in favor of the Callahan side.

SUMMERVILLE SCHOOL VISITED BY MARTIN

Summersville, Ga., November 26.—J. C. Martin, state school supervisor, and Miss Laurine Parker, of the state department of education, visited the Summersville public schools Thursday. Mr. Martin inspected the Summersville High school because it is now receiving the $1,000 state aid as a county high school.

Martin expressed himself as being well pleased with the work being done.

REMOVAL IS ASKED OF MILITARY HEAD OVER BARGE WORK

Shakopee, Minn., November 26.—(P)—A resolution attacking the regime of General T. G. Ashburn over barge transportation on the upper Mississippi river and virtually demanding his removal was adopted here today at a meeting of the Minnesota River Improvement association's executive board.

Declaring that proper transportation facilities are of great importance to the northwest, the resolution declares the problem is not one requiring army training and urges appointment of a head with business experience and ability.

The resolution charges that General Ashburn is not in sympathy with development of barge transportation on the upper river, and declares that he "held up the use of $1,200,000 appropriated by congress for additional equipment on the upper river for four and one-half months without any reasonable excuse, depriving the upper river of tow boats and barges for a whole shipping season."

CHATTOOGA SEEKS CHANGE IN DIXIE HIGHWAY ROUTE

Summersville, Ga., November 26.—At the meeting of the Chattooga county board of roads and revenues held here this week a resolution was passed unanimously recommending what is known as the lower route for the location of the Dixie highway into Summersville. Several surveys have recently been made for a change in the highway, and after due consideration the board of roads and revenues decided that the lower route would be of best interest to this city and the county as a whole.

This change in the Dixie highway will shorten the distance to Rome and points south considerably and will do away with several dangerous curves between here and Taylor's ridge mountain, and will also give tourists a much better view of Summersville, much of the city now being observable from the present location of the road.

DAVISON-PAXON Co.

ATLANTA

Affiliated with MACY'S—New York

Sale! 100 Scoop Seat Chairs $13.50

Most Impressive Value Ever Presented on Our Furniture Floor!

Just 100 of them—our share of a tremendous purchase that brought the price down nearly a half! Buy them for Gifts—you'll never see beauty, utility and economy more perfectly combined!

The sketch pictures the unusually beautiful design. The finish is walnut, high-lighted for a smarter effect. You may choose from six different cover combinations . . . each featuring high-grade velour and tapestry. In the following colors—green, red, black, taupe and brown. So comfortable! So decorative!

Davison-Paxon Co.
Furniture Department
Fifth Floor

FERTILIZER NEEDS OF WEST STUDIED

A committee composed of tobacco specialists and agronomists from Washington, D. C., Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, held a meeting in Raleigh, N. C., recently to agree on unified fertilizer recommendations for tobacco in the states concerned. The recommendations furnished by E. C. Westbrooke, of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, are reproduced here.

The recommendations are based on results of experiments conducted in the states represented. Many conditions of soil and climate are similar in many sections of this territory, hence much of the experimental data obtained in the various states are comparable.

Fertilizers for bright blue-cured tobacco:

"For heavy or more productive soils: Eight per cent available phosphoric acid, 3 per cent ammonia and 5 per cent potash, except for gray soils with red subsoils of the Cecil series where 8 per cent available phosphoric acid, 3 per cent ammonia and 5 per cent potash is recommended.

"For light or less productive soils: Eight per cent available phosphoric acid, 4 per cent ammonia and 6 per cent potash.

"For control of 'sand-drown'—magnesium deficiency—For section where 'sand-drown' is prevalent, it is recommended that fertilizers carry 2 per cent magnesium. This may be derived from sulphate of potash-magnesium, dolomitic limestone, or any other material carrying magnesium in forms known to be available to the plant.

"Use 800 to 1,200 pounds per acre in the drill at or just before transplanting.

Food Sources.

"Available experimental data from bright tobacco sections of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia have shown that high grade muriate of potash frequently produces increase of equal or better yield and market value than that produced by sulphate of potash. Experience has shown, however, that an excessive amount of chlorine in fertilizers used on tobacco injures its growth, produce

Diabetics

If you have the slightest symptoms of diabetes—such as excessive thirst, inordinate hunger, loss of weight in spite of keen appetite, with nervousness, irritability, restlessness, anxiety, over tiring and loss of strength—no time in reading one of the most remarkable books of the day, "Diabetes Curable!"

It will be mailed free to anyone who will send merely name and address to: Southern Laboratories, 238 S. Auburn Building, Battle Creek, Michigan. It describes the Southern home treatment and relates the experiences of men and women of national prominence who restored themselves to perfect health after other treatments had failed.

The book has 78 pages bound in board covers and is a mine of authentic information for those who are suffering from Diabetes.

Lesson No. 11

Question: How does emulsified cod-liver oil increase the efficiency of milk as a protection against rickets?

Answer: Milk is deficient in rickets-preventing vitamin. A little emulsified cod-liver oil added to or taken with milk makes it a more perfect vitamin-food. Give it as

SCOTT'S EMULSION

GREAT WHITE FLEET

Cruises to the Glorious CARIBBEAN from NEW ORLEANS

HAVANA, CUBA;
CRISTOBAL, PANAMA CANAL
and PANAMA CITY;
PUERTO RICO;
GUATEMALA CITY
GUATEMALA;
PUERTO CASTILLA, HONDURAS

Cruises last from 10 to 16 days according to route selected. Prices range from $150 and up. All shore trips and entertainment included in price you pay for ticket. Write for booklet and folders to

H. C. HICKS
Asst. Pass. Traffic Manager
UNITED FRUIT COMPANY
321 St. Charles St.,
New Orleans, La.

Newell-Thomas Company Celebrates Its Success

The recent banquet of the Newell-Thomas Office Equipment company held at the Henry Grady hotel. Left to right, seated at the table, are William E. Patrick, southern representative of the Macey company; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Luther H. Randall, Mrs. and Mr. W. D. Thomas, E. F. Taber, who was the speaker of the evening; Mrs. Jeannette James, office manager and who does a good deal of floor selling; Mrs. and Mr. J. J. Wilson, Mrs. and Mr. R. P. Kitchens.

Culminating a year of highly successful operation, the Newell-Thomas Office Equipment company recently held its first annual banquet at the Henry Grady hotel, with E. F. Taber as principal speaker.

The two young men who compose the well-known firm conceived the idea that there was big possibility in ing a thick, brittle leaf, and also has an unfavorable effect upon its burning quality. "It is recommended that fertilizers be compounded with the above named amount of potash in such proportions that the fertilizer mixtures shall contain not more than 2 per cent of chlorine. Research has shown that heavier applications of high grade potash content of mixed fertilizers exceed that of ammonia by at least two units, except for gray soils with red subsoils of the Cecil series.

"One-half of the ammonia should be derived from cottonseed meal, fish scrap or other high grade organic materials of plant or animal origin. The remaining half should be derived from urea and standard inorganic sources, such as nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia, at least one-fourth of the total ammonia being supplied by nitrate of soda.

"Fertilizers for dark tobacco—Use 8 per cent available phosphoric acid, 2 per cent ammonia and 2 per cent potash.

"Use 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre in the drill at or just before transplanting.

TOBE, FAR-FAMED STYLE AUTHORITY, COMING TO RICH'S

Circle Monday and Tuesday on your calendar in red let lesser engagements and duties slide. . . . Tobe is coming! A gala occasion indeed for style "that touch of nature that makes all women kin" comes into its own for two whole days.

Tobe needs no blare of trumpets to make her known. Women to whom fashion is a fine art recognize her as the foremost style authority in America. Around the world she trails—to Beauville, to Biarritz, to Vichy, to Le Touquet—to all the resorts, where smart Europe gathers. Subtly she gleams for America the latest style details often before Europeans are even aware of them.

For example, did you know that golden green is the leading color? or that polka dots on frocks, hats and scarfs are new? or that afternoon dresses are colored like jewels? Tobe knows all this and infinitely more that she will reveal on Monday at 3:30 in Rich's tea room in a talk on "Present Fashion Trends." On Tuesday at the same time she will speak on "Palm Beach and Early Spring."

Noted Author Here Making War Studies For New Novel

Dr. John T. M. Johnston, of St. Louis, author of religious and patriotic works, is spending some time at the Henry Grady hotel, obtaining information for his forthcoming book, a novel, entitled "Ashes of Roses," with Sherman's march to the sea as the historic background. He stated that in writing the book he was giving accurate, unbiased history.

He has spent the past six weeks in southern Georgia, near Savannah. General Sherman's objective in his famous march, he attended the Confederate veterans' reunion held in Thomasville recently and stated that he greatly enjoyed mingling with the old soldiers who wore the gray. While there he met many veterans who fought under General Joseph E. Johnston, a kinsman of his, and talked with them, obtaining information for this historical romance.

The reasons that brought me to Atlanta were to see the cyclorama that I might visualize the greatest battle of the Confederacy; to walk over the hills of the battle of Peachtree creek and see the old breastworks that remain and the memorial monuments erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy; to look upon the monument of Henry Woodfin Gray, whom I consider one of the ten greatest American journalists.

Dr. Johnston is a native Missourian, but for the past 18 years has been spending many of his winters in Florida. He is the author of "World Patriots," a textbook on patriotism, citizenship and civil government. It is an introduction by the late Champ Clark, Senator Robert L. Owen and Dr. Walter Williams, president of the Press Congress of the World. This book has had a wide sale and is now being translated into Spanish for use in the high schools and junior colleges of the republic of Mexico and Latin America.

He is accompanied by Mrs. Johnston and his secretary, J. H. Lloyd.

KEISHIAN & ALBERT ARE IN NEW QUARTERS

Keishian and Albert, dealers in Oriental rugs and novelty gift goods, are meeting with warm reception from the shopping public following the firm's recent removal from 337 Peachtree street into larger and more attractive quarters at 280 Peachtree.

The company has a large stock of attractive merchandise for Christmas selections and invites the public to inspect it. V. G. Keishian and F. Y. Albert are members of the firm.

LOUIS GRAVEURE.

for the concert was planned for 3 o'clock, but owing to the football game between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech, it was decided to postpone the hour until 8:30 o'clock.

The smaller auditorium is practically reserved at the present time by the regular members of the music club, but there are approximately 150 more seats available which will be sold to the public.

Mr. Graveure will include in his program here German, Old English, French, English and American songs. He will be accompanied by Bryceson Trehanne, who will also play a group of piano solos by Brahms, Scarlatti and Grieg.

Beginning Friday there will be a special sale of tickets at Phillips & Crew Piano company. Club membership is also available at this time.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST ESSAYS ON RACE RELATIONS

The commission on inter-racial co-operation here Saturday announced the offer of three cash prizes aggregating $200 for the best papers on the subject of race relations submitted by students of southern colleges during the present school year.

Contestants will be allowed to choose any phase of the subject but preference will be given to practical discussions of prevalent conditions and attitudes, with suggestions for their improvement.

DR. C. A. SHELDON WILL GIVE ORGAN RECITAL TODAY

The Sunday afternoon organ recital provided for Atlantans at the city auditorium will begin this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The program announced by Dr. Charles A. Sheldon, popular city organist, is as follows:

Suite Gothique, Roellmann; introduction, choral, menuet gothique, Priere a Notre-Dame, Tocata.

Singing song, Praeludium, Ave Maria, Schubert, Vesperale, Cyril Scott.

Concert overture, Rogers.

TO DECORATE ARCADE DURING COMING WEEK

Completion of plans for decorating the Arcade building for the Christmas holidays has been announced by T. H. Fulton, chairman of special committee handling this feature, and the contract has been let to the Weinstock Floral company, which will install the decorations during the coming week.

Every year the tenants of the Arcade building, in cooperation with the building owners, decorate the Arcade elaborately for the Christmas shopping period. Decorations this year will be on a more lavish scale than ever before, it is said.

HUNDREDS of NEW LAMPS

Throw Light on the Question
"What to Give for the Home"

DAVISON-PAXON Co.
ATLANTA

Affiliated with
MACYS—New York

"Gay, vivid spots of color dye these modernistic lamps! Both stand and shade are delightfully odd shapes and so unusual!"

$7.94

"Le Faune base with matching shade, possessing the charm of the strictly conventional, in parchment, green or taupe."

$24.50

"The exquisite beauty of Italian pottery is in every line of this urn base. Matching parchment shade in rich rose or green. Complete."

$19.50

"A reproduction of La-tique glass base. The light inside glows softly in green, orchid, amethyst or sepia colors.
$14.94. Laced Octagon parchment shade, $6.21."

"A gracefully shaped bridge standard of plated
Granata gold finish.
Adjustable arm. $7.21.
Pleated shades in many designs and colors."

$2.24

Lamps—Lamps—Lamps! Little ones, big ones, plain ones, elaborate ones, some imported, some domestic! The collection is amazingly complete. Lamps for every price and purpose. In your search for lamps, you will find them here, never unreasonably high-priced . . . always the newest . . . always in good taste.

Bases For Table Lamps

The unique Dolphin
Clear, shining Crystal
Antique Finished Faenzas
Glass Water Bottle
Antique Bottle Shape
New Dresden Figures
Unaka American Pottery
The Novel Majolica
The Unusual Pewter Finishes

Bases For Floor Lamps

Solid Brass and Copper
Early American in Steel
Beautiful Plated Gold
Shiny, Polished Brass
Hand-wrought Iron
Onyx Trimmed Bases
Plain Bridge Types
Junior Bridge Types
Novel, unusual shapes

Thousands of Lamp Shades!

Should you dislike the shade that we have matched to a certain lamp, you may choose from numbers of others—unique, novel, fantastic or conventional! Shades of chintz, georgette, taffeta, parchment or unusual compositions. And colors! Yellow, orange, orange tans, rosy tans, peach shades and multi-colored effects—varying in size from 4-inch candle shade to 24-inch floor shade.

And Prices Start At $1.24

Boudoir Lamps	$1.24 to $11.94
Boudoir Shades	1.24 to 5.44
Table Shades	3.44 to 19.50
Parchment Shades	1.24 to 18.94
Bridge Plated Lamps	7.24 to 28.00
Junior Plated Lamps	7.24 to 36.00
Table Bases	4.44 to 24.50

The Largest and Most Complete Lamp Department in the South—Fourth Floor

DAVISON-PAXON Co.
ATLANTA

Affiliated with
MACYS—New York

THE GREATEST CHRISTMAS STORE SOUTH

Letter Recalls Friendship Of Lincoln for Gen. Pickett

PRESIDENT VISITED HOME OF SOLDIER

Springfield, Ill., November 26.—(AP) A simple episode revealing the tenderness of Abraham Lincoln and his friendship for Confederate General George Pickett, whom he knew as a boy in Quincy, Ill., is retold in the Illinois State Register by Thomas Reed, its publisher.

Reed told his story from a letter written by General Pickett's widow to Charles U. Gordon, of Greenville, Miss., declining with regrets an invitation to attend a southern states republican league celebration at Lincoln's last birthday anniversary.

Describing General Pickett as "one of the greatest and bravest generals of the Confederacy," Reed declared his widow's letter, "written in her old age, a great general and leader of men."

The letter in part follows: "The name of Abraham Lincoln, wherever it may occur, recalls a scene from my window in the old Pickett home at the corner of Sixth and Leigh streets in Richmond, on a day in early April, after the surrender of our armies. A carriage passing by my home was surrounded by guards and followed by a retinue of soldiers. After it had passed, the carriage paused and a man alighted from the carriage and came back to our house. Hearing his knock, I opened the door with my baby in my arms and saw a tall, gaunt and sad-faced man, who asked:

"Is this George Pickett's place?" "Yes, sir, but he is not here."

"I know that, ma'am, but I just wanted to see the place. Down in old Quincy, Ill., I have heard the lad describe the home. I am Abraham Lincoln."

"The president?" I gasped. "The stranger shook his head. 'No, ma'am; just Abraham Lincoln, George Pickett's old boyhood friend.'

"I am George Pickett's wife, and this is my baby."

"I had never seen Mr. Lincoln, but remembered the intense love and reverence with which my soldier-husband always spoke of him."

"It had been long since my baby had seen a man, and being reminded of his own father, reached out his hands to Mr. Lincoln, who took him in his arms, an expression of almost divine love glowing in his face. My baby opened his mouth wide and the soldier on giving his father's friend a dewy baby kiss. Putting the little one back in my arms, Mr. Lincoln said:

"Tell your father, the reason that I forgive him for the sake of that kiss and those bright eyes."

By Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern system, and on January 10 will receive the 40-year service medal from the brotherhood of railway engineers.

The narrowest escape he ever had was when his train ran through a burning trestle near Columbus 20 years ago, Mr. Young said. The trestle was of wood, and the train's speed was such that he could not stop in time, but the trestle was crossed in safety, and later collapsed under the fire.

Mr. Young holds the distinction of being the oldest man from the point of origin service on the largest division of the Southern system, the Atlanta division including 700 miles of track under the supervision of J. G. Clements, superintendent.

Mr. Young was born into the railroad business, his family before him having been railroaders. He is a native Atlantan and a member of the Pioneer School Boys' association.

REMIUS INSANE, SAY WITNESSES

Continued from First Page.

arch enemy. At the door of the former government sleuth Remus has placed the blame for what he claims was an unbalanced mentality for two years which reached maniacal insanity when he encountered Mrs. Remus en route to the divorce court. Remus alleged in his defense that Dodge first obtained his conviction for violating the prohibition law and then stole his wife.

The prosecution ended its case today with an apology which at the same time was intended as an extraction of at least one of the fangs of the defendant's rebuttal. It presented William Hulshorn, a business man, he it was, the state explained, who drove Remus from the scene of the slaying to the Pennsylvania railroad station where Remus took a taxi to a police station.

Previously the state had bent its efforts towards proving that one of the alleged conspirators whisked Remus away from the death scene.

Defense Claims Witness. The defense insisted Hulshorn properly should have been its witness. He would have damaged the state's case, maintained Charles H. Elston.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Gibbs-Kendall Company Meets With Warm Reception at Its Opening

Above, the front of the new Gibbs-Kendall Tire company at 73 Ivy street, N. E. Below, the firm members, R. I. Gibbs, left, and B. P. Kendall.

The Gibbs-Kendall Tire company, at 73 Ivy street, N. E., which opened its doors for business only a week ago, already is meeting with a cordial reception from the tire-buying public, according to a statement Saturday by R. I. Gibbs, member of the firm.

The other firm member is B. P. Kendall, and both he and Mr. Gibbs have been handling Brunswick tires which line they are carrying in their new location—for the past year and a half in Atlanta. Confidence in the Brunswick line and brand is what led them to take it on, Mr. Gibbs stated.

The firm is located in attractive, roomy quarters which is stocked with a complete line of new Brunswick cords and balloons to meet every need of the motorist. The Gibbs-Kendall company sells its products on the "pay-when-you-ride" plan, which Mr. Gibbs pointed out, enables motorists to equip their cars at any time. "The plan is proving both popular and satisfactory in every way," he added.

Both Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Kendall are natives of Georgia, the former coming from Cordele, home of "the big red apple," and the latter from Paulding county. They have been located here about ten years and have many friends, to whom they extend an invitation to visit them in their new location.

Atlanta, said that if white slave charges are pressed in the case, that the matter will be up to the New Orleans office of the department, as it is in the jurisdiction of that district, though the local office would work up local angles of the case for the New Orleans office.

According to secret service operations, Smith, a brother and brother living in Birmingham.

City Detectives Chester and Jones are handling the case for the local police department.

SMITH PRESIDENCY BOOM IS HALTED

Continued from First Page.

of anti-Smith sentiment in the south were unfounded. "After a tour lasting nearly two months, which took me through the middle west, east and south, I have found that the reports of prevailing anti-Smith sentiment are mainly republican propaganda."

CALIFORNIA TICKET TO INCLUDE SMITH.

San Francisco, November 26.—(AP) According to the exchange of John R. Elliott, prominent California democrat, to bring the wet and dry question to an issue by putting the name of Governor Al Smith on the ballot in the state's next primary election.

Justus S. Wardell declared that the New York governor's name would be formally presented to the voters.

The name of Alfred D. Smith, of New York, will go on the ballot next may and California will send a delegation to the democratic national convention pledged to his nomination for president, said Mr. Wardell, who is identified with the anti-McAdoo faction of the party. Mr. Elliott was the McAdoo faction's candidate for the United States senate in 1926.

In a recent statement Mr. Elliott declared no wet candidate would have a chance of winning the support of California democrats.

Wardell, a liberal, won the democratic nomination for governor over Carl Alexander Johnson, of San Diego, a dry, by about 7,500 votes last year.

MRS. D. J. SKIPPER, 48, BURIED IN WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., November 26.—Funeral services were held Friday for Mrs. D. J. Skipper, 48, who died at her home here Thursday after an illness of several months. She is a native of Taylor county, Georgia. Besides her husband she was survived by four sons, Charles, James, Eddie and Davis, one daughter, Edna, also father, two brothers and one sister.

Interment was at Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Cason Buried.

Waycross, Ga., November 26.—Funeral services were held Friday at Kettle Creek church for Mrs. O. J. Cason, 21, who died at a Waycross hospital after a brief illness. Dr. W. H. Rich, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. H. D. Young, pastor of the Central Baptist church of Waycross, officiated.

The deceased is survived by her husband, one son, O. J. Jr., and three daughters, Dorothy, Marie and Hazel, all of Waycross.

NEW KIND OF SPECTACLES

1,000 Pairs To Be Given Free

Chicago, Ill.—A new, true-vision spectacle has been created. Its popularity is now sweeping the country. These spectacles will enable almost anyone to read the very smallest print, thread the finest needle and see far or near. They are guaranteed unbreakable, cannot tarnish and are a vast improvement over all other makes.

The manufacturers, True-Fit Optical Co., 1445 W. Jackson Blvd., Dept. R-5C, Chicago, Ill., are offering to give a thousand pairs free to those who will help introduce them. Write them today. They will also explain how you can get the agency and with out experience or money make $200 to $500 per month.—(adv.)

WIFE OF FLOWERS TO CONTEST WILL

Contest by the wife over the will of the late "Tiger" Flowers, Atlanta negro pugilist, who died recently in New York, was seen in the announcement Saturday of H. A. Allen, prominent Atlanta attorney, that he was preparing to file a caveat to the Flowers' will in behalf of Willie Mae Flowers, the fighter's wife.

In the will, which was filed in the court of the ordinary Friday, Flowers left to his wife the sum of $25,000 in cash and all his personal property and effects, exclusive of real estate. No mention was made of the handsome home on Simpson road, but it is said that the fighter had made the title over to his wife before his death.

The will further specified that the wife was to receive interest and revenue from all the fighter's investments as long as she remained single. In the event she remarries, everything is to go to the Vernie Lee Flowers trust fund, the will states.

The Vernie Lee Flowers trust fund of $50,000 is understood to have been created by the pugilist for his 6-year-old daughter several years ago. Walk Miller, Flowers' manager, was made executor of the will and trustee of the trust fund.

AMERICUS MAN SHOT

Frank Morris Peppared With 75 Shot.

Americus, Ga., November 26.—Frank Morris, of Americus, was shot and painfully injured while hunting near LaCrosse, in Shelby county. The accident in which he was injured occurred about dark, when Alf Campbell, a member of the hunting party,

WASHINGTON ST. CLINIC

553 Washington St., Atlanta, Ga.

Physical and laboratory diagnosis. General office practice by resident physician. Special department—Ear, Nose, Throat, Hospital accommodations for Confinement, Gonorrhea, Nervous and Mental cases. Special treatment for Alcoholism and Addict cases, at reasonable rates.

Physician for emergency calls day or night. Phone MAin 3441

Gifts of Permanent Joy--Furniture

5c DOWN Will Reserve Your Choice

Choose Now!

of any item in our large stock. Come, see the many things specially priced for your choosing: Smoking Cabinets, Sewing Cabinets, Telephone Sets, Living Room Suites, Bedroom Suites, Spinet Desks, Kitchen Cabinets, Floor Lamps, Rugs, etc. Select NOW!

Give a Suite of Furniture for Christmas

9-Pc. Bedroom Group $80.05

5c Down Will Reserve

Let Your Family Enjoy a Buck's Heater

Buck's 2-Eye Heater $7.05

For the small room or apartment one of these two-eye heaters will serve wonderfully. Convenient size. Select yours now.

Coil Heater $12.05

Large size Coil Heater that will furnish an abundance of heat. We urge you to make an early selection at this special price.

End Tables $2.05

A gift special now! Mahogany Finish End Table. Strongly made. Monday and Tuesday only. None sent C. O. D.

Telephone Sets $3.05

Regular size Mahogany Telephone Stand and Stool, special Monday and Tuesday, $3.05. None sent C. O. D.

Table Lamp $6.95

Mahogany Library Table $7.95

Mahogany Spinet Desk $16.95

5c Down Will Reserve Your Choice

ACREE-KORNEGAY

Buck's Stoves and Ranges

172 Whitehall St., S. W.

Corner Trinity Ave. Walnut 8932

Simmons Springs and Mattresses

Overstuffed Living Suite $99.95

CATHOLIC AND EPISCOPAL PRAYER BOOKS ROSARIES And BIBLES FOR XMAS GAVAN'S
103 Whitehall St.

DOWMAN Portable Built Steel Garages
ONE CAR $148 f. o. b.
Complete instructions for erection of our garages. So simplified, so numbered father and son can erect it. Approximate freight rate to Atlanta, $15.
(Agent Wanted).
R. T. BOWMAN CO.
235 E. Hanover St.
Trenton, New Jersey

DEMAND

BAYER

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocrocinolide of Salicylic Acid

Plans for Beautification Off Road of Remembrance To Be Made in Fitzgerald

21 Counties in Georgia To Join in Proposal To Plant Trees Along Dixie Highway.

$156,000 Paid
To Depositors
On Bank Losses

Fitzgerald, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—The Road of Remembrance will be made shady and pretty if plans to be formulated at a meeting here Monday are carried through.

The Road of Remembrance is the Dixie highway.

In the meeting here Monday, representatives of the county commissions of the 21 Georgia counties through which it passes will join the Georgia division of the national Dixie highway auxiliary and many other prominent citizens as well as state officials in planning the beautification of this highway.

The funds for the work will probably be derived from popular subscription with counties touched contributing part of the cost.

The plans call for the planting of a tree every 50 or 100 feet apart through these 21 counties along this highway. As the various towns and cities along the route are peopled, it is planned to hedge the thoroughfare with shrubs.

The meeting Monday among other things will decide just what kind of trees are to be planted.

Woman's Club Hosts.
The Fitzgerald Chamber of Commerce and the Woman's club here will be hosts.

The call for the meeting was made by Mrs. Norman Sharp, of Atlanta, Georgia's vice president. The local arrangements are in charge of Mrs. G. E. Ricker, president of the Woman's club, and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, chairman for Ben Hill county of the auxiliary, and I. G. Giddens, secretary of the Central Dixie Highway association.

Delegates from every county in Georgia along the Dixie highway are expected to attend the convention at which W. T. Anderson and Clark Howell, Georgia directors of the Dixie highway, will take prominent parts. The auxiliary has designated the Dixie highway from the Great Lakes to Miami as the "Road of Remembrance," and is organizing units in each of the counties in every state traversed by the highway, for the purpose of beautifying the route, a model mile of which has been completed by the Macdonald auxiliary.

Invitations Out.
Invitations have been extended to each of the women's organizations in the 21 towns and cities along the entire route through Georgia, including the women's clubs, D. A. R. and I. D. C., all of whom have been cooperating with the state organization in perfecting the memorial to the world war veterans.

The plans of the Dixie Highway auxiliary so far developed include activities in all of the states traversed by the Dixie highway, for the purpose of work of the president, Mrs. Owen W. Massey, most of the states have already organized chapters of the auxiliary and are promoting plans for the beautification of the route.

Many Atlantans.
Prominent Atlantans who will accompany Mrs. Sharp to Fitzgerald will include Mrs. John R. Horvath, secretary of the Atlanta district; Mrs. George L. Turner and Mrs. Frederick Rice, treasurers.

Governor L. G. Hardman, W. T. Anderson, Clark Howell, J. A. Holloman, of the Georgia American, J. K. O'Neil, Jr., of the Journal, H. C. Branch, R. L. McKenny, of Macon; W. R. Neil, of the state highway department, and others are expected to attend, special invitations having been extended them by the national and state officers of the auxiliary.

The meetings will be held in the Woman's club rooms, where a luncheon will be served to the visitors.

G. M. A. WILL HOLD FIRST FULL-DRESS
PARADE OF YEAR

The first full-dress parade of the year will be held by Georgia Military Academy cadets on the campus at 3 o'clock this afternoon in honor of Governor L. G. Hardman, Mayor L. N. Ragsdale and Colonel Edwin Johnson. Local members of the governor's staff will accompany him, and the mayor of College Park will join the academy faculty in welcoming its guests.

G. M. A. cadets are regarded as the "West Pointers of the South" by spectators who turn out in large numbers to see them pass in formal review.

ARLINGTON PEAR TREES PRODUCE TWO CROPS

Arlington, Ga., November 26.—Noting an item in the daily papers of a party in Augusta reporting a second growth of pears on his trees, Mrs. W. V. Calhoun, of this city, has been showing bunches which are of a second crop from her trees this year.

They are of the Keiffer variety and are about half grown, as were those reported from Augusta, and it is said that this is the first time that such a record—a second crop of pears—has been made in more than half a century.

Mrs. Calhoun's trees are heavily loaded with the second crop.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS OF WATER AT TIMES

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleepless nights and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast on a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with flushing kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so that no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to cure kidney trouble while it is only trouble—(adv.)

Distribution of more than $156,000 in dividends and claims to depositors and credits of Georgia banks in liquidation is announced by Theodore M. Butler, chief clerk of the state department of banking.

The payments follow:
Bank of Cassville, dividend 3, 20 per cent to depositors, $6,292.45; making total of 60 per cent to depositors.

Bank of Cherokee, Canton, Ga., dividend 4, 20 per cent to depositors, $27,409.02; total of 80 per cent paid to depositors.

Farmers and Merchants bank, Cleveland, dividend 1, 10 per cent to depositors, $1,240.17.

Bank of Elberton, dividend 2, 10 per cent to depositors, $13,928.45; making total of 60 per cent to depositors.

Elberton Loan and Savings bank, preferred claims paid, $14,040.75.

Citizens bank, Wrens, preferred claims paid, $2,481.97.

Commercial bank, Manchester, dividend 2, 10 per cent to depositors, $6,333.24; making total of 20 per cent to depositors.

Bank of Menlo, dividend 2, 10 per cent to depositors, $9,481.65; making total of 20 per cent to depositors.

Reynolds Banking company, Reynolds, dividend 4, 15 per cent to depositors, $8,046; making total of 30 per cent to depositors.

Oglethorpe Savings Bank and Trust company, Savannah, final dividend of 3.25 per cent to depositors, $20,951.85; making total of 70.25 per cent to depositors.

Citizens Commercial bank, Woodbury, dividend 2, 15 per cent to depositors, $7,232.54; making total of 30 per cent to depositors.

Sundry claims paid, $55,802.80. Total $156,204.83.

Rodents Beware!
1927 Pied Piper
Arrives in City

The Nemesis of the genus Mus is in town.

J. L. Nicholas, most deadly human enemy of the rat, reached Atlanta Friday night. Monday morning he and his helpers will begin a survey of downtown Atlanta to check up on the rat population. All rats running at large are hereby warned that self-preservation would suggest a rapid trek to the wide-open spaces.

Nicholas claims to have destroyed 15,000,000 rats during his career. Deacon-statisticians may draw pictures of the pile of defunct rats this number would make. Shudders forbid such a task on our part.

The years ago, in 1924, Nicholas paid his last official visit to Atlanta. At that time, he states, 25,000 rodents bit the dust before the attack of himself and his doctored warriors. This time he hopes that the casualty lists will be even larger.

Nicholas' method, after his survey, he states, is to get permission from owners of buildings which are infested with rats, to conduct a vigorous offensive. He asks that reliable employees of the building witness the operations, in order that the deontological work may go on after he and his men have left.

The weapon used against the rats is burning carbamate, and Nicholas states that the sale of this poison is positively the only financial connection he has with the affair.

Also, he will be glad to furnish United States government bulletins dealing with the desirability of rat extermination, to anyone who will write him at P. O. Box 665 and enclose 4 cents postage.

Rats, according to the dictionary, spread disease, chiefly bubonic plague. They are of numerous variety, but chiefly the Norway or brown rat and the smaller black rat.

All varieties are undesirable and, in fact, Nicholas views them with an attitude which can be described as nothing short of vindictive.

Nemesis of rats, Nicholas, god of retributive justice. That is the proper description of Nicholas. To prove his success, he has letters of commendation from officials of every city in the country of 20,000 or more population, telling how the rat mortality rates jumped when he came to town.

CURED BY 'MIRACLE' WOMAN WILL ENTER
CATHOLIC CONVENT

Schenectady, N. Y., November 26.—(United News.)—Cured of physical infirmity he what her relatives say was a miracle, Miss Alice Toomey, of New Bedford, Mass. has entered St. Teresa's convent, Carmelite Order, here, as a postulant.

At the conclusion of her novitiate she will be admitted to the cloistered order.

She was injured in an accident in a mill in New Bedford nine years ago. One of her feet was crushed so she was forced to use crutches. Two years ago, while finishing the prayers of a novena to St. Teresa, Miss Toomey felt the urge to use the foot.

She walked home without the aid of crutches or cane. Since her recovery, she has been determined to devote the rest of her life to religious work.

REED WILL FIGHT FOR DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Washington, November 26.—(AP.)—Another attempt to create a department of education, with its head a member of the cabinet, will be made in the forthcoming congress by Representative Reed, republican, New York, who is chairman of the house education committee. Such a step is favored by President Coolidge.

It is Reed's plan to reintroduce, with possibly some modifications, the Curtis-Reed bill. At recent sessions it encountered considerable opposition and never has reached a vote in either the house or the senate.

STEMBRIDGE IS NAMED
NEW G. M. C. TRUSTEE

Milledgeville, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—Dr. M. F. Stembridge has been elected to the board of trustees of the Georgia Military college, to complete the unexpired term of L. M. Jones.

Dr. Stembridge is a dentist. He received his military training at Milledgeville and served in France during the war.

Sears, Roebuck and Co.

RETAIL DEPARTMENT STORE

PONCE DE LEON AT GLEN IRIS DRIVE

Store Hours
8 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.
Open Saturday Until 9

We Now Carry a Complete Line of Toys at Our Tire and Accessory Store.

Free Auto Park

—No Time Limit
—No Waiting

Lamps

$3⁹⁵

to $8⁹⁵

Bridge and floor lamps for the living room. Wrought iron stands and a variety of attractive silk shades.

VISIT OUR NEW TIRE & ACCESSORY STORE
273-277 Whitehall St.
Junction Whitehall, Forsyth and Spring Streets.

Walnut Finish Smokers

$11⁵⁵

The gift for the Man. Has copper lined humidor. Beautifully finished in walnut. It is an attractive piece of furniture.

Also available in red lacquer with Chinese design.

Cedar Chests

$8⁹⁵

to $24⁷⁵

In natural cedar or walnut finish with cedar lining. The gift for Mother or daughter. In a complete price range.

SMART LIVING ROOM GIFTS

Occasional Chairs

$13⁹⁵

to $23⁷⁵

A gift for Mother—ideal for some certain corner of the room. Many different styles with solid walnut arms and legs. Upholstered in tapestry.

Mahogany Finish Spinet Desks

$25⁷⁵

The desk for Mother's own private use. Attractively finished in mahogany veneer. A new piece of furniture gives the home a holiday appearance.

Occasional Tables

$15³⁵

Antique finish and hand-carving distinguish these tables as far superior to the low price asked. A beautiful living room piece in mahogany color.

Secretary

Walnut finish, antique style—a handsome piece for the living room. Has three drawers below and bookcase above—the desk between.

$49⁵⁰

Tilt Top Table

In an interesting Chinese design—finished in green, red or black and gold to harmonize with setting. Interestingly priced, $6.50 too, at

Two-Piece Velour Suite

Combining a davenport and fireside chair, into an atmosphere of comfort along most distinctive design—luxuriously upholstered in jacquard velour and choice of rose or taupe.

$98

Give Luggage For a Lasting Gift Handsome Wardrobe Trunks Bags for the Sportsman

$24⁹⁵

and up to $55

(Made by Belber)

A wardrobe trunk makes a most appreciative present—accumulating a greater pride of ownership with the passing of many seasons of dependable service and utility.

Styles for dormitory and home use, with special features for each type.

$1⁷⁹

Hookless Fasteners
Handily made for the sport lovers—of fancy plaid canvas, leather trim.
Larger sizes at $3.69.

Fiber Suitcases
$2¹⁹

Strongly constructed over steel frame—these make valuable accessories for outings and trips. Brown—26-inch case.

Better Handbags
Purchased when leather was much lower than present cost. Many remarkable values, of genuine cowhide.

$765 to $1595

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

JEWISH TAG DAY WORKERS CALLED

The initial appeal for volunteer workers to aid in Atlanta's fourteenth annual observance of tag day for the Jewish national fund will be launched today by Miss Rae Rosenberg, standing before the meeting of the Junior Hadassah at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, according to announcement Saturday. Miss Rosenberg is chairman of the Junior Hadassah J. N. F. committee and will be assisted by Miss Rose Seff, vice chairman.

Charles W. Bergman, chairman of the Young Judaea council, who last week was appointed co-chairman with Miss Rosenberg for this year's tag day, will make an appeal for volunteer workers at gatherings of the several Young Judaea clubs to be held during the week. On tag day, which is scheduled to be observed in Atlanta within the next few weeks, the young workers will obtain contributions from the Atlanta Jewish community in the form of a button emblem of the Jewish national fund, the proceeds of which are used to hasten rebuilding of the Jewish homeland. Tag day, officially known as Maccabean day, is one of three annual gatherings conducted under local auspices for the J. N. F. Flower day, a event similar to Maccabean day and held in the middle of summer, and J. N. F. "box collections," constituted the other two sources of income. J. N. F. is affiliated with the United Palestine appeal.

The average of collections from American cities participating in the annual event is $100,000 for the day. Conditions which have greatly widened the interest of Jews in Palestinian movements are expected to place this year's tag day contributions far in excess of the past average.

SPACE ADDITION TO BEAUTY SHOP IS POPULAR MOVE

Recent addition of a new unit practically doubling its office space has materially increased the popularity of Chance, White & Harding, widely known beauty shop at 501-502 Fourth National Bank building, according to announcement Saturday by members of the firm.

"Heavy increases in our patronage made the enlargement necessary," W. Y. White said. "Securing the additional space enables us to take care of our clients in every way, and we attribute the increase in their number to our thorough and expert administration of beauty culture. Our equipment is among the most modern in the country and was built specially for us in a beautiful apple green shade which is pleasing to the eye. Our shop is attractively decorated and the utmost in privacy and comfort is assured."

The company announces addition of Mrs. Downing, widely known expert to its staff of six experienced operators. Members of the firm are Ira Chance, W. Y. White and R. L. Harding.

HARRIS' BIRTHDAY TO BE OBSERVED IN SCHOOLS OF CITY

Observance of December 9 as the birthday of Joel Chandler Harris, the Uncle Remus of literature, in the public schools of Atlanta and suburban communities will be conducted on an elaborate scale this year, it was learned Saturday.

Special ceremonies to be held simultaneously at the various schools, starting at 12:30 o'clock, have been planned. Featuring the exercises will be the unveiling of portraits of the famous story writer presented to the schools. Participating in the plans were the parent-teachers' associations, the Uncle Remus Memorial association, school officials, members of the Atlanta Woman's club and other civic interests.

RUMANIA DENIES CLAIM KING CAROL WAS POISON VICTIM

Bucharest, November 26. (AP)—A report in Budapest that King Carol of Rumania had been poisoned here today to be "too absurd" that it was difficult to believe anyone should have troubled to publish it, especially as the report alleged and confirmed existing between King Carol, the king's widow, and the late Premier Ionel Bratianu were well known.

(Dispatches from Budapest yesterday said that Carl Husar, vice president of the house of deputies, caused a sensation in the national assembly by declaring King Carol had been poisoned by the party that desired to enter the war on the side of the allies.)

Bohn Refrigerator Co. Has Interesting Expo. At Local Show Rooms

An interesting refrigeration display is being held by the Bohn Refrigerator company in its show rooms at the Biltmore hotel. The display is furnished by a natural-size reconstruction of the rear end of the Chevrolet limited, crack floor and a beautiful painted battleship. Bohn refrigerators, officials point out, are used exclusively by the United States army. The Bohn Refrigerator company is planning to open a retail store in Atlanta, officials in charge of the Biltmore exhibit, stated Saturday.

ELECTROPLATING FIRM ENTERS FIELD HERE

The Southern Electroplating company, specialists in nickel, gold, silver, brass and copper plating, has opened at 121 Walton street, N. W., with E. W. Carr and G. F. Gasser as firm members. The company will specialize in rust-proof plating.

Mr. Carr has been engaged in the electroplating here for 17 years and Mr. Gasser formerly was associated with a local burglar alarm company.

SHACKLEFORD BACK AT AWTRY & LOWNDES

The many friends of Ernest Shackelford, identified many years in the undertaking business here, will be glad to know that he has regained his health after being very seriously ill with pneumonia and influenza several months ago, and now is back with the well-known firm of Awtry & Lowndes.

MYERS-MILLER are forced to Announce this Pre-Holiday EMERGENCY SALE

HERE IS THE REASON

HIGH GRADE STAPLE and NOVELTY FURNITURE

Including Big Stock of TOYS and GIFT Items! This Is a Store Wide Event! Nothing Reserved!

Beginning tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, Myers-Miller launches the most spectacular sale in its history, and the genuineness of it is attested by concrete facts as stated in insert of this announcement. The necessity for this Emergency Sale has been tremendously aggravated by the short time in which we are compelled to move our tremendous stocks out of the contractor's way. What we expect to sacrifice in this mammoth Emergency Sale in dollars and cents we hope to gain in the good will of the Atlanta public in like proportion, in view of the marvelous values which will prevail during this most timely event.

OUR LOSS IS YOUR GAIN!
Our one and main object is to reduce our huge stock to the lowest possible point before the contractors take charge of the building, so use your credit and make your holiday purchases immediately, thereby making your dollars do 25 to 100 per cent more in this Emergency Sale. Circumstances will not permit us to receive telephone, mail nor C. O. D. orders, and every sale must necessarily be final. We will guarantee delivery of all purchases made during this sale through December 24th.

MASSELL REALTY COMPANY
REAL ESTATE OPERATIONS

ATLANTA, GA.
November 27, 1927

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

154-156 Whitehall St., S. W.,
Atlanta, Ga.

All Cedar Chests, 20% Off

Prices begin
at $8.95

$1.00 Cash Delivers Any Cedar Chest

$185.00 9-Piece Suite, $119.27

$119.27

$4.27 Cash Delivers This Suite

$137.50

$4.50 Cash Delivers This Suite

In every wanted style and finish from a fine Coxwell and Wing Chair type in mohair and genuine leather at $145.00 down to a most popular style at Emergency Sale Price of—

$24.49

$1.49 Cash Delivers a Royal Easy Chair

Metal
Book Ends

In assortment of subjects
Regular $2.00
Emergency Sale
Price

98c

Secretaries and Wall Desks

In wide range of designs, sizes, materials, finishes and prices. For instance: A Colonial Secretary, also in Mahogany and Gum Wood, a beautiful piece, exclusive finish, Emergency Sale Price, $58.85

$1.85 Cash Delivers Any Secretary or Wall Desk

Smoking Stands at Mammoth Savings

Just at the opening of the holiday season, comes this wonderful gift, smoking opportunity in smokers' outfit of every kind as to style, convenience and finish. All at Emergency Sale Prices. See the many outstanding values now displayed.

$1.00 Cash Delivers Any Smoker

Toys at Emergency Sale Prices

Terms Can Be Arranged on Any Purchase

Children's Desks, With Chairs. Light top style, with blackboard interior, solid oak construction, natural finish. Regular price, $4.95. Emergency Sale Price, $2.98

Roll-Top Desk, with chair in outline, solid oak, natural finish. Regular price, $4.95. Emergency Sale Price, $6.74

Junior Spinet Desk, with chair in outline, solid oak, natural finish. Regular price, $16.50. Emergency Sale Price, $12.47

Roll-Top Desk, with Swivel Chair to match, brown mahogany finish, metal hardware. Regular price, $22.50. Emergency Sale Price, $16.74

Children's Table and Chair Set. Set consisting of Table and two chairs, finished in red and striped in gold. Regular price, $4.75. Emergency Sale Price, $2.98

Round Table and two Chairs. This set is constructed of metal, hollow of red, blue or gray. Regular price, $9.95. Emergency Sale Price, $7.14

Porcelain Table, with two Chairs. Set in kindergarten top, substantially made. Regular price, $5.95. Emergency Sale Price, $5.95

Iron-Leaf Table and two Chairs. Set of choice of three finishes, decorated blue, decorated green and decorated gray. Regular price, $12.50. Emergency Sale Price, $9.95

12-Piece Imported Tea Set Given With Every Table and Chair Set Free!

All Dolls Reduced. Beautifully-dressed, Mama Dolls, with natural hair. Regular price, $3.50. Emergency Sale Price, $1.19

Fig. 20-inch Doll, attractively dressed, strictly made. Regular price, $2.00. Emergency Sale Price, $98c Imported Rasket Dolls, a most unusual outfit, including basket, with Sleeping Doll and Blanket. Regular price, $1.50. Emergency Sale Price, $1.69

Twelve Tonitona Mama Doll, the greatest doll value in Atlanta. It sleeps and it talks. Regular price, $2.50. Emergency Sale Price, $1.87

French Mama Doll, most attractively dressed. Has natural hair, beautifully groomed. A doll that any child would be proud to own. Regular price, $3.50. Emergency Sale Price, $4.74

Children's Baskets. Many styles, finishes and sizes. $1.25 to $12.50

Doll Cedar Chests. Beautifully grounded. A doll that any child would be proud to own. Regular price, $3.50. Emergency Sale Price, $4.74

Baby Walkers. Regular price, $3.75. Emergency Sale Price, $1.98

Baby Bikes. Combination Walker, Sidewalk Scooter and Kiddie Car. Regular price, $4.85. Emergency Sale Price, $4.84

Pedal Cars. With disc wheels and rubber wheels. Regular price, $1.95. Emergency Sale Price, $1.49

Other Prices $3.95

Jimmy Car. For the little fellow. A regular $1.95 value. Emergency Sale Price, 98c

Rollers. All steel disc, rubber-tired wheels, hardwood handle, with parking stand. Regular price, $1.50. Emergency Sale Price, 89c

Others Priced up to $5.50

Valencines. Toledo Valencines. Regular $11.50 value. Emergency Sale Price, $9.44

Skates Reduced. Full-bearing, choice of steel or rubber wheels, adjustable, cushion gear. A dandy good skate in every child's wardrobe. Regular $2.95. Emergency Sale Price, $1.98

Wagons Reduced. Divis. Flyer, all-steel Coaster Wagon, rubber-tired disc wheels, shaped, round handle, beautiful finish. Regular price, $7.95. Emergency Sale Price, $5.84

Automobiles. Green Street, of generous size, well made, rubber-tired disc wheels. Limited number in stock. The special price of $4.94 (None Set Up—Sold Only in Carton)

11-Piece Bedroom Group, $109.45
As Pictured Here

$109.45

$4.45 Cash Delivers Entire 11-Piece Group

All Lamps, Now 25% Off

Here you will find lamps in every wanted style and finish. Majority of our lamp stock is perfectly fresh and modern in the minute, and your greatest opportunity to own a fine lamp at an exceptionally low price is offered in this mammoth Emergency Sale at 1/4 off.

$5c Cash Delivers Any Lamp

$200.00—2-Piece Suite—$114.95

All-over Mohair

$114.95

$4.95 Cash Delivers This Suite

$225.00 Mohair Suite, Now $149.74

$149.74

$9.74 Cash Delivers This Suite

Occasional Chairs

In all styles, finishes and wood decorations. Large assortment to choose from. This is the great opportunity to supply that extra chair to give beauty and add to your comfort. See the chair that originally sells for $22.50. Emergency Sale Price $11.25

Terms Gladly Arranged

Terms Gladly Arranged

MYERS-MILLER Furniture Company

154-156 Whitehall

Where Good Furniture Is Not Expensive

Methodists Crowd Day to Terminate Sessions Monday

Reports Devoted to Evangelism, Temperance and Social Service Feature Saturday's Sittings.

VISITING MEMBERS TO PREACH TODAY

Wesley Memorial, Druid Hills and St. Paul Pulphills To Be Filled by Conference Ministers.

DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

The North Georgia Methodist conference, in session at Wesley Memorial church since last Wednesday, put in a full day Saturday, making an effort to complete all deliberations in time to adjourn about noon Monday. Three sittings of the body were held Saturday, Bishop Horace M. DuBois presiding at the afternoon session in the absence of Bishop Beauchamp.

Various reports of committees and boards were featured at the afternoon sitting, but those devoted to evangelism and temperance and social service attracted most attention.

Special emphasis was laid on the work of evangelism, addresses to the report being made by Drs. Shelton and Russell.

The temperance and social service reports, as written by Dr. Edgar H. Johnson, chairman, gave attention to all phases of effort for social betterment, and urged reform of such practices as are considered harmful to human welfare. The report urged that obedience to laws be written deep on human hearts and recommended that the third Sunday in January be observed as a day to urge the full duty of upright citizenship.

Rumors Declared False.

Dr. Charles O. Jones, of the Anti-Saloon league, spoke on the report, and asserted the falsity of reports and rumors declaring prohibition a failure. Bishop DuBois also spoke and again declared himself unwilling to vote for any wet candidate or for any man who seeks to modify the prohibition laws.

Dr. J. A. Sharp, president of the resolution adopted, said he doubted the propriety of plunging the church into national politics. He declared his belief that there is not the slightest possibility of modification, and asserted that there is a widespread need of an awakening of conscience among citizens at home, looking to the full compliance with laws on the part of citizens and their full enforcement by officers.

The evening session of the conference was presided over by Bishop H. M. DuBois, and was devoted to the anniversary of the education board. Judge John S. Gandy directed the program. Dr. J. Marvin Culbreath, of Nashville, and Dr. A. M. Pierce, editor of the Wesleyan Advocate, were the chief speakers of the occasion.

Rev. C. M. Eaker, of the Augusta St. John church, during the morning session read the budget commission's report, which announced the assessments for next year for the general and conference work at $218,777.

Allocation of Assessments.
Of the amount so announced $101,000 is for general work, while $117,777 is for strictly conference work. Detailed assessments in the conference work are: mission, $43,500; conference claimants, $10,000; education, $18,500; Sunday school extension, $10,550; group insurance, $10,417; conference entertainment, $9,500; and various other smaller items.

A class of 15 young ministers was Saturday admitted into full connection in the conference, and Bishop Beauchamp addressed them relative to the life work to which they were about to devote themselves. Members of the class included the Revs. V. E. Taylor, L. L. Burch, W. F. Walden, Z. C. Hayes, Jr., N. P. Manning, H. C. Stratton, R. N. McLean, R. W. Allison, C. W. Pruitt, B. C. Starnes, Horace C. Jones, J. E. Young, W. L. Brackman, W. L. Jolly and T. E. Sherwood.

Question 23 was called, "Who are superannuated?" and the names of the Rev. A. F. Nunn, of East Cartersville; the Rev. W. H. Cooper, of Lithonia; and the Rev. W. A. Simmons, of Rome, were referred to the committee on conference relations for consideration.

Continued on Page 12, Column 1

Help Comes by Air to Girl Who Accidentally Shot Self

TERRIFIC GALE PREVENTED RESCUE BY SEA

Anchorage, Alaska, November 26.—(AP)—Help for Bessie Howe, government school teacher at the isolated native village of Ninilchik, 115 miles west of Anchorage, on Cook inlet, literally came out of the air when a terrific gale prevented rescue by sea. Miss Howe accidentally shot herself in the abdomen last Tuesday while cleaning a rifle. No doctor or expert medical care was available and no regular means of communication existed between the little Indian village and white settlements. The government radio men at Seldovia and Anchorage caught a faint amateur signal of distress, evidently sent with a spark coil, asking immediate aid. All boats at Seldovia, the nearest port, refused to set out in the teeth of the raging storm. Pilot Russell Merrill and A. D. Haverstock, government doctor, decided to take the big chance and

OGLETHORPE FUND BOOSTED $25,000 BY W. R. HEARST

Contribution by New York Publisher Brings $250,000 Campaign Total to $145,000.

Gift of $25,000 by William Randolph Hearst, prominent publisher, vice president of the Oglethorpe university board of directors and father of an Oglethorpe student, Saturday brought the Oglethorpe endowment fund drive for $500,000 to a total of $145,000 and carried Atlanta's quota of $250,000 across the half-way mark in the campaign to match the $250,000 gift of J. T. Lupton, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the Hearst gift, Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, issued a call for some Atlanta citizens to match the generosity of Mr. Hearst by making a similar donation.

"I must believe," Dr. Jacobs said, "that there certainly is some man or woman who will give $25,000 to match Mr. Hearst's gift to help Atlanta raise her quota. It would hardly do for a citizen of Chattanooga to challenge the whole city to match him dollar for dollar, all of the money to go toward building a memorial to the founder of our state in our city, and then for the offer of Mr. Hearst, which is ten per cent of Atlanta's part, to go unmatched. Who will duplicate it?"

"There are probably 50 men and women in Atlanta who could do this big thing for Oglethorpe without any real sacrifice. Of the 50, surely one will do so. His example would lead others to a similar generosity and would mean the success of our campaign."

"William Randolph Hearst, who makes this wonderful offer, was the first man to be elected vice president of the original board of directors of the university. From the very beginning he has been a consistently generous friend. His first gift to Oglethorpe was $5,000, made during the original campaign in 1913, the largest personal gift made at that time, and since then, through The Atlanta Georgian, his name has been constantly on the list of Oglethorpe's benefactors."

CANTON CLAIMS SWEEPING GAINS

Nationalist Forces Declare That Northerners Have Been Driven From Three Large Provinces.

Shanghai, November 26.—(AP)—Sweeping nationalist victories which resulted in driving the northerners from the provinces of Honan, Anhwei and Kiangsu were announced officially today by the Nanking nationalist military council.

General Chang Tseung-chang, one-time northern defender of Shanghai, was reported to have been wounded in the leg while commanding the northern army and to have been forced to retire to Tsinanfu, capital of the province of Shantung, and to have entered a hospital.

General Chiang Kaishek, one-time generalissimo of the united nationalist forces, now is acting as peacemaker between the various nationalist factions. He was quoted today as saying: "Unification means that the capture of Peking is assured."

Continued on Page 12, Column 1

DEC. 3RD, THE FIREWORKS!

SLANDER CHARGE MARKS CAMPAIGN

Candidate for Louisiana Governor Released on Bond; Accused by Shreveport Mayor.

Shreveport, La., November 26.—(AP)—Huey P. Long, candidate for governor of Louisiana, this afternoon made $500 bond before Sheriff T. R. Hughes on a charge of slander sworn out against him by L. E. Thomas, mayor of Shreveport.

The affidavit upon which the warrant was issued charged that Long had slandered the mayor in a campaign speech here last Thursday night. The affidavit was filed by Mayor Thomas.

When the gubernatorial candidate appeared at the sheriff's office he was accompanied by his brother, Julius T. Long, local attorney, who signed the bond. Long declined to make any statement.

Recently Long engaged in a fist fight with J. Y. Sanders, former governor, in the lobby of a New Orleans hotel.

The warrant charged that Long slandered Thomas by saying in a public speech "Of course, when you find something that gets absolutely debauched from the bottom to the top you are going to find L. E. Thomas with it." It was also charged that Long said: "Now, my friends, the truth is not in the man. He is a man who has no regard for the truth and no regard for honor and I am charitable to you when I deal only with his public record and he is a man like this."

The candidate also was alleged to have declared that "he is a low-down, dirty thief and liar and the truth ain't in him," and that "old L. E. Thomas wants to put out a brand new lie. He cannot help lying; it is in the man."

HUSBAND BLAMED IN DOUBLE KILLING

Estranged Mate Sought in Deaths of Woman and Prominent Physician in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, November 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Artie McGough, 33, formerly of Philadelphia, and Dr. Charles Dyer, 38, well-known Cincinnati physician, died tonight within two hours after they were discovered desperately wounded in Dyer's downtown office.

Both died of abdominal wounds soon after being removed to a hospital. Both blamed their wounds on Mrs. McGough's former husband, from whom she had been separated for some time. The attacker escaped and police tonight were searching the city for him.

According to their statements to police, Mrs. McGough had just entered Dyer's office with food for a lunch when Andrew McGough burst in upon them, shouted: "Now I've got you," and fired six shots. Two of them struck Dyer and another hit Mrs. McGough.

Grid Interest at Fever Heat As Big Struggle Approaches

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Georgia and Tech.

But Georgia beat Alabama 14 points and Tech only beat them 13 points and—Yes, but Tech tied Vandy and Vandy's got the greatest team she ever had and—These all right, Georgia beat Yale and Yale's the best team in the world and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.
Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.
Just wait till Saturday and you'll see 'em 'at Georgia," got the greatest passers and—Thass nothin', Tech's going crazy.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

got some drop kickers that'll—Oh Georgia'll run all over 'em and—What the hell, you know Tech'll surprise everybody and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.
Yes and the fool gimme Georgia and seven points on I put up my fifty and he covers it and—Oh, I've figured it all out, it's going to be a tie and—Shucks, Tech'll pull something on 'em that'll knock 'em cold and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

Oh, I got two seats in the west stand but I bought 'em last spring and—Well I'll get Senator Turnip-greens to write Professor Turnip-greens to write Representative Ad Valorem, whose son is a scrub on the fourth team at Tech and he'll get me some good seats and—Why I saw a man offer forty bucks for a pass and—Blah, blah, blah.

Georgia and Tech.

NEW TERMINAL GETS WIDE SUPPORT WITH VIADUCT PLANS

$1,000,000 ASKED FOR NEW PARKS AND GOLF COURSES

Councilman White and Superintendent Wallis Offer Long List of Recommendations to City.

Establishment of two 18-hole golf courses, several new parks and playgrounds, a year-round recreational program and many other improvements and additions are sought from a fund of $1,000,000 to be asked for the park system of the city, according to a list of recommendations compiled Saturday by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, chairman of the parks committee of council, and L. L. Wallis, superintendent of parks and playgrounds.

The paper recommends among a long list of other things that one of the golf courses be established in the northern and the other in the southern sections of the city. In addition,

Continued on Page 10, Column 3

Reno Divorce Is Given Wife Of Vanderbilt

Former Newspaper Publisher Says He Will Make Home in Nevada.

Reno, Nevada, November 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Rachel Vanderbilt was today granted a divorce from Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., former publisher, on charges of desertion. A complaint filed by Vanderbilt charging cruelty was withdrawn. Mrs. Vanderbilt was not present.

Vanderbilt said after the decree was granted that he was "very sad" and spoke of the happy moments he had spent with Mrs. Vanderbilt. He added that he intended to reside in Reno in the future.

Suit for divorce was filed here by Vanderbilt on November 10, his complaint charging his wife discouraged his newspaper activities because little time remained to attend social functions. The complaint had scarcely been filed when a cross petition was entered by Mrs. Vanderbilt. No mention was made of a financial settlement.

Vanderbilt lost a fortune in tabloid publication ventures. He had a large fortune in his own name but persisted in newspaper work which he had entered shortly after his discharge from the army. He established tabloids in Los Angeles, San Francisco and in Miami, Fla.

Refused further aid by his father when he was pressed for funds in 1926, Vanderbilt suspended publication of the San Francisco tabloid and restrictions were placed on the Los Angeles and Miami papers. These, too, failed and went into receivership. He then began writing special articles in the hope of meeting all his debts, after having retired some obligations with what remained of his inheritance.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was the former Rachael Littleton, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and a half sister of Martin W. Littleton, New York attorney. They were married in April, 1920, the wedding being attended by New York's most exclusive society, who mingled with Vanderbilt's doughty pals of his army days. He served as a private with the 27th division in France.

After retiring his publications Vanderbilt moved into a small New York apartment and started writing manuscripts. He cooked for himself and worked long hours. Friends were told he would "pay every penny if it takes 50 years."

Vanderbilt arrived here July 31, last, remaining three months to establish a residence in requirement of the divorce laws. Mrs. Vanderbilt's cross complaint asserted he deserted her more than two years ago.

MRS. TOD SLOAN DIVORCES FORMER FAMOUS JOCKEY

San Diego, Calif., November 26.—(AP)—Elizabeth Sloan today was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Tod Sloan, one-time idol of the racing world. Sloan was not present in court to hear his young wife testify to the mental cruelty she said had been inflicted by his habitual intemperance. The decree was given her by default together with custody of the two children.

The Sloans were married in Los Angeles, June 8, 1920, the wife testified, and parted in San Diego, July 15, last.

WORLD'S WONDER FOUND IN CHILD WHO NEVER CRIES

Nuneaton, England, November 26.—(AP)—This town claims to possess one of the world's wonders in a nine months' old girl, "Happy" Boulstridge. She has never been known to cry.

"Happy" is attracting the widespread attention of baby experts who are confounded because she is otherwise normal and theoretically it is impossible for a baby to be so normal without crying occasionally. "Happy" laughs a great deal of the time.

Continued on Page 12, Column 1

Midgets Unable To Agree And Divorce Plea Follows

Jacksonville, Fla., November 26.—(AP)—Ike Matina, 26, five feet tall, 24 inches tall and 30 pounds in weight, is seeking a divorce from his wife, Margaret, 25 years old, 23 inches tall and 28 pounds in weight.

Matina, in proceedings instituted in Duval county court, charges his wife with cruel and barbarous treatment and desertion.

Their wedding, last April a year ago, was the culmination of a brief but romantic courtship begun in Chicago when Margaret was persuaded to join the vaudeville sketch of Ike and Mike.

Three weeks after the trio started on the road Ike and Margaret were married at a featured service held in Forsyth park, Savannah, Ga., before some 20,000 persons. Mayor Hull, Savannah's chief executive, performed the ceremony. He had declared a half holiday in celebration of the nuptials.

"When you can't get along with them, you better just leave 'em," Ike was quoted as saying today. "Ike and Mike" are the names of the midgets who have been serving on her at noon today.

The hearing was set for January 2,

Dry America in 50 Years Will Be 'Marvel of World'

U. S. IMPROVING, SAYS EVANGELINE BOOTH

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—If the United States is dry in 50 years "it will be the marvel of the world," thinks Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, here for a conference of her workers.

"Of course, we cannot do away with drinking with a wave of the hand," said the commander. "The moral character of the United States already is 50 per cent better since drinking liquor became illegal."

The younger generation—"I would not care to say the world is worse than it was in my grandmother's time."

The daughter of the Salvation Army founder added: "Of course, the making of drinking illegal has caused some children to drink and go wild. "The mistakes of young people—their goings wrong—are brought to the fore more today by the press, perhaps," she asserted.

Asked her opinion of companionate marriage, Commander Booth said her friend, Judge Lindsey evidently had been misquoted.

"Marriage is too sacred an institution with which to be experimental," she said. "How is a companionate marriage going to lessen divorce? Will it strengthen the connections in the hearts of two young people? Will it stress the sacredness and the obligations entailed by matrimony? And then what about the children—they are the greatest responsibility God can give man and woman."

Readings of the river level Friday were 1.7 feet above zero, Zero is an arbitrary measuring point selected by the United States geological survey

Continued on Page 10, Column 6

Continued on Page 10, Column 6

Continued on Page 10, Column 6

Forbes, Freed From Prison, Mayor Ragsdale Puts Official Stamp of Approval On Drive of Post 'B,' T. P. A., for 2,000 New Members

Leavenworth, Kansas, November 26. (AP)—Announcing his most important mission in life would be to "correct the erroneous impression the public has been given of President Harding," Colonel Charles R. Forbes today returned to civilian life after completing service on a two-year term in the federal penitentiary here.

The 49-year-old former director of the United States veterans' bureau who was convicted in Chicago in 1925 of defrauding the government in awarding contracts for veterans' hospitals, was released at midnight.

Clad in a neat business suit, his hair combed back, he emerged from the prison gate with a firm step in marked contrast to his entry. Rigorous application to his profession of civil engineer in surveying penitentiary property and even in welding a hammer and a saw in construction work, apparently has restored him to the health he enjoyed in a long army career.

Issues Statement. He paused only long enough to issue a statement on his plans for the future before entering an automobile with a newspaperman in the back seat. They left immediately for that city.

His statement, dealing largely with recommendations for handling prisoners in various types of penal institutions, concluded with the announcement that he "had startling facts to reveal" relative to his connection with the Harding administration.

In conclusion, the statement said: "In the light of the erroneous impression the public has been given of President Harding, I shall have some interesting facts to reveal, facts which will put to shame a lot of scoundrels and calumniators whose chief purpose seems to be the destruction of the good character of one of the noblest men it has been my privilege to know."

"My personal and intimate association with Warren Harding has placed me in a position to prove the falsity of many of the charges which have been made against him. It is my mission to the public, and this shall be the most important mission of my life."

"I should be (Harding) defend himself, the American public would have a much different impression about some of the important happenings of his administration. He was a man who loved his friends, and was not through his belief in the fundamental honesty of men in high public office."

"Some of the facts I shall reveal will be no less startling and sensational than many of the charges made against him."

To Aid Convicts. Declaring he had spent the 20 months of imprisonment in "conscientious work," including "surveying 1,500 acres of land and designing of numerous buildings, he landed particularly the prison medical staff. He also mentioned "the stupendous task" of the warden in handling thousands of prisoners and declared he would devote his best efforts in aiding convicts and attempting to improve prison conditions.

He then told how he had been confined to the prison hospital for months for an attack of Bright's disease, and how he had in a large measure regained his health.

Colonel Forbes spent considerable time interrogating convicts and in referring to "the hidden secrets within the souls of prisoners," advocating segregation of narcotic addicts.

"So long as narcotic addicts are sent to prison, such institutions will continue to be flooded with drugs," the statement said.

School for Crime. He described the present day penitentiary as "nothing more than a combined prison and insane asylum, a school for post-graduate work in crime, specializing in moral perversity."

Ordered to pay a $10,000 fine in addition to his two-year term, Colonel Forbes took a paper's oath October 27, last and served thirty additional days required in such cases. He applied for parole several times but was unsuccessful. He was allowed 144 days for good behavior.

He indicated he planned to visit his 92-year-old mother in Plymouth, Mass., and also would make a trip to Washington, before resuming his profession as an engineer.

Colonel Forbes was accompanied to the prison gate by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer, convicted of fraudulent use of the mails in an oil production program in Texas in 1923 and sentenced to 14 years in prison. They conversed for a moment and then Colonel Forbes turned to newspapermen.

To Clear Name. "I don't intend to associate my public character, but I will say that I intend to clear my good name," he said as he distributed copies of his statement.

"I haven't quit politics yet. I may be at the republican national convention," he said with a smile. "It all depends. Anyway I shall be on my feet again—ultimately, it will be through the profession of engineering."

"Of course I shall write. It will not be for money, but to clear myself. I shall write a book and many other things. My good name, Dr. Cook, will be the subject of some of my writing. I shall give him the kind of publicity he deserves. He is a great man."

Photo by Kenneth Rogers, Staff Photographer.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, shown seated in the above picture, Saturday officially approved a drive to enlist 2,000 new members in local post "B," Travelers Protective association, when a committee of officials sought his cooperation in the drive. Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, mayor pro tem., is holding the paper for the mayor to sign, and Robert F. Pennington, president of the post, on the left of the mayor, is watching the ceremony. From left to right in the picture are F. E. Kibler, W. P. Price, B. B. Baber, Alderman Dobbs, W. W. Moore, Harvey Harrison, Mr. Pennington, Jack White, Milan Boex and Carter C. Harrison.

This announcement was made by Major Harrison, who declared that the ranks of the organization should be augmented by at least 2,500 during the week with every member cooperating in the drive.

Practically every member of the organization is in the sales business in Atlanta and these high-powered distributors who have made Atlanta nationally famous as the central distributing point of the entire south will take the field during the week to sell the T. P. A. to at least one of their contemporaries.

The organization stands for more social contact between distributors and salesmen, it has many highly desirable protective features, and establishes a pretentious code of ethics in the profession and recreation for members.

It is at the present time the fifth largest organization of its kind in the United States and the drive is to place it in third place.

As soon as their presence was discovered, they were kicked out, and the federation made a report of it to the office.

The I. W. W. was refused a permit to stage a parade in Seattle, but they marched anyhow, and boarded a ship for Everett, Wash. The city authorities at Everett refused to let them land, and the I. W. W. fired back and killed several I. W. W. members. The organization had photographs taken of the dead bodies in the morgue, magnified the wounds, and sent pictures of the bodies all over the country on postcards, with the inscription that they died for justice.

The I. W. W. published two papers, one in Seattle, and another in San Francisco. These weeklies were the official organs of the body. The organization has lost heavily in membership in the past few years and is not anywhere near its war-time strength.

WAR WIDOW SUES KAISER FOR LOSS OF MATE AT SEA Paris, November 26.—(United News.)—A French war widow, Mme. Priour, has filed suit for damages against the former German kaiser, charging him with manslaughter.

She accused Wilhelm of responsibility for the sinking of the liner Sessel by a German submarine in the English channel during the war. Her husband drowned when the Sessel went down.

The ministry of justice is studying the suit.

SON OF PRESIDENT VISITS DAUGHTER OF CONN. GOVERNOR (Dr. Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Hartford, Conn., November 26.—(AP)—John Coolidge, son of President Coolidge, is visiting Florence Trumbull, daughter of Governor Trumbull, at the governor's home in Plainville, Conn. Young, a classmate of John and Andrew, and Virginia Rogers, of Pittsburgh, Florence's classmate at Mount Holyoke college, are other guests of the week-end party. Last night the feast in the ballroom of the Hotel Bond in this city.

LASCAR SAILORS PREFER PRISON TO U. S. VOYAGE Glasgow, Scotland, November 26.—(AP)—Sixteen Lascar sailors, who told a judge today they would rather go to prison than to America, gave their preference.

The men were members of the crew of the steamship Suerit. They admitted signing for duty on that vessel, but rebelled when they learned that the ship was going to Norfolk, Va.

"It is too cold in America," they explained to the judge. "If we go there we will die and never see India again."

They were sentenced to spend four weeks in prison.

NURSES ON STRIKE. 11 Wesley Training School Students Protest Holiday Ban. Christmas is coming, and so are the Christmas holidays, if any. And that's just why 11 members of the freshman class of the Wesley Memorial hospital training school for nurses Saturday packed their bags and left the hospital in protest against the school ruling which says that no student shall be allowed a vacation until she has completed one year of her course.

A petition bearing the signatures of 16 members of the class was submitted November 8 and sought to force abrogation of the rule, according to officials of the hospital, who pointed out to them that such permission could not be granted as it would be impossible for so many to leave at one time.

Five of the signers reconsidered and remained at the hospital.

Godiva, Clad in Gossamer, Follows Wax Figure Expose

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—Two Godivas, one real, the other wax, brought the annual arts hall to an anti-climatic close at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Three thousand revelers who had come to see how life is to be lived in 2000 A. D., and who had been told in publicity prose for a fortnight that Lady Godiva would be recreated in her original artistic undrape, met disappointment.

They had been warned beforehand that Lady Godiva would be without her legendary horse, and they bore up under this departure from the Coventry story, which becoming fortuitous they had reconciled themselves to a pedestrian Godiva, posing unclad in a gilt frame, and they were willing, for the sake of art, to forego horse, with the understanding that the appearance of Lady Godiva herself—in the person of Miss Rosalind Hightower, Detroit artist—would suffice to refresh their memories concerning this epic episode in the history of Old Coventry.

But they took umbrage at wax, and even then so quickly did the curtains close, they got only a kaleidoscopic view of the study in paraffin.

Double Exposure. An hour before the Godiva business, which was down on the program as "Fashions of 2000 A. D.," the committee, which had been voluble during the past week discoursing on the artistic daring of the Coventry enterprise, insisted that Miss Hightower positively would appear unclad, just like Lady Godiva when she played Paul Revere long before Revere died.

Two of those who were given the brightly-lighted stage, saw only a figure in wax. It was Miss Hightower's figure, made by a Chicago artist, but with all its symmetry of line, it was wax nonetheless.

Then the curtains dropped together for a few seconds. When they were parted the wax figure had disappeared. In its place stood Miss Hightower, clad in a gossamer material and posed so nearly like the paraffin statue that many did not know the difference.

Miscues. If the stage-hand who manipulated the curtains had been somewhat better, the Godiva finale might have been more successful. Miss Hightower was to have stepped from her gilt frame and advanced to the front of the stage to give the legend-minded audience an opportunity of seeing what Lady Godiva looked like.

But the stage hand got his eyes mixed, and dropped the curtains before she could take a step. Thus the customers were denied the sight of Godiva in motion.

The gold frame in which Miss Hightower and her waxen double appeared was an antique, said to be worth $10,000, but nobody noticed it. The two Godivas, posed in duplicate, stood with arms crossed, looking at something over their left shoulder.

Miss Hightower, the committee and the publicity directors were loath to comment on the affair. There had been a mistake, they said, but they did not say what the mistake was. Guests were inclined to believe they had made a mistake in believing that the Godiva legend would be recreated unexpurgated.

"Peeping Tom." During the original Lady Godiva ride through the streets of Coventry, about 1000 A. D., the populace was supposed to keep its doors and windows closed so that none might spy upon the lady in her unconventional equestrian excursion. One man, however, a tailor named Tom, took a peep, and went blind, thus giving the English proverbial expression "Peeping Tom." Not an eye was lost at the arts hall.

There were lots of other events on the program, but society folk and regulars, the experts, the habitués of the Chicago Civic Opera company was present.

Many prominent Chicagoans attended, including Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, who had as her guest the Persian minister, Mirza Davood Khan Metah.

STATE EDUCATORS MEET HERE DEC. 2 City and county school superintendents of Georgia, numbering about 200, will begin their second annual meeting at the Henry Grady hotel Friday morning, December 2.

Dr. Shelton Phelps, of Georgia Peabody College for Teachers, will be one of the principal speakers of the convention. He will deliver an address before the assembly Friday evening. Dr. Phelps is one of the leading educators of America and an excellent speaker.

The board of directors of the Georgia Education association, all of whom are members of the Superintendents' association, will meet December 2 at the Henry Grady and the legislative committee of the Superintendents' association will have a conference at breakfast Saturday morning, December 3.

J. O. Martin and T. M. Purcell will open the first session Friday with talks on "Curriculum Revision for the Primary Grades." Talks on "Curriculum Revision for Intermediate Grades" will be given by J. L. Allman and Miss Catherine Dozier. One of the outstanding features of the afternoon will be addresses by J. W. Griffin, president of the Georgia Education association, which convenes in Atlanta next April.

Officers of the Superintendents' association are: J. E. Parks, Columbia, president; M. R. Little, Louisville, vice president; T. L. Lance, Waynesboro, secretary-treasurer; C. R. Reid, Monroe, Knox Walker, Carrollton, and Mark Smith, of Thomaston, are members of the executive board.

FRENCH SUBMARINE SENDS SOS CALL London, November 26.—(AP)—An SOS from the French submarine S.O.S. was intercepted tonight by Lloyds Landsend radio station. The position of the submarine was 40.32 north longitude 2.34 east. This is a point off the Balearic islands in the Mediterranean.

The Morse carries a complement of 51 men. She was built in 1925. No further details of the French submarine Morse were received by Lloyds or any other source up to a late hour tonight, notwithstanding efforts to ascertain the nature of the accident which evidently has befallen the warcraft.

The "Minimum Standard Constants for College Entrance." Practically all members of the Superintendents' association are members of the Georgia Education association. Some of these include Walter P. Jones, superintendent of schools, Macon; Dr. M. L. Puggan, state superintendent of schools, Atlanta; W. P. Martin, Gainesville; M. R. Little, Louisville; L. M. Lester, Griffin; A. J. Hargrove, Culbert, all of whom are also officers of the Georgia Education association, which convenes in Atlanta next April.

GERMAN BUDGET IS INCREASED

Berlin, November 26. (AP)—Germany's budget for 1928 will exceed that of the current year by only 367,000,000 reichsmarks and will not incur a national deficit, despite the additional 100,000,000 reichsmarks under the Dawes plan's operation. Financial Minister Dr. Koelliker today told the Wolff Telegraph bureau.

Dr. Koelliker, who described the new budget as embracing "the limit of possible administrative economies," declared that not only will Germany avoid a deficit but has provided no authorization for a loan in 1928. In addition, he said, loans floated during 1926 and 1927 will be reduced through special amortization next year.

Expenditures Covered. "The total budget of 1928 balances now with 9,502,000,000 as compared with 9,135,000,000 in 1927," Dr. Koelliker continued. "Extraordinary expenditures of 146,000,000 are included in the above total and have been fully covered without recourse to any loans. Ordinary expenditures balance with a gross total of 9,356,000,000 compared with 8,989,000,000 for 1927, an increase of 367,000,000. Net expenditures after deducting appropriations to the federal states amounting to 3,218,000,000, reach 6,138,000,000 for 1928 as compared with 5,769,000,000 for 1927. This means an increase of only 370,000,000 in spite of the aforementioned increase of expenditures on account of reparations payments."

There remain uncovered more than 900,000,000 for public works which have been approved, and to a large extent started, during the years just mentioned," Dr. Koelliker added. "That a loan in 1928 in order to cover the loan requirements of former years must, aside from other considerations, be avoided also for the preservation of the capital market."

Concerned by Loans. "By this, however, I am by no means relieved of the concern caused by these old loan requirements, which are still to be covered. Therefore, I have made provision in the budget law of 1928 that, first of all, the remainder of the fund for operating expenses, amounting to approximately 10,000,000, shall be applied toward covering the existing loan requirements, the total amount of which will be reduced thereby to $32,000,000.

"In addition," the finance minister asserted "measures will be taken providing that the total of the extraordinary expenditures, approved in for money, will not fully come due in 1928, but will be distributed over a period of several years. Amounts which have been expended in 1928, and which cannot be covered at present by cash in hand, will have to be taken care of by the issuance of treasury notes."

Mexican Paper Urges Revision Of Debt Payment Mexico City, November 26. (AP)—The newspaper Excelsior urges revision of the Mexican government's agreement with the committee of international bankers, in which a detailed schedule was arranged for payments year by year on Mexican foreign debt. The paper considers the terms in excess of what Mexico is at present in a position to pay. It thinks that the amounts of next year's and subsequent payments should be modified and that the committee of bankers, appreciating the conditions, would be willing to modify the terms.

Excelsior points out the reduction in petroleum production, causing a decline in the government's revenues from almost $6,000,000 pesos in 1922 to about $3,000,000 last year. It says the probability that this year's revenue will be still less.

STUDY OF TORONTO PLANS MIGHT HELP FOLLIES IN CHICAGO Toronto, November 26. (AP)—Toronto has experienced so few holdups in recent years that a 50 per cent decrease in holdup insurance was an offer by bonding and insurance companies.

BANDIT SLAYERS IN TEXAS TO DIVIDE CHECK FOR $10,000 Dallas, Texas, November 26. (AP)—As a reward for the slaying of two bank robbers, a check for $10,000 was mailed today by the Texas Bankers' association to be divided among four officers who slew the two men when they attempted to rob the Citizens National bank, of Odesa, Texas, recently.

The association recently posted a standing reward of $5,000 "for bandits killed while robbing a bank."

GIRL ENDS LIFE RATHER THAN GET BEHIND IN SCHOOL Beaver, Pa., November 26. (AP)—Despondent over the fact that ill health had forced her to drop behind her friends in school, Jean Weisel, 16, Beaver High school student, shot and killed herself today. Before the girl committed suicide she penned a note to her mother explaining the motive for her act.

2 CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH; FATHER SEVERELY BURNED Sapulpa, Okla., November 26. (AP)—Two children, 4 and 2 years old, were burned to death and their father, O. J. Carr, probably fatally burned when fire, caused by an explosion of a gas stove, burst into a home here today. The father and mother were in the yard while the two children, Merle and Eugene, were in the house. Carr rushed into the burning building to rescue the children, but the youngest already was burned to death and he was unable to rescue the other.

CLOSETS, $20.02

Closets as illustrated consists of iron enamel tank, china washdown bowl, oak or mahogany finish seat and closet screen.

China Tank Closets $19.12
Enamel Iron Closets 13.05
Closet Seats (21 kinds) $2.25 up
Copper linings for closet tanks 3.15

There are cash prices delivered in Atlanta and vicinity.

Terms if desired. Accounts of home owners welcomed.

PICKERT PLUMBING SUPPLY CO.
Wholesale and Retail
195-199 Central Ave., S. W.
Atlanta, Ga.

AS FINE AS HUMAN HANDS CAN MAKE

New FALL MODELS

EACH model shown in our new Fall exhibit has a certain distinguished air all its own. The woollens, patterns and color tones are refreshing and the hand tailoring imparts a welcome softness and perfect fit to every garment.

$50 To $75

Correct Gloves For All Occasions

PARKS-CHAMBERS Inc

Baby health centers for the week will be at the Frank L. Stanton hospital on Monday, November 28, and at the Pryor Street school Friday, December 2. Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, announced Saturday. All baby centers are opened promptly at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, Dr. Kennedy stated.

BABY HEALTH CENTERS ANNOUNCED FOR WEEK

LABOR FOUGHT I. W. W. "As I have remarked, the I. W. W. and the Federation of Labor are opposed to each other. Yet some I. W. W. members got into the federation."

LABOR FOUGHT I. W. W. "As I have remarked, the I. W. W. and the Federation of Labor are opposed to each other. Yet some I. W. W. members got into the federation."

LABOR FOUGHT I. W. W. "As I have remarked, the I. W. W. and the Federation of Labor are opposed to each other. Yet some I. W. W. members got into the federation."

LABOR FOUGHT I. W. W. "As I have remarked, the I. W. W. and the Federation of Labor are opposed to each other. Yet some I. W. W. members got into the federation."

Telephoned Plea Reduces Chest Deficit to $50,000

Success in reducing from $80,000 to $50,000 the deficit in the Community Chest funds for charity relief in Atlanta in 1928 was credited Saturday to the company of young women at last night's dinner at the Chest who for the first time days have directed by telephone an appeal to complete the sum which is declared absolutely necessary to overcome the menace of suffering and unrelieved want in the city.

Contributions in response to the telephoned appeal have increased the sum available in the city's 25 agencies of charity relief and human reconstruction to $50,000. When the public canvass for the Chest closed November 1, only $120,000 was in hand.

Most effective in presenting this appeal for charity and constructive help, according to the statement at headquarters, were Miss Ruth Robertson, Mrs. G. A. LaFollett and Mrs. Elizabeth Byrne. Miss Robertson, who has been in the Chest since its inception, is a single day, which was $611. Mrs. LaFollett's biggest day brought $540 for charity, and Mrs. Byrne brought $270.

The telephoned appeal will continue, it was said at headquarters of the Chest, until every person in Atlanta who has not given his part toward the charity by telephone is the city's obligation which has an opportunity to respond.

The figure of $50,000 represents the absolute minimum necessary for effective operation of the Chest, the Chest officials said. "If the amount contributed falls short of that sum, it means that the budget of all agencies must be reduced in their proportion."

"In spite of this reduction, it is natural that the agencies will struggle to accomplish so much relief as possible, spreading and stretching their resources to cover as much as they can reach. This means a loss of efficiency in a degree even greater than is indicated by the percentage of reduction, because it affects the entire work."

This message is conveyed by telephone by the young women workers at the Chest offices, who inform their hearers that unless the necessary funds are raised, there will be seen in Atlanta this year many cases of hardship in which there will be personal solicitation of aims and personal constructive relief, that family welfare agencies will be unable to take care adequately of the family groups that appeal to them in dire need, and that many helpless children will be shut from homes of refuge.

Total subscriptions of $1,343, a third of which was paid in cash, was announced Saturday by the colored division of the Community Chest campaign. This does not take into account amounts pledged by negro workers whose figures were reported through the industrial division, nor subscriptions of colored churches and schools.

It is believed that the entire figure will triple this amount. The Leonard Street Orphanage, which is the division with the largest total, more than $1,200, while the second highest amount, $800, was reported by the Carrie Steele Orphanage.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

VETERANS' 'BONUS' TIME LIMIT NEARS

Warning that world war veterans stand to lose all rights to the federal adjusted compensation "bonus" unless they act before January 1 was voiced Saturday by Lieutenant Colonel C. O. Thomas, Jr., in announcing the opening of an information center at the local United States army recruiting offices, 805 Thawer building, to aid veterans in filing applications.

More than 500,000 ex-service men throughout the country, with claims aggregating possibly half a million dollars, have failed to apply, the war department has informed Colonel Thomas. Another group of 400,000 veterans have neglected to return applications sent them for correction.

To date, over 3,100,000 applications have been received at Washington. Local veterans or relatives of deceased soldiers who visit the information center will be given every assistance in completing their applications and interpreting the regulations governing their cases. Blanks, addressed envelopes, and detailed instructions will be available. Finger printing facilities with an operator in attendance have been installed.

According to Colonel Thomas, any honorably discharged veteran who served in the army, navy or marine corps for more than 90 days between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919, providing he began his service before the armistice, is eligible for the benefits of the adjusted compensation law. To be valid applications must be filed on or before January 1, 1928.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through the North American Insurance company of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an onrushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great effort. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subsidize dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $125 a year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Colgate U. Asks for Georgia Data on Revolutionary Days

Rupert Hughes has started a lot of controversy with his books about George Washington. Other modern writers have repeated his performance with alleged historical exposures of other famous individuals.

Now comes Colgate university seeking to find out what the average man who lived in revolutionary days really thought about the whole thing.

The department of history and politics of that institution has written The Constitution, seeking help in its proposed research into the thoughts and opinions of "the forgotten man," the average American of the days of 1776. They want to know about his politics, how he viewed the stirring times in which he lived—whether he realized how stirring they were—and what he believed about the figures which we of today revere as founders of the republic.

The materials for a study such as this, it is pointed out, are generally held as private property. They are town and family records, letters, diaries, bits from old biographies, old newspapers, papers of historical societies and the like. That such records exist, Colgate university is certain.

Therefore they ask that any scraps of history that may be hiding in private treasure trove, come out in the daylight and help the modern world to understand the common folks of the revolution.

"The purpose of the study is to reveal the part of the people in the revolution, which American was the sustaining force behind the military and civic leaders," it is stated. It is further added:

"For Georgia we specially desire resolutions of town and county committees, records of town activities, home conditions, conspicuous deeds of individuals, control of the Tories, frontier defense and the furnishing of war supplies."

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

GEORGIA U. DINNER SLAYER OF WIFE PLANS COMPLETE TO PLEAD INSANITY

Music and vaudeville, a comedy sketch by the Thalian Dramatic club and only a few speeches, will feature the program of the University of Georgia alumni banquet, to be given next Friday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Dudley Reynolds, of the Atlanta Alumni society of the university, announced Saturday that reservations were pouring in from all over Georgia and several from far-away states where "old grads" in business were planning a homecoming for the Tech Georgia football game Saturday.

Reynolds' office is 1415 Candler building, and seats for the dinner may be had there or by telephoning Miss Pearl McClung, Walnut 4776.

"We will have the Bulldog orchestra, moving pictures of the games Georgia has played this year, singing and a few talks by members of the faculty," said Mr. Reynolds, who has charge of arrangements. "Every old Georgia man is invited to come and count on real effort has been made to raise the quota."

The fund raised, augmented by the gift of the national organization, will be devoted entirely to carrying on a campaign to impress upon the people of Georgia the need of protecting the forests, preventing fires and waste, replanting for the future and guarding the land against the erosion that comes from denuding the forests.

Atlanta and Savannah have been the most active in raising their shares of the funds, that of Atlanta having been set at one-third of the entire state quota.

The educational campaign will be conducted by the Georgia Forestry association, the officers being C. B. Harman, president; Bonnell Stone, secretary; and Frank T. Reynolds, treasurer.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

CLARK GLEE CLUB PLANNING PROGRAM

A concert by the Clark University Glee club, featuring both classical selections and the ever-popular negro spirituals, will be given at Wesley Memorial church Monday evening, December 18. The concert will be directed by Professor Frederick Hall, who heads the department of music at Clark university and Gammon seminary. It will be in the nature of a benefit for the Butler street Y. M. C. A., all the proceeds going to the fund now being raised to liquidate the debt of that institution.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence about any such records existing is invited by Jonathan Rawson, of the university department, whose address is Hamilton, N. Y.

Correspondence

RAPID PROGRESS NOTED ON HAYNES MANOR MODEL HOME

Plastering Completed; Start on New Features

Use of Standard Materials for Building Economy Features The Constitution's Second Model Home.

Rapid progress on the second demonstration residence of the model home series being sponsored by The Constitution to promote more scientific building and make Atlanta a city of satisfied home owners was shown at the Haynes Manor site last week.

The skilled crew of the Atlanta Realty and Construction company, well-known builders, was earnestly at work finishing the plastering during the first part of the week. Before the curtain blew Saturday afternoon the trim work had been started and window casings installed. Laying of the trim, which includes moulding, floor boards, casings for windows and doorways and similar permanent interior fixtures, will continue for the next few weeks, a special group of workmen being detailed to this task while others undertake new portions of building phases.

Next week the exterior, or finish, brick work will be started. At the same time the guttering will be done and the roof tiled. Construction phases now under way are of utmost importance to families planning to build or buy a home. Particular interest in these phases are stressed by The Constitution because it is cooperating with the Home Owners Institute of New York in the national better homes movement based on use of standard nationally-known materials.

Materials which have gained high repute by constant service over a long period of years are certain to be the most economical to employ in building a home. This principle is adopted in the homes being sponsored by The Constitution, since another feature of the national campaign is to demonstrate that the most economical residence can be erected from the best materials at the lowest ultimate cost.

Of particular interest to Atlantans is the home the Atlanta Realty and Construction company is now building on a beautiful central site in Haynes Manor. Building materials of national reputation for their standard qualities, grown, manufactured or produced in the south—many of them close to Atlanta—are being used almost exclusively. For instance, the lumber, now being applied as trim is of the finest Georgia white pine, manufactured by Williamson Tilt Lumber company; from the stock of B. Miffling Hood company comes the "Yorkshire Englobe shingle tile," with which the roof will be adorned and made impenetrable this week; it originates near the border of Georgia and Tennessee. And the plaster, with which a principal phase of last week's work was completed, is another excellent southern product obtained from the Campbell Coal company.

These details of construction are hidden from the eye of the average person after the house is completed. But, without knowledge of what has gone to make the home, the layman cannot tell how long the beauty he sees in the newly-finished house will last. A dwelling that fails to withstand the ravages of time quickly loses all vestige of beauty. On the other hand, the well-constructed home, founded on solid standard materials, takes on a mellowness and wholesome aspect with the years that greatly enhances its original beauty.

For these reasons, home-minded persons will gain valuable experience by following the construction progress of the handsome colonial residence of moderate size being constructed on the corner of Peachtree Battle avenue and Alton drive, in Haynes Manor. Follow the activity by visits to the site and watch for the weekly story of the undertaking in The Constitution.

Marian Moore's Answers to Questions

Question: What kind of a table shall I buy to complete a Queen Anne chair group?

Answer: A small and table, lacquered in red, blue, green or antique ivory, according to the color you want to accent in that part of the room.

Question: I have a tall, narrow bookcase, but not quite enough books yet to fill it. Is it correct to place some small pieces of pottery on one or two of the shelves? And, if so, should the shelves thus treated be the top, center or bottom ones?

Answer: Put the pottery pieces on the top shelf only. If your books do not completely fill the remaining shelves, put a few books only on each shelf, as shown in Figure 5 of the illustration to Lesson XXXI. The reason for this arrangement is that books look heavier than pottery; therefore, should be placed below the latter, never above.

Question: (1) Is it correct to keep the cups and saucers of my coffee set on a coffee table near the fireplace? (2) My coffee table is in Chinese blue. What color should the coffee set be?

Answer: (1) Cups and saucers of an artistic design and vigorous coloring, selected to echo a certain hue used elsewhere in the room, may be displayed on the coffee table. Coffee sets of decorated white china, though sometimes very beautiful, are out of place in the living room. (2) With a Chinese blue coffee table, use one of the following combinations: Jonquil yellow, luster tan, orange, or any of these colors combined with blue.

Question: (1) Should I have my hall floor to be covered with a tile linoleum and my living room carpeted. There is a large cased opening between the two. Do you think my idea is practical? The floors in both rooms are very worn and shabby and must be covered.

Answer: Your plan is quite practical, but I would suggest uniting the two floors by means of a small rug placed where carpet and linoleum meet.

Another plan is to cover both floors with linoleum—a tile pattern in the hall and a jasper design in the living room, using small rugs for emphasis and variety or both floors may be carpeted alike.

This Home Emphasizes the Economy of Brick

Plan No 285-S

Plans from Home Owners Institute Inc. © 1927

Plan No. 285-S, planned by Carver and Frost, is an excellent example of a well planned home in brick at moderate cost, informal as to design and comfortable to live in. Complete blueprints and specifications of our house plans, ready to build from, are available to our readers at low cost.

Carol "Doesn't Choose" To Run for Throne Of Post as Regent

Paris, November 26.—(P)—Former Crown Prince Carol does not choose to run—either as a candidate for the throne of Rumania or for membership of the regency.

Carol has allowed it to be understood that the death of Premier Ionel Bratianu does not change the attitude he has adopted all along. This is that he is willing to return only if he receives an invitation which voices the general desire of his countrymen. Carol's friends here are convinced that this call will come before long and that the exiled prince will be brought back in state to Rumania.

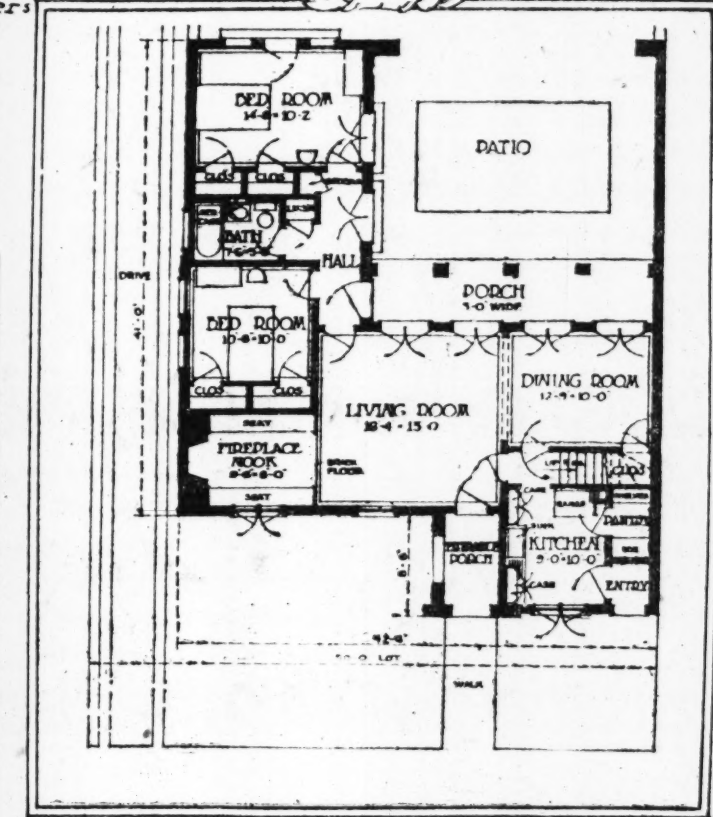

Meanwhile, Carol awaits the course of events at his country retreat.

TRAFFIC IN LONDON PARALYZED BY FOG

London, November 26.—(P)—The worst fog of the season lay thick over London today.

It was one of dense but light-hued, surface character giving the metropolis a "white Saturday" only three days after its "black Wednesday" of this week when an umbrella-like canopy blanketed daylight almost completely.

Traffic over a wide area was virtually paralyzed today for long periods and there were many street accidents. Thousands of persons had great difficulty in getting to work, river craft and air liners were held up and the Linfield park races had to be abandoned, but at Manchester where the November handicap was scheduled, the sun was shining.

Different Linoleum Types Need Various Methods for Good Care

For the same reason that different methods are used in the care of a grass rug and of an expensive Oriental, different methods of care should be used for printed and plain or inlaid linoleum. What does for one is not satisfactory for the other, even though both are floor coverings of the same general class.

Printed linoleum has its pattern imprinted on the surface in oil paints so that the design is only as thick as the coat of paint. The pattern in inlaid linoleum goes all the way through to the hurlap back and is as thick as the linoleum itself. The design in this case is not printed, but is made up of individually-colored blocks of linoleum.

Varnishing is recommended for the printed linoleum. When the floor is first laid, wash it with lukewarm water and a mild, non-abrasive soap and then apply a thin coat of clear, waterproof varnish of a good grade. In applying the varnish do not brush it out, but rather let it flow from the brush in a uniform layer. A second thin coat should be applied a day later, after the first coat is thoroughly dry.

The varnish forms a protective film that guards the printed design from the scuffing and scraping of feet. A new coat of varnish applied once or twice each year will insure durability and good appearance over a long period of time.

As for the daily care of such a floor, never use hot water nor a strong gritty soap or soap powder. A mild soap and lukewarm water will remove the dirt and will not harm the linoleum. This insures not only

Brick Walls and Low Roof Line Distinguish Today's Small Home

Masonry Construction Economical in This Use and Provides Fire-Safety With Endurance; Interior Plan Convenient.

BY L. PORTER MOORE, President Home Owners Institute, Inc.

This design brings out particularly well the flexibility of brick construction and its economical suitability to the one-story home. It is plan No. 285-S, from the Common Brick Manufacturers' association. It is estimated, by Arthur Bates Lincoln, consulting architect of Home Owners' Institute, Inc., that it might be built in the vicinity of New York for about $12,000. Carver and Frost are the associated architects.

While the actual content is 20,000 cubic feet, the plan has an atmosphere of rambling spaciousness, which the large exterior patio and the rear porch do much to enhance. Here are two out-of-door living rooms which will be well appreciated during the warm months of the year. The same care in providing for the more apparent comforts and joys of home life is also shown in the interior by the ingeniously arranged fireplace nook. This hospitable and cheering spot extends off the living room to the left, and its rugged simplicity gains from the use of brick in the floor, the hearth and the fireplace itself.

All rooms are well ventilated and light. A study of the room layout will show easy housekeeping was uppermost in the minds of the designers.

Fortright and simple, the plan embodies conveniences which make in large degree for pleasant occupancy the year round. Among these is a built-in incinerator, the flue of which is combined with the ventilating duct for the stove.

The kitchen and its entry are directly at the front of the house, the door to the latter shielded by a brick wall which extends from the front of the house and lengthens its apparent lines.

Other conveniences recommended for the home are the automatic heat regulator, the electric refrigerator, the built-in kitchen cabinet and the cedar-lined closet, one or more of which would be easily accommodated because of the number of closets provided.

A fountain for the patio could be simply arranged if a pipe is extended beneath the ground at the time of construction, and would form a central decorative feature both summer and winter.

The outline of specifications recommended for this home by Home Institute follows:

Masonry—Concrete footings under all walls, as shown on drawings. All foundation walls to be poured concrete or concrete block made with Portland cement. Concrete to be mixed with waterproofing compound. Exterior walls and chimney of common brick; all flues lined. Fireplace of brick; provide ash dump with clean-out door in cellar.

Incinerator—Built-in incinerator to be installed in chimney, with receiving hopper door located in or near the kitchen for disposal of garbage and trash.

Carpentry—All framing lumber shall be well seasoned and free from large knots, either Douglas fir or yellow pine. White pine for exterior mill work and interior trim; oak floors; steel bridging for floor joists. Interior doors and built-in kitchen cabinet as required in detailed specifications.

Casement Windows—Steel casement windows may be used at owner's option.

Plastering and Lathing—Three-coat work over metal lath is recommended. A less expensive job may be obtained through the use of one-half inch of plaster or flat rib expanded metal lath or even wood lath. We suggest you obtain alternate bids on long life to the floor, but also better appearance.

If you have inlaid linoleum, use wax instead of varnish. Wash the floor with lukewarm water and mild soap and apply a thin coat of a high-grade wax. A heavy coat will not harden properly, will be sticky and allow dirt to be ground into it. A thin coat will form a hard, dry, protective surface.

Daily care of inlaid linoleum consists of going over it with a dust mop or floor brush. Whenever necessary, re-wax and polish the floor. Scrubbing should seldom be needed and when it is the same recommendation as to lukewarm water and a mild soap are made.

The editor of this page will send you free of charge a booklet entitled "The Easy Way to Care for Linoleum Floors" if you wish to know more about the proper methods of caring for linoleum.

Liability of Incinerator Equipped House Improved

The liability of the home equipped with the built-in type, chimney-fed garbage incinerator will never be spoiled by the irritating nuisance of the foul-smelling garbage can and the dangerous rubbish pile.

All debris—not only garbage, but sweepings, tin cans, bottles, magazines, papers, trash of every kind—is merely dropped through the convenient hopper door or doors, located in or near the kitchen. Occasionally lighting the accumulated rubbish with a match, the entire batch of refuse is burned, leaving only the sterilized cans and bottles to be removed with the ashes.

Corrosive Metal Use Extravagant

This season, when going over the many little and big jobs about the home, the householder may free himself forever from one of the most annoying and expensive of periodic replacements. This may be done by replacing rustable gutters and rain pipes with copper ones. The use of corrosive metals for such purposes is nothing short of extravagance, since their life is known to be definitely limited.

Blow Torch Widely Useful

Plumbing repairs, tinkering with the radio, or working on the car; many jobs may be performed by the handy man with the aid of a new blow torch especially designed for home workshop use. The torch uses ordinary motor fuel. It is another piece of equipment which may well be added to the workshop in the modern model basement.

You wonder sometimes why such difference in the appearance of newly painted houses. Perhaps if you could compare the per-gallon cost of the paints used on separate jobs you would find the answer.

Nowhere is quality more pronounced, or the absence of it more evident, than is reflected in the varying grades of paint.

TRIPOD PAINT CO.

93 N. Pryor St.

Straub Cinder Block

(PATENTED)

THE BEST BUILDING UNIT

Stronger and cheaper than brick. Approved by the underwriters. Made in Atlanta. Order direct from us or through your supply dealer.

Atlanta Cinder Block & Tile Co.

Factory, Southern Ry., Rear 784 Ponce de Leon Place
Phone HEmlock 3329

THE growing preference for enduring burned clay products is seen in building permits for the city of Atlanta for the months of July, August and September, 1927. Of buildings costing $5,000 and more—95.11% were of brick and tile construction! The figures:

Solid Brick 10.87%	Brick and Concrete 54%
Brick Veneer 79.35	Steel 54
Tile and Stone 1.09	Reinforced Steel 2.18
Brick Steel and Wood 54	Concrete 54
Brick Veneer-Stucco 54	Frame 3.51

For true economy—for lasting comfort and pride—build with brick and tile.

SOUTHERN CLAY PRODUCTS ASSN.

460 Broadway Macon, Ga.

MEMBERS
MACON, GA.	AUGUSTA, GA.
Standard Brick & Tile Co.	Georgia-Carolina Brick Co.
COLUMBUS, GA.	CHERAW, S. C.
Dixie Brick Company	Palmetto Brick Company
Columbus Brick & Tile Co.	SOCIETY HILL, S. C.
Kaolin Brick Company	Darlington Clay Products Co.
JACKSONVILLE, FLA.	DYSON, S. C.
Gamble & Stockton Co.	Dyson Brick Company
Interlocking Tile Company	COLUMBIA, S. C.
ATLANTA, GA.	Richland Shale Products Co.
Interlocking Tile Company	GAFFNEY, S. C.
EUFAULA, ALA.	Gaffney Brick & Tile Co.
Eufaula Brick Company

As the first Step toward a HOME OF YOUR OWN Mail This Coupon!

SEND FOR THIS HOME PLAN BOOK

SOUTHERN CLAY PRODUCTS ASSN., 460 Broadway, Macon, Ga.

Yes! I'd like to know more about the economy of building with burned clay products and enclose 25c to cover cost of sending me the booklet "Hollow Tile for the Home."

Name _____

Address _____

HOLLOW TILE FOR THE HOME

HAROLD HIRSCH, Pres.

JOHN S. CANDLER, Vice Pres.

W. D. THOMPSON, Vice Pres.

A. L. LIPPITT, Vice Pres.

ASA W. CANDLER, Secy.

M. L. HIRSCH, Treas.

Before You Borrow... Talk With Us

We believe that we can be helpful to you. Come in and talk over your needs with us and get the benefit of our experience.

LOANS CLOSED PROMPTLY STRAIGHT FIVE-YEAR, 6½% INTEREST

SECURITY MORTGAGE CO.

1408 CANDLER BUILDING

Telephone WALnut 5241

A. L. LIPPITT, Vice Pres. in Charge of Loans

SAFETY SERVICE
SATISFACTION

Where the Homeseeker Finds True Value

HAYNES MANOR

"Atlanta's Finest Residential Sub-Division"

Homeseekers who will investigate Haynes Manor will find advantages they have long sought for. There are only two Haynes Manor homes for sale among all the beautiful ones there. These two, from the standpoints of beauty, location and price are as fine investments as will be found anywhere. The prices are right and an inspection of same will be convincing. Drive out to Haynes Manor and observe the wonderful views. Our representatives will show you around.

Eugene V. Haynes, Owner and Developer

R. L. JOHNSON, SALES MGR.

Visit Office on the Property

Phone HEmlock 4731

Totally Different WALL PAPER

WE HAVE been Wall Paper Experts for a good many years, and have satisfactorily papered hundreds of homes. The expert service we have given others is yours to command. A postal or phone call will bring our representative. Our Wall Papers are "different." Let us make estimate on your next job, both painting and wall papering.

J. H. GRAY-DYER CO.

346 Peachtree St.

IVy 0736

CROMER & THORNTON, Inc.

Announce

Price Changes Made Nov. 1st, 1927

(Watch This Space For Current Weekly Quotations)

Mason's Hydrated Lime (paper)	$1.25 per barrel
Royal Portland Cement (in cloth)	$2.75 per barrel
Royal Portland Cement (in paper)	$2.50 per barrel
Texas Hard Wall Plaster (in jute)	$16.50 per ton
Texas Hard Wall Plaster (in paper)	$14.50 per ton
Flue Lining 8x8x820 per ft.
Flue Lining 8x1330 per ft.
Flue Lining 13x1340 per ft.
Flue Lining 13x1755 per ft.
Flue Lining 17x17	$1.00 per ft.

Very close prices on Asphalt Roofing
Face Brick prices in proportion

These prices are truck load lots f. o. b. job.

CROMER & THORNTON, Inc.

BUILDING MATERIALS

"If delays make you nervous, try our prompt service"

215 Decatur St.

WALnut 6461-6462-6463

COOK, MRS. MAYO GIVEN FREEDOM

Lakeland, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—Judge John P. Knight, of the Alpha judicial circuit, today dismissed murder charges against Sam Cook and Mrs. Jim Mayo, held in the "death from gun wounds" of Jim Mayo near Lakeland about a month ago.

In so doing, Judge Knight pointed out that his action did not prevent a grand jury investigation and possibly further charges, but residents here feel that the case has come to an end. A coroner's jury several weeks ago returned a verdict saying that "Jim Mayo died from self-inflicted pistol wounds."

Due to the prominence in Olsen county of both Mrs. Mayo and Cook, the hearing was packed today for the preliminary hearing.

The hearing lasted throughout the day, during which a large number of witnesses were examined.

MISS MARY TUMULTY WEDS ROBERT CAHILL

Washington, November 26.—(AP.)—Miss Mary Tumulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Tumulty, and Robert Cahill, of Washington, were married here today. The bride was given away by her father, former secretary to the late President Wilson.

Baptist Church In Barnesville Celebrates Today

Barnesville, Ga., November 26.—All the plans have been completed for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Baptist church of Barnesville tomorrow. A record attendance is expected as many former members now living in other cities and sections have been known their intention of being present.

The day's program will begin at 9:30 o'clock with a program by the Sunday school representing the constitution of the church. A record attendance is expected as many former members now living in other cities and sections have been known their intention of being present.

GEORGIA DAIRY FARMERS URGED TO BETTER CREAM

Washington, Ga., November 26.—With the rapid development of Georgia's dairy industry, greater attention must be paid to the production of the best grade of cream. L. H. Marlatt, dairy expert of the State College of Agriculture, explained to a meeting of Wilkes county cream shippers, Marlatt was here to begin this week a campaign which will take him to every cream station and creamery in Georgia.

As Wilkes county is today leading the state in sour cream production, the stations at Tullahoma and Washington were the first to be given a demonstration of the best way to receive the cream from the individual dairyman, the proper grading of their product, its testing and final shipment to the creameries to be made into butter and passed on to the consumer's table.

Up to the present time, according to Mr. Marlatt's statement, the cream stations of this state have been accepting the dairy farmer's product without grading it and paying Chicago standard butter fat prices for it, good, bad or indifferent. This practice will be discontinued as fast as the various stations can be visited and instructed as to grading given to station managers as well as to the producers.

POLICE PROTECT NEW YORK RALLY TO HELP MINERS

New York, November 26.—(AP.)—A police squad of 150 men today guarded 300 persons who gathered in Union Square to protest against treatment of striking Colorado miners. "Placards decrying 'Colorado's assassin' were born by many in the crowd. The assemblage approved a telegram to be sent to Governor Adams, of Colorado, demanding withdrawal of troops from the strike zone. There was no disorder.

SEVERE EARTH SHOCK RECORDED IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, November 26.—(AP.)—Severe earth tremors at a distance of 4,250 miles were recorded today on the seismograph at St. Louis university. The shocks started at 7 a. m. and continued approximately 20 minutes. Direction could not be determined. Dr. James R. MacEwan, seismologist, said the quake probably was destructive.

22d Infantry Notes

Lieutenant Colonel Walter O. Ross, twenty-second infantry, has just returned from a five weeks' stay at Fort Benning, where he attended an officers' refresher course before assuming his duties as the executive officer of the twenty-second infantry with station at Fort McPherson.

Lieutenant W. C. Saffran's orders for Hawaii have been changed to Panama. He will proceed to the Canal zone on the Chateau Thierry December 21.

Warrant Officer John Anderson, who has been the leader of the twenty-second infantry band since joining the regiment at Fort Jay, New York, in 1921, is resigning his commission as a warrant officer to accept enlistment as a master sergeant with the view of early retirement in a few weeks' time from active duty. Mr. Anderson upon retirement will make his home in Atlanta.

Executive Board of Georgia Press Association Lays Plans for Body's Visit to New York in May

Photo by George Corbett, Staff Photographer.

Members of the Georgia Press association executive board met Saturday at the capitol and formed plans for a visit by the association to New York next May. Those in the picture are, front row, Louie Morris, Hartwell Sun, vice president; Miss Emily Woodward, of Vienna News, president; H. M. Stanley, Atlanta, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nora Lawrence Smith, Wiregrass Farmer, Ashburn, Ga.; C. E. Benns, Butler, Ga., Herald, recording secretary; L. K. Starr, Atlanta, honorary member. Back row, Tipton Coffee, West Point News; Jack Williams, Waycross Herald-Journal; Ernest Camp, Monroe, past president, Walton Tribune; O. W. Passavant, Newnan Herald; C. D. Rountree, Wrightsville Headlight, past president.

The Georgia Press association will visit New York on May 5, 1928, and will spend a week in that city, according to plans formed at a meeting of the executive board held Saturday in the office of Hal M. Stanley.

The board Saturday decided to move today in the office of Hal M. Stanley, corresponding secretary. The members of the association will make the trip from Savannah to New York by steamer.

The board Saturday decided to move today in the office of Hal M. Stanley, corresponding secretary. The members of the association will make the trip from Savannah to New York by steamer.

Prince William To Lecture On Africa Game Hunting

BY RALPH T. JONES.

A scion of European royalty, Prince William of Sweden has been traveling around the United States for the past few months. In all leading cities he has paused long enough to meet with the most interesting citizens, stamp his own personality as a "hell, a good egg" upon all people he meets, and to lecture on big game hunting in darkest Africa before audiences ranging anywhere from two to six thousand.

Prince William will be in Atlanta in about one week's time. He will give his lecture, with an accompaniment of motion and still pictures, at the auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, December 6. And it is expected that Atlanta will join in the nationwide approval of this offshoot of royalty.

Latest reports come from San Francisco, where he gave his lecture to a 3,000 crowd, and where newspaper commentators, followed by statements that he was not only a good fellow, an interesting lecturer, and so forth, but that his talk was as witty as any ever made by the most famous of American humorous speakers.

Prince William has seemed the easy life of a royal prince to devote himself to explorations and hunts in the most inaccessible spots remaining upon the globe. One of the darkest of these, the pygmy land of central Africa, is the subject for his lecture here.

In addition he is an author and, speaking with marked time and ease, it must be admitted that his authorship commands a high market price. An effort to buy a copy of one of his books last week disclosed that the lowest priced edition he puts out costs $15. No, it was not purchased.

However, tickets for his lecture are not on this ratio. The prince comes as the second attraction of the all-star artist series, a group of concert and platform features for the current season notable for the low cost of seats.

Seat sale will open next Thursday at the Cable Piano company.

Atlanta Norse society, numbering several hundred members, has already arranged several entertainment features for the prince and the organization has reserved a large block of seats, in order to be present at his lecture in a body.

Special amplifiers have been installed at the auditorium of tested power to make his voice clear in any portion of the building.

Special amplifiers have been installed at the auditorium of tested power to make his voice clear in any portion of the building.

SON OF MISSING OWNER OF CHAIN STORES IS DEAD

Pittsburgh, November 26.—(AP.)—While detectives continued their search for George J. Vogel, Pittsburgh chain store owner, who has been missing for two weeks, the man's son, Robert Vogel, 17, died in a hospital today of peritonitis, which developed after an operation for appendicitis.

The youth was a member of the Axton High School football team and members of the family believed his death might have resulted indirectly from injuries suffered in a game two weeks ago.

Detectives have developed no new facts in their investigation of the elder Vogel's disappearance.

Bernarr Macfadden Honored With Dinner In House of Commons

Bernarr Macfadden, publisher of American magazines and newspapers, urged world peace at a dinner given for him recently at the house of commons by Sir Nicholas Grattan-Doyle, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. Guests included members of parliament and other notables.

"I want to say in the present of our guest, that never at any time has there ever been any anti-American feeling in England," Sir Nicholas said. Mr. Macfadden urged a ministry of athletics in England such as exists in Germany.

"Every boy and girl should indulge in some sort of athletics, such as running, wrestling, boxing and swimming," he said. "Thus your people could not only retain their athletic ability to 25 or 30, but to middle age, and even far beyond that period."

TAG SALE IS PLANNED FOR ANSLEY COTTAGE

In behalf of little children sheltered at the Ansley Memorial cottage, at 488 Crew street, a non-sectarian institution partially supported by various churches of the city, a tag day will be held on December 10 under direction of Mrs. M. J. Evans, newly-elected president of the home, it was announced Saturday.

The cottage provides a home at which babies and young children can be boarded. Parents deprived of a mate and unable to properly care for their offspring while earning a living can board children here for a nominal cost.

A haven is also provided for the youthful charges of various churches, missionary societies, young people's leagues, Sunday school classes and other organizations.

Mrs. J. J. Ansley, who established and directs the home, is the widow of one of the best-known ministers in Georgia, and has had a long experience in the care of children.

Newly-elected officers of the home include Mrs. Evans, Mrs. J. W. Scott, vice president; Mrs. F. M. Berry, treasurer; and Mrs. E. W. Browne, secretary.

The Wesley Memorial church here was the first to affiliate with the home, appointing a committee to cooperate with the management in caring for the youngsters and raising funds to defray expenses.

There are many cases in which the parents can only partially pay for the board of the child, and this difference must be met through the support of churches and popular subscription, officers say.

SWARTWOUT COMPANY OPENS OFFICES HERE

The Swartwout company, of Cleveland, Ohio, has just opened a district office in Atlanta at 759 Peachtree street, N. E., with P. H. Nichols as district manager. It was announced Saturday by Fred T. Newell, secretary of the industrial bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

The company manufactures a complete line of regulators and control valves for steam, water, gas, and power plant equipment in its Cleveland and Orville factories.

GRADUATE SCHOOL DEANS MEET HERE, DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Problems confronting the faculties of graduate schools in the leading colleges of the south were discussed informally Saturday at a gathering of southern graduate deans, in the Henry Grady hotel. A paper read by Dean George Pettie, of Auburn, was one of the features of the meeting.

Among the deans serving on the committee in charge of the meeting, which will be repeated from year to year as occasion demands, were W. H. Bocock, of Georgia; J. C. Metcalf, of Virginia; and Charles Puryear, of Texas A. and M. college. Other attending were Dean Fleming, of Vanderbilt; A. B. Moore, of Alabama; Alexander Bonbrant, of Mississippi; Theodore Jack, of Emory; Dean Rossier, of North Carolina; W. S. Currell, of South Carolina; Dean Hoskins, of Tennessee; Dean Glasson, of Duke; Dean Anderson, of Florida; R. P. Stephens, of Georgia; and Dr. Walton C. John, of the United States bureau of education.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR MEMBER DRIVE OF JUNIOR CHAMBER

Final plans for the membership drive of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which opens Monday, were completed Saturday at a meeting of the "majors" held to explain to them the general outline of the drive.

The purpose of the drive is to make the local junior chamber the largest in the country by obtaining 500 new members. It will continue through Thursday.

It is pointed out that all public-spirited and civic-minded men between the ages of 18 and 35 are eligible for membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a thorough canvass of these young men will be made.

JUDGE WOOD TO SPEAK AT WESTERN HEIGHTS

Judge Jesse M. Wood, of the criminal court of Atlanta, will speak at the J. D. E. Sunday school class of the Western Heights Baptist church at 9:45 o'clock this morning. It was announced Saturday by E. H. Campbell, president. A blanket invitation was issued to members and visitors to hear the address.

Ellis B. Barrett, prominent Atlanta attorney, will be in charge of the class. The class is co-ed, being composed of young men and women of the community.

GEORGIA RAILWAY FLAGMAN KILLED

Harlem, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—W. L. Edwards, of Thomson, Ga., was instantly killed here today when a Georgia railway freight train passed over the center of his body. Edwards was a flagman on the train which killed him.

Backing onto the spur of the Campania Brick plant Edwards was riding a car of shale. Attempting to apply the brakes, he lost his footing and fell between cars.

He leaves a wife and two children.

CHICOPEE PLANS MODEL SCHOOL AT GAINESVILLE

Gainesville, Ga., November 26.—A modern school plant, said to be the "best yet constructed in the state," is proposed by the Chicopee Mills for construction at Chicopee, near here. The State School Item says:

"The Chicopee Mills, near Gainesville, Ga., is proposing to build for the children of the 400 families of their mill village a modern school plant to be the best yet constructed in the state. It is to be planned by their own architect in cooperation with and under advice of the state department of education. It is proposed to make this a model school, as Chicopee is being made a model village and highest standards in every respect will be insisted upon."

MRS. McALLISTER DIES AT HOME IN LONGPOND

Evadale, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. H. H. McAllister, of Longpond community, died this afternoon at 4 o'clock. She was one of Montgomery county's oldest citizens.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at Longpond, Rev. L. W. Walker, pastor of the Mount Vernon Methodist church of which Mrs. McAllister was a member, will officiate.

Mrs. McAllister leaves a husband and ten children; six daughters, Mrs. Monroe Bush, of Savannah; Mrs. Jesse Goff, Mrs. Roger Edwards, Mrs. A. W. Bendamire, Misses Lucile and Lillie Jeter.

George, Duncan and Wilbur, all of Evadale.

IF YOU WANT THEM TO GROW UP HEALTHY AND HAPPY

"Just look at Johnny. He is the very picture of health! And I let him eat anything he wants to." You have heard mothers proudly make remarks like that. But what a sad mistake.

It does seem that some children can eat and digest almost any kind of food without evil after effects. That is because they are young and vigorous. But wait. In time, improper foods will show their bad effects. It may take years, or possibly only a few short weeks or months. The child who is brought up on an unbalanced diet must pay the penalty, sooner or later. There is no escape.

Watch your children's diet. It is one of your greatest responsibilities and one of the biggest favors that you can possibly do them. You do not have to force or coax them to eat things that they do not care for because there is an endless variety of tempting and healthful foods that can be made with

CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Pies, cakes, biscuits, doughnuts, muffins, cookies that make youngsters' mouths water and eyes dance with delight. Foods that establish a solid foundation for future health and development.

Every mother who is interested in the welfare of her children should read the book entitled "Your Children's Food." It was written by a number of America's most noted food authorities and explains the things you must know and the things you must do in order to protect your children against faulty diets and safeguard their precious health. All you have to do is sign the attached coupon and mail it together with 50c coin or stamps to the Marian Jane Parker, Home Economics Department, 4100 Fillmore Street, Chicago. Do it now and you will be mighty thankful later on.

LESS THAN
1¢
PER BAKING

YOUR CHILDREN'S FOOD

MARIAN JANE PARKER, Home Economics Department, 4100 Fillmore Street, Chicago

Please send me the book entitled "Your Children's Food." Fifty cents (stamp or coin) enclosed.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____

SALES • 2½ • TIMES • THOSE • OF • ANY • OTHER • BRAND •

More Than 500 Expected For Chi Phi Meeting Friday

Election of officers and an elaborate dinner and a dance will feature the annual business meeting of the Chi Phi Alumni association Friday night at 8:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club, according to an announcement Saturday by Richard W. Courts, Jr., president.

A large delegation of active members from the University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, Emory university, University of Alabama, University of North Carolina and Vanderbilt university, have signified their intention of being present. More than 500 members of the fraternity attended the meeting last year and, according to the reservations, the meeting Friday night will eclipse all others in this respect.

Reservations may be made at the office of Mr. Courts, 113 Hurt building, or by calling Walnut 9110. Special tables can be reserved by communicating with Mr. Negri, of the Piedmont Driving club. Reservations must be made before noon Thursday, December 1. President Courts states: Among the prominent Chi Phis from various sections of the United States who are expected to attend are: General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Whiteford S. Cole, president of the L. & N. railroad; Ivy Lee, of the Ivy Lee Publishing bureau, of New York, and others.

Grand officers of the fraternity have been extended a special invitation to be present. They are: William A. Schlander, of Philadelphia, of Grand Chapter; Leon A. Parker, Grand Chapter, of Berlin, N. J.; Matthew D. Keller, Grand Delta, of Philadelphia; Dr. Theodore R. Appel, Grand Chapter, of Lancaster, Pa.; Percival M. Sax, Grand Zeta, of Philadelphia; and the Rev. Dr. Harry N. Bassler, Grand Beta, of Wilkesburg, Pa.

Present officers of the alumni association are: Richard W. Courts, Jr., president; Dr. F. Phinizy Calhoun, vice president; William A. Parker, secretary; Edward K. Van Winkle, treasurer. On the executive committee are: Judge Luther Z. Rosser, chairman; Hughes Spaulding, James

Calhoun, John A. Hynds, Preston Arkwright, Jr., and John M. Slaton. Past presidents of the Atlanta Alumni association are: Dr. Frank K. Boland, Hughes Spaulding, Robert S. Parker, Judge Luther Z. Rosser, John T. Dennis, Jr., Dr. Phinizy Calhoun, James L. Mayson, John A. Hynds, Nash Broyles, John W. Grant, H. Warner Martin, Frank Mitchell and Thomas W. Connolly.

450 WILL ATTEND MASONIC BANQUET

Judge E. D. Thomas, resident of the Masters, Wardens and Secretaries' association of Fulton and DeKalb counties, has received around 450 acceptances from 500 invitations sent out recently to the past presiding officers of the Blue lodges, Scottish Rite and York Rite Masonic bodies of the two counties to attend a dinner to be given in the banquet hall of Masonic temple at 6 o'clock Tuesday night, November 29.

Judge Thomas notes that the growth of Atlanta and suburbs is gradually bringing about conditions that exist in all large cities and which acts to make close acquaintance difficult except in small groups, and hopes by this dinner and the meeting to follow that the close relationship that formerly existed between the various lodges may be renewed and continued.

Present officers of the alumni association are: Richard W. Courts, Jr., president; Dr. F. Phinizy Calhoun, vice president; William A. Parker, secretary; Edward K. Van Winkle, treasurer. On the executive committee are: Judge Luther Z. Rosser, chairman; Hughes Spaulding, James

Calhoun, John A. Hynds, Preston Arkwright, Jr., and John M. Slaton. Past presidents of the Atlanta Alumni association are: Dr. Frank K. Boland, Hughes Spaulding, Robert S. Parker, Judge Luther Z. Rosser, John T. Dennis, Jr., Dr. Phinizy Calhoun, James L. Mayson, John A. Hynds, Nash Broyles, John W. Grant, H. Warner Martin, Frank Mitchell and Thomas W. Connolly.

STATE TO OBSERVE ARBOR DAY DEC. 2

Plans for observing December 2 as "Arbor day" in Georgia are being worked out by the state forestry department, while the State College of Agriculture will cooperate with the public schools of the state in encouraging tree planting on this day, it was announced at the capital Saturday.

Dr. William Bradford, of the Boys' club field work of the State College of Agriculture, of Athens, is working to promote interest in this day throughout the state. Professor D. Barrett, specialist in forestry at the state college, is sending out literature to stimulate interest in the observance of this day in Georgia.

The state board of forestry will hold a meeting in the office of Governor Hardman November 29 and at this session plans for general observance of Arbor day will be formed. Bonnell H. Stone, chairman of the state board, and R. F. Lufburrow, state forester, will cooperate with the schools of the state in carrying out fitting ceremonies on this occasion.

Professor Barrett has sent out specimen programs to the school principals of the state. Many civic organizations and women's clubs will observe the day, planting trees along prominent highways, on school grounds and on grounds occupied by public buildings.

LOREN CLINGS TO LIFE BY SLENDER THREAD

Living in a stupor at Grady hospital, where he has lain for 26 days, Loren Leister Saturday held to life only by a slender thread, according to attending physicians. Although doctors hold no hope for his recovery from this sinking spell, parents hope for his recovery in view of his many miraculous returns from the very brink of death.

The boy's pulse was barely perceptible and his respiration was low. Loren has a bullet in his brain, which he received from a gun in the hands of E. F. Keheley, proprietor of a Marietta street lunch stand, who is being held by police.

JERVEY AND MAY WIN HIGH PROMOTIONS

Charles P. Jervey, native of Atlanta and for a number of years in the insurance business in this city, has been made assistant secretary of the southern division of the Travelers Fire Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Jervey had been assistant manager of the southern division of the company.

S. S. May, who served at three different periods in the Atlanta branch office of the Travelers Insurance company, has just been promoted to assistant superintendent of agencies in the home office.

SUN LIFE PRESIDENT VISITOR IN ATLANTA

W. G. McIntosh, inspector of agencies in the United States field for the Sun Life Insurance company, was in Atlanta last week in connection with his tour of the southern agencies of the company. Mr. McIntosh was tendered a dinner by J. T. Wilson, manager of the Georgia division, at the Henry Grady hotel, which was attended by a large number of the company's agents in Atlanta and throughout the state. Mr. Wilson acted as toastmaster.

Mr. McIntosh pointed out in his address that the Sun Life has approximately a billion and a half insurance in force, with assets approximating four hundred million. He also emphasized the high interest rate of 5 1/2 per cent which the company allows on policy proceeds and dividends left on deposit with the company. Another interesting phase of the United States organization was referred to in the fact that the company four years ago had only three offices in the United States and today it is licensed in 26 states and is rapidly expanding its American organization.

"The Sun Life is one of the great institutions that is making a substantial contribution towards the upbuilding of the United States," he said. "Roughly, for every dollar that it takes out of the United States field in the way of premiums, it is investing 83 of its assets in American securities."

Mr. McIntosh also pointed out that premiums on the company's contracts in force in Georgia are payable in United States currency in the company's office in Atlanta. He referred to the fact that the company's president, Mr. Macaulay, completed 50 years in the company's service. This event was signaled by a banquet at the Windsor hotel in Montreal, with presidents of other large life insurance companies as guests. Darwin Kingsley, president of the New York Life, and President Fiske, of the Metropolitan Life, and others, telegraphed congratulations to Mr. Macaulay.

Mr. McIntosh left for Richmond Saturday night.

DUBOSE, EDMONDSON TO TALK AT ST. PAUL'S

One of the strongest ministerial teams in southern Methodism is expected to deliver the feature addresses Sunday at the St. Paul Methodist church. It was announced Friday by the Rev. Dr. R. F. Fraser, pastor.

Bishop H. M. Dubose, of Tennessee, will deliver the sermon beginning 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, and the Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Bishop Dubose presides over the Memphis, Tennessee and Houston Southern Methodist church of Tennessee. His home is at Nashville, and he has been an outstanding figure in Methodist church circles for the past decade. He

Rev. H. L. Edmondson, former pastor and builder of St. Paul's new edifice on Grant street, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

'Community Christmas Tree' At Demorest To Be Revived

Revival of the former famous "Community Christmas Tree" celebration at Demorest, Ga., is planned for the coming Yuletide by Mrs. Francis Edwin Jones, of that city, according to announcement in a letter received from her by The Constitution last week.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

"This Christmas shower," writes Mrs. Jones, "was interrupted because of the absence of the acting Santa. Now, however, he is back on the job, willing and eager to have the old-time good work resumed."

In this situation, Mrs. Jones asks that readers of The Constitution help make the event an outstanding success by sending on used clothing, toys, scrapbooks, books, dolls—everything necessary for Christmas. She also asks for candy, nuts, fruit, etc., in the line of perishable commodities.

"I am sure that our old friends—and I hope many new ones—will make this year's community Christmas tree the most glorious we have ever had," concludes the letter.

Persons interested should communicate with Mrs. Francis E. Jones, at Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. Jones, in her letter, recalls how the Christmas season was enriched for the people of her community before the custom was discontinued two or three years ago.

CITY SALESMEN LAUD GRANT MEMORIAL PLAN

Members of the City Salesmen's association Saturday passed a resolution endorsing unanimously a gigantic memorial to the late L. T. Grant, noted Atlanta and donor of Grant park. The resolution was offered at the regular weekly meeting of the association at the city council chamber, over which W. W. Moore, president, presided.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

Art Exhibit Planned

An art exhibition of 200 pictures will be on display Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Atlanta Normal and Faith school in Fair street. S. E., as a part of the educational program of the school.

Members of the City Salesmen's association Saturday passed a resolution endorsing unanimously a gigantic memorial to the late L. T. Grant, noted Atlanta and donor of Grant park. The resolution was offered at the regular weekly meeting of the association at the city council chamber, over which W. W. Moore, president, presided.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and Mayor Pre Tom W. Gay both delivered short addresses at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and several new members were inducted at a formal initiation.

FOR XMAS GIVE PICTURES

We Have a Picture For Everyone on Your List. Everybody Loves Pictures. They Beautify the Home. See Our Specials at $1.00, $2.50, $3.00. New Stock Just Received. PHOTO FRAMES $1, SPECIAL. SOU. BOOK CONCERN. 103 Whitehall St., Opp. High's.

We Have a Picture For Everyone on Your List. Everybody Loves Pictures. They Beautify the Home. See Our Specials at $1.00, $2.50, $3.00. New Stock Just Received. PHOTO FRAMES $1, SPECIAL. SOU. BOOK CONCERN. 103 Whitehall St., Opp. High's.

THE MIRROR

Reflects Greater Values. 46-48 WHITEHALL ST.

After-Thanksgiving Coat Sale. Drastic Reductions. Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $89.50. These Coats are reduced for a quick clearance. Remember this is not a special purchase, but "The Mirror's" regular stock marked down close to wholesale cost.

Smart fur-trimmed Coats that formerly sold up to $

Jackets Play Georgia in South's Greatest Grid Clash

December 3
Marks Tech
Homecoming

Homecoming Luncheon To
Be Held at Biltmore Before
Tech-Georgia Game.

When gives promise of being as largely attended, in proportion, as the Tech-Georgia football game will be the Tech homecoming, which will occur next Saturday.

The home-comers will hold their largest gathering before the game at the homecoming luncheon, beginning sharply at noon in the ballroom at the Biltmore hotel on Saturday, December
3. Alumni reservations have come in from all over Georgia, the Pacific coast, Cuba, New York city, Chicago and other near and distant points.

A number of the classes will hold their reunions at the time, chief among which will be the 1907 class gathering, which will open its business meeting and festivities with a get-together supper at the Atlanta Athletic club at 7:30 p. m. on Friday night preceding the major homecoming activities.

Friends and families of all alumni and the college are welcome to attend the homecoming luncheon and other events. There will be class reunions, spirit meetings and interclass introductions, a word or two from the authorities and some of the coaches and former football men, but no speeches. The luncheon will adjourn at 1 o'clock, when the "ramblers" will reassemble for the Tech-Georgia game on Grant field at 2 o'clock.

The fraternity chapters and a number of clubs are holding open house for the occasion. Various dances and other social affairs will be a part of the program after the game and during the evening.

Reservations for the luncheon are being made with the Georgia Tech National association at Tech or the following chairmen in charge of affairs: Messrs. Ferd Kaufman, George Marchmont, G. M. Stout, Dan Mac-Intyre, R. D. Cole III and Jack Thiesen.

The officers for the national association for the year 1927-28 are as follows: C. L. Emerson, '08, president; M. S. Hill, '11, first vice president; R. D. Cole, second vice president; Ed C. Liddell, '22, treasurer;
R. J. Thiesen, '10, secretary; Eugene
A. Brooks, '12, board member; William V. Kingston, '07, board member;
Dan I. McIntyre, '08, board member; George T. Marchmont, '07, board member.

'LIGHTHORSE' HARRY WILSON LEADS ARMY TO VICTORY OVER NAVY--IRISH WIN, 7 TO 6

Powerful Army Attack
Turns Back Sailors,
14 to 9.

BY ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., November 26.

(AP)—Rallying from a poor start,
Army conquered the Navy today, 14 to 9, under the indomitable leadership of the blond and battling endlet,
Captain "Lighthorse" Harry Wilson.
While a colorful, wildly yelling crowd of 76,000 looked on, Wilson pulled his wobbly team together between halves, came out to lead a charge that saw him twice cross the Navy goal line and then stand foremost in the defense that checked the desperate and dangerous closing spurt of the sailors.

Army's victory over a gallant Navy team that played superior football in all but the third period was a personal triumph for the veteran Wilson, playing his last year for the Army and his seventh against the Navy in a varsity career that began in 1921 at Penn State.

Wilson Plunges and Tackles.

It was Wilson who plunged in and tackled with his forwards as they put up a stonewall defensive barrier in the first half, beaten back and once yielding a safety on a blocked kick but also twice stopping the Navy at the threshold of the goal line. Once the middies were turned back with only five yards to go but even more disheartening, in the second period, was the Navy thrust that was stopped by the cadets only a foot short of a touchdown.

It was Wilson who came trotting out in the second half to lead a thrust that turned the tide and clinched the game. "Lighthorse Harry" was a whirling dervish as he took a Navy punt on the latter's 46-yard line and dashed 18 yards, then carried the ball across the middle goal in five successive dashes. Sidestepping and straight-arming, Wilson frequently dragged three or four tacklers along with him, as he heeled off 28 yards to the goal line.

Cagle Steps Out.

With the winning spark thus ignited, "Red" Cagle, fleet running mate of the Army captain, grabbed opportunity—in the form of an intercepted pass—and raced 36 yards
to the goal line.

Continued on Page 2, Column 4

Football Death Toll Reaches
Fifteen

Topeka, Kas., November 26.
(AP)—The death toll in the ranks of football players in the United States during the 1927 season was set at 15 today in a report of statistics compiled by George E. Masters, manager of a Topeka newspaper clipping bureau.
Illinois and Texas led in the fatalities, with three deaths each attributed to injuries received by players. Two were reported in Pennsylvania and one each in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma,
Nebraska, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Michigan.

TAYLOR HURTS
HAND, DELAYS
TITLE BATTLE

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Bud
Taylor, of Terre Haute, Ind., has injured his hand in training and will not be able to go through with the featherweight title bout against Tony Cannonieri, of Brooklyn, at Madison Square Garden next Thursday night.
Matchmaker Jess McMahon made known today.

The winner of the bout would have been recognized as champion by the New York boxing commission despite the fact that Benny Bass is the title-holder in Pennsylvania by virtue of his victory over Red Chapman, of Boston.
McMahon has engaged Ignacio Pernandez, a Philippine boxer, to replace Taylor against Cannonieri in the feature event.

Hardy Premier Jockey.

Lee Hardy, of Lexington, Ind., virtually has annexed the American jockey championship for the year. Recently he rode his 200th winner of the season at the Arlington track and he is far ahead for all rivals in spite of a suspension for rough riding at the Hawthorne meeting.

The Frosh Disturbance.

They say the jull comes before the storm but freshmen are not expected to know about that or care either. The storm on the flats was scheduled for next Saturday, but Kid Clay's yearlings forgot all about the schedule and fairly swabbed the earth with Bill White's Georgia freshmen. The score was something like 46-0 which might be termed an artistic drubbing for anybody.

To Tech followers the mere victory of the rats means far less than the glimpse into the future that they have across the broad backs of "Father" Lumpkin and through the flying feet of Earl Dunlap. That pair would be welcomed today on any varsity team in the southern conference. And they are not the only travel on the Tech freshmen beach either.

Vance, Marree and Holt, the two giant tackles on the Tech rat outfit, are on the high road to fame if they continue to play the type of football they have played this season and Sam Colvin, former Boys' High star, is one of the finest safety men and quarterbacks seen in action at the flats this year.

"Ditty" Murray, former all-prep center from U. S. B., is very likely to add all-southern to his list of honors if he continues to throw his 155 pounds of fight into the game as well as he did Saturday. "Ditty" weighs about as much as the famous Al Loeb who starred at the pivot position for Tech many years ago and has promise of making himself as great a name before he finishes.

The score of the game would indicate that the Georgia rats were awfully weak but such is not the case. They can and have beaten many a good freshman team in the conference but those Tech rats as they played the game Saturday could give many conference varsity teams a great run for their money.

It would be an injustice to pass comment on that debacle without giving the fighting Bullpups credit where it was due.
Dickens in the backfield, and Maffett, at left end, played brilliant football and worked their hearts out to stem the furious attack
Continued on Page 5, Column 4

All Tickets Gone,
Report From Athens

Athens, Ga., November 26.—
There are no tickets available at the office of the University of Georgia Athletic association for the football game between Georgia and Tech on December 3.
This announcement was made Saturday in order that those desiring tickets for the game could look elsewhere.

The athletic association office in this city is being swamped with requests for tickets for the game. There is absolutely no possibility of any of these requests being filled for the very simple reason that there are no tickets left and there will be none for sale between now and game time.

BILL JOHNSTON,
HELEN JACOBS
RANKED FIRST

San Francisco, November 26.—(AP)—
William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, former national champion, and Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, ranked first in the men's singles and women's singles, respectively, in the 1927 state tennis rankings released today by the California Lawn Tennis association.

Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley,
American and all-English champion, received no ranking as she did not appear in a California tournament.

John H. Doe, of Santa Monica, a Davis cup team member, was ranked second in the men's singles and Mrs.
May Sutton Bundy, also of Santa Monica, won second position in the women's singles.

Badgers Boast Ace.

Neil Hayes, with a record of 19 consecutive successful place kicks, ranging from the 15 to 40-yard marks, is one of the sophomore stars on Glenn Thistlethwaite's Wisconsin eleven. The record was made in practice recently at the Badger camp.

Southern California
Bows to Notre Dame
Eleven.

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—The Trojans from the University of Southern California, coming out of the west undefeated, lost a heart-breaking one-point football game to Notre Dame on Soldier field this afternoon, 7 to 6, before 113,000 spectators, the greatest throng that ever witnessed a gridiron struggle in America.

The victory was a repetition of the Notre Dame triumph of a year ago when Rockne's ramblers snatched a 13-12 victory over the Trojans at Los Angeles.

The Trojans, in a snatching irresistible attack, scored early in the first period, with Captain Morley Drury, quarterback, tossing a forward pass to Russell Saunders that resulted in the touchdown. When Drury sent his toe crashing against the ball on an attempt to add the extra point, Chilly
Walsh, Notre Dame end, blocked it, giving Notre Dame the break it needed.

Scores on Pass.

A few minutes later, in the same period, Notre Dame found its chance to score, opened up with its aerial shots, and tossed a pass across the goal line with Charley Riley, the little quarterback, heaving the ball to Ray Dahman. Then with the Notre Dame line holding like a stone wall,
Dahman stepped back and successfully booted a dropkick for the added point, giving Notre Dame the edge and, finally, victory.

Thereafter, for the remaining three periods, the fighting Notre Dame team, with frequent shifts in the lineup, set up a defense that held the coast invaders in check, stopped the running attack of Drury, and twice nipped surges that threatened their goal line.

Individually, the game resulted in a thrilling offensive battle between Drury and Christy Flanagan, Notre Dame's great halfback.

Flanagan, playing his last game for Notre Dame, overshadowed all his previous sensational performances, splitting the line with his powerful thrusts, and shooting around the ends for long gains. In the first stages of the battle, Flanagan, faking a back-
Continued on Page 2, Column 3

40,000 People
Are Expected
To See Game

Teams To Meet on Grant Field Saturday Afternoon at 2 O'Clock.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
The two best teams in the south are facing their final—and hardest—barrier.

Saturday, December 3, comes the game that southern fans have awaited the entire season. There will be some 40,000 of them present to witness this greatest southern football struggle in many years—the Yellow Jackets of Tech vs. the powerful football machine of Georgia.

Georgia, facing Tech with its "Thousand Backs," Georgia, with its 14-to-10 victory over Yale, Georgia, with a straight row of eight wins over southern teams. Georgia, a favorite over Tech, with a chance for a national and a conference title,
if Tech is defeated.

Strong Tech Defense.

Tech has its strong defensive team,
and one of the best lines in the south.
An ever-improving offensive threat in the person of Warner Mizell, along with Thomason, Randolph and the rest, who has played so consistently and brilliantly in past games. Tech has bowed to Notre Dame and has been tied by Vanderbilt. Seven other games, hard ones, have been won by the Jackets.

But it isn't a case of trying to figure the good and bad of each team.
It's just a case of Tech playing Georgia.

And when Tech plays Georgia, you've learned by this time that anything is liable to happen and probably will.

Both teams are pointing desperatly for this game. A victory for Tech will mean a southern championship.
Something that hasn't come home to Grant Field since the palmy days of 1922 when Red Barron and other luminaries ruled the southern grid. It will also mean the blighting of Georgia's hopes for national honors and something it has never won—a conference title.

Great Fight Seen.

It would be nice for Georgia to become a national champion and southern title holder all at one and the same time, and it would be nice for Tech to win another southern crown.
But neither respects the other in this case. There'll be a fight on Grant
Continued on Page 2, Column 3

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

A CLOSED car with the top up. An OPEN car with top back, and with windows lowered and concealed in the door panels.

$1150

DELIVERED FULLY EQUIPT
in Atlanta

Complete, nothing more to buy

MARTIN-NASH
MOTOR CO.

ROBERT H. MARTIN
President

Peachtree and North Avenue
Atlanta, Ga.

The new Nash Standard Six 4-passenger convertible Cabriolet, now being given its FIRST display, sells at the drastically low price shown above, delivered to you, completely equipt, freight and war tax included.

Look over the equipment on this latest Nash.
It's the best that money can buy—big, oversize, over-strength Biflex bumpers; rear fenderguards to match; latest type of shock absorbers; extra wheel; spare tire, lock and tire cover; actually more than $100 worth of extras included in its low price.

Don't forget it is a real convertible, with either a tan Burbank or black top optional, at no extra cost.

The rear deck seat is big and roomy. The upholstery is gray Colonial leather. Driving lights are controlled at the steering wheel. Instruments are grouped in a charming walnut finished panel. A smart car in every detail with sparkling nickel trimmings.

And a fast, powerful car, with a big 7-bearing engine, rubber mounted and precision balanced for quiet action. The 2-way 4-wheel brakes of Nash are oversize for super-safety. And the newly refined steering mechanism is the easiest on earth.

All this week the Cabriolet is being given a special introductory display at the showrooms of the dealers listed at right. Ask about the special terms now available on your present car.

BRANCH

532 W. Forsyth St.
Jacksonville, Fla.

Stegeman Opposed to All-Southern Team Playing on Coast

Entire Idea Means Profit To Promoter

Red and Black's Director of Athletics Says Thing Smacks of Professionalism.

Athens, Ga., November 26.—(AP)—Declaring emphatically his opposition to a post-season football game between an all-southern conference and an all-southern team, Herman Stegeman, director of physical education at the University of Georgia and member of the national intercollegiate football rules committee, today issued a statement in which he said such a game smacks of professionalism.

The game is proposed for December 29. Stegeman's disapproval was voiced in the form of a letter to the proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team. The letter pointed out that the proposed game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

The proposed football game at Pasadena, Calif., on December 26, between an all-conference team and an all-southern team, was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game. Stegeman said that the game was a violation of the rules of the National Football Association, which prohibit such a game.

Spears and Nash Picked On Roper's All-American for 1927

A. U. Faces Tuskegee In 'Hard Game Friday

Army-Navy Game Statistics

When the Crimson Hurricane of Atlanta university meets the Tuskegee team at Spaulding field next Friday, not only will the colored football championship of the south be decided, but Atlanta will see in action four of the fastest and most versatile backs in university football. This combination is composed of Stevenson, Stewart, Bailey and Smith, known as the colored "four horsemen" of Dixie.

Notre Dame Wins Over California

Continued from First Page.

ward pass, smashed through the Trojans' forward wall repeatedly.

Drury is Big Star.

Drury, a combination of Red Grange, Herb Josting and Benjie Friedman, a little bit of each, carried the ball four out of five plays in the first half, spent his strength before the third period was finished. He missed the aid of Harry Edelson and Don Williams in carrying the ball. Edelson was forced out of the game because of injuries and Williams was left home in California, nursing injuries.

Southern California's first touchdown was the culmination of a thrilling 25-yard dash by Drury around right end. He planted the ball on Notre Dame's six-yard line before he was tackled. Drury then ran for three yards, and Notre Dame took time out to think over this sudden thrust. Drury bounded into left tackle, broke through the line, and ran for three yards, and Notre Dame took time out to think over this sudden thrust.

A. U. Must Star.

To conquer the Tigers, Baylor, the plugging halfback, Smith, the smart quarterback, Stevenson, the keystone of the Tuskegee backfield, and Stewart and Wooten, must be reckoned with. The Tigers' first wall, built by John Brown, is an element that stands in the way of the Hurricane's hopes.

Over 2,000 white fans have already made reservation for this game. Tickets can be secured for the game at the Atlanta Athletic club, Chess's Place, at the points, Milton & Yates Pharmacy, Adams Drug Store and Atlanta university.

California was placed on the defensive immediately, and Flanagan began hammering at the Trojan line. With the assistance of Collins, who started the game at fullback for Notre Dame, they cracked off two first downs, starting from the California 18-yard line. Flanagan, a fullback, bugged the ball to California's 28-yard line. Then he ploughed through center for seven yards, with Collins snapping the ball to him. He spotted for another first down, this time on California's 28-yard line.

After failing with one pass, Riley tossed the next 28 yards to Dahman, who carried the ball to the end zone. The touchdown, Dahman kicked the goal, under the protection of the Notre Dame line.

Twice later the Trojans, in desperation, came perilously near scoring with forward passes, but both times the shots over the goal line were incomplete and the ball was lost to them.

Record-Breaking Crowd.

The tremendous crowd witnessing today's game surpassed the record for attendance of 11,000, which was set for the Army-Navy game last year. Although no championship, sectional or otherwise, was involved, no football game ever held in Chicago attracted so much attention. The seating capacity, stretched a bit since the Army-Navy game, was taxed to the limit, with thousands standing on the outside hoping to judge the tide of the battle by the roar of the crowd.

Line-Up and Summary.

S. CALIF. (6) Pos. N. DAME (7) McCaslin Voedisch Miller Anthony Smith Heiser Fredericks Leppig Scheving Poliskey Tappan Walsh Drury (c) Dahman Saunders Flanagan L. Thomas Edelson Edelson Wayne

Score by periods: Notre Dame 7, 0, 0, 0, 7 Southern California 6, 0, 0, 0, 6 Notre Dame scoring—Touchdown, Dahman. Point after touchdown, Dahman.

Southern California scoring—Touchdown, Saunders. Officials: Referee, Varnell (Chicago), Umpire, Schommer (Chicago), Line judge, Griffith (Iowa), Headlinesman, Eckersall (Chicago).

Tech and Georgia End Season Here

Continued from First Page.

field next Saturday, the like of which has not been seen in many a season. A win for either means permanent possession of The Constitution trophy.

Georgia has been remarkably free from injuries this year. Tech has been hit by this gloomy pest, but not hard. An injured shoulder has handicapped Stuart Thompson to some extent. Bob Parham has a bad knee that affects his punting. Bob Horne, who was getting off to a good start, has suffered an attack of appendicitis and probably won't be available Saturday.

So each team will be in shape Saturday. And each team will be at its peak. It isn't necessary for coaches to get their respective squads keyed. There's something about Tech-Georgia encounters that puts each team on its toes.

It is a safe bet to say that Georgia will encounter something in the way of a line Saturday that it hasn't run against before.

Smart, Deceptive Georgia Attack.

But Georgia, they say, has a smart and deceptive attack that passes, runs the ends or pulls trick plays with equal adeptness. Only in three games in the south this year has Georgia failed to make five touchdowns. It's a touchdown hungry pack of backs in the Bulldog stable and Tech will have a big job to keep them on a starvation diet.

Tech hasn't shown much variation on offense, relying upon power, with its two heavy and fast charging lines to make holes at tackle and in the center of the line for fast-starting backs to get through.

But Tech has held several secret

Army-Navy Game Statistics

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Army won the game but Navy outscored and outpassed its rivals, statistics of today's service battle reveal:

	Army	Navy
Passes attempted	8	12
Passes completed	3	6
Passes intercepted	4	1
Yards gained	40	78
First downs	12	15
Yards rushing	141	196
Penalties	6	2
Yards lost	50	20

Powerful Army Team Wins, 14-9

Continued from First Page.

the Navy's four-yard mark. It took only two backs by Wilson to put the ball over and Cagle's toe added the extra point for the second time.

It was just as well for the Army that it produced this third period scoring punch for it had been outplayed decisively by the midshipmen in the first half and in the final quarter they were menaced by a Navy comeback that netted one touchdown and threatened another before the last whistle blew.

This Navy touchdown, throwing the brigade of midshipmen into hysterical excitement as the end of the game neared, was accomplished by a spectacular forward pass. Hurdled by "White" Lloyd from near midfield, it was grabbed by "Ted" Sloane, former Drake end, who slid across the goal line to complete the most thrilling play of the game. The midshipmen had the ball on Army's 28-yard line at the time but Lloyd's tremendous surge carried almost half the length of the field.

Although it was the means of their principal tally, the aerial game of the midshipmen was seldom a real threat. Contrary to expectation, it was the Navy's running game that caused the cavalry the most trouble, repeatedly upsetting the vaunted and veteran West Point forward wall.

Navy Reverses Stride.

Led by Joe Clifton of Paducah, Ky., who was well supported by Rensford and Lloyd, the Navy's rushing attack continually menaced the Army in the first half and regained its stride once more in the final quarter. Clifton darted, bullet-like, through big holes in the soldier line, but he found the barrier impregnable when it came to the goal line. A heavy penalty, as they held the ball on Army's five-yard line, broke up the first big Navy attack, but in the second period, it was unable to cross the end zone goal line in five thrusts from the three-yard mark.

This was the most hectic defensive stand of the game. Twice Clifton plunged into the massed forward line, barely making a yard each time. Lloyd took a turn at tackle with only a foot to show for his plunge, then Clifton made the final thrust, only to be mired up in the swirling mass with the goal inches away.

The game, a brilliant but not spectacular one, was a year ago in Chicago, was witnessed by the largest crowd it has ever attracted in the east, as great an assemblage as ever saw a football battle in New York. Secretaries W. W. and Davis, Mayor Jimmy Walker, high officers of both branches of the service mingled with thousands of fans, cheering and booing, and the most colorful corps of cadets and the blue-coated brigades of midshipmen. Cheers roared and echoed from one side of the field to the other as the rival admirals and generals of the future vied for vocal honors.

Goal Posts Uprooted.

But the cadets had the last cheer and turned loose their spirit of celebration in a storm of noise that was interrupted only long enough to uproot the goal posts.

The Lineup.

ARMY. Navy. Harold Sloane Sprague Bagdanovich Hammek Burke Sommer Hardin Perry Giese Born Smith Hargrave Hannagan Wilson Lloyd H. Wilson Clifton Murrell Raustford

Score by periods: Navy 0, 0, 0, 0, 0 Army 14, 0, 0, 0, 14 Summary: Navy scoring, touchdown, Sloane. Point after touchdown, Hannagan (dropkick), safety (against Murrell). Army scoring, touchdown, Wilson 2. Points after touchdown, Cagle 2 (dropkick). Substitutions: Army, Saunders for Perry, Brotnall for Murrell. Navy, Wood for Clifton, Ellis for Sprague, Pearson for Hall, Dibb for Hannagan, Mehan for Navy; Navy, Clifton for Raustford, Parish for Wilson, Taylor for Sloane, Reans for Taylor, Wood for Harding, Wilson for Giese. Officials: Referee, W. G. Crowell (Swarthmore); umpire, A. H. Sharpe (Yale); linesman, H. H. Hennege (Dartmouth); field judge, C. C. Eckles (Washington and Jefferson).

Bush's Stand Approved.

The stand taken in the "Cuyler case" by Donnie Bush, pirate manager, has not been criticized by a single National league pilot, although a majority of the losses disagreed with Donnie's strategy in the recent world's series.

New Scoreboard Popular.

Visitors attending football games at Illinois university praise the new $10,000 score board recently installed, pointing out that, besides being convenient, it is in keeping with the architecture of the stadium.

practices. And if you have a notion in your head that Tech will open up a new bag of offensive tricks next Saturday, it is highly probable that you won't be surprised.

The best each team has to offer will be used from the start. Each will shoot the works. It's the final game of the season for both. Nothing is dishonorable or to be ashamed of in losing, but each is determined that victory must come.

It's always that way when Tech plays Georgia and that's why Tech-Georgia clashes are always full of fight.

And Saturday's will be the best of them all.

Famous Grid Authority Makes Pick

Says Nash Has Been Tower of Strength in Georgia Line All Season.

BY R. W. ROOPER, Famous Football Authority, and Princeton Coach.

Selecting an all-American football team is a tremendous and thankless job. No one man can see every candidate in action in one season. But I am convinced that the 22 men I have named above constitute the two strongest teams that could be mustered.

Many additional good men are to be found, but when temperament and all other factors are considered I would be willing to take my selections to mould a team which would be mighty on both offense and defense.

I have made up my two all-American eleven from personal observation, and from detailed reports from fellow-coaches, newspaper football experts and our own outstanding athletes.

On offense the eleven I have selected, a variety of plays could be used. Every kind of attack possible under the rules could be made effectively. On defense, the eleven I have selected has great bucking power for line plunges; yet it carries the forward pass and kicking threat at all times.

Sufficient star backfield men exist to make up two more teams virtually as strong as the two named, for there are many brilliant ball carriers this season.

The Quarterback Post.

In only one position is there a dearth of high-class material and that is quarterback. Somehow, few men have stood out in this department. Those of whom most talk is heard are Spears, or Vanderbilt; Drury, Southern California; Mann, Southern Methodist; Hunt, Texas Aggies; and Melham, Dartmouth. However, I consider a first-class man, also, my selection of Spears, Vanderbilt, was made only after a careful study.

Spears has made a phenomenal record. He began the season as the most carefully watched man in the south, yet he went along making great gain after great gain in the most remarkable manner.

His forward passing has been almost in a class by itself. He has carried the ball for something like 1,000 yards of gain from scrimmage, and has thrown passes for almost as much more. He is lightning fast, a great dodger, changes pace exceptionally well and uses a stiff arm effectively.

Fast Starter.

Spears is one of the fastest starting backs the game ever produced. His forward passes are beautiful, accurate, and thrown with great effect. He is undoubtedly the greatest back ever developed in the south. It will be worth while watching him Christmas in California when the All-South team meets the All-Coast stars.

Spears has been somewhat handicapped by having light men to block and interfere for him, yet his ability has carried him to highest honors. He is a good man, though not outstanding on defense, and in blocking for other runners.

His judgment in selection of plays and his ability in taking advantage of weaknesses make him highly valuable. It was unquestionable his finesse, as much as anything else, which brought him to the top in the great publicity centers he would attract national attention.

Drury's Fine Showing.

Drury, of Southern California, has made a remarkable record and has been Pacific coast public thinks as well of him as the southerners do of Spears. He was a mighty man against Stanford, and "Pop" Warner says more credit is due him than any other man in that game.

Drury has been equally good in other games, and has made a remarkable record. Scouts proclaim him the best quarterback developed on the coast. But I lean slightly to Spears for all-around capacity.

In Texas it has been a hard fight between Mann, of Southern Methodist, and Hunt, of Texas Aggies, for supremacy. Competent judges say that if either was in the great publicity centers he would attract national attention.

Other Good Quarters.

Each does everything and does it well. Melham is a fine player, possibly running his team better than the others mentioned, but he is unable to do all the things the others do. Hunt, of Yale, performed exceptionally well against Princeton and in other games, but can hardly be classed with the four first named.

Five halfbacks are particularly plentiful, with no man standing out as supreme. In the list are such wonderful ground gamblers as Welch, Pittsburgh; Cagle, Army; Lloyd, Navy; Wittmer, Princeton; Gibson, Michigan; Alquist, Minnesota; Gustafson, Northwestern; Eby, Ohio State; Pressnell, Nebraska; Roepke, Penn State; Nisime and Hannagan, Notre Dame; Wilcox and Welch, Purdue; Marsters and Lane, Dartmouth, and Thomason, Georgia Tech.

The Halfbacks.

For halfbacks I have selected Welch, of Pittsburgh, and Cagle, because of their general excellence and their particularly brilliant work in their highest games. They are both everything the highest class back should be, and have met every call in splendid style.

Wittmer has performed as splendidly as a back could be expected to do. The same can be said of Roepke. Yet it is almost impossible to select four backs and say they are in a class by themselves. I merely name my preference.

A fine defensive back is an absolute necessity these days, and because I believe him to be the greatest defensive back in America I name Mike Miles, of Princeton, as fullback. He is also excellent in carrying the ball, though he probably lacks some of the magnificent drive of Josting, the greatest plunger of the day.

Miles Best.

Yet I would not trade Miles for any plunger who ever lived. Josting is certainly a wonderful star, though Notre Dame virtually stopped him. Other great fullbacks are Amos, W. & J.; McCrary, Georgia; Decker, Yale, and Dodson, Tennessee.

up this season. Of those who have attracted more than passing attention, the best seem to be Reitsch, Illinois; Rouse, Chicago; Bettencourt, St. Mary's; Howe, Princeton; Charlesworth, Yale, and Grigsby, Georgetown. I have seen several of these boys in action, and I prefer Reitsch. In this view I am supported by the most competent critics of the middle west.

The Center Choice.

I am of the opinion that Howe was the best center in the east, though the work of Charlesworth has been splendid. Personally I would prefer Howe to the Yale man. I feel that he has been a better center. Charlesworth was particularly effective on defense this year. Grigsby is said by Lou Little to be a great center.

Probably the four greatest guards today are Hanson, Minnesota; Bar, Michigan; Webster, Yale, and Smith, Notre Dame. Brennan, Georgia Tech, is also a first-class man, as are a few others here and there.

First-class tackles are a bit more in evidence than guards, possibly because their work attracts more attention. Jess Hibbs, Southern California, is believed by many to be one of the greatest tackles in recent years. He plays ferociously, is big and fast and does everything a tackle should do with precision and skill. Hake, Pennsylvania, is another tackle of the highest type, whose work has been outstanding. Sprague, Army; Polisky, Notre Dame; Nowack, Illinois, and Kaskowski, Ohio State, are first-class men.

End Job No Snaps.

The end position is no sure-fire today. An end must be able to receive passes, play on the defense and box the tackle. A big rangy end has a tremendous advantage on both offense and defense.

Oosterlaan, Michigan, is one of the great ends of the game. He can do everything.

Record Crowd To See Battle for Constitution Trophy

Georgia Lands Four Men on Composite All-Southern Team

Thomason Is Only Player Picked at Tech

Team Compiled From Votes of Southern Coaches and Sports Writers.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Led by Billy Spears, of Vanderbilt, and Herdis McCrary, of the University of Georgia, the mythical all-Southern football team, compiled from the votes of southern coaches and sports writers, was announced Saturday night.

The ballots were compiled by the Associated Press.
The compilation.

FIRST TEAM.
Shiver, Georgia, left end.
Pickard, Alabama, left tackle.
Barnhill, Tennessee, left guard.
Butcher, Tennessee, center.
E. Smith, Georgia, right guard.
Tinsley, Louisiana State, right tackle.
Nash, Georgia, right end.
Spears, Vanderbilt, quarterback.
Thomason, Georgia Tech, left half-back.

SECOND TEAM.
Crowley, Georgia Tech, left end.
Lautzenheiser, Georgia, left tackle.
Bowdoin, Alabama, left guard.
Sharp, Vanderbilt, center.
V. Smith, Ole Miss, right guard.
McArthur, Tennessee, right tackle.
Creson, Vanderbilt, right end.
McDowall, North Carolina State, quarterback.

Smith, Mercer, left half-back.
Banker, Tulane, right half-back.
Armistead, Vanderbilt, fullback.
Spears was practically unanimous for quarterback, receiving 61 votes for that position against three for McDowall, of North Carolina State, who, in regular position, is a halfback. Sixty-four votes in all were cast.

McCarthy ran next highest in votes, receiving 52 for fullback and seven for halfback.
Shiver led in the balloting for end with 43, Nash being second with 37. Crowley, of Georgia Tech, was third with 14 and Creson, of Vanderbilt, had 7 votes. Spears, of Washington and Lee; McKeen, of Tennessee; and Applewhite, of Ole Miss, were others who were the choice of more than one.

Pickard Leads at Tackle.
For tackle, Pickard polled the greatest majority with 42 votes. Tinsley was next with 17, while Lautzenheiser and McCrary had six each to give them places in the second team. Brunson, of Mississippi A. and M.; Kimbrough, of Sewanee; Pearce, of Alabama; and Armstrong, of Washington and Lee, received four votes each.

Barnhill led for guard, receiving 37 votes. Smith, of Georgia, was next with 25, while Bowdoin had 17 and Smith, of Ole Miss, seven. Miles, of Virginia Poly, got four votes, while Drennon, of Georgia Tech, had three. The center position found Butcher in the lead with 23 votes to 17 for Sharp, of Vanderbilt. Schwartz, of North Carolina, received nine votes; Pund, of Georgia Tech, and Peterson, of Auburn, two votes, in addition to the law.

Thomason polled the greatest number of halfback votes, 26. Donald, of Tulane, was next with 16, while McDowall and Smith, of Mercer, had fourteen each, but the fact that McDowall was the only player receiving quarterback votes, except Spears, and his total being too slim for the first team, gave him quarterback position on the second team. Banker, of Tulane, next with 13 votes, then led for the other halfback position on the second team.

Peake, of Virginia Poly, had seven votes for fullback.
Armistead, leading scorer of the south with 132 points, won the second team fullback position, although getting only two votes. Middlekauff, of Florida; Conner, of Ole Miss; and Young, of North Carolina, received one each.

Seventeen Holes in One.

One record that is believed safe from the encroachment of Bobby Jones is that of Tom Washington, professional golfer of Caldwell, N. J., who has registered 17 holes in one in 20 years.

Norman, Okla., November 26.—(AP) The Missouri valley's newest athletic director, who also is the dean of conference football coaches, is finding it difficult to break away from the habit of coaching athletes.

Twenty years ago Ben G. Owen was made athletic coach at the University of Oklahoma, which then was little larger than an average size high school. Like higher education, a coach was nearly an unknown quantity in 1907 among home-schooled Oklahomans. Their time was taken up with cattle, Indians and sod busting.

For a considerable number of those 20 years Benmie Owen was the only coach in the university. He rushed from the football season into the basketball season and then doubled up coaching track and baseball. Between times and at night Owen sandwiched in his executive duties.

The veteran coach, who lost his right arm many years ago in a hunting accident, conditioned his first team by laying out a football field, cutting down an apple orchard and building bleachers. High school teams in the early days humbled the Sooners fairly often.

The university's enrollment grew, however. Athletics developed, and in 1920 Oklahoma was admitted to the Missouri valley conference. Owen's Sooners celebrated the event the first year by taking the football championship.

From then on athletics were assured at the university. A new six-drum was planned and a field house started. Last year the athletic plant had grown to such size that Owen found he no longer could coach and direct athletics with justice to both jobs.

So the dean of Missouri valley coaches became director of athletics and Adrian Lindsey, former University

STARS WHO WILL FIGURE IN ANNUAL TECH-GEORGIA CLASSIC

Above are five leading Yellow Jackets who will go up against the mighty Bulldog eleven of the University of Georgia here Saturday in the annual football classic of the season, the winner to be awarded the trophy offered by The Constitution and also the 1927 Southern conference title. The high-kicking gentleman on the extreme left is none other than Bob Parham. Next to him is the mighty Fullback Randolph. Next is Peter Pund. Shorty Smith is shown galloping away with the pigskin. Bo Read is shown doing his stuff on the right.

Chicago Race Tracks Close Great Season

State of Illinois Receives $500,000 in Fees Paid by Tracks.

Chicago, November 26.—The first year of legalized horse racing in Illinois, with pari-mutuel betting sanctioned, closed with a success far beyond even the dreams of the promoters, who were favored by the weather and enthusiastic turf fans, in addition to the law.

The state treasury of Illinois received nearly half a million dollars in license fees and direct taxes. Each track paid $25,000 a day since the law became effective July 1, and 20 cents on each admission. Many a million dollar day was recorded on the mutual machines, which were restricted to a profit of 6 1/2 per cent for the track operators.

Racing on the five Chicago tracks ran for 122 days, without a break except for Sundays, and without a hint of dispute over racing dates, due to the organization last winter of the Illinois Jockey club, which included representatives of all the racing plants in the state.

Established Tracks.
Two old established tracks, at Aurora and Hawthorne, shared the season with the two new ones at Lincoln Fields and Washington Park, until H. D. "Curly" Brown and his associates completed a $2,000,000 course at Arlington Heights just in time for a 19-day meeting to wind up the turf year.

An unprecedented Indian summer, with temperatures up in the 80's for most of October, added greatly to the success of the sport this fall. Society took an active interest in horse racing, both from the standpoint of spectators and stable owners.

Stuyvesant Peabody, cool magnate, bought Flat Iron in time to see that veteran campaigner carry his silks to victory in several important races. Fred M. Grabner's Chicago won twelve of the important stakes of the summer. Mrs. John D. Hertz, wife of the Chicago taxicab king, discovered on Illinois tracks that she had two of the greatest two-year-olds of the year in Reich Count and Anita Peabody.

Star Jockeys.
Two new stars in the riding colony came into the spotlight on Illinois tracks this season. Lee "Longshot" Hardy, an Indiana lad of less than two years' experience in the saddle, rode 200 winners, a mark exceeded only twice in American turf history. Harst "Slasha" Philpot, a Nebraska boy claiming to be 18, but looking more like 14 years of age, flashed to the front in the closing days, when he rode four winners in seven races and wound up the year by riding the winner of the closing race on eight successive days.

Heading the Illinois Jockey club, which steered an even course among the five competing tracks, was Peabody, with Matt J. Winn, of Churchill Downs fame, as the managing executive. A turf war loomed when Brown launched his Arlington project, turning out one of the most pretentious plants in America, but the other tracks conceded a few days from their programs, and Brown was given a 19-day meeting to close the season, which under the law must end before November 1.

The Yale Alumni Weekly urges a return to the system of mutual betting in order to gain better spirit and bring about undergraduate self-reliance.

Two brass bands and 150 automobiles comprised the procession, which moved through streets lined with cheering thousands.

One automobile carried Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, modestly proud parents of the noted half-back, who was eliminated from Yale football on the eve of the Princeton game. Bruce's younger sister, Eva, high school senior, rode with them.

Back at the town hall, 500 Caldwell enthusiasts sat down to dinner. Many state dignitaries sat with Caldwell at the head table. There

Chicago Race Tracks Close Great Season

State of Illinois Receives $500,000 in Fees Paid by Tracks.

Chicago, November 26.—The first year of legalized horse racing in Illinois, with pari-mutuel betting sanctioned, closed with a success far beyond even the dreams of the promoters, who were favored by the weather and enthusiastic turf fans, in addition to the law.

The state treasury of Illinois received nearly half a million dollars in license fees and direct taxes. Each track paid $25,000 a day since the law became effective July 1, and 20 cents on each admission. Many a million dollar day was recorded on the mutual machines, which were restricted to a profit of 6 1/2 per cent for the track operators.

Racing on the five Chicago tracks ran for 122 days, without a break except for Sundays, and without a hint of dispute over racing dates, due to the organization last winter of the Illinois Jockey club, which included representatives of all the racing plants in the state.

Established Tracks.
Two old established tracks, at Aurora and Hawthorne, shared the season with the two new ones at Lincoln Fields and Washington Park, until H. D. "Curly" Brown and his associates completed a $2,000,000 course at Arlington Heights just in time for a 19-day meeting to wind up the turf year.

An unprecedented Indian summer, with temperatures up in the 80's for most of October, added greatly to the success of the sport this fall. Society took an active interest in horse racing, both from the standpoint of spectators and stable owners.

Stuyvesant Peabody, cool magnate, bought Flat Iron in time to see that veteran campaigner carry his silks to victory in several important races. Fred M. Grabner's Chicago won twelve of the important stakes of the summer. Mrs. John D. Hertz, wife of the Chicago taxicab king, discovered on Illinois tracks that she had two of the greatest two-year-olds of the year in Reich Count and Anita Peabody.

Star Jockeys.
Two new stars in the riding colony came into the spotlight on Illinois tracks this season. Lee "Longshot" Hardy, an Indiana lad of less than two years' experience in the saddle, rode 200 winners, a mark exceeded only twice in American turf history. Harst "Slasha" Philpot, a Nebraska boy claiming to be 18, but looking more like 14 years of age, flashed to the front in the closing days, when he rode four winners in seven races and wound up the year by riding the winner of the closing race on eight successive days.

Heading the Illinois Jockey club, which steered an even course among the five competing tracks, was Peabody, with Matt J. Winn, of Churchill Downs fame, as the managing executive. A turf war loomed when Brown launched his Arlington project, turning out one of the most pretentious plants in America, but the other tracks conceded a few days from their programs, and Brown was given a 19-day meeting to close the season, which under the law must end before November 1.

The Yale Alumni Weekly urges a return to the system of mutual betting in order to gain better spirit and bring about undergraduate self-reliance.

Two brass bands and 150 automobiles comprised the procession, which moved through streets lined with cheering thousands.

One automobile carried Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, modestly proud parents of the noted half-back, who was eliminated from Yale football on the eve of the Princeton game. Bruce's younger sister, Eva, high school senior, rode with them.

Back at the town hall, 500 Caldwell enthusiasts sat down to dinner. Many state dignitaries sat with Caldwell at the head table. There

Chicago Race Tracks Close Great Season

State of Illinois Receives $500,000 in Fees Paid by Tracks.

Chicago, November 26.—The first year of legalized horse racing in Illinois, with pari-mutuel betting sanctioned, closed with a success far beyond even the dreams of the promoters, who were favored by the weather and enthusiastic turf fans, in addition to the law.

The state treasury of Illinois received nearly half a million dollars in license fees and direct taxes. Each track paid $25,000 a day since the law became effective July 1, and 20 cents on each admission. Many a million dollar day was recorded on the mutual machines, which were restricted to a profit of 6 1/2 per cent for the track operators.

Racing on the five Chicago tracks ran for 122 days, without a break except for Sundays, and without a hint of dispute over racing dates, due to the organization last winter of the Illinois Jockey club, which included representatives of all the racing plants in the state.

Established Tracks.
Two old established tracks, at Aurora and Hawthorne, shared the season with the two new ones at Lincoln Fields and Washington Park, until H. D. "Curly" Brown and his associates completed a $2,000,000 course at Arlington Heights just in time for a 19-day meeting to wind up the turf year.

An unprecedented Indian summer, with temperatures up in the 80's for most of October, added greatly to the success of the sport this fall. Society took an active interest in horse racing, both from the standpoint of spectators and stable owners.

Stuyvesant Peabody, cool magnate, bought Flat Iron in time to see that veteran campaigner carry his silks to victory in several important races. Fred M. Grabner's Chicago won twelve of the important stakes of the summer. Mrs. John D. Hertz, wife of the Chicago taxicab king, discovered on Illinois tracks that she had two of the greatest two-year-olds of the year in Reich Count and Anita Peabody.

Star Jockeys.
Two new stars in the riding colony came into the spotlight on Illinois tracks this season. Lee "Longshot" Hardy, an Indiana lad of less than two years' experience in the saddle, rode 200 winners, a mark exceeded only twice in American turf history. Harst "Slasha" Philpot, a Nebraska boy claiming to be 18, but looking more like 14 years of age, flashed to the front in the closing days, when he rode four winners in seven races and wound up the year by riding the winner of the closing race on eight successive days.

Heading the Illinois Jockey club, which steered an even course among the five competing tracks, was Peabody, with Matt J. Winn, of Churchill Downs fame, as the managing executive. A turf war loomed when Brown launched his Arlington project, turning out one of the most pretentious plants in America, but the other tracks conceded a few days from their programs, and Brown was given a 19-day meeting to close the season, which under the law must end before November 1.

The Yale Alumni Weekly urges a return to the system of mutual betting in order to gain better spirit and bring about undergraduate self-reliance.

Two brass bands and 150 automobiles comprised the procession, which moved through streets lined with cheering thousands.

One automobile carried Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, modestly proud parents of the noted half-back, who was eliminated from Yale football on the eve of the Princeton game. Bruce's younger sister, Eva, high school senior, rode with them.

Back at the town hall, 500 Caldwell enthusiasts sat down to dinner. Many state dignitaries sat with Caldwell at the head table. There

CALDWELL CALLED LINDBERGH

Famous Yale Star Is Honored by Thousands OF GRIDIRON AT CELEBRATION

Cumberland, R. I., November 26. (United News.)—Bruce Caldwell, Yale's famed ineligible, heard himself compared with Lindbergh at a municipal dinner in his honor at the town hall here tonight.

Prior to the banquet, given by the townsfolk as a belated tribute to the football prowess of their favorite son, Caldwell rode at the head of a torchlight parade through this town, his home village of Ashton, Pawtucket and Central Falls.

Two brass bands and 150 automobiles comprised the procession, which moved through streets lined with cheering thousands.

One automobile carried Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, modestly proud parents of the noted half-back, who was eliminated from Yale football on the eve of the Princeton game. Bruce's younger sister, Eva, high school senior, rode with them.

Back at the town hall, 500 Caldwell enthusiasts sat down to dinner. Many state dignitaries sat with Caldwell at the head table. There was orchestral music and the high school glee club entertained.

Mayor James E. Dunne, of Providence, the city in which Caldwell played Brown freshman football that subsequently eliminated him from the game at Yale, spoke.

He paid high tribute to the honor guest, described him as a splendid type of young American manhood, and climaxed his address by declaring that Caldwell was to the gridiron what Lindbergh was to the air.

Tumultuous applause shook the little town hall as Ashton's famous son received some of the honors which would have been his had he been permitted to finish the season at Yale.

As a result of his decisive defeat at the hands of Tony Canzonieri of Brooklyn, Johnny Dunfee expects to quit the ring permanently.

Belgium Champ Coming.

Pierre Charles, recognized as the heavyweight boxing champion of Belgium, will arrive in the United States for a series of bouts December 26.

Non - Scouting Plan Discarded By Harvard Team

Cambridge, Mass., November 26.—(AP)—No more non-scouting football agreements for Harvard.

Non - Scouting Plan Discarded By Harvard Team

Cambridge, Mass., November 26.—(AP)—No more non-scouting football agreements for Harvard.

William J. Bingham, director of the athletics at the university, announced today that he had been able to discover no favorable features in the non-scouting plan. On the other hand, the director of athletics said, the system had created "many false situations and misunderstandings."

During the season just closed Harvard observed non-scouting agreements with Yale and Pennsylvania. That crimson athletics authorities accepted the experiment somewhat reluctantly when it was proposed by Tad Jones, Yale coach. Next year Harvard will send out its trained football observers, as in years past, to study the gridiron methods of the opposition.

All-American Teams

FIRST TEAM.

SECOND TEAM.

Bike Races Flourish; Also Making Money

Newark, N. J., November 26.—(AP) Bicycle racing, which flourished all over the country 40 years ago and went to Europe to become fashionable, is spreading back into the United States with increasing popularity—and profit.

Like grand opera, it relies largely for its stars on Europeans, but the "razz" of the business, without competition, is John M. Chapman, of Newark.

Detroit has been added to the metropolitan centers of New York and Chicago this winter in the six-day bike riding circuit, with races starting there November 12 and January 28.

Few of the sports loving public know that the riders earn more than most major league baseball players, more than all but very few boxers and rank among the highest paid of professional athletes of any kind.

A good bike racer, says Chapman, earns from $20,000 to $40,000 a year, and every professional rider of importance is under contract to Chapman.

Reggie McNamara gets $1,000 a day for riding in a six-day race, all his expenses and whatever pin money he may pick up in the way of prizes.

Chapman started as a rider at the age of 17 and still holds, with Ivor Lawson, the five-mile tandem record of 9 minutes, 44 seconds, made at Salt Lake City, July 3, 1901.

One of his first races was at San Francisco in 1898, and Tad Dorgan, the cartoonist, recalls fond memories of carrying a sandwich board to obtain enough money to pay his way into the event.

Since 1909, Chapman has been connected with the Velodrome at Newark, which inherited the bicycle popularity of the old Livingston Millburn 25-mile road race, the cycling classic

Non - Scouting Plan Discarded By Harvard Team

Cambridge, Mass., November 26.—(AP)—No more non-scouting football agreements for Harvard.

William J. Bingham, director of the athletics at the university, announced today that he had been able to discover no favorable features in the non-scouting plan. On the other hand, the director of athletics said, the system had created "many false situations and misunderstandings."

During the season just closed Harvard observed non-scouting agreements with Yale and Pennsylvania. That crimson athletics authorities accepted the experiment somewhat reluctantly when it was proposed by Tad Jones, Yale coach. Next year Harvard will send out its trained football observers, as in years past, to study the gridiron methods of the opposition.

All-American Teams

FIRST TEAM.

SECOND TEAM.

Bike Races Flourish; Also Making Money

Newark, N. J., November 26.—(AP) Bicycle racing, which flourished all over the country 40 years ago and went to Europe to become fashionable, is spreading back into the United States with increasing popularity—and profit.

Like grand opera, it relies largely for its stars on Europeans, but the "razz" of the business, without competition, is John M. Chapman, of Newark.

Detroit has been added to the metropolitan centers of New York and Chicago this winter in the six-day bike riding circuit, with races starting there November 12 and January 28.

Few of the sports loving public know that the riders earn more than most major league baseball players, more than all but very few boxers and rank among the highest paid of professional athletes of any kind.

A good bike racer, says Chapman, earns from $20,000 to $40,000 a year, and every professional rider of importance is under contract to Chapman.

Reggie McNamara gets $1,000 a day for riding in a six-day race, all his expenses and whatever pin money he may pick up in the way of prizes.

Chapman started as a rider at the age of 17 and still holds, with Ivor Lawson, the five-mile tandem record of 9 minutes, 44 seconds, made at Salt Lake City, July 3, 1901.

One of his first races was at San Francisco in 1898, and Tad Dorgan, the cartoonist, recalls fond memories of carrying a sandwich board to obtain enough money to pay his way into the event.

Since 1909, Chapman has been connected with the Velodrome at Newark, which inherited the bicycle popularity of the old Livingston Millburn 25-mile road race, the cycling classic

BEN G. OWEN.

ly of Kansas star, was chosen football coach, the second the university has had.

Owen took up his new duties in September, but still is seen on the football field almost nightly.

"I can hardly stay away from that field," he confided. "I worked with those boys so many years that I seem lost without them. Now that we have a stadium that will seat 20,000 persons, a new athletic plant, intercollegiate games and all the modern conveniences, I can't believe it's all true."

It seems no time at all when I had my boys out there grubbing up apple trees so we would have a place to kick a football around."

Young Yellow Jackets Swamp Georgia Bulldogs, 46-0

WHEN TECH'S YEARLINGS RAN WILD OVER GEORGIA

Earl Dunlap And Lumpkin Outstanding

Tech Freshmen Crowned 1927 Southern Conference Champions.

BY WHITTNER CARY.

Dust off the throne on which sits the southern conference freshman champion, prepare the royal robes only worn by those who scale the heights of football glory and make way for the freshmen team of Georgia Tech.

This youthful whirlwind, seemingly possessed of the fury and destruction of a full-grown West Indian typhoon, galloped, galloped and galloped to a 46-0 victory over the Georgia yearlings Saturday afternoon on Grant field and when the final whistle ended the week and the end of its assault there was no team left to bar its way to the throne room. The Monroe Aggies, the Florida Baby Gators, the young Platoon from Auburn and the Little Bears of Mercer have all felt the fury of that assault during the present season and all have been withered by its blast. And now to this season's last added the Bull Pup from Georgia, the last barrier that might have halted the mad march of this powerful team.

Those Bull Pup, although fighting with the fury that only a Georgia team can muster when opposed to Tech, were helpless before that great-coated host of straw, would be before a November gale.

Dunlap Leads Attack.

Led by the sensational gallops of Earl Dunlap and the mighty thrusts through the line by that Texas gusher, "Father" Lumpkin, the Tech first-year men tore off touchdowns after touchdowns. Now and then the great-coated gallant would vary their running attack with some aerial fireworks that, as a rule, found Dunlap heading to Lumpkin. And on many occasions these heaves accounted for substantial gains.

Of course it is true that no backs, even of the caliber of Dunlap and Lumpkin, can make any great headway without the full cooperation of the offensive line and the work of the forwards. In both these departments Tech's superiority stood out. The plays were timed with precision, the interference on the line was of the well-oiled smoothness and that forward wall of grey constantly outcharged that red line.

But, after due tribute is paid those forwards and the other Tech backs, one finds himself referring to the stellar work of Earl Dunlap and the Texas gusher. There have been freshmen in the past who have shown wonderful ability, there have been teams of young men who have shown the same, but there has never been a team like this one. The first-year men of Georgia Tech, in their first season, are dimmed and tarnished by the stern battles of later years. Many times a freshman blooms in the first year, but in the next three years, but if over two years, they give great promise for future deeds of glory, those two are Earl Dunlap and the Texas gusher.

Devastating Effect. Their acts in the football drama are entirely different, but the devastating effect on the opposition is the same. Dunlap is a speedy, shifty back, whose gallop, with its accompanying off tackle and around the ends and whose chief delight is shifting through a broken field. Father Lumpkin's specialty is hammering through the line. The latter naturally does not get the distance of the former, but his attack is as deadly and as certain.

The Tech supporters left that field Saturday with the hymn of praise for these two ball carriers on their lips and the pleasant dream of anticipation of having them for the Tech variety of the next three years. Certainly a wonderful dream of hope for Tech, even as it is a nightmare for other members of the southern conference. For, make no mistake, these are two great backs.

Game Fight. Georgia fought a game battle, but a battle that from the first kick-off was seen to have but one result—defeat. For the first period the Bulldogs' defense, slightly aided by a Tech fumble at the gates of fame, held off the inevitable rush of doom. But once that opening chapter had become history it was a mad center of crazy. Try as it might the Georgia defense could not stem that youthful hurricane.

On offense the Bulldogs threatened but once. That lone gesture came in the first stanza when the oval rested on Tech's 21-yard line. From then on the scoring zone was a stranger to Bulldog feet. Figures show that Tech made 17 first downs to five for Georgia. The Bulldogs would now and then make some neat gain, would now and then complete one of their many attempted passes, but

Clemson Refuses To Play At Greenville

Clemson College, S. C., November 26.—(AP)—The Furman-Clemson Thanksgiving football game at Greenville this week was the last one in which the Tigers will engage the Purple Hurricane, unless the 1928 match is played on Riegs field here, declared J. G. Gee, Clemson college director of athletics, today, who said he was authorized to take this position by Dr. E. W. Sikes, Clemson president. Mr. Gee asserted that the reception the Clemson team and student body received in Greenville Thanksgiving day and the handling of the crowd at the game was highly unsatisfactory to him, and that he would not take another Clemson team to Greenville "to face the humiliation that was heaped upon the team and cadets this year, particularly the captain of the team."

"The catcalls and jeers from the grandstand, players on the opposing team, and from the students in the parade after the game, directed especially at the captain of our team, were extremely embarrassing," declared Mr. Gee. "I never dreamed that collegiate football could sink to such a point."

Want Kiki Cuyler.

Chicago fans have formed a "Want-Kiki-Cuyler" club in an effort to induce President Veeck, of the Cubs, to go after the discarded star of the Pirates. The fans also want a new third baseman.

as a rule there was no grouping of first downs, no sustained attack.

Dickens Looks Good.

The Georgians, while presenting little sustained offense, presented one ground-gainer, who looked exceedingly good. This was Hallick Dickens, who at times showed flashy gains and who was a big factor in the secondary defense. The defensive work of this back was rivaled by another player, the name of Mattett, who showed his wares at left end. This wingman gave a splendid exhibition of defensive play.

After the deadlock which existed in the first quarter, the fireworks opened with a heated blast at the very outset of the second chapter. With the ball on his own 22-yard line, Tech's Georgia, shot a beautiful pass to Mattett, who tumbled on being tackled. The oval spun away and was gobbled up by the fleeing Lumpkin, who continued on to the goal line, giving a good stiff arm to shake off the last man to bar his way to the promised land. The whirlwind had formed, disaster stalked through the autumn air.

Noon a drive started that saw Dunlap open his wild rampage of running and passing. A neat heave, Dunlap to Lumpkin, put the oval on Georgia's 13-yard line. Lumpkin and Dunlap broke the line, and then the Texas gusher shot through the line for a touchdown. The whirlwind had reached the size of a tornado.

A few minutes later Murray broke into the line, could not come within 200 yards of beating the flying Finn, Frank Titford, gray-haired mechanic Johnny Bell, sprightly student for the priesthood, and Verne Booth, lanky traveling salesman and intercollegiate champion in 1923, came trouping over the line in that order for the next three places for Millrose, then Maynebeck, of the University of Pennsylvania, and John Romig, former intercollegiate champion at Penn State, were fifth and six, running for the Meadowbrook club, Philadelphia.

The Millrose score of 49 points was gained with second, third and fourth, a 15th and 25th place.

More Scoring.

But why go on? The second half saw Dunlap and Lumpkin go further, exhibitions of ground gaining that, aided by Herron and Colvin, accounted for four touchdowns. A battle had become a rout. These last four touchdowns saw a pass, Dunlap to Lumpkin, and then the oval and the Earl carry the ball over the three other occasions. One of these drives was started by the versatile Earl taking a sensational punt, a full-fledged West Indian typhoon.

Lineup and Summary.

GEORGIA (0) Pos. TECH (46)
Mattett Edwards
Giggs Marree
Kiskadee Brook
Bennett Murray
McKee McKee
Smith Holt
McTigue Nicholson
Dickens Colvin
Herron Herron
Wauha Dunlap
Bishop Lumpkin
Substitutions: Tech: Quinn for McKee; Georgia: Day for Bishop; Williams for Smith; Morgan for Dixon; Reeder for Wauha.

Officials: Referee, Barron (Tech); referee, Robertson (A.); umpire, Sullivan; head linesman; Fortier (Army); field judge.

Photos by Kenneth Rogers, Staff Photographer.

Herewith are action scenes as the junior Jackets of Tech swept to a 46-0 victory over the Bulldogs of Georgia on Grant field Saturday afternoon. It was largely "Father" Lumpkin, Tech's big full back, and Earl Dunlap, a speedy Jacket half, who brought about the Georgia rout. Lumpkin scored four touchdowns and Dunlap made three of the counters. At the top, left, Dunlap is shown breaking away around end on a touchdown gallop. At the right is Dickens, who was the most effective player for Georgia, being brought to earth by a hard-tackling freshman. In the bottom picture Lumpkin is shown making one of his many touchdowns.

RITOLA WINS X COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Wille Ritola, deep-chested distance ace of Finland's Olympic team, sped over the six miles of the Van Cortlandt park cross-country course to his fifth national senior A. A. U. championship today, but the Finnish monopoly of team honors was broken for the first time in six years.

By the narrow margin of one point, a well-balanced Millrose A. A. outfit nosed out Ritola's Finnish-American A. C. placing three men among the first four finishers.

Taking the lead near the halfway point, the Finnish carpenter won as he played in 29 minutes 27.1 seconds, just one-fifth of a second slower than the course record he set in 1925. Although they could not come within 200 yards of beating the flying Finn, Frank Titford, gray-haired mechanic Johnny Bell, sprightly student for the priesthood, and Verne Booth, lanky traveling salesman and intercollegiate champion in 1923, came trouping over the line in that order for the next three places for Millrose, then Maynebeck, of the University of Pennsylvania, and John Romig, former intercollegiate champion at Penn State, were fifth and six, running for the Meadowbrook club, Philadelphia.

CLINTON TEAM CLAIMS S.I.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIP

Clinton, Miss., November 26.—(AP) Unbeaten in eight games during the present football season and scored upon only once, the Mississippi college gridsters claim the championship of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Other association teams have been defeated. Stetson, Furman, Chattanooga, Georgia and Delaware, but the Mississippians claim the championship since they have won more association games than the other colleges. The eight wins for the Mississippi college team were within the association.

HAWK-EYEING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS

Continued from First Page.

of the junior Jackets. The fact that the tide could not be stemmed only adds to their credit for playing as hard as they did.

It is not hard for a back or an end or any other player to shine when his team is winning but the man who draws attention when his team is being swamped under an avalanche of scoring is to be given double credit, Mattett and Dickens did that thing Saturday.

Good News.

Good news finally comes in the form of a letter from Joe Reynolds in Waynesboro, stating that birds on the field trial association preserve are as plentiful as they were in the balmy years when covies were as numerous as pass hunters on a football Saturday—which is very, very plentiful.

This news, added to the fact that entries have already passed any previous mark and the fact that the gallery promises to be the largest in the history of the trials, is proof enough that the southern field trials will be a greater success than usual. The entertainment end of the bargain is assured. Waynesboro never does anything by halves in the way of hospitality.

This Munn Person.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis is dreaming that he is little Jack the giant killer and has started climbing a bean stalk which will lead to the ring in the auditorium on Tuesday night. We are of the opinion that Mr. Lewis is just about the man who can cut Giant Munn down to his size and slay him too.

This Munn fellow is undoubtedly the biggest bit of humanity we have ever seen in any ring. Just how anybody can jump high enough to clasp his big head in a headlock is a mystery. Mr. Lewis will probably have to knock him down and then jump for his head before Munn can get back to his knees.

Regardless of the plan of attack there should be some massive action when these two bullies pull ears in the ring Tuesday night.

Braves Seek Leader.

Since Dave Bancroft and the Boston Nationals have come to the parting of the ways, the Braves are on the lookout for a new manager to succeed their veteran pilot. Bancroft held the job four years.

Mandell in Training.

Sammy Mandell has gone into training for his title bout at Chicago November 14. The lightweight champion will meet either Jimmy McLarin or Billy Wallace of Cleveland.

CHICK SHIVER ON N. Y. SUN ALL-AMERICAN

New York, November 26.—(AP)—The New York Sun today announced its All-American football team for 1927, featured by the choice of Bruce Caldwell of Yale as quarterback. Caldwell was chosen in the last two games. The selections are based on a canvass of 129 college teams throughout the country by The Sun's representatives. In accordance with its annual custom, the newspaper awards gold watches to the members of the first eleven.

Chick Shiver, of Georgia, was the best football player below the Mason-Dixon line this fall. Shiver it was who harried Yale's crack backs until they didn't know whether they were coming or going. Caldwell couldn't cut inside Shiver, and the goal line only a stride away. Big league baseball scouts have camped on Shiver's trail for Chick is one of those outfielders who can go back a mile for a line drive. His baseball training has given him the knack of pulling down far-flung passes. When he gets his hands on the ball it sticks. Shiver is not only a rugged interker and a power on defense, but also a pointer of splendid range. Southern critics rate Shiver ahead of Winslett, Alabama's 1926 ace. Shiver was the guiding genius of Georgia's smashing line.

In estimating the material The Sun reaches these conclusions: "Bennie Osterbaan of Michigan was the year's outstanding end, Jack Hibbs of Southern California the dominant tackle, Larry Bettencourt of St. Mary's the class of the centers, Moreley Drury of Southern California the leading quarterback, Bill Webster of Yale the strongest guard as well as the most inspiring team leader and Bruce Caldwell of Yale the most valuable backfield man."

Here are The Sun's first and second teams:
Left End—First team, Osterbaan, Mich.; second team, Mathews, Texas Christian.
Left Tackle—First team, Hibbs, California; second team, Kern, Pittsburgh.
Left Guard—First team, Webster, Yale; second team, Wright, Washington.
Center—First team, Bettencourt, St. Mary's; second team, Reitzel, Illinois.
Right Guard—First team, Smith, Notre Dame; second team, Hanson, Minnesota.
Right Tackle—First team, Perry, Army; second team, Brown, Texas A&M.
Right End—First team, Shiver, Georgia; second team, Born, Army.
Quarterback—First team, Drury, Southern California; second team, Connor, New York University.
Left Halfback—First team, Caldwell, Yale; second team, Pressnell, Nebraska.
Right Halfback—First team, Welsch, Pittsburgh; second team, Marsters, Dartmouth.
Fullback—First team, Josselyn, Minnesota; second team, Miles, Princeton.

"U-Push-It" Men Take Up Polo

Miami Beach, Fla., November 26.—(AP)—Principles of the rent-a-car and drive-it-yourself automobile business will be applied on the polo fields here this winter.

Fred Tejan, trainer of polo ponies, will bring a stable of mounts to be rented to players by the chukker.

It is an innovation in horse-drawn polo, intended for the use of northern polo players whose stay here is too short to warrant the shipment of their own ponies from distant points.

Eight teams are assured for this season, including clubs from Buffalo, Dayton, Cincinnati, Springfield, Ohio, Detroit, Chicago, New York and the local Flamingo club made up of winter residents from different parts of the country.

Paddock Want Another Try At Olympiad

Famous Sprinter Wishes To Set Record by Competing in Three Meets.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 26.—(AP) Charley Paddock has no idea of taking a serious turn at indoor sprinting this winter, but the blond California veteran is fully determined to try out for the Olympic team next spring, ambitious to do something that no American sprinter has ever achieved—represent this country in three successive Olympiads.

Here to attend the convention of the amateur union as a southern California delegate, a role contrasting with the somewhat sharp conflict he had with the A. A. U. several years ago. Paddock declared his spiked shoes are still "in the bag."

"I'm getting a bit old," he said, "but maybe there is still a kick left." "What I'd like to do is to have one good race—say against a man like Chet Bowman, the national 100-yard champion—early next spring, either in the east or west, to determine what sort of shape I am in. Bowman may consider this a challenge, in fact, if he wants to, that would give each of us something to get in condition for and make it easier later on to work up to the Olympic climax. My idea would be to make the race a feature of a meet in some big eastern city for the benefit of the Olympic fund."

Collects Plenty Points. Paddock has helped the United States score 24.12 points in the Olympics in the sprints and relays. This is more than any other American star has collected, but the stocky Californian wants to set a higher mark for newcomers to shoot at.

One of Paddock's most sensational Olympic races was a losing one, by a margin of inches. It was the 200-meter finals of 1924, when Jackson Scholz, former University of Missouri star, nipped the Californian at the tape. The notion has always been prevalent that Paddock beat himself by a gesture of turning his head in the last few strides and slackening his pace a bit. This is his story of that epic finish, however:

"It was tight all the way down, although I gained and held an edge over Scholz going the last 50 yards. Ten yards from the finish, however, I went dead. I had nothing left but momentum and turned my head and body only with the idea of reaching for the tape, gaining an extra inch or two that might mean the difference between defeat and victory. But Jack had the most stuff and won."

Indoor Work a Likely. If Paddock does any indoor running this winter it will be only in connection with a prospective meet in Boston in February as a memorial to the late William C. Pruitt, former president of the A. A. U. and president of the American Olympic association when he died last August. Paddock does not feel at home on the boards, however, and will make no serious effort to train for an indoor campaign.

Charles Borah, Southern California flash and intercollegiate champion, is considered the "perfect sprinter," by Paddock.

"He's almost too good to be true," declared the veteran who hung up his famous mark of 9.5-10 seconds for the 100 yards in a sensational finish with Borah over a year ago. "He does everything right. There's nothing in his action to criticize. And he has a great competitive temperament."

4 Cornhuskers Are Selected For Star Team

Missouri Second With Three Men on All-Missouri Valley Team.

Kansas City, November 26.—(AP)—Nebraska drew the lion's share of the places on the all-Missouri valley conference football team for 1927, selected today by the Associated Press after a tabulation of votes from conference coaches, athletic directors, officials and sports writers.

Nine of the two valley coaches joined in the selection, and most of the athletic directors named their choice. The Scarlet Nebraska Cornhusker team, which lost only to Missouri in the conference, placed four men on the first eleven, and two on the second team. Missouri drew second place with three men on the first team and two on the second. Iowa State was close behind with two on the first, three on the second. Oklahoma placed two men on the first team, one on the second.

Glenn Pressnell, Cornhusker backfield star, leading individual valuer scorer, and the conference's only candidate for an all-American berth, was the unanimous choice of everyone for a backfield berth.

Not in recent years has Nebraska presented such a versatile backfield. Pressnell, though, Nebraska's best record for total yardage gained in one season. He scored 12 touchdowns and did most of Nebraska's punting and passing. He has finished his collegiate football career.

Edward "Blue" Howell, Nebraska's battering ram, who teamed for touchdowns with Pressnell, was virtually a unanimous choice for the fullback berth. Howell was second in the individual scoring list with 48 points, he kicked four points after touchdowns in one game. He is considered as versatile as Pressnell. He has another year of football.

Bob Melrie, one of Missouri's so-called "line backs," who leaped into the limelight when his heavier teammates were benched with injuries, was fully as popular as Howell and is placed at the other halfback position. Melrie, though, weighing only 158 pounds, attained stardom in his first year with Missouri, winning an all-valley berth while winning his first Missouri letter.

Walter Weiss, of Iowa State, was given the captaincy of the first team, was hard pressed for a first place position at quarterback by "Boss" Haskins, Oklahoma's newest luminary.

All-Missouri Valley selections:

FIRST TEAM.

Left end—Roy LeCone, Oklahoma.
Left tackle—Ramsell, Nebraska.
Left guard—McMullen, Nebraska.
Center—Ayres, Iowa State.
Right guard—R. Miller, Missouri.
Right tackle—Norris, Oklahoma.
Right end—Brown, Missouri.

Quarterback—Weiss, Iowa State.

Left half—Melrie, Missouri.

Right half—Haskins, Kansas Aggies.

Fullback—Howell, Nebraska.

SECOND TEAM.

Left end—Hanser, Kansas.
Left tackle—W. E. Smith, Missouri.
Left guard—Fisher, Iowa State.
Center—James, Nebraska.

Right guard—Holm, Nebraska.
Right tackle—Lucas, Missouri.
Right end—Fleck, Kansas Aggies.

Quarterback—Haskins, Oklahoma, captain.

Left half—J. Lindholm, Iowa State.
Right half—Holsinger, Kansas Aggies.

Fullback—Miller, Iowa State.

Pfeil New U.S.G.A. Head

Charles O. Pfeil has been nominated for the presidency of the United States Golf association and his election is certain to be merely a matter of form at the next meeting. Pfeil resides at Memphis, Tenn.

Princeton Drops Two.

Two teams have been dropped from Princeton's 1928 football schedule. Amherst and Williams and Marv will not be on the 1928 Tiger program.

Morgan, Glick, Matched.

Joe Glick will attempt to wrest the junior lightweight boxing crown from Tod Morgan at Madison Square garden in a 15-round bout to a decision December 16.

Boxing Bill Proposed.

At the next session of the Illinois state legislature a bill will be introduced by Representative Michael Durso, of the 25th senatorial district, providing for a legislative athletic commission to govern boxing and other sports in Illinois.

Full And Accurate Program Information

RADIO IN THE HOME

Conducted by
Will Smith

FLORIDA STATIONS ASK FOR MORE POWER

Washington, November 26.—Florida wants a place in the broadcasting sun. With its spokesman declaring "publicity is the life blood of the peninsula empire of the south," the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and the municipalities of St. Petersburg and Clearwater have enlisted the efforts of United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher and Park Trammell in a campaign to obtain radio parity with other states.

SENATOR DUNCAN FLETCHER

The recent appearance of a delegation before the federal radio commission to appeal for a better channel for station WFLA at Clearwater, was declared to be the opening gun in a fight for greater transmitting power.

Leaders of the delegation, in addition to the two Florida senators, were Herman Dunn, of St. Petersburg, president of the state chamber of commerce, and J. H. Baskin, mayor of Clearwater.

The commission granted station WFLA a frequency of 530 kilocycles and an increase in power from 500 to 750 watts for a period of 60 days. This action nullified the commission's order that WFLA share a channel with station WDBO at Orlando, Fla.

The Clearwater station and a new $10,000 broadcasting station at St. Petersburg now are jointly operated. The St. Petersburg station being assigned the call letters WSTN. Both are municipally owned enterprises.

"The tourist business is one of Florida's greatest assets and broadcasting of the state's attractions is an invaluable aid in promoting that business," said Mayor Baskin.

"The combined power of Florida broadcasting stations now in operation is 5,500 watts. These stations serve a local population of 1,500,000. The power allotted to other stations of the country is considerably in excess of this figure in comparison to population and area, notably the Chicago and California areas."

WFLA has consistently served the territory surrounding the station with information of value to commerce and navigation; notably the broadcasting of market reports, weather reports, storm warnings and time signals. This station has been used in times of great stress, notably the 1925 hurricane season when it was the only station in the storm area which could be heard and which transmitted accurate information to the outside world. It is the only station consistently serving the English speaking people of Central America.

DRY COMMISSIONER VIEWS CONDITIONS IN NINTH DISTRICT

Tampa, Fla., November 26.—(AP)—J. M. Doran, federal prohibition commissioner, with four other enforcement officers, were in Florida today making a study of the ninth district (Florida and Georgia) and problems of enforcing anti-liquor laws.

Commissioner Doran planned to be in Miami today, having conferred with department officials in Jacksonville and Tampa yesterday. With him were A. Ottoloni, assistant federal prohibition commissioner, Washington; O. D. Jackson, fifth district coordinator, New Orleans; W. E. Brann, administrator in charge of special agents in this district, Jacksonville; and R. E. Turtle, administrator for the ninth district, Savannah.

No important changes in the personnel of the ninth district were contemplated, said Mr. Doran. At the same time, an effort will be made to raise the caliber of the men doing prohibition work.

"The enforcement of prohibition in the ninth district is, undoubtedly, the most difficult because of the thousands of miles of coast line which is close enough to sources of supply to make it leaky. I am trying to learn the district and its problems, and to know better the men in charge. I am trying to recognize the bureau along lines followed by other departments. We are making progress in the enforcement of the law, although it is slow. More arrests and seizures are being made, although the supply of liquor has not been increased, and we are receiving better support from the courts."

PROHIBITION LAW LAX ENFORCEMENT LAID TO POLITICS

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—Asserting that political appointments had been one of the chief hindrances to prohibition enforcement, the prohibition service commission said today that most of the administrative posts under the prohibition bureau would probably be filled by the first of the year and that precaution would be taken to keep politics out of the organization.

Selections must be made from names certified for a particular job, the commission holding that the appointing officer would not be permitted to pass over a certification of three names and give further down the list for the name of someone whose appointment was urged.

Germany to Keep Her Agreements, Says Schurman

Hoboken, N. J., November 26.—(United News)—Americans should be careful how they accept Reparation Commission S. Parker Gilbert's criticism of Germany, Jacob Gould Schurman, United States ambassador to Germany said in an interview when he arrived here Friday night aboard the United States liner President Harding.

The ambassador was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Barbara. They will return to Germany after the Christmas holidays.

"Germany has made her reparation payments in the past fully and punctually," Schurman said, "and I am sure Germany will continue to do her utmost to keep her agreements."

Reparation Commissioner Gilbert's criticism of Germany as "extravagant" may be explained, Schurman said, by the fact that public utilities are government operated instead of privately owned.

"I think we must be careful how we accept his (Gilbert's) statement," the envoy cautioned. "Gilbert is a very able man. He is a financial genius and I am sure Germany thinks he wants to help them. But I am inclined to believe that he looks at the financial question alone."

"He said, I believe, that there were many unnecessary expenditures in many states and communes. I do not know exactly what he meant. I do know that loans from America are being used for productive purposes."

"Whenever a German city borrows much money we may be prone to say that it is wasted, but instead it is probably being used for utilities, which are profitable enterprises."

"The government in Berlin recently issued instructions that economies should be effected in all entertainment centers. They are trying to save money on every hand."

Schurman sees no harm in the large loans being made abroad. He pointed out that America's need for investment is met by Germany's lack of capital for industrial development.

STUDENTS COMPETE AT LIVESTOCK SHOW

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—One hundred university and college students, representing 22 agricultural colleges, all in the United States except one, competed today in the inter-collegiate students' judging contest of the international livestock show which opened here this morning.

The Ontario Agricultural college, of Guelph, Canada, was the only institution from outside the United States represented. The winning team will have its college's name inscribed on the trophy offered by the Union Stock and Transit Co., which must be won three times to be retained.

Purdue, Texas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma all have two legs on the trophy.

Thousands of persons passed through the gates today to inspect the exhibits, including 11,500 cattle, horses, sheep and swine and more than 5,000 exhibits of hay, small seed and grain entered in the international hay and grain show held in conjunction with the display covers more than 26 acres and 42 states and five Canadian provinces are represented.

Farm boys and girls who are taking part in the club congress held annually in connection with the exposition are expected to number 1,200. They are coming from 43 states.

VICTORY FOR SANDINO FORCES IS REPORTED

San Salvador, Salvador, November 26.—(AP)—Newspapers here today published details of a fight at Las Cruces, Nicaragua, in which the liberal General Sandino routed government troops and captured the federal supply train and an American flag.

The Salvadoran papers say that an airplane crashed and its crew was killed.

The town of Las Cruces is not shown on maps of Nicaragua generally available. Reports from the remote regions near the border of Honduras, where recently fighting has occurred, are often delayed in reaching Salvador over land and there is a possibility that the story published today refers to incidents of a month ago.

It was learned early this month that Second Lieutenant E. A. Thomas and Sergeant Frank Howdell, marine corps aviators, who had been missing for more than four weeks, had been killed in a fight with followers of General Sandino after they had taken refuge in a cave where their plane crashed and was destroyed.

WOMAN OF MANY HUSBANDS FATE YET UNCERTAIN

Chicago, November 26.—(United News)—Mrs. Katherine Dornacher will know December 16 whether she is to be sent to an insane asylum or to the penitentiary because she married four of her seven husbands within the formality of obtaining a divorce.

A jury in Judge Feinberg's court Friday found her guilty of bigamy after deliberating 45 minutes. The verdict carries with it a sentence of one to five years.

Mrs. Dornacher denied ever having seen three of the four husbands who testified against her. Judge Feinberg expressed the opinion that she was insane when she denied knowing Stanislaus Strzelczewski, who offered proof that he had married her and lived with her three months.

Three alienists were appointed to examine her and will submit a report December 10.

Australian Loan.

London, November 26.—(AP)—Australia is floating a loan of £10,000,000 (about $25,000,000) at 5 percent, to be issued at 97 1/2. The loan is issued under the new arrangement of central borrowing through the Australian loan council and is on behalf of the commonwealth of Australia and four Australian states, New South Wales, Victoria, Western Australia and Tasmania.

REPORTS BIG SALES

ATLANTA 'HOUR' HEARD FARNORTH

S. H. Fulton, of Fulton Bros. Electric company, 133-35 Peachtree Avenue, exclusive Stromberg-Carlson dealers, who is shown in the above photograph, declares the new A.C. operated sets have created an unprecedented demand for the Stromberg-Carlson line. These new sets with out cumbersome, unsightly battery equipment, he says, make a hit with the housewife.

PUSHES FADA SALES

Radio Operator on Morrissey Logs 310 Stations While Exploring in Arctic Circle.

What is believed to be a record for long distance reception in the Arctic circle was made public today by Edward Manley, radio operator of the Morrissey, who has just returned from a five month's trip with the Putnam-Baffin land expedition.

From the northern extremity of the expedition's itinerary, in wild Fox basin, a total of 310 stations were "copied" by Manley, using a three-tube dry battery powered short wave receiver of the regenerative type. Included in this number was OM, of Atlanta, Ga.

Relying solely on this three-tube set and its dried batteries for power, the Morrissey operator pulled in 204 stations from the United States on the 40-meter wave length and 85 on 20 meters. A total of 18 foreign countries were also in communication in this manner with the party in Fox basin. They included eight Canadian stations, on in Greenland, two in South America, one each in South Africa and New Zealand, three Belgian, two French, one in Porto Rico and two in Labrador.

Copied Time Signals.

In addition, Manley "copied" each day the time signals from Washington, D. C., which enabled Captain Barlett, the skipper of the Morrissey, to check his chronometers.

The Morrissey was the first ship to enter Fox basin, carrying white men in a hundred years. In the year 1822-1823, two ships entered the basin, but since that time, until the Putnam party penetrated it, its fastnesses, no white man ever entered its practically unexplored waters. The fact that no white man had preceded them for a full century did not, however, obscure the fact that the white man's signal had already penetrated the forbidding area. Station after station was pulled in at the operator's command during their stay in the basin.

Radio Helped Out Maps.

In addition to copying the signals from these stations, the radio apparatus of the Putnam expedition proved invaluable in the party's exploration in surrounding waters. Operated by Monroe Barnard, son of George Grey Barnard, the sculptor, a long wave receiver using both B and A dry batteries, was taken by a number of the party on their 400-mile trip in the Morrissey's whaleboat.

Proceeding eastward 100 miles and northward 100 miles, and thence returning to the ship, the whaleboat succeeded in actually cutting a huge area off the map of Baffin Island. The receiver was used for checking the chronometers, the exact time signals as received by the radio set being used to compute the difference in time between Greenwich meridian and their own location.

To this fact was largely due the ability of the party to compute distances so accurately that their time measurements showed Baffin Island to be 5,000 square miles less in area than the preceding expedition's map, and grain and seed were saved, estimated it to be. Inability of previous explorers to check their chronometers was given as the reason of their failure to measure accurately the Arctic Island.

Included in the whaleboat party were George Palmer Putnam, his son David, young Barnard, George Westmouth, John A. Pope, Lawrence A. Gould and the Eskimo Avallia.

Static-Less Paradise.

Mr. Manley pointed out that these radio operations were carried on at a point nearer to the magnetic pole than had ever before been done. For this reason, he said, it is of interest to note that the further away that the stations which were received were located, the more clearly their signals came through. Very little static was encountered, far less than at any other place known.

In fact, said Manley, had it not been for the northern lights, distant Fox basin could be regarded as the radio operators' static-less paradise. Appearance of the northern lights, which were only sporadic, simply blanketed all signals. Otherwise reception results were clear and unimpeded. Fox basin, however, while protected, the more clearly their signals came through. Very little static was encountered, far less than at any other place known.

Pressure Charged In Disposition Of Ships of U. S.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—The controversy among shipping board members over the disposition of the government's Pacific lines has reached a point where one member accused today he had received "intimidation" of administration pressure as a result of his stand.

Commissioner Hill, who has contended the purchasers of the lines should be made to guarantee operation for ten years, said he had received intimations of such pressure if he did not agree to a five-year guarantee. He said he had been told that his name might not be sent to the senate for confirmation, although he added that no official word had reached him on the subject.

The board has had the proposed sale of the lines before it for nearly two months, and a subcommittee, on which Mr. Hill served, recommended that the lines be sold, undisturbed, for a five and ten-year clause and that the board select the most favorable bid.

The lines, the American, Australian, and the Oregon Oriental mail, operated 37 ships to the principal ports in the far east.

ATLANTA 'HOUR' HEARD FARNORTH

Radio Operator on Morrissey Logs 310 Stations While Exploring in Arctic Circle.

What is believed to be a record for long distance reception in the Arctic circle was made public today by Edward Manley, radio operator of the Morrissey, who has just returned from a five month's trip with the Putnam-Baffin land expedition.

From the northern extremity of the expedition's itinerary, in wild Fox basin, a total of 310 stations were "copied" by Manley, using a three-tube dry battery powered short wave receiver of the regenerative type. Included in this number was OM, of Atlanta, Ga.

Relying solely on this three-tube set and its dried batteries for power, the Morrissey operator pulled in 204 stations from the United States on the 40-meter wave length and 85 on 20 meters. A total of 18 foreign countries were also in communication in this manner with the party in Fox basin. They included eight Canadian stations, on in Greenland, two in South America, one each in South Africa and New Zealand, three Belgian, two French, one in Porto Rico and two in Labrador.

Copied Time Signals.

In addition, Manley "copied" each day the time signals from Washington, D. C., which enabled Captain Barlett, the skipper of the Morrissey, to check his chronometers.

The Morrissey was the first ship to enter Fox basin, carrying white men in a hundred years. In the year 1822-1823, two ships entered the basin, but since that time, until the Putnam party penetrated it, its fastnesses, no white man ever entered its practically unexplored waters. The fact that no white man had preceded them for a full century did not, however, obscure the fact that the white man's signal had already penetrated the forbidding area. Station after station was pulled in at the operator's command during their stay in the basin.

Radio Helped Out Maps.

In addition to copying the signals from these stations, the radio apparatus of the Putnam expedition proved invaluable in the party's exploration in surrounding waters. Operated by Monroe Barnard, son of George Grey Barnard, the sculptor, a long wave receiver using both B and A dry batteries, was taken by a number of the party on their 400-mile trip in the Morrissey's whaleboat.

Proceeding eastward 100 miles and northward 100 miles, and thence returning to the ship, the whaleboat succeeded in actually cutting a huge area off the map of Baffin Island. The receiver was used for checking the chronometers, the exact time signals as received by the radio set being used to compute the difference in time between Greenwich meridian and their own location.

To this fact was largely due the ability of the party to compute distances so accurately that their time measurements showed Baffin Island to be 5,000 square miles less in area than the preceding expedition's map, and grain and seed were saved, estimated it to be. Inability of previous explorers to check their chronometers was given as the reason of their failure to measure accurately the Arctic Island.

Included in the whaleboat party were George Palmer Putnam, his son David, young Barnard, George Westmouth, John A. Pope, Lawrence A. Gould and the Eskimo Avallia.

Static-Less Paradise.

Mr. Manley pointed out that these radio operations were carried on at a point nearer to the magnetic pole than had ever before been done. For this reason, he said, it is of interest to note that the further away that the stations which were received were located, the more clearly their signals came through. Very little static was encountered, far less than at any other place known.

In fact, said Manley, had it not been for the northern lights, distant Fox basin could be regarded as the radio operators' static-less paradise. Appearance of the northern lights, which were only sporadic, simply blanketed all signals. Otherwise reception results were clear and unimpeded. Fox basin, however, while protected, the more clearly their signals came through. Very little static was encountered, far less than at any other place known.

Pressure Charged In Disposition Of Ships of U. S.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—The controversy among shipping board members over the disposition of the government's Pacific lines has reached a point where one member accused today he had received "intimidation" of administration pressure as a result of his stand.

Commissioner Hill, who has contended the purchasers of the lines should be made to guarantee operation for ten years, said he had received intimations of such pressure if he did not agree to a five-year guarantee. He said he had been told that his name might not be sent to the senate for confirmation, although he added that no official word had reached him on the subject.

The board has had the proposed sale of the lines before it for nearly two months, and a subcommittee, on which Mr. Hill served, recommended that the lines be sold, undisturbed, for a five and ten-year clause and that the board select the most favorable bid.

The lines, the American, Australian, and the Oregon Oriental mail, operated 37 ships to the principal ports in the far east.

Yaarab Chanters in Public Recital

Yaarab Temple's Chanters, that organization of perfectly blended voices famed all over the country for its rendition of difficult music, is now getting its due in its own home town.

They will sing the night of December 8 at the Woman's club as a special attraction of the Atlanta Music club, taking the place of one of the country's leading musical artists whose engagement has been canceled.

The program for the evening will consist of classical music and some of the best loved negro spirituals, the singing of which has made the chanters famous throughout the land.

Yaarab Temple's Chanters is one of the most perfectly balanced organizations of male voices in the United States and ranks close to the top. For more than 17 years, without much change in membership, it has been singing under the direction of Noble Frank A. Cundell.

Nobles of Yaarab temple, and Atlantans as well, are proud of the record this organization has made, much of the credit for which is due to Noble Cundell, who, year in and year out, without ostentation or public acclaim, has labored with "his voice" toward but one end—that of bringing to his hearers only the best in music.

Few persons realize the amount of energy and vigor that Director Cundell instills in the chanters, for, with back to his audience, little of his real vitality is apparent. He directs the chanters with his hands only, but puts so much of his personality in them that his singers are practically in perfect accord with him.

The standing membership in the organization, which includes many prominent Atlanta business men, is as follows:

Yaarab Chanters, Noble Frank A. Cundell, director; Walter Aichel and Roy C. Petty, accompanists; first tenors, Harry T. Adams, Sidney C. Wooten; Vance Hunter, Paul Crutchfield, Thomas A. Martin, Clarence J. Aldred, Clarence Wall; second tenors, R. Floyd Jennings, George W. Grant, Dr. H. T. Bledsoe, Curtis S. Buford, Alvin E. Evans, W. Bayne Gibson, J. Logan, E. T. Booth, Wilbur R. Wilbur, Roy M. Abernathy, W. M. Beardon, W. W. Bateman, Charles H.

Improves rapidly

Del Lyon, member of Lyon & King, Inc., 16 Auburn avenue, who is reported to be out of danger and well on the road to recovery following an operation at St. Joseph's. Mr. Lyon is now at home where he is recuperating.

KANSAS IN EARNEST IN BACKING CURTIS, PRESIDENT IS TOLD

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—Kansas is in earnest about the presidential candidacy of Senator Curtis, of that state. Representative Strong, of Kansas, declared today after a call at the white house.

He informed President Coolidge, however, that the state deeply regretted his choice not to run for reelection and declared that if given the opportunity it would demonstrate this regard for him.

OREGON STATION TUNES MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Portland, Ore., November 26.—(AP)—Persons having pianos, violins and other stringed instruments may now check their tuning by radio. Every night at 8 o'clock the sharp and resonant tone of 440-A pitch is sounded from station KKK, of Portland.

Three distinct beats are given, with time enough between for a listener to strike the "A" key of the piano to ascertain if it is true and similarly test other instruments.

The service is considered particularly helpful to mountaineers and persons in other isolated districts.

YIDDISH CLASS PUPILS TO GRADUATE TONIGHT

Graduation exercises for members of the Arbeiter Ring elementary class in Yiddish will be held at 6 o'clock tonight at the Ring auditorium on Capitol avenue. It was announced Saturday that the class will be given, in addition to music and dancing, will feature the ceremonies.

BOY, HIT BY AUTO, PAINFULLY INJURED

William Grubbs, five, of 144 Currier street, was treated at Grady hospital late Saturday afternoon for injuries he received when struck down by an automobile in front of his home. He was allowed to return home after treatment. Hospital attendants were not given any details of the mishap and police have no report of it.

SENATOR CURTIS TO MAKE CAMPAIGN WITHOUT RADIO

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—Although he has been a radio fan for seven years, Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, the only avowed candidate for the republican nomination for president, will not resort to the channels of the air in his campaign.

Senator Curtis declares that while he believes radio is of a great business value and a wonderful instrument for the dissemination of education and entertainment, he does not believe it is or will be an effective political weapon.

"I will not do any broadcasting in my campaign; you can't get yourself or your ideas over by long distance contact," the senator said. "The people like to see their candidates when they are delivering speeches. Some voters feel it gives them a chance to determine whether or not they are telling the truth."

Senator Curtis took a leading part in the work for the enactment of the radio act of 1927. He believes that the broadcasting business should be regulated by the federal government but favors placing it in some department under one head, rather than in the hands of a commission.

Chalmers, A. E. Foster, J. Thomas Hoffman, LeRoy Webb; basses, Charles R. Beck, H. Ed Bray, C. V. Logan, E. T. Booth, Wilbur R. Wilbur, Roy M. Abernathy, W. M. Beardon, W. W. Bateman, Charles H.

Authorized
Stromberg-Carlson
Dealers

Duffee-Freeman
FURNITURE OF CHARACTER
Broad at Hunter

"There Is Nothing Finer Than a Stromberg"
COCHRAN-RADIO
Authorized Stromberg-Carlson Dealer
9 Auburn Avenue

Improves rapidly

All Stromberg-Carlson A.C. receivers
May be used to Play Records

TWO FIELDS of enjoyment are available with these new instruments. Radio with the celebrated Stromberg-Carlson tone brought to even greater excellence—Recorded music with a new quality which comes from passing the record output through the superlative audio system of the Receiver and the Cone Speaker.

To play records with an A.C. Stromberg-Carlson you merely need to equip your standard phonograph with a Stromberg-Carlson magnetic pick-up device and plug into a jack provided in the Receiver.

Stromberg-Carlson A.C. Receivers take all "A," "B" and "C" voltages direct from the house lighting circuit. No batteries, no liquids, no bother. One lamp socket or base-board connection delivers correct power in unfailing supply.

[The Stromberg-Carlson plan of convenience] terms of payment is ready. Ask your dealer

Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y.

Southern Representative
Scoville Mercantile Company
609 Rhodes Bldg., Atlanta

Stromberg-Carlson
Makers of voice transmission and voice reception apparatus for more than 30 years

Atlanta's Only Exclusive
Authorized
STROMBERG-CARLSON
DEALERS

Fulton Bros.
Electric Company
MERCHANDISERS OF QUALITY PRODUCTS

133-135 Peachtree Arcade

Full And Accurate Program Information

RADIO IN THE HOME

Conducted by
Will Smith

BETHEL SINGERS ON SROEBUCK HOUR WEDNESDAY

A two-part program is announced by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation for next Wednesday night, starting at 6:30 o'clock with a half-hour dinner concert by the Bethel Singers, instrumentalists. Sharing the broadcast until 7:20 with the orchestra unit, the prominent Atlanta vocal team, Floyd and Bernice Jennings, will present a program of light operatic and semi-classical numbers. "Forty Minutes of Negro Spirituals" will be the second and concluding part of the program. A double quartet from Big Bethel choir, number one, will sing favorite spirituals in ensemble and single male and female quartets.

The regular Monday, Wednesday and Friday dinnered R. F. D. club programs will be broadcast from the lower studio between 12 and 1 o'clock. Old time tunes will be played by the team of Dillshaw and Powell, while Mr. Dillshaw, the 7-foot fireman, plans to answer requests for guitar solos and songs with guitar accompaniment. Lawrence Smith, tenor, and Eugene Boehm, will favor the audience with a number of popular and semi-classical selections.

Jerrald Olson and Guy Barron, Hawaiian guitar team; Ralph Richardson, baritone, and Nell and Neva Long, radio team are booked for the hour Wednesday noon. Thirty minutes of interesting farm news will be offered between 11:30 and 12 o'clock.

The Sears-Roebuck players, directed by Harry Pomeroy, with vocal numbers by Bruce Waggoner, are featured Friday noon. Mrs. R. F. Wheeler, home adviser of the agricultural foundation, will continue the daily 10 o'clock broadcasts with housekeepers' chats.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH.

Have you taken up the latest radio craze? Of running your phonograph music through the audio end of your radio set.

We have and we are here to state it is a new musical pleasure you do not want to miss. Most of the new radio receivers now on the market are equipped with an electric phonograph pick-up. This Stromberg-Carlson we are using is so equipped.

However, if you have one of the older models you, too, can enjoy this new fad for there are any number of them on the market that can be used with any make of talking machine or radio set.

We had just purchased three new Brunswick records we saw advertised and had played them on our Brunswick Panatropic, thinking there was nothing quite equal to the tone quality of this instrument. It is a most remarkable mechanical reproducing instrument and does give one true tone quality but when we rigged up the Stromberg-Carlson magnetic pick-up and carried the reproduction through our radio receiver we were startled.

It might be wise to let you in on why we bought the three particular records we used in this test Saturday afternoon. In the first place, we bought the latest Nick Lucas record, "Blue Heaven," with "Among My Souvenirs," on the other side, because we are especially fond of Nick Lucas and his own peculiar renditions.

We met Nick Lucas through the courtesy of C. R. Raithe, Eggleston, manager of Keith's Georgia theater, and we visited the studio at WSB while Nick did his little broadcasting stunt here during the summer. Then, Saturday, when we put

Hears Atlanta Station in Icy North

Edward Manley, radio operator of the Morrissey, and the set on which he "cupied" 310 stations in this and many other countries while the Putnam Baffin island expedition was in Fox basin, are shown in the above photograph. Mr. Manley heard signals from amateur station OM, of Atlanta, over this set.

Process in call letters. All time is p. m. unless otherwise indicated.

BELGIUM LONG DISTANCE STATION COST $750,000

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—The new long-distance international radio station of the Belgian government, which has just been installed, cost $750,000, the department of commerce attaches at Brussels reports.

The service is to be commercially known as "Belradio." Its sending and receiving signal is "ORU." It will be operated by the government telephone and telegraph administration. The installation is divided into three parts: The central station, with which the public will deal, located in Brussels; the sending station at Rysselde, and the receiving station at Liedkerke. All traffic will be concentrated at the Brussels central station and will be received and transmitted there, and from there by underground cables to the receiving and sending stations.

New British Transmitter

Chelmsford, Eng., November 26.—A new experimental shortwave transmitter has been built by the British Broadcasting company at Chelmsford, with a view to carrying on experimental work with the American station 2ZAF. It is to transmit on a wave length of 24 meters, and its power will be about 20 kilowatts. The call sign is 5SW.

AEOLIAN COMPANY ANNOUNCES WINNERS

Prize winners in the third week of the national essay contest conducted by the Aeolian company are announced today as follows:

First prize: $100, Charles J. Farnsworth, 3601 Rhode Island avenue, Mt. Ranier, Md.

Five additional prizes of $10 each were awarded to Mrs. Genevieve Stone, 76 Lake Flower avenue, Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Miss Mary J. Walsh, 469 Prospect place, Brooklyn, N. Y.; David Bottomely, 14502 St. Clair avenue, Cleveland, Ohio; Miss Evelyn Reid Jenkins, 230 Christie Heights, Leonia, N. J.; and Ernest C. Sandford, 708 Elton street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The contest may be entered by writing the Aeolian company, Fifth avenue and Fifty-fourth street, New York city, or your local radio station, a letter on "What Music Means in My

NEW ONE-TUBE SET ON MARKET IN ENGLAND

London, November 26.—(AP)—A one-tube radio set, capable of receiving at good loud-speaker strength the local stations up to 20 miles and the two Daventry high-power stations up to 80 miles, is about to be put on the English market.

The set contains no transformer amplifier, and will operate on much less than the usual high and low tension battery supplies. It is extremely simple to tune, and is incapable of self-oscillation.

These results are obtained by the use of a special tube with two grids, two anodes and a filament. It fits into a six-pin base.

Hitherto it has been necessary to employ two tubes for loudspeaker work.

Hopkins Equipment Company

Georgia's Largest Distributors Cunningham Tubes
W. D. W. HOPKINS, President, Atwater Kent Radio
Atlanta, Georgia

We Are Distributors for CUNNINGHAM TUBES
and
STEWART-WARNER RADIOS
STEWART-WARNER PRODUCTS
SERVICE STATION
431 Peachtree St., N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

Cunningham RADIO TUBES

Accuracy

Accuracy in construction means perfection in performance.

Cunningham Radio Tubes catch, hold and reproduce the full range of the musical scale with unvarying accuracy.

Don't use old or inferior tubes with new ones—Use new tubes throughout.

To keep your set at peak performance, re-tube throughout with Cunningham Radio Tubes at least once a year.

Twenty different types—all in the Orange and Blue carton.

F. T. CUNNINGHAM, Inc.
New York Chicago San Francisco

Complete Stocks of
All Types
CUNNINGHAM TUBES
Bremer-Tully & Spanton Receivers

Alexander-Seewald Co.
WHOLESALE RADIO
Atlanta and Jacksonville

WSB PROGRAMS FOR SUNDAY

9:30 a. m. Agassiz Sunday school lesson; 10:15 a. m. First Presbyterian church service; 4:30 p. m. Ray, Crocker-Mason Art orchestra; NBC feature over the national network; 5 p. m. vespers service from the First Methodist church; 6:20 p. m. Capitol Theater program, NBC feature over the national network; 8 p. m. David Lawrence on network; 8:15 p. m. Atwater Kent concert, NBC feature over the national network.

FEATURE PROGRAMS ON AIR SUNDAY

1:00 p. m.—Roxy Stroll, WJZ, 8 stations.
2:00 p. m.—Young people's conference, WFAF, 7 stations. Symphonic hour, WOR, 15 stations.
3:00 p. m.—Men's conference, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, WFAF, 5 stations. Don Voorhes band, WOR, 15 stations.
4:30 p. m.—Moscow Art orchestra, WFAF, 23 stations.
5:30 p. m.—Weymouth Legion band, WFAF, 11 stations.
6:20 p. m.—Capitol Theater Family, WFAF, 14 stations.
7:15 p. m.—Collier's review, WJZ, 8 stations.
8:00 p. m.—Emerson's Effervescent hour, WOR, 15 stations.
8:15 p. m.—Atwater Kent hour; Editha Fleischer, WFAF, 22 stations.
9:00 p. m.—Columbia Intimate hour, WOR, 14 stations.
9:15 p. m.—Don Amizio, The Wizard, WPZ, 4 stations.

CHILE TO MAINTAIN POLICY ON COPPER

Santiago, Chile, November 26.—(AP)—The Chilean government, it was intimated today by the minister of finance, Pablo Ramirez, does not intend to change its policy with regard to copper. This was in reply to a declaration made by William Braden, founder of the Braden Copper company, that American copper companies in Chile might be obliged to close down their mines owing to alleged discriminatory measures by the Chilean government.

Braden, who is in Santiago in an attempt to settle various difficulties with the government, declared today that his statement as to the possible closing down of the mines, was made with the authorization of the directors of the various companies, and he emphasized that it was not a threat, but merely a prediction of what might happen if the government continued its policy of special taxation against American concerns.

He alluded to the recently enacted special tax on copper production in Chile which, he continued, was so arranged that only the three American concerns operating here—the Braden Copper company, the Chile Exploration company and the Andes Copper Mining company—are affected. He also spoke of the national coal industry protection bill designed by the government, and now pending final action by congress, which would obligate American concerns to use coal in their mining operations, coal purchased exclusively in Chile.

ROAD BUILDING URGED IN PLANS FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—Construction of highways suitable to withstand emergency conditions in the future should be included in the flood relief plans to be submitted to congress for the Mississippi valley, J. Barton Weeks, president of the American Motorists' association, declared today. He called attention to the fact that the independence of highways in flood disasters.

Relief measures would have fallen entirely flat in the delta regions last spring had not the highways already constructed been available, he asserted. Highways of a type of construction suitable to withstand like emergencies in the future should be built in strategic locations so as to be of maximum value in the distressed areas, he said.

Quake Recorded.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—A heavy earthquake disturbance was recorded on the Georgetown university seismograph, beginning at 8:04 a. m. today and lasting for more than two hours. Director Tamm placed its center at a point approximately 4,300 miles from Washington, but the direction was not determined. He remarked that it was the 18th earthquake recorded on his instruments in two weeks, which was an unusual record.

Wednesday . . . Last Day!

Unusual Prices, Terms and Premium on

ATWATER KENT RADIO

If you haven't purchased your radio . . . then there are just three more days in which to take advantage of our completely-installed prices, our special low down-payments, terms and premium. Come by one of our stores tomorrow. Ask for a demonstration!

ATWATER KENT—MODEL 35
RED LION DESK CABINET—NO. 35

$28.50 BALANCE IN
Down 12 MONTHS

This handsome desk cabinet combines the qualities of utility and luxury. It is built to house only the Model 35 . . . yet, there's room enough for writing materials, papers and books. Speaker Unit built-in. Complete for battery operation, $141.10.

ATWATER KENT—MODEL 35
RED LION DESK CABINET—E

$37.00 BALANCE IN
Down 12 MONTHS

Here, indeed, is as remarkable a piece of household equipment as you could desire . . . containing ATWATER KENT's finest set—the 33, and their best speaker, the Model E. It brings radio programs to your home . . . clearly, tonefully, easily. The desk itself will please the most fastidious homemaker. Complete, ready for operation, $184.20.

ATWATER KENT—MODEL 35
MODEL H SPEAKER

$22.50 BALANCE IN
Down 12 MONTHS

The pioneer set in the One Dial field. Is built into a brown crystalline cabinet. Small enough, light enough, to fit most anywhere. Its six tubes give surprising power. Priced at $111.10, including all batteries and tubes.

free!

With the purchase of any radio receiving set before Thursday we will give one of the new "Art-craft" Radio Lamps. Twisted metal rods in many colors, parchment shades in three different designs!

GEORGIA POWER COMPANY

This Company will not wrong anyone intentionally—if by chance it commit a wrong it will right it voluntarily.

The Big Ten teams had their share of unknown or untried youngsters who started toward probable stardom. Laurel wreaths were hung over Veach, after he came through the first line, but the next year, when Purdue lost to Chicago, 7-6, Veach went from here to "zoat." Heumbled and Chicago made a touch-plays by quick work. Zupke uncovered three backfield men, all youngsters, who carried the bulk of Illinois' defense. They are Fritz Humbert, Freddie Walker and Judy.

Arthur Huston, of Ohio State, flashed as a brilliant open field runner early in the season, but afterquitted himself nobly this season, is Charles "Buck" Weaver, a 250-pound giant, who throws his bulk around as a Huston, of Michigan; Hovde, of Minnesota, and Glasgow and Bignatelli at Iowa, are other Big Ten youngsters who made more or less brilliant records this season.

ROOMS AND BOARD

Rooms, Garages, Orchards, Etc.

Three unfurnished rooms, bath, phone. $40.00.

Cafes and Restaurants 71

BILL COFFEY SHOP.
C. F. M. TO 11 P. M.
ROBBERIES. The North Prince, comfortable apartment weekly rates, $1 and business people.

—Rooms and Board 73

First room, connecting back, modern, two ladies; de Leon-Merritt; male; two ladies; gentlemen, Walnut 1900.

ESTATE FOR RENT

—Apartments Furnished 74

194-Room, kitchenette, $10, room, shower, $20. Hemlock

VIRGINIA SECTION—Two rooms electric heat, garage. Hemlock

Four rooms, bath, $28; two rooms, $20. West 2643.

four-room apartment in best section, attractive price, Hemlock furnished apartments, bungalows, G. G. Gatzert, 228 E. S. West 6040-W.

3 rooms, bath, heat; garage, $100 month; may be seen at 1000, Apt. 42, or call Brittain 2-5915.

Entertainment hotel, but nearly a nicely furnished apartment month or year. West oak cabbage, $20 per ton. Hunt-tenants, 1779 Central Bldg., Road, people will give two meals to a family who care for good food and well served, $25 per month and board. De Leon section-94.

Five rooms, 3 rooms, front porch, dining room, $87.50. Hemlock two rooms, $20 to $45. Highland Hemlock 4040.

SO A ROOM NEWLY FURNISHED. Corner Bldg., Best-Class in Every Way. REGISTRATION. RENTAL $30 AND $112.92. BEST VALUE IN ANY CITY ON PERMITS THE PORTLAND HOTEL. WALKER'S PHONE WALNUT 2313.

rooms, kitchenette, everything facing park, $30. Main 5837-W.

no nice girls or couple to share apartment. Call Hemlock 7200 or 6-6.

defined business apt. to share with one couple. Call Hemlock 7200 or 6-6.

General small apartments suitable in the city for a few months.

apartment, also 2-room, conveniences Hemlock 3563-J. 207 Highland NEAVE AVE. Decatur, well furnished room apartment for two people. Call Hemlock 3563-J.

DE LEON—Three-room steam apartment, nicely furnished, apartment 7200.

N 3 connecting rooms, private with owner. Walnut 0660.

PACIFICHEE—Well heated 2 or 3 room apartment, all new conveniences. Hemlock 0873-W.

DE LEON—Five rooms, front, mahogany furniture, linen, silver, etc. 7200.

Apartments Unfurnished 74A

COURT—Corner Piedmont and 5 rooms, conveniences, newly papered, references, reasonable. Hemlock 3132.

PARK—Three rooms and kitchen-conveniences. Call owner, N.W.

Brand-new apartment, 3 rooms, bath and garage, Apple 114

DKE—Five rooms, newly decorated, hot water furnished. GEORGE.

APT.—Five rooms, very known as 1650. Call owner, N.E.

WAT—Six-Six rooms, steam, Walnut 3729, Sundays D'Arbora

HFUL—Room and sleeping Moreland, N. E.; reduced $35; 2 weeks free rent. Owner, N.W.

T FOR RENT—Phone Walnut L & John O. Druse.

APARTMENTS.

one—1115 Ponca de Leon across 510 Ponca de Leon avenue. Call owner, 1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

one—1228 Ponca de Leon Avenue. J. J. Jackson, 1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

court—430 Boulevard, N. E. Call owner, 1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

properties listed above range in size from 7 rooms. We can show them at once.

M. GRANT COMPANY. Walnut 1600.

IDEAL APARTMENT. In electric refrigerator, best location in city. Hemlock 3563-J.

kitchen, five rooms, steam heat, electric range. GEORGE.

Y of 6 rooms, nicely decorated, features—Fitzhugh de Leon heated apartments, four rooms, or heat. 906 Washington St.

RITMERS—Fitzhugh Knox & Co. Building. Apartment 5047, 233 Street.

chamber in bungalow, heat, water, 619 Irving Ave., near apartment, second floor, in air-building. Owner lives on adjacent street, right next first-Ponca de Leon. Call Walnut 3 call Hemlock 3163.

halves of duplex houses. West room apartment, private bath, etc. Call West 3100-W.

natural rooms, 2nd floor, family bathroom, $22.50. Walnut 5620.

room apartment for business center, overlooking, $35 month, including utilities, 2nd floor after 6.

four rooms, steam heat, janitor, room. 706 Piedmont avenue, N. E. Hemlock 3563-J.

one or five rooms, apartments, modernized, $12 to $30. Dr. Neal, Windsor, Rawmond.

three room furnished apartment, Brighton street.

duple, near Ford plant, Steam-Bright, best location; also modern convenience. Walnut five rooms, porches, garages, etc. Call owner, 1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

FLEET STREET, FIREPROOF

apartment building we are offering special prices like kitchenette apartment consisting of large living room with dressing room and bath, kitchen, store, etc.; best north wide residential apt. Call owner on 1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

THURGOOD KNOX & SONS

1779 Central Bldg., Room 194.

WASHINGTON—Three rooms, $19, $18, $17, three rooms, $20, $19, $18.

SCENT—Four-room, upper, both balconies, $10. West 2643.

ILE AVE.—Four-room apartment, and cold water, janitor.

ILE AVE.—Four-room apartment, and cold water, janitor.

CLIFF PLACE—Grand-new, three-room apartment consisting rooms, living room, dining room, bathroom, to car line neighborhood. Hemlock 2837.

ILE AVE.—Four-room upper duplicate entrance, partly heated, $4.

OMONT—Apartment 11, four rooms, steam heat, new built, call Hemlock 3563-J. any Monday.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

Peachtree Road Lot
SUITABLE for business or residence.
100x200, at $45.00 per foot. Sure to advance in value. Call Pinkney Hall.

B. M. Grant Company
Grant Bldg. WAl. 1606

JUST off North Side Drive, south of North avenue, two-story house, four bedrooms and two baths. Out-of-town owner has cut the price to $4,500. Easy terms. Call Mr. Jones,
Walnut 0636.

RANKIN-WHITTEN REALTY COMPANY

FLORIDA SACRIFICE

IDEAL country estate consisting of 20 acres, between Tampa and Lakeland, on highway. Five acres of lake frontage, good fishing, hunting and boating. The lodge has an enormous sleeping porch surrounded by beautiful large oak trees. Five acres cleared and fenced ideal citrus land. This is a forced sale and can be bought for $1,500. Call Jones,
Walnut 0636.

M. & T.

$11,500 Peachtree Road, S. room, two-story house;
lot 100x150. A bargain.

MADDOX & TISINGER

WAl. 8362 1200 Chandler Bldg.

OXFORD ROAD

IN BRICK HILL, on car line, at Peachtree and Oxford roads, two-story brick bungalow, two baths, corner lot, large front porch, side drive and garage. House beautifully arranged and extra well built, large front lot. If you are here, look at it. Price $11,500. Terms arranged. Call
Mr. Evans, Walnut 1531.

J. H. EWING & SONS
REALTORS

NORTH BOULEVARD
PARK

ON one of the best streets, handy to Piedmont Park and good school, several acres of brick bungalow, side
drive and garage. House beautifully arranged and extra well built, large front lot with large driveway. This is one of the most attractive bungalows in the city. Price $10,000. Terms arranged. Don't miss seeing this place.

J. H. EWING & SONS
REALTORS

OWN YOUR HOME &
PETERS PARK

BEAUTIFUL, elevated lots, corner W. Fifth St. and Kount Ave.
We will assist you in planning and erection of your home.

PETERS LAND CO.

610-11 Peters Bldg.

NORTH SIDE

WE are offering for one week at a reduced price of $2,000, a two-story brick, well arranged with all modern conveniences. On a large lot, beautiful grove; it will pay you to call Mr. Addy, Geneva 8300-W, or

B. M. Grant Co.

Grant Bldg. WAl. 1600

$20,000

Near Peachtree Road, in Brookwood Hills, we have for sale one of the most attractive new brick houses. It found, eight rooms, breakfast room, sun parlor, tile roof, tile bath, beautifully arranged. The interior decorations are exquisite. The location will meet with the approval of the most exacting. Terms easy.

$17,500

Antler Park, two-story brick home, tile roof, nine rooms, two sleeping porches, one bathroom and tile on first floor. This home is worth the price. It is located near Peachtree street also. Terms

RALPH B. MARTIN CO.

Atlanta Trust Bldg. WAl. 0027

ANSLEY PARK OPPORTUNITY

NEVER before offered for sale. On Peachtree Circle, level lot, 65x250, brick home.
Four bedrooms, two baths, 3 sleeping porches, servant's rooms and bath. Owner has taken apartment and will sell for less than $20,000 though worth much more. Call Mr.
Royer, HE. 3012, or

B. M. Grant Co.

Exclusive Agents

EXCHANGES

BRICK STORES—Near
Peachtree, good corner.
Substantial tenants. Rental value $4,200 per annum. Has loan $15,000, runs 4 years. Price reasonable. Will consider good class unimproved property in trade.

14 Double Houses and
One Brick Store

GOOD renting section, always rented. Income $500 per month. Has loan $15,000, run 4 years.
Priced right. Will consider trade for vacant property, residence lots or apartment site.

ATLANTA TRUST COMPANY

Realtors

WAl. 3770
Real Estate Dept.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

SUNRISE HOME In Druid Hills
IDEAL site with southeast ex-posure, on which there is a new cream brick, owner-built house of eight spacious rooms, including large breakfast room. This house has two all-the-bath, vapor heat, three large bedrooms, sun room, tile porch and terrace. Double garage. Affords a magnificent outlook summer and winter. Located in fast-developing finery section with every convenience and protection for home-making. Price $12,500 with $2,500 cash.
No loan. Shown by appointment with Faggett, Walnut 1531.

J. H. EWING & SONS
REALTORS

A REAL BARGAIN

RIGHT at Druid Hills, practically new seven-room brick bungalow;
every convenience, oak floors, breakfast room, large recent basement, side drive and garage. House extra well constructed and beautifully arranged. Fine home-owning neighborhood, nice lot with shrubbery. Thener's low four $2400. Owner leaving city and anxious to sell at once and has given us a ridiculously low price
of $8,100. Terms $1,500 cash. We recommend this. For full information and appointment call Walnut 1531.

J. H. EWING & SONS
REALTORS

A SELECTED LIST OF GOOD VALUES

$13,000 Druid Hills, S. e. v. a. steam heat, tile roof, modern built in feature, beautifully decorated, every convenience, side drive and garage. House extra well constructed and beautifully arranged. Fine home-owning neighborhood, nice lot with shrubbery. Thener's low four $2400. Owner leaving city and anxious to sell at once and
has given us a ridiculously low price
of $8,100. Terms $1,500 cash. We recommend this. For full information and appointment call Walnut
1531.

$9,500

Brookwood Hills, in this community of charming houses a very attractive brick bungalow, three bedrooms, two tile baths, every modern built in feature, beautifully decorated throughout.

$7,500

Virginia avenue section, at 3000, three bedrooms, tile porch, furnace heat, large front porch and tile terrace, corner lot, both streets paved,
$7,500 $350 cash. Morningstar
Bldg. 111-117 Ivy St.

$7,500

Three bedrooms, tile bath, furnace heat, front lot, two blocks car line, corner street, modern throughout,
paved walls, hardwood floors, level
east front lot.

$5,500

East Atlanta, New brick, hardwood floors, tile bath, large lot, back yard all paved, corner lot, school, and stores.

$5,250

Kirkwood section, near Cliff Park, very grounds and school; very attractive five room brick, modern built in feature, all modern conveniences, beautiful shaded lot, 200 feet deep.
111-117 Ivy St. call the people who have bought from us.

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS

76-78 Pryor St., N. E. WAl. 6338

Automotive

Whitehall Chevrolet
Company

331 Whitehall St.
Forsyth

The Big Used Car
Bargain Lot

1926 Chevrolet Coach... $450

1925 Chevrolet Coach... 350

1926 Ford Touring... 200

1926 Ford Coupe... 350

1926 Chevrolet Touring 325

1924 Ford Coupe... 195

1926 Ford 2-door Sedan 350

1925 Chevrolet Roadster 320

1926 Ford 2-door Sedan 350

1926 Chevrolet Coupe... 375

1926 Ford Coupe... 275

Whitehall Chevrolet
Company

Used Car Lot
Junction Whitehall and Forsyth Sts.

SPECIALS
for
MONDAY

1923 Essex Touring... $ 50

1924 Ford Touring... 100

1925 Essex Coach... 250

'57" Cadillac Sedan... 250

1923 Hupmobile Roadster... 150

1922 Overland Coupe... 100

1922 Dodge touring... 100

1924 Dodge coupe... 275

1924 Ford coupe... 125

1926 Ford touring... 225

1926 Ford Roadster... 200

1922 Willys-Knight 7-pass. sedan... 175

1923 Essex "4" coach... 100

1925 Buick master "6"
7-pass. touring... 350

1923 LaFayette sedan... 400

1924 Durant touring... 175

MANY OTHER exceptional values to select from.

Open Evenings Easy Terms

Thompson-Cauthorn
Motor Co.

Phone Walnut 9252 9253
477-485 Peachtree St.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

$12,500—Steam-heated duplex, 6 rooms each, first-class
North Side location. Leased to good tenants. Loan $6,500, 6 per cent.
Want quick action. Call Mr. Reeves or Mr. McKinnon.

$27,500—If you want to buy some stores that are leased and that are well located, at the right price because owner needs money to finish another project with small loan on same. Owner will consider taking small piece of property.
Call Mr. Reeves or Mr. McKinnon.

CUMBERLAND REALTY
& LOAN CO.

Wynne-Claughton Bldg. WAl. 2550.

Lower Prices
On High-Grade
USED CARS

A big value... $1,450

1921 Lincoln Sport Touring, 5-pass. Lot of extras, A-1... 850

1923 Lincoln Touring, extra good... 575

1925 Cadillac 2-door Sedan, 5-pass., in extra good condition.
New Duo... 1,095

1923 Cadillac 5-pass. A good one... 500

1923 Packard 6 Sedan, A type, left car, 24
type, balloon tires, etc... 675

1923 Packard 7-pass. Sedan... 475

1927 Chrysler 70 Royal
Sedan, late model,
used very little... 1,375

1927 Chrysler 70
Brougham, run 3-
000 miles, like new... 1,350

1927 Chrysler 60 Sport
Roadster... 775

1925 Chrysler 70 Royal
Coupe, Rumble seat,
new Duo... 685

1926 Chrysler 70 Sedan,
Trunk and extras... 895

1926 Buick Master, 4
Brougham, New color Duo, A nice car, SPECIAL... 995

1926 Nash Adv. 6 2-door
Sedan... 695

1926 Hudson Brougham,
Big value... 675

1926 Studebaker Std. 6
4-door Sedan, late model, New Duo... 775

1926 Overland 6 Coach,
Had good care... 445

1926 Dodge Touring... 395

1926 Dodge Sedan... 600

1926 Pontiac Coach... 600

1926 Nash 2-dr. Sedan... 800

1926 Nash 4-dr. Sedan... 675

1926 Hudson Coach... 500

1926 Dodge Coupe... 475

1926 Essex "6" Coach... 250

1926 Essex "6" Coach... 150

1926 Essex "6" Coach... 350

1926 Hudson Sedan... 595

1926 Hudson Sedan... 295

1926 Dodge Sedan... 300

1926 Star Sedan... 110

1926 Star Touring... 350

1926 Buick Master Rdstr... 875

1926 Franklin Sedan... 550

1924 Oakland 6-54 Rdstr... 300

1926 Pontiac Coach... 600

1927 Chrysler Coach... 950

1927 Paige Sedan... 450

1927 Chalmers Touring... 75

1927 Reo "6" Sedan... 550

1927 Hupmobile Sedan... 250

1927 Essex "4" Roadster... 100

1927 Ford Coupe... 275

1927 Ford Touring... 95

1927 Ford Touring... 175

1927 Ford Tudor... 295

1927 Willys-Knight Sedan... 850

1927 Standard "6" Duplex... 475

1927 Standard "6" Duplex... 300

1927 Special "6" Sedan... 350

1927 Light "6" Coach... 250

1927 Light "6" Sedan... 350

1927 Light "6" Touring... 300

1927 Special "6" Spt. Trg... 375

1927 Special "6" Coach... 500

1927 Special "6" Coach... 550

1927 Standard "6" Sedan... 800

1927 Big "6" Brougham... 1,250

Others to Select From
TERMS AND TRADES
YARBROUGH-MENTZER CO.
Walnut 2899

Goldsmith-Becker

'27 CHRYSLER "60"
Coupe... $ 975

'27 NASH Adv. Sedan... 875

'27 CHEVROLET Sedan... 600

'26 CHEVROLET Sedan... 525

'26 DODGE Sport
Roadster... 500

'27 HUDSON Sedan... 1,350

'28 HUDSON
Brougham... 1,550

'27 ESSEX Sedan... 850

'27 ESSEX Coach... 775

'26 OAKLAND Sport
Roadster... 675

'27 HUDSON
Brougham... 750

'26 HUDSON
Brougham... 850

'26 ESSEX Coach... 300

'26 ESSEX Coach... 375

'26 ESSEX Coach... 175

'25 ESSEX Coach... 275

'24 FRANKLIN Touring... 300

'25 HUDSON Sedan... 600

'25 HUDSON Coach... 550

'23 ESSEX "4" Touring... 75

'23 HUDSON Sedan... 175

'25 HUDSON Speedster... 450

'26 FORD Coupe... 285

'23 DURANT Touring... 75

'24 OLDSMOBILE
Touring... 50

'25 OLDSMOBILE Sedan... 375

'23 DODGE Truck... 100

'24 NASH Touring... 250

'23 NASH Touring... 125

'23 HUPMOBILE
Touring... 150

'24 MAXWELL Duplex... 350

'24 STUDEBAKER
Coach... 275

'24 STUDEBAKER
Touring... 150

'26 WHIPPET Coupe... 450

5 ESSEX Coaches
$75 to $375

Goldsmith-Becker
230 Spring St.
236 Peachtree St.
Walnut 8718

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Automotive

D. C. Black

Buick Motor Cars

We Guarantee Used Cars
in Writing

Terms: 1-3 to 40% Cash
Balance in 12 Months

'27 BUICK Std. coupe... $ 850

'25 BUICK Std. coupe... 575

'25 BUICK Master coupe... 750

'26 BUICK Master sedan... 950

'25 BUICK Std. coupe... 775

'24 BUICK "6" sedan... 650

'25 BUICK "6" sedan... 450

'25 BUICK Std. coupe... 350

'27 BUICK Std. coupe... 950

'26 BUICK Master coupe... 875

'26 BUICK Std. coupe... 750

'25 BUICK Master coupe... 675

'25 BUICK Std. coupe... 650

'23 BUICK "4" coupe... 250

'25 BUICK Master road... 550

'25 BUICK Std. coupe... 475

'25 BUICK Master coupe... 950

'25 BUICK "6" touring... 375

'23 BUICK "6" touring... 275

'24 CHALMERS coach... 275

'23 HANSON sedan... 150

'24 STUDEBAKER Tg... 150

'26 STUDEBAKER Rm... 675

'26 NASH Adv. 6 2-door
Sedan... 7

THE CONSTITUTION'S REAL ESTATE REVIEW

CONDUCTED IN THE INTEREST OF DEVELOPMENT OF ATLANTA AND THE SOUTH

Large Atlanta Delegation To Greet State Realtors

From all indications, the Atlanta real estate board will be well represented at the seventh annual convention of the Georgia Real Estate association to be held at Savannah Friday and Saturday, December 3 and 4. Dana Belser, president of the local organization, stated Saturday.

Plans already have been made by the attendance committee to see that those going to Atlanta enjoy themselves, have every convenience and accommodation while on the trip. Harry H. Hallman, chairman, announced.

Hotel, railroad and Pullman reservations have been made for Dana Belser, H. H. Hallman, P. C. Owens, Ward Wright, G. F. Willis, Dave Knight, John J. Thompson, R. W. Evans, A. B. Cates, W. P. Walther and others. The convention headquarters for the Atlanta delegation will be at the DeSoto hotel.

From advance reports, very capable speakers have been secured to discuss important real estate topics at the meetings. Among the speakers will be G. F. Willis, who will discuss subdivisions; A. B. Cates, who will discuss selling business property; W. W. Rose, of Orlando, Fla., and other important real estate men throughout the south.

All members of the board who intend to be at the convention are requested to notify the office of the board, 205 Healey building, at once, so that all reservations can be made.

The Atlanta delegation will leave by special Pullman, Central of Georgia railroad, at 9:30 Thursday night, December 3, arriving in Savannah Friday morning and staying over Friday and Saturday. A large number will return Sunday night, arriving in Atlanta Monday morning.

The Georgia Real Estate association is composed of eight or nine real estate boards in the state of Georgia, having a total membership of over 300. Local associations and the National Association of Real Estate Boards are associated to carry out a constructive program for the good of the profession.

A. M. Wilcox, chairman of the entertainment committee, announces that plans have been made to extend to the visiting men an entertaining time and from the interest manifested by other boards, it appears that a large number will be at Savannah from each of the local boards in the state.

Activity in the Pace's Ferry road section was featured in real estate announcements for the past week. Weyman and Connors sold for Mrs. Annie C. Christian to Mrs. M. L. Johnson a two-story brick residence on a lot 100 by 300 feet on Pace's Ferry road near Andrews drive. The consideration was $25,000.

The same agency reported the sale of 768 South Pryor street to a client for $10,000, and also ten lots and two houses in Cascade heights.

INJUNCTION READ IN PLACE OF ROLE OF LATE KAISER

Berlin, November 26. (AP)—Instead of Emperor William II of Germany, one of the dramatists of the communist theater, occupied the stage beside Carl Nicholas, of Russia, and Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria at last night's performance of "Rasputin."

In compliance with the former Kaiser's demand an injunction has been issued against Edwin Piscator, director of the theater, ordering the elimination of the mimic Kaiser from the drama. The injunction was read at the performance by the dramatist and the laughter of the audience frequently interrupted the reading.

The injunction set forth that, since Carl Nicholas was pictured as a bigoted, spineless fool and the Austrian emperor, the mimic Kaiser from the dramatist's evidently intended to represent William II in a similarly derogatory manner.

$100 Reward. Tallahassee, Fla., November 26. (AP)—A reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the slaying of W. P. Smith, Davenport, Fla., filling station proprietor, last September has been offered today by Governor Martin.

I don't see no mystery about Coolidge saying he don't choose to run, advised Cash Miller, chief store philosopher. According to his dope, no guy ever has to run to win a one-man race. Even in a cowboy's suit and a horse. Coolidge's favorite suit is a walk. Thrift Magazine.

F. P. & Geo. J. Morris Open Office In West End; Charles Babb Manager

West End branch office of F. P. & Geo. J. Morris opening Monday under management of Charles Babb (shown in insert). The real estate brokerage office, which will be complete in every function, is located in commodious quarters at 1380 Gordon street.

After three and a half years of constant expansion, witnessing development of F. P. & Geo. J. Morris into one of Atlanta's leading and most complete real estate firms, the organization has just completed plans to take what promises to be its greatest forward step to date.

Opening on Monday morning, a fully equipped and modern real estate brokerage office will be maintained at 1380 Gordon street, as the West End branch office of the Morris company.

Every feature of a ranking real estate brokerage will be comprised in the new branch office, with the additional advantages of specialization and convenient location.

Charles Babb will manage the office. That is, sufficient assurance to residents of West End, by whom Mr. Babb is well known and highly regarded for his integrity and knowledge of property possibilities, that a new era of real estate activity will be inaugurated with opening of the branch.

Mr. Babb has lived in West End for more than 20 years. During this time he bought and sold West End property with regularity and notable success. Many of these transactions were in his own behalf. Mr. Babb being an ardent believer in and booster of the section with a practical view of its development. He has prophesied the great development of West End, has observed the steady fulfillment of his prophecy and has taken advantage of it. All the knowledge derived from this experience, a wide realization of property values and trends and an insight into the section's development, are being brought by him to the Morris office.

The Morris firm is familiar with Mr. Babb, having had him connected with it for nearly a year. When decision to open the branch office in West End was made, only one man suggested himself as best fitted for the position, and he was sought with success and mutual satisfaction. In his work, Mr. Babb will be assisted by a complete sales staff and office force.

The West End branch of F. P. & Geo. J. Morris, the first of its kind, will be run independently of the main Morris office on Pryor street. No facility for transacting any function of real estate business will be lacking. It will handle trades, sales, leases, insurance, loans, construction arrangements and other features necessary for an inclusive real estate business. But it will specialize in West End property and real estate activities, including West End proper, Sylvan Hills, College Park, East Point, Capitol View, Adair Park, Hapeville and adjoining sections. Every transaction involving property or building in this territory negotiated by the Morris company will be handled through the West End branch.

Securing to West End residents the greatest convenience obtainable in real

Typical Views of West End Park Near Gordon Street, Revealing Growth of Important Side of Atlanta

Some scenes in West End—"the city within a city" revealing its growth into one of Atlanta's largest and most complete residential sections.

On the upper left-hand corner is seen the Lucile Avenue school, one of the convenient educational facilities; to the right, rearing above a lofty site on Gordon street, is the handsome residence of George A. Campbell, a typical type of West End beauty.

On the lower left-hand corner witness the beautiful Gordon Street Baptist church; the section has many similar edifices for the different denominations. The fast-growing community business center, at the juncture of South Gordon street, Gordon road and Cascade road, just across the street from West End Golf club, is shown to the right.

FRANK E. FLOYD BACK WITH JOHN THOMPSON

Frank E. Floyd has returned to his old connection with John H. Thompson company, where he formerly was a member of the sales force. For some time past Mr. Floyd has been specializing in Druid Hills properties, and in his new connection he will continue to specialize in that section, although he will give his attention also to other Atlanta real estate.

Mr. Floyd has been in the real estate business in Atlanta for over two years and is well posted on residential values here.

W. H. Blair Joins Residential Staff Of Adams-Cates

W. Hoke Blair, well-known figure in real estate circles and active in local transactions for many years, has joined Adams-Cates company as member of the residential sales department. It was announced Saturday by Earle R. Greene, manager of the department.

Mr. Blair's experience in Atlanta real estate has been gained by ten years of intensive work in that field, bringing him a knowledge of property values and technical training of utmost importance to the agent. A close contact with the building trades also has proven a valuable asset to Mr. Blair in residential operations.

Besides his business associations, Mr. Blair is popular in club and lodge groups. His many friends have congratulated him upon his new connections and predict his successful application of the new opportunities.

Identification of Mr. Blair with the residential sales department of Adams-Cates company is heralded as part of the expansion program for that department, intended to make specialization in certain sections of Fulton and DeKalb counties more effective and efficient. Increased activity with prospects for still more important increases is cited as necessitating steady expansion of the sales organization.

Strangles in Crib. Washington, November 26. (AP)—Bette Lorraine Watts, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watts, of Baltimore, strangled to death in her crib at the home of her grandparents early today when she caught her head in the bars of the crib.

J. R. NUTTING CO. CITES ACTIVITY

Activity in the local real estate market is cited by officials of J. R. Nutting & Co. in announcing a number of sales recently consummated. Sales listed below were handled by Mrs. Charles S. Ohear, Jr., of the Nutting organization, who specializes in home properties:

The company sold to Mrs. Lillian Fisch the handsome residence recently built by F. S. Sears at 1733 Ponce de Leon avenue. The consideration was $34,000.

The same agency negotiated the sale of a residence at 43 Howard street, S. E., for J. W. Lide to F. A. Doughman, the consideration being $2,250; and the sale of another fine dwelling at 30 Inman circle, in Ansley Park, to a client from Mrs. Lillian Fisch.

Other sales consummated by the Nutting agency bring their total of recent transactions to more than $100,000, it was announced.

MEXICAN REBELS REPORTED ROUTED

Mexico City, November 26. (AP)—Delayed dispatches to El Universal from the state of Jalisco report that federal troops, under General Ubaldo Garza, routed four hundred rebels, killing their leader, Victoriano Damiano, and about 20 other rebels, and wounding many in a battle last Sunday in the Los Altos region of Jalisco.

Previous government reports had asserted that "Catholic fanatics were up in arms in that territory. The federal casualties were two lieutenants, one sergeant and three privates wounded."

Power Company Adds L. W. Gray To Farm Division

Lenwood W. Gray, well-known Georgian, has been employed by the Georgia Power company to aid in its program of rural electrification. Mr. Gray will have charge of farm investment work, instituted by the company with a view of determining the best means of supplying farm needs.

"With the consolidation of several north and central Georgia companies, the Georgia Power company," said P. S. Arkwright, president, "our power lines now form a network covering virtually the whole of north and central Georgia. It will require some time and much experimental work to inaugurate service of this nature, but we believe it will be a great aid to agriculture when completed."

Mr. Gray has had considerable practical experience as a farmer, and has recently completed a study of rural electrification methods as practiced extensively by the Alabama Power company.

HAITI IS STRICKEN BY WORST STORM

Port Au Prince, Haiti, November 26. (United News).—A quarter of a million Haitians were homeless today after the worst storm in the history of the republic.

Only two deaths had been reported, though damage was great. Nineteen inches of rain fell at Limbe, north Haiti, worst affected part of the 500-square-mile area hit by the storm.

As the floods subsided gradually today, Haitian constabulary moved into the storm area to preserve order. The government rushed aid to the suffering victims.

Communications had been restored late today to all of the storm area except Port De Paix.

WIFE SUES FILM STAR FOR DIVORCE

Los Angeles, November 26. (AP)—Flora Parker De Haven today filed a divorce suit against Carter De Haven, vaudeville and film star, accusing him of being infatuated with Betty Byrd, Hollywood screen actress.

The De Havens were married in 1905 and have three children.

Daley's Alleged Slayer To Face Special Court

Dublin, Ga., November 26. (AP)—Judge R. Earl Camp, of the Dublin circuit, called a special term of the Johnson county superior court this afternoon to convene Monday, December 12, for the purpose of trying Leona Rogers, negress, charged with killing Fred Daley, of Wrightsville, last Sunday night. The negress is now in jail at Macon awaiting trial.

SIGMA PI'S MEETING IS HELD AT EMORY

Emory University, Ga., November 26. (AP)—The chapter of the Sigma Pi fraternity at Emory university is host to the biennial convocation of this province. The program began Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and will continue through Sunday morning.

The convocation will include representatives and alumni from Tulane, Mercer, Auburn, North Carolina State and Emory. T. A. Hatcher, vice archon of the province, will be among the officials.

The convocation began Saturday morning with a business meeting of the provincial organization. During the afternoon the visitors were shown over the Emory campus and Atlanta. Saturday evening the Emory chapter entertained the visitors at a dinner at Hotel Candler at Decatur. After the dinner the most renowned of the fraternity house on Ridgewood drive where they were proffered a smoke and a model initiation by the Emory chapter.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

10-Room Duplex, $9,750

ON SOUTH GORDON ST., less than block from street car, two nice five room apartments, with separate entrances. $1,000 cash, $10 month. Call Dolvin Paschal today. WALSH 4100.

DOLVIN REALTY CO.

WAL. 2385 Candler Bldg.

DRUID-HILLS $13,000

A BEAUTIFUL cream brick home of latest design including three bedrooms, two tile baths, steam heat, cement basement, lot 24 feet front. Terms can be arranged. Call WAL. 1477.

ADAMS-CATES CO. REALTORS

WORTH-WHILE HOMES

$9,850 Near Piedmont Park, brick house, three bedrooms, two baths.

$13,500 Brookwood Hills, brick house, three bedrooms, two baths, each apartment, steam heat. Foreclosure sale.

$15,000 West Peachtree, near Westley, two-story, five-room home, a little over 1/2 acre, wooded lot, 100 ft. wide. WAL. 0156 Flatiron Bldg.

J. R. NUTTING & CO.

Modern Bachelor Apartments

"Bachelor's delight," among apartments operated by Wynne Realty company. This modern structure owned by Wynne represents something new in providing comfort for the "ultra-light housekeepers." It is located at 640 Highland avenue and contains 40 rooms divided into one and two-room units. Plans included the erection of a swimming pool and picture show in the rear.

Ready! With Hundreds of Gifts

For Every Member of the Family!

Cash for Gifts Means Gifts for Less

Make This Store Your Headquarters

Do Your Xmas Shopping Now!

For Her

Hosiery Will Please Her

Full fashioned pure thread silk from top in toe and to welt. All colors. $1.00

Our famous "Hil-son No. 760" chif- fon hose in all col- ors. Reinforced at heel and toe. $1.45

Pointed and square heels in all the leading shades. Full fashioned. $1.29

Full fashioned, sheer, color-ful chif- fons in a com- plete range of col- ors. $1.95

Shop Now!

Kerchiefs, Ever Acceptable!

A large assortment of women's novelty handkerchiefs packed in attractive boxes. 39c

Attractively pack- ed 3 to the box. All the new de- signs and color- ings. 59c

Novelty designs and borders in col- ors and plains. Special—box for 48c

Pure linen ker-chiefs with hem- stitched and lace borders. Very low at— 98c

For Her

A Bag For Every Purpose

All leather hand- bags in a large as- sortment of shapes and colors. $1.95

Famous "Whiting and Davis" mesh bags in the newest styles. Special $2.95

Genuine leather in underarm and pouch styles. Very special at— $2.95

Every desired shape, color and combination in all the new leathers. $4.95

Shop Now!

Lovely!—Yet Inexpensive!

Elaborately lace trimmed teddies in lovely pastel shades. Sizes 36 to 44. $1.95

Pure silk gowns in lace-trimmed and tailored styles. Sizes 36 to 44. $4.49

New crepe de chine dance sets in beau- tiful lace-trimmed styles. Sizes 32 to 38. $2.95

Crepe de chine pa- jamas in assorted pastel shades. Sizes 36 to 44. Special at— $5.95

40-in. $1.95

Flat Crepe
Heavy quality Washable Flat Crepe in all colors. Give her a dress length!

$1.48

Chiffon Taffeta

Beautiful quality 36-in. Chif- fon Taffeta in many colors.

$1.00

Rayon Spreads

Regular size 81x105 extra fine Rayon Spreads in assorted colors.

$2.95

Rayon Spreads

Regular $4.95 seamless bol- ster size 81x105 Spreads in beautiful designs.

$3.95

Men's Slippers

Men's Moroccan Bedroom Slip- pers. Priced decidedly low!

$1.49

Men's Everetts

Brown Kid Everetts with leather soles and rubber heels.

$2.95

Men's Felts

Good quality Felts in grey and brown. All sizes.

85c

Lunch Sets

Size 49x49 in. beautiful Linen Cloth with 4 napkins to match. Set for—

$1.48

Towel Sets

Two large Turkish Towels with bath mat to match. Set for—

$1.98

$5.00 Part Wool Blankets

Big fluffy block plaids in as- sorted colors. Sateen bound.

$3.49

For Her Xmas Coats & Dresses

The Coats The Dresses

What would be more acceptable than a lovely coat? All the newest styles, colors and materials. Expertly tailored and lux- uriously trimmed. Very low priced at only—

$22.50

A most unusual variety of lovely styles, colors and combinations. Fashioned of flat crepe, canton and crepe satin—One and two-piece and straight line models. Sizes 14 to 52½

$8.90

Gifts for Him

Blanket Robes

Heavy blanket robes with shawl collars. Nicely made. All colors. $2.95

—3 initialed Hdkfs., Boxed, 48c
—Linen and fancy rayon Hdkfs., Each, 48c
—Famous Cheney Silk ties, 95c
—Cut silk ties, Boxed, 48c
—Cut silk, wool lined ties, 98c

Bath Robe Sets

Beautiful silk trimmed blan- ket robes with slippers. 1 to match. Set for $4.95

—Knit and cut silk ties, 79c
—Initialed Hdkfs., 3 to box, 98c
—Cheney's Silk scarfs, 98c
—Cowhide bride belts, 98c
—Fancy dress socks, boxed, 48c

Fine Shirts

Imported broad cloth shirts of the better kind. Plain white and novelties, all sizes. $1.69

Men's Kid Gloves

Dress and driving gloves in light and dark colors. Nicely lined. $1.75

Don't Forget the Boy!

Cut Silk Ties Br'dcloth Shirts
Many pretty pat- terns and colors— special at 48c 95c

Play Suits

—Football suits, $2.95
—Police suits, $3.45
—Indian suits, $4.48
—Cowboy suits, $3.95
—Hoot Gibson suits, $5.95

SCOUT GLOVES

Knit gloves, leather gauntlets 25c

KID GLOVES

Well made, nicely lined, 89c

KERCHIEFS

Women striped, colored, beaded. 10c

Gifts from our Basement

CONVENIENTLY LISTED

—Boxed towel sets—1 towel, 2 rags. Set for..... 98c
—Boxed pillow cases. Pair for..... 98c
—Linen table cloth and 4 napkins. Set for..... 98c
—Fancy bath mats. Each..... 98c
—Fancy damask table cloths..... 98c
—Pure linen table cloths..... $1.25
—81x105 scalloped bed-spreads..... $1.98
—81x105 Rayon silk spreads..... $2.95
—81x105 silk bolster spreads..... $3.95
—Lad Lassie cut out doll, FREE with each purchase!

Children's Sweater Sets

Cap and Slip-over Sweater in rose, capen and tan. Sizes 8 to 14 years. Set for—

$2.95

Children's Bath Robes

Blanket robes in assorted col- ors. Ribbon and silk cord trimmed. Sizes 8 to 14.

$1.95

Sweater Sets

All wool suits consisting of sweater, cap and leggings. Pretty colors. Sizes 22 and 24.

$3.95

Quilted Silk Robes

Beautiful robes in pastel and dark colors. Cord and side tie styles. 36 to 44.

$8.95

Corduroy Robes

Made of wide wale corduroy in plain and embossed styles. All colors.

$1.98

Women's Felts

Good quality felts in sev- eral pretty colors. Pom- pom trimmed.

59c

Suede Boudoirs

Fine quality suede boudoir slippers in assorted colors. Special at—

$1.00

Fancy Boxed Stationery

Nicely boxed stationery in at- tractive colors. Specially priced at—

59c

Large size box, fine grade sta- tionery. Modestly priced! Per box—

98c

81x105 Silk Rayon Spreads

Extra special! Bolster silk rayon spreads in rose, blue, green, lavender.

$2.79

For Her

Smart Gloves for Lovely Hands

Women's and Misses' novelty fabric gloves with turn-back cuffs. All colors. 59c

Usually $2.95 to $3.95 kid gloves in all desired styles and colors. $1.95

Shop Now!

Gifts That Win Her Heart

Set consisting of toilet water, tal- cum, face powder and soap in saten- lined boxes. $2.50

Perfume, toilet wa- ter and compact set with choice of rouge or lipstick. $5.00

Toilet water and compact set. At- tractively boxed. Specially priced at $3.50

Beautiful sets con- sisting of perfume, toilet water, com- pact and lipstick. $7.95

For Her

For Lovers of Art Work

Large assortment of scarfs, buffet sets, centers and vanity sets. Val- ues up to 60c at— 48c

Good quality, full bed size spreads, stamped on good unbleached domes- tic. $1.00

Hand embroidered 5-piece Luncheon Sets in beautiful designs. Set for $1.48

Choice of picture frames, velvet and tapestry table run- ners and novelty sofa pillows. $1.00

Shop Now!

Umbrellas for Rain or Shine

Women's fine qual- ity Gloria umbrel- las in serviceable colors. Special at— $1.95

Women's silk um- brellas with novel- ty handles. A very appropriate gift! $3.95

Gloria umbrellas in a good assortment of colors. Durably made! $2.95

Many pretty colors and combinations in fine quality pure silk umbrel- las at— $4.95

Stoddard Tells Story of Southern Tour of Jefferson Davis in Spring of 1886

Henry L. Stoddard, outstanding American journalist, for many years editor of The New York Mail, and probably more intimate in white house association for the past 50 years than any living American newspaperman, has just published through Harper & Brothers, of New York, a book on which he has been working for several years.

The title of this most interesting work is "As I Knew Them—Presidents and Politics from Grant to Coolidge." It is a large volume and every page is full of interest. It is the memoirs of a man who has had access to the white house during the administration of every president from Grant to Coolidge. It is a compilation of reminiscences of Washington life and of national politics that is of great historic value and yet so interestingly told as to impart to it the fascinating quality of fiction. It grasps the reader's attention from beginning to end, and every chapter is replete with his own information.

It is a story of scenes "behind the curtains" of every administration since the civil war, and yet so told as to be without offense, unless as the truth offends.

Mr. Stoddard deals intimately with personal reminiscences of every president of a half century period, giving many heretofore unpublished incidents which bear directly upon the history of our country.

It is a volume that would make a valuable contribution to every American library, and in our public libraries it offers the public a rare opportunity to get a delightful insight into many most interesting incidents and chapters of the careers of the presidents who have been most prominent identified with the political history of our country for the period covered in the scope of this delightful work.

Mr. Stoddard's reminiscences are not confined to Washington, but to the sphere of the great national political conventions. He deals with outstanding Americans of the country over, and as an illustration of the far reach of his personal experience, one of the most interesting chapters in his book is that which tells of his being with Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, on his last southern tour to speak at the unveiling of the statue of Senator Ben Hill in Atlanta in the spring of 1881.

At this event Mr. Stoddard says: (From Henry L. Stoddard's New Book of Reminiscences.) "Two newspapermen are still living who accompanied Jefferson Davis, on his last tour of the south in May, 1880. They are Clark Howell, Sr., editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and Henry L. Stoddard, long-time editor of the New York Evening Mail. Howell is still in harness. Stoddard has just finished writing his recollections of 50 years of his profession. He has embodied these memories in his book, 'As I Knew Them.' From Grant to Coolidge, which will be published by Harper & Bros. November 15. It devotes an entire chapter to Jefferson Davis, and gives a pathetic voice of an eighty-year-old man, still living in the past.

The unveiling of a statue to Senator Ben Hill in Atlanta was made the occasion of Davis' farewell tour. Stoddard writes:

"The former president of the Southern Confederacy traveled in a special train from his home at Montpelier, Miss., to Savannah, stopping at several cities to be greeted by old comrades. Nearly all the chiefs of the army boarded that train at different stations, and remained for a time.

"I doubt whether there ever was such a meeting of men who had fought and lost together—certainly not with so many mothers, wives and daughters of intense emotion present. It was a reunion as well as a farewell. Two beautiful daughters of the south—Miss Winnie Davis and Miss Fannie Gordon—were of the immediate party.

"How vividly I can remember Davis standing on the portico of the state capitol in Montgomery, Ala., that portico on which he had stood twenty-five years before, when inaugurated president of the Confederate States of America. I have witnessed many stirring scenes since then, but none that moved me more deeply. Tears of intense emotion came to thousands that thronged the capitol steps and the wide avenue extending far away—much as Pennsylvania avenue at Washington leads from the national capitol.

"Old gray uniforms had been taken from trunk and garret, tattered with war, stained with the grime of battle and blood, to cover once more the waning forms of veterans of that 'lost cause.' It was the last occasion so many were to be seen upon those old uniforms in battle. And then we were not too far from war's passions, as to be beyond their thrilling influence. The sight of their old president opened floodgates of precious memories.

Speech in Montgomery. Stoddard gives the following interesting extract from Davis' speech at Montgomery, Ala.: "I am standing now very nearly on the spot where I stood when I took the oath of office in 1862. Your demonstration now exceeds that which welcomed me then. I felt as I came here that I was coming to my home—coming to my land where liberty died and serious sentiments will live forever.

"Associated here with so many memories—thrilling and tender—I feel that it were dangerous for me to attempt to speak to you as my heart would prompt me. Not that I am always treasuring bitterness against anyone, but I am overflowing with love and admiration for our people.

"We have no desire to feed the fires of sectional hate, while we do not seek to avoid whatever responsibility attaches to our belief in the rightness of our cause and the virtue of those who risked their lives to defend it.

"Alabama having resumed her place in the Union, I feel that I have all obligations devolving upon all good citizens, seeking to restore the general government to its pristine purity, and, as best you may, to promote the welfare and happiness of your common country.

"I was not the only one who heard and noticed that Davis said 'your country, not our country.' "At the old Exchange hotel, Davis was given the rooms he had occupied as president before going to Richmond. When he entered them the evening of his arrival the women not only of Montgomery but of all Alabama gathered on the balcony outside and showered him with flowers, until his rooms were literally carpeted with roses. I never saw so many flowers so much real feeling accompanying them.

His Visit to Atlanta. "The same scene was repeated wherever we stopped. At Atlanta, every one of importance in the state—greatly outnumbered by the army—greeted James Longstreet and John B. Gordon, in their gray uniforms, on horseback, escorting Jefferson Davis to the Ben Hill statue. It was a wild, wild scene. Davis, in his old military uniform, was escorted by Captain Evan P. Howell, father of my friend Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution. Henry Grant, who was Davis' aide, and Captain Howell, made the most of that stirring spectacle. Davis spoke briefly, closing with these words:

"My friends, these are the days of peace for us, but I feel faithful to those who were in war. "At Savannah, the Savannah Light Artillery laid down a heavy barrage of southern hospitality which instantly put the organization in sharp competition with the Antients and Hopewells of Boston, so famous as genial hosts to the former president. The luster of their renown.

Davis, at that time, the eighties, was a feeble man. On the train between two stops he would rest on a couch, in what was then called a drawing room. In turn, one after another would sit beside the couch and talk with the old man. This gave me an opportunity to speak with him several times.

"With the eagerness and indiscretion of a youthful correspondent I longed to ask him the great question, whether he would not like to say something that would bridge the last gap between North and South, and make us one people as well as others, to the citizenship they had abandoned.

"Twelve years later Congress unanimously passed a bill doing what President McKinley signed. It was a bill to restore to the states that some well-considered word from Davis while on that farewell tour might have advanced that unifying spirit.

"It seemed to me unfortunate that any former citizen, particularly one born on our soil, should be hearing his grave as a man without a country. I tracked my brain to find some discreet way of approach to the subject, but there was none less obvious than the frank and pointed question. It was never asked.

"Nevertheless, I was sure that a man who in younger years had made a good record in Mexico as a soldier for his country; who had been secretary of war in his nation's government; who had been president of the United States, must have something deep in his heart, that he would like to say to a reunited nation: must feel that he would like to die a citizen of it—must feel that a word from him, twenty years after the event, might, by revealing the convictions that stirred him to the course he pursued, modify the tone of history and possibly stir the opinions of his time.

"If only a way could be found for such a word without misunderstanding." "More than once I sat by his side hoping to find that way. The desire for 'news' was strong in me but there was something I did not know what, stronger still, which silenced me as I looked upon the frail and fading figure.

ATLANTA'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS

What They Are Doing—What They Are Trying To Do

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on the Atlanta public schools, written under the direction of the Personnel Association of Atlanta. They are published with the general public on the school work, from kindergarten to high school.)

Entering the Schools.

Almost every day some new family moves into Atlanta, and a new child settles down. And if there are children in the family, there's one problem to be settled first of all—how long the child will be in the new home and the milk man told how many quarts to leave.

"Where shall my children go to school? How far is it? When must they be there? How do we enroll them?"

Those are only a few of the questions asked, not only by newcomers but by every family with a child in school or growing old enough to enter next year.

Naturally, in a city of Atlanta's size, entering a child in school isn't simply a matter of filling his lunch basket and sending him down to the schoolhouse on the opening day. The magnitude of Atlanta's school system demands a certain amount of "red tape," but there isn't much of it, and it is not too onerous.

There must be regulations as to age and health and place of residence. Sometimes a child cannot attend the school nearest his home because that school has become overcrowded. But at least two things may be assured: a place will be found for him, and he will be given every chance in the world to gain an education.

May Enter at Any Time.

One point ought to be very simple, as the time for entering school is any time. The registration books at the administration building are open the year round. To be sure, the best time is at the beginning of a term.

Children, however, are not kept in the school because someone says it is "too late to enter." The procedure in enrolling children is simplified as much as possible. There are no elaborate health and residential regulations. There are four general requirements.

The first is that the child fulfill the minimum age. These are: for children five years of age or within two weeks after the opening of the school term; second, that children who have never been in school at all may not enter the first grade after school has been going on one month. These children may enter kindergarten, however, at any time during the year.

The second requirement is that the child be successfully vaccinated. This may be attested either by a certificate of successful vaccination signed by an Atlanta physician or by taking the child to the administration building. Children who have not been vaccinated successfully may be vaccinated at the health department at the city hall or by any other physician. Children need not wait for a vaccination "to take," but may enter school on a temporary ticket, provided a doctor's certificate is presented to the effect that the child has been vaccinated "this day." In two instances only are children exempt from the requirement.

That was all that remained unrequited of a great conflict. He died, five years later, as he had lived.

Davis, the Statesman. "In spite of his years there was something about Davis that made him stand out. He showed the manner, way and mind of a man talented for government. All the south turned out to greet him. The cordiality of his old comrades, the respect and honor that he was a man apart, even from them, and to hold himself as one from the outside looking in. He asked about many men and sections of the south; it may be that he inquired about men and affairs north of the Mason and Dixon line; if he did I never heard of it.

"Evidently he had blotted that section of the country out of mind—at least in conversation. "While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"Every persuasion was used to have Davis extend his trip to Richmond. He refused. He had no desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

"While he denied that he was bitter, he surely had unpleasant recollections that still controlled him. The world of his activities was a closed book; he wanted none of it. He refused to let his desire to visit the old capital of the Confederacy. Yet in Richmond his body has its last resting place; there the silence of the tomb is only answer to the question I could not bring myself to ask the chief of the lost cause."

requirement of vaccination. One is a certificate to the effect that the child has had smallpox, and the other is a certificate signed by two Atlanta physicians or by the city health department that the condition of the child is such that vaccination at this time would be injurious to the child's health.

Must Secure Tickets. The third general requirement is that the child secure a ticket of admission. During the summer months this ticket may be procured at the administration building, 165 Walker street, S. W. During the school term children entering the elementary grades may get their tickets at their nearest school where there is room.

If there is no room in the nearest school for the child the principal will either take the child to the administration building to get his ticket or telephone the administration building to find out what school the child may enter.

The fourth requirement is that one or both of the parents of the child be bona fide residents of the city of Atlanta. Exceptions to this rule may be made where guardianship or adoption papers are presented or where the sworn proof is presented that the parents have completely and permanently surrendered their parental control to a resident of the city of Atlanta and that such parental control has been assumed by a resident and that such resident has assumed permanently the burden of responsibility and support of said child and that the residence of said child is, in point of fact, in the city of Atlanta. Children of parents who are temporarily residing outside of the city of Atlanta but who are continuing to maintain their residence inside the city may be admitted to our schools. In case of doubt a poll tax certificate or certificate of voting registration may be submitted as proof of residence.

High School Tickets. Junior, and senior high school students, who are students of the seventh through the twelfth grades, inclusive, obtain tickets at the administration building before entering school. High school tickets are granted at the school. Children presenting creditable report cards from other school systems are given a trial in the same grade. Every effort is made to allow the pupil to continue his or her work where he or she left off at the other school. The school department has in this way reversed the idea that a child coming from another school system automatically goes back a grade.

The school term of 180 days or nine months is divided into two semesters of 90 days each. Each semester is subdivided into two quarters of 45 days each. Reports concerning the progress of the child are filed at the end of each quarter. Children are promoted rapidly as they show evidence of proficiency.

Promotions or adjustments within the school or between schools are very much simplified since the city furnishes text-books free to the pupils. Children withdrawing from the school are given a certificate of completion and secure a withdrawal card which enables them to enter another school.

The aspect of the town had changed little in the past century. That the film company known as Cinemascope of Paris was able to use the exact location indicated by Victor Hugo in his novel, this was a great privilege. The motion picture makers' permission to remove the few visible objects which betrayed the twentieth century. These were supplanted by antiques. With painstaking care the minutest details were gone over and the streets gradually transformed until they appeared exactly as they did in 1830. The French film people had plenty of time. They were thorough if they were anything.

Makeup Realistic. A striking example of the unchanging customs in this part of France was furnished during the making of this film. When Gabriel Gaborio, playing the role of Jean Valjean, the convict, was observed by some peasants as he strolled away from the set, wearing his make-up. It is not surprising that these unprofessional eyes failed to detect the make-up, for Gaborio is conceded to be quite an artist in this line. It would, however, be remarkable if one were to meet anywhere in the United States a man wearing the same clothes that might have been seen a hundred years ago, without suspecting something queer.

On the day following Gaborio's peaceful stroll the French police were much agitated by the receipt of a telegram reading: "Individual of suspicious appearance looking like escaped convict has been seen on the beach in the neighborhood of Nice. Send expert detective at once."

Two detectives were immediately dispatched to the scene but on their arrival there found that the mysterious personage had gone without leaving a trace.

The residents on the riverbank were asked if they could supply any information as to the wanted individual but they were unable to help. He appeared to have vanished like smoke!

The detectives' faces lengthened noticeably from day to day until one morning they were seen coming out of one of the principal hotels of Nice wearing a slightly ironical smile. Making for the nearest postoffice one of them wrote the following message: "To the headquarter, 'Sister in division looking like escaped convict is artist Gabriel Gaborio who is playing for Universal-Film de France the role of Jean Valjean in 'Les Misérables.'"

Continued 1:00—11:00 P. M. Matinee 2:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30. Loges Reserved.

KEITH ALBEE GEORGIA

3:00—6:30—9:00 P. M.

Laugh Hit of the Season

ARKANSAW TRAVELERS

Weaver Brothers and Elviry

The Original Handsaw Musicians

Eline and Wheeler

Comedy

Carleton and Ballew

Songs

Prince Tokio

Famous Japanese Artist

Mr. & Mrs. Orville Stamm & Co.

The Perfectly Formed Couple

Pick O' the Pictures

Daily at 1:15, 4:30, 7:30, 10

Gene Stratton Porter's

The HARVESTER

The greatest novel by America's great authoress comes triumphantly to the screen!

Get a "Granny" Moreland Thimble Free to the Attending Matrons to See "THE HARVESTER"

Pathé News

At the Smaller Theaters

Scenes from attractions at the smaller theaters this week, are from left to right, Behr Daniels in "Children's Children" at Alamo No. 2 theater; Mary Pickford in "Sparrows" at the Tenth Street; "Mcadden's Flats" at the West End; Pat O'Malley in "The Slave" at the Madison; Clara Bow in "Hula" at the Ponce de Leon; Esther Ralston in "Ten Modern Commandments" at the Palace; and Ranger in "Breed of Courage" at the Tudor.

THOROUGHNESS IS AIM OF FRENCH PRODUCERS

"Cosette, run down to the spring and fetch a pail of water," ordered Madame Thénardier.

That was in 1830, the period of Victor Hugo's novel, "Les Misérables," which comes as a super picture to the Capitol theater soon.

Almost a century has passed away since cruel Marquis Thénardier compelled the frail child to do a man's work in Hugo's immortal story. The old town of Montfermeil is about the same as it was then.

Most of the film people had plenty of time. They were thorough if they were anything.

The aspect of the town had changed little in the past century. That the film company known as Cinemascope of Paris was able to use the exact location indicated by Victor Hugo in his novel, this was a great privilege.

The motion picture makers' permission to remove the few visible objects which betrayed the twentieth century. These were supplanted by antiques.

With painstaking care the minutest details were gone over and the streets gradually transformed until they appeared exactly as they did in 1830. The French film people had plenty of time. They were thorough if they were anything.

Makeup Realistic. A striking example of the unchanging customs in this part of France was furnished during the making of this film. When Gabriel Gaborio, playing the role of Jean Valjean, the convict, was observed by some peasants as he strolled away from the set, wearing his make-up. It is not surprising that these unprofessional eyes failed to detect the make-up, for Gaborio is conceded to be quite an artist in this line.

It would, however, be remarkable if one were to meet anywhere in the United States a man wearing the same clothes that might have been seen a hundred years ago, without suspecting something queer.

On the day following Gaborio's peaceful stroll the French police were much agitated by the receipt of a telegram reading: "Individual of suspicious appearance looking like escaped convict has been seen on the beach in the neighborhood of Nice. Send expert detective at once."

Two detectives were immediately dispatched to the scene but on their arrival there found that the mysterious personage had gone without leaving a trace.

The residents on the riverbank were asked if they could supply any information as to the wanted individual but they were unable to help. He appeared to have vanished like smoke!

The detectives' faces lengthened noticeably from day to day until one morning they were seen coming out of one of the principal hotels of Nice wearing a slightly ironical smile.

Making for the nearest postoffice one of them wrote the following message: "To the headquarter, 'Sister in division looking like escaped convict is artist Gabriel Gaborio who is playing for Universal-Film de France the role of Jean Valjean in 'Les Misérables.'"

Continued 1:00—11:00 P. M. Matinee 2:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30. Loges Reserved.

KEITH ALBEE GEORGIA

3:00—6:30—9:00 P. M.

Laugh Hit of the Season

ARKANSAW TRAVELERS

Weaver Brothers and Elviry

The Original Handsaw Musicians

Eline and Wheeler

Comedy

Carleton and Ballew

Songs

Prince Tokio

Famous Japanese Artist

Mr. & Mrs. Orville Stamm & Co.

The Perfectly Formed Couple

Pick O' the Pictures

Daily at 1:15, 4:30, 7:30, 10

Gene Stratton Porter's

The HARVESTER

The greatest novel by America's great authoress comes triumphantly to the screen!

Get a "Granny" Moreland Thimble Free to the Attending Matrons to See "THE HARVESTER"

Pathé News

Clever Little Light Comedy Is Current Forsyth Vehicle

Bringing a new and refreshing type of play to the stock-lover of Atlanta, the Forsyth Players present this week "Enter Madame," one of the most unique and pleasing vehicles that an American audience has ever enthusiastically approved.

In "Enter Madame," local theatergoers are assured of the most delectable form of entertainment presented with the usual standard of excellence of the Forsyth group.

"Enter Madame" tells the story of a very famous and very much-petted opera diva who makes of her associates, her husband and her family a bunch of servants to serve her every whim. In addition to this, the diva quite palpably neglects her lawfully wedded spouse.

Not that she dashes off with another specimen of the masculine type—oh, no, the play is much too original to permit that. But she does dash off on a particularly long engagement with her opera company, and during her absence, she finds that she has quite a number of duties, besides the dog and other mental duties, decides to investigate other bits of femininity.

He finds one of these particularly clinging-vine sort of women who makes him feel about two degrees heavier than a heavyweight champion.

And so time flies. Or tempus fugit. When the thoroughly famous young wife returns to her husband's bed and board, she finds that alas! no longer does the meek hubby submit to her every trivial wish. No, sir! he won't even bathe the canine. And what in the world can you do with a husband like that?

Photoplay News

CONDUCTED BY LORENZO JONES JR.

Clara Bow's Latest, "Get Your Man," Heads Howard Bill

Bringing Clara Bow to the screen for her fourth starring picture with Paramount, "Get Your Man" comes to the Howard theater tomorrow. The madcap flapper of the screen, whose brilliant work in "Dancing Mothers," "Mantrap" and "Kid Boots" brought her to stardom for "It," "Rough House Rosie" and "Hula," has in her latest picture the same sort of role which won her laurels in her former parts.

The locale of the story is France, where Miss Bow is an American tourist endeavoring to see Parisian life alone. There she meets a young Frenchman (Charles Rogers) and is forced to remain all night with him in a wayward museum when the doors are locked by the night watchman who believes the place to be empty.

Here, in the midst of mechanical figures which execute famous historical events such as coronations, murders, lynchings and imprisonments, the two fall in love, but not until they have encountered numerous thrilling experiences with the grotesque models. The complications are increased when it is learned that the boy has been engaged for 17 years to a girl he does not love. The remainder of the picture is a series of comical situations in which Miss Bow tries to break down the French betrothal tradition.

Charles Rogers, appeared at the Howard recently with Mary Pickford in "My Best Girl," and he is considered to be one of the screen's most promising leading men. He was with Miss Bow in "Wings," in which he achieved outstanding success.

On the stage Al Short and his Melody Boys present the Dublin stage show, "Trip to Mars," with the following entertainers: The world-famous Loomis twins (held over another week because of the tremendous hit made by them in "Kiddies Follies"); Doris Rue (from Clyde Gilmour, formerly dancer); Shirley Louise Marshall (prima donna); Grifflin (comic); and Ted Claire (celestial steppers).

YESTERDAY'S BOY STAR IN LOEW FILM CLASSIC

Wesley Barry, Now Young Man, Featured in Star Role.

The classic old melodrama, "In Old Kentucky," with its glamour of romance, its stirring war scenes and its great race track events will be the feature picture offering at Loew's Grand theater this week. The screen version of this melodrama has turned out to be one of the big feature pictures of the year. It is a John M. Stahl classic with James Murray and Helene Costello in leading roles.

Wesley Barry, whose freckles and ability to act in juvenile roles at one time made him the most famous child actor on the American screen, will make his film comeback in the famous racing melodrama, "In Old Kentucky," which John M. Stahl has just directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with James Murray and Helene Costello in the featured romantic roles.

Barry, who has now passed the "awkward age" which usually removes

NATALIE KINGSTON STAR OF KEITH FILM

Set in charming scenes of natural beauty, a stirring, powerful story of love is unfolded in "The Harvester," feature picture at the Georgia this week. "The Harvester" was written by the late Gene Stratton-Porter, and was the best known of her works. It was photographed on her Indiana estate at Lamberlost Cabin, her famous home.

Orcille Caldwell, as "The Harvester," and Natalie Kingston, in the role of Ruth, his dream girl, star in the presentation.

"The Harvester" finds Ruth, his dream girl, in distress, and endeavors to help her. She is struggling to pay a debt to a young doctor who has ministered to her family in time of need by selling ginseng. "The Harvester," a ginseng grower himself, is accused by her of stealing her plans, but she sees her mistake after his explanation. Their association brings from him a declaration of love and proposal of marriage after he wins her uncle in a fight over the girl, who is her uncle's ward.

Finding that his young wife does not respond to his love, after their marriage, he learns that she is conscience-stricken and in despair over failure to keep her promise to marry the young doctor who had aided her uncle in a fight over the girl, who is her uncle's ward.

Ruth becomes desperately ill and the young doctor, in a noble gesture of sacrifice, called by "The Harvester" to attend her, because he thinks she loves the doctor, comes to their home and the fight for her life is joined. Ruth recovers and re-enters the life of the doctor, who she sees the young doctor kissing her nurse.

After her recovery "The Harvester" sends her to stay with wealthy grandparents when he discovers that Ruth has in another deed of self-sacrifice. While with her relatives, Ruth realizes the death of her husband's love and devotion; is restored and renewed by it, and rushes to join him.

Another fight film will be at the Rialto theater this week, according to the schedule released yesterday by Manager W. T. Murray, but it is practically certain this will not be subject to seizure by the federal authorities.

It is "The Main Event," a motion picture starring Vera Reynolds and Rudolph Schildkraut, and is featured by a fight scene, with Charles Delaney and Robert Armstrong, the fighters, that is said to rival the movies of the recent Dempsey-Tunney fight, which were seized from the Rialto by Louis Crawford, department of justice agent.

"The Main Event" will be on the Rialto screen Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The first half of the week the Rialto will present the movie version of the famous old Shubert opera, "The Last Waltz." It is a German film and the members of the cast were chosen from the best to be found in Europe, selected by discriminating Paramount directors. Mile. Suzy Vernon, well-known in French film, and Willy Fritsch, Berlin matinee idol, are the leading characters in "The Last Waltz."

The scene in which the hero has one hour to live before his sentence of execution is to be carried out, is said to be one of the most tense dramatic moments of all the recent foreign-made photoplays.

Two Jimmy Adams comedies will be shown at the Rialto this week, "No Sparking" will go along with "The Last Waltz" the first three days of the week and "Oh, Mummy," will be screened with "The Main Event" the latter half.

James Murray, who has the featured male role in the production, recently appeared opposite Eleanor Boardman in King Vidor's big 12-reel special, "The Crowd." Because of his great interpretation of the role of "John Simms" in that picture he was named the male lead in "In Old Kentucky."

Alamo No. 1.

Jack Hoxie will star in "The Fighting Three" at the Alamo No. 1 Monday and Tuesday. Tense, dramatic action that carries a punch in every foot of film—that's what you'll find in this action picture of a love-sick cowboy who wins an inheritance for a beautiful show girl, and fights her way into her heart by blood-thirsting heroism.

Yakima Canutt in "The Strange Rider" cuts loose in some more of his cowboy stunts on Wednesday and Thursday. Also "The Isle of Sunken Gold" will be shown with a good comedy. The lightest picture you ever saw will be shown Friday and Saturday. Budie Roosevelt, who is noted

ON THE SCREEN

The loving little scene on the upper left is from "The Last Waltz" at the Rialto theater this week. Next is a scene from "Old Kentucky" at Loew's Grand. Natalie Kingston in "The Harvester" on the upper right is the Keith's Georgia film. On the lower left is a scene from "A Man's Past" at the Capitol theater this week. The big scene is from "A Lady of Whims," in which the peppy Clara Bow is starred at the Metropolitan. Next is a scene from "Get Your Man," in which Clara Bow is also starred and which will be shown at the Howard theater.

VERA REYNOLDS STARS FIGHT FILM AT RIALTO

Another fight film will be at the Rialto theater this week, according to the schedule released yesterday by Manager W. T. Murray, but it is practically certain this will not be subject to seizure by the federal authorities.

It is "The Main Event," a motion picture starring Vera Reynolds and Rudolph Schildkraut, and is featured by a fight scene, with Charles Delaney and Robert Armstrong, the fighters, that is said to rival the movies of the recent Dempsey-Tunney fight, which were seized from the Rialto by Louis Crawford, department of justice agent.

"The Main Event" will be on the Rialto screen Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The first half of the week the Rialto will present the movie version of the famous old Shubert opera, "The Last Waltz." It is a German film and the members of the cast were chosen from the best to be found in Europe, selected by discriminating Paramount directors. Mile. Suzy Vernon, well-known in French film, and Willy Fritsch, Berlin matinee idol, are the leading characters in "The Last Waltz."

The scene in which the hero has one hour to live before his sentence of execution is to be carried out, is said to be one of the most tense dramatic moments of all the recent foreign-made photoplays.

Two Jimmy Adams comedies will be shown at the Rialto this week, "No Sparking" will go along with "The Last Waltz" the first three days of the week and "Oh, Mummy," will be screened with "The Main Event" the latter half.

James Murray, who has the featured male role in the production, recently appeared opposite Eleanor Boardman in King Vidor's big 12-reel special, "The Crowd." Because of his great interpretation of the role of "John Simms" in that picture he was named the male lead in "In Old Kentucky."

Alamo No. 1.

Jack Hoxie will star in "The Fighting Three" at the Alamo No. 1 Monday and Tuesday. Tense, dramatic action that carries a punch in every foot of film—that's what you'll find in this action picture of a love-sick cowboy who wins an inheritance for a beautiful show girl, and fights her way into her heart by blood-thirsting heroism.

Yakima Canutt in "The Strange Rider" cuts loose in some more of his cowboy stunts on Wednesday and Thursday. Also "The Isle of Sunken Gold" will be shown with a good comedy. The lightest picture you ever saw will be shown Friday and Saturday. Budie Roosevelt, who is noted

By ELMO HAMBY

The current season of stock at the Forsyth has this far, given many excellent things to the drama-lovers of the city. True, there has been a vast amount of comedy, but theaters unfortunately have such things as box offices and players, however talented, must eat and be paid at least occasionally, and audiences just will not sit that 95 per cent of their stage entertainment be composed of comedy.

One of the most polished artists that the Forsyth company has brought to Atlanta is Antonette Revolt, a quite distinguished stock artist who has been given many excellent roles and who has yet to fail to give equal good presentations of them.

As a comedy artist, any one of the number of vehicles of the season may be taken as an example. But she is not pre-eminently a comedy player. Her role in "Rain" demonstrated that statement. I think, better than words, as the minister's wife in that play, she had a role to which the author has given the most widely experienced of the entire cast.

Stanley Andrews is another of whom the highest in stock honors may be awarded with justice. Without him, a very great cavity in the line-up of let mention be made of what is unquestionably the film drama treat of the year, "Les Misérables," playing this week at the Capitol theater. Produced by the French division of Universal Pictures, this film depends not upon the fame and prominence of some great American star, but upon its own sheer gripping and tragic story for its audience approval.

Victor Hugo has already given "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" to the screen, and which, coupled with the talents of Lon Chaney, scored both a financial and dramatic success throughout the country. "Les Misérables," should repeat.

At any rate, if you care for my personal recommendation, be sure and see "Les Misérables."

THE AMATEUR DRAMA.

Local amateur drama, with the absence of Fred Stewart, who is now assistant director of a stock company in West Virginia, has fallen back into the inactive obscurity which characterized it before the advent of that thoroughly brilliant young thespian.

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

Tudor.

The Tudor opens the week with the picture of the James Oliver Currier story, "The Old Code," which tells a dramatic tale of the north, and of two men, one a half-breed, in strong rivalry for the love of a girl. Unable to come to an agreement, they decide to settle it by the old code, a method of battle followed by the northlanders for years, and in so doing furnish a musical number of thrills. On Wednesday and Thursday the Tudor offers "Ranger in 'The Breed of Courage,'" in which the dog helps a girl, just returned to her mountain home, to fight off a lawless clan encroaching upon her property. An element of mystery is given the story by the appearance of a mysterious stranger. It is a particularly good story of mountain life and of the heroism of a canine friend.

Friday and Saturday brings back Yakima Canutt in "Wild Horse Country." In it the star appears as a man, full grown, who had searched for the murderer of his father since he was a boy, and upon this search, comes into the adventure of his young life, engaging in a wild horse chase.

Local amateur drama, with the absence of Fred Stewart, who is now assistant director of a stock company in West Virginia, has fallen back into the inactive obscurity which characterized it before the advent of that thoroughly brilliant young thespian.

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

Millions of Fish

Berlin. (P)—For decades to come the fishermen on the North Sea in the region around Bremerhaven must expect but meager catches. Millions of fish have died, many of them weighing as much as eight pounds.

The appalling death rate among fish is an aftermath of the summer floods. It is assumed that much fish was dragged down into the river beds of the streams like the Weser, Geeste, Oste, as the floods subsided. There it rotted and filled the streams with poisonous bacilli.

And finding the man upon whom he had sworn vengeance.

Victims of Floods

Berlin. (P)—For decades to come the fishermen on the North Sea in the region around Bremerhaven must expect but meager catches. Millions of fish have died, many of them weighing as much as eight pounds.

The appalling death rate among fish is an aftermath of the summer floods. It is assumed that much fish was dragged down into the river beds of the streams like the Weser, Geeste, Oste, as the floods subsided. There it rotted and filled the streams with poisonous bacilli.

And finding the man upon whom he had sworn vengeance.

Palace

THEATRE

DIRECTION LUCAS JENKINS

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

"LOVERS"

ALICE TERRY—RAYMOND NAVARRO

WED.—"DON MIKE"

THURSDAY-FRIDAY

"Ten Modern Commandments"

SAT.—"DOWN THE STRETCH"

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

And while we're speaking of drama,

"LES MISÉRABLES."

"MY LADY OF WHIMS" STARS CLARA BOW

"Met's" Second Week at Low Prices Shows Screen's
Biggest Favorite.

Clara Bow, the dashing, irresistible modern girl of the screen, ushers in the Metropolitan's second week under its extraordinary policy, "big pictures, little prices," in a whimsical and lovable comedy, "My Lady of Whims."

The carefree, buoyant "It" girl who captivates at all times, more securely enslaves her admirers in this fascinating and colorful story of what one girl found in the world-famous colony, Greenwich Village. Wild and delightfully bold is Miss Bow as the ultra-modern daughter of the twentieth century who dares to live her own life in the realms of Bohemia rather than in the guiding paths of an anxious and cautious father and sister. Fearing for her safety, her family employs a handsome young soldier of fortune to secretly stand guard over her at all times. There develops a strong romance between the young detective and his charge, until the lady in question discovers he has been hired to protect her. Hilarious moments follow in rapid succession as the alluring miss proceeds to give him a merry chase. "My Lady of Whims" claims a triumphant combination of whimsical amusement, hectic revelry and daring sport of modern youth.

Donald Keith, the hero, and his friend, Lee Moran, score as able comedians. Francis MacDonald, well-known western star lover and villain, and beautiful Carmelita Geraghty are also in the able supporting cast.

In harmony with the swift, fascinating motif of "My Lady of Whims," Enrico Ledes and his orchestra have chosen as the musical theme "Autumn Moon," one of the outstanding waltz hits of the day. Gene Austin's new song ballad, "My Blue Heaven," will be featured as the overture.

Additional colorful highlights on the program are "Jaunt Through Singapore," an entertaining pictorial review, "Fleshy Devils," showing the three fat men of the cinema in one of their merriest numbers, and Metropolitan News and Views.

Beginning last week the Metropolitan inaugurated a new scale of prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. The management reports being highly pleased with the reception given Dolores Costello in "Old San Francisco" under this new policy.

Millions of Fish

Theatre Talk

CONDUCTED BY LORENZO JONES, JR.

'Broadway,' New York Drama Opens Monday at Erlanger

"Broadway," the tense, colorful, stirring drama of New York's night life comes to the Erlanger all this week with matinee on Wednesday and Saturday. This play, produced by Ted Harris and written and directed by Philip Dunne and George Abbott, is the outstanding hit of the past decade in New York. It is now in its second year in that city, another company is in its second season in England, and still a third company has played 22 weeks in Detroit.

So wide is the appeal of the play and so great its popularity that several different units are operating in the United States and five in Europe. In its first 37 weeks at the Broadhurst theater in New York it played to a gross business of $2,000,000, with a net profit to the producers of $2,500,000. It is such hits as "Broadway" that have the layman into the production end of the theater, usually with disastrous results.

A phase of New York's night life that has never been accurately portrayed on our stage is portrayed in "Broadway." The night club flourishes in New York to a greater degree than any other city.

The night club is a product of prohibition, and its backbone is contraband liquor. Constantly under the surveillance of the police these late hour places of entertainment are at once colorful, vivid, novel and picturesque.

"Broadway" has for its locale The Paradise Night club, a place to 20 gay, with a high concert charge, and bad liquor.

Seats for all performances during the week may be had at the Erlanger theater box office, M. Rich & Bros. Co., and Phillips & Green, Piano Co.

NEW MADISON THEATER OFFERS SPLENDID BILL

The Madison Theater in East Atlanta offers a splendid bill of pictures for this week opening with the spectacular James Oliver Curwood novel "The Slave," which contains absolutely the maximum of thrills and entertainment. The masters of "The Slave" as a picture is clearly demonstrated in "The Slave," featuring the "The Secret Studio" featuring the

'Arkansas Travelers' Starring Weaver Bros. Head Keith Program

Georgia patrons will see a bill bulging with mirth, music and good singing this week. Gorgeous and beautiful scenery and some adept, clever juggling also are presented in this bill.

Homecoming wit and novel music are features of the headline bill, "Weaver Brothers and Elvira," reputed to be the funniest "chick" act in vaudeville. Called the original "Arkansas Travelers," they slip over numerous funny songs and songs in their act. Music played by them on ordinary hand saws and the "Arkansas Jazz Banjo" add movement to their novel skit.

Snappy stepping of a bevy of good-looking girl dancers, mirth and music from the next act, "Mr. and Mrs. Nevada Stumm," the perfectly formed couple. Beautiful settings provide appropriate and charming backgrounds for presentations of Gypsy dances and songs. Argentine dances and songs of the beautifully formed Mrs. Stumm.

A pair of musical comedy favorites, Grace Eline and Frank Wheeler, make plenty of fun for the audience in their skit. Much original wit and comedy is presented, with good singing by these two artists.

Spectacular juggling and juggling on his feet, and upside-down dancing feature the presentation of the feats of France Tolin, Nipponese juggler and acrobat. He can do more tricks with his feet, according to his reputation, than most people can do with their hands. More music and singing in "Carleton and Ballew" round out the non-entertainment bill for the week. An excellent pianist and good singers feature this offering.

beautiful Olive Borden is the attraction to be shown on Tuesday only. This picture shows the beautiful Olive as a model who goes from artist to artist and it makes a thoroughly entertaining story. Another Curwood story, "The Wolf Hunters," will be shown on Wednesday only.

Clara Bow in "Hula" is the big attraction which Manager C. D. Swain has booked for Thursday and Friday of the week. "Hula" is one of Clara's best pictures. Don't miss it. "Three Bad Men" will be shown on Saturday only.

All the little barebacks are to be seen in "Broadway" at Erlanger theater this week. Next is a photograph of Frances Woodbury, distinguished second woman of the Forsyth Players playing at the Forsyth theater. On the top, right, is a scene from "Modena's Fantastic Revue," which is featured on the Pantheas vaudeville bill at the Capitol theater this week. Lower left is a group scene from the "Primrose Minstrels" at Loew's Grand. Thrown in silhouette is either Miss Carlton or Miss Ballew, of that team at Keith's Georgia theater. The six little chorines are the "Girls of Mars," and they're to be seen on the Howard stage.

PRIMROSE MINSTRELS LOEW'S STAGE FEATURE

Four Other Big Acts Will Be on Same Program.

Strike up the band, rattle the tambourine and bones, gentlemen be seated, the famous Primrose minstrels are coming to Atlanta this week and will appear as the headline attraction at Loew's Grand theater as one of the big feature acts of the year under the new "big attraction" policy adopted at this house.

This will mark the 60th anniversary of the Primrose minstrels, originally founded by the beloved George Primrose, world's champion soft shoe dancer. This is not a minstrel act but is a real minstrel show with 25 star performers, a band and orchestra and with such favorites of minstrel as Dan Quinlan, Bob Fisher, John King, "The Inimitable" Wench, the noted Primrose, Harry Breen, Miller and Gerald and Bert Keeling, a whole show in itself.

Every lover of minstrel will instantly recall the graceful Dan Quinlan, one of the greatest interlovers who ever bore the heat of the end men's cross fire. Then there's John King and Bob Fisher, two master foot-tappers, a band and orchestra and with such favorites of minstrel as Dan Quinlan, Bob Fisher, John King, "The Inimitable" Wench, the noted Primrose, Harry Breen, Miller and Gerald and Bert Keeling, a whole show in itself.

In addition to this big product on Loew's Grand will offer four other star acts making one of the biggest vaudeville programs ever sent to the south. Harry Breen, Miller and Gerald, "The Golden Bird," and the charming violinist also appears in this act.

Felix Bernard composer of "Dardanelles" and "The King of Kings," "The Speed King of Songs" will present a song skit entitled "Let's Go." Bernard is a talented musician and singer while Kranz is an able artist in the song field.

The Robbins Trio, "A Whirl, a Twirl and a Girl," will open the bill with a fast skating act.

The big program will be rounded out by the famous melodrama, "In Old Kentucky," directed by John M. Stahl with James Murray and Helene Costello as stars.

GOLD DIGGERS' STORY OPENS AT TENTH STREET

"Husband Hunters," a delicious little story of just what the title sets forth, opens the current week's screen entertainment at the Tenth Street, and a week that may safely be classed as outstanding. "Husband Hunters" is highly entertaining, and it will be shown on Monday and Tuesday.

Milton Sills, the screen's "He-man," of "He-man," is featured in "Franchise," which plays on Wednesday only at the Tenth Street. Mill is seen as a strong, silent man who is framed by his part: and forced to seek the barren diamond fields to escape arrest.

Mary Pickford, the ever-youthful sweetheart of America, will be seen on Thursday and Friday in "Starrows," one of her most recent and most entertaining photoplays. Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor are featured in "Forever After," which will be shown on Saturday.

The bare prison walls facing him. How he eventually wins a complete pardon and the heart of the girl who has stuck by him, is one of the most absorbing tales ever recorded by a camera.

ERLANGER

ALL THIS Starting WEEK Monday
Matinees Wed. and Sat.
ATLANTA'S PLAYHOUSE BEAUTIFUL

JED HARRIS OFFERS THE SENSATION OF AMERICA AND EUROPE

Now Playing
New York Chicago
Philadelphia
Boston

Broadway

PRICES:
Nights: 50c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, $2.75, Including Tax
Matinees Wednesday and Saturday, 50c, 75c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20
SEATS AT BOX OFFICE, AT M. RICH & BROS. AND AT PHILLIPS AND CREW

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ON CAPITOL SLATE

Six glorious singing voices, all recruited from the Metropolitan opera house in New York, as dashing and dainty an adagio ballerina as one could hope to see, and a young woman violinist of rare talent are some of the prominent features of "Modena's Fantastic Revue," which headlines a great program this week at the Capitol theater. On the same bill will be seen "A Man's Past," a thrilling drama, on the screen.

The "Fantastic Revue" is a really exquisite attraction. The voices blend marvelously while the dancing and instrumental numbers are of an exceptionally high order.

Slated to prove one of the greatest hits that an Atlanta vaudeville stage has held this season, Marie MacQuarrie's Harp Ensemble is featured second only to the "Fantastic Revue" at the Capitol theater this week. The Harp Ensemble is one of the most novel and beautiful shows of the day. The personnel includes five harpists, a singer and dancer—all bewitching figures.

FAMOUS LOOMIS TWINS HELD OVER AT HOWARD

The Howard is very much pleased to announce its good fortune in being able to hold over the Loomis twins (Darlings of Songland), for another week.

Virginia and Maxine Loomis headed the bill last week in "Kiddies Follies" and received such a tremendous hand at all performances that it seems safe to say that all who heard them will be delighted to know that these two talented youngsters will be in Atlanta for six days longer.

The Loomis twins have made most remarkable headway for "ten-year-olds." They are both exceedingly beautiful little girls, and they jumped into prominence almost instantaneously several years ago. They are considered the outstanding child performers on the stage today.

They are recording and vitaphone stars. Their vitaphone records are now being shown in Chicago, and they have filled several long engagements with the nationally famous Paul Ash in Chicago.

In May they are to make an extended tour abroad. It can, therefore, be seen that a trip to the Howard this week should be well worth anyone's time—if merely for the purpose of seeing—and hearing—the Loomis twins.

who is sentenced to prison in European dungeons.

MADISON THEATRE
EAST ATLANTA
Monday—"The Slave"
"The Secret Studio"—Tuesday
Wednesday—"The Wolf Hunters"
Thursday and Friday
CLARA BOW in "HULA"
Saturday—"Three Bad Men"

WEST END THEATRE
DIRECTION LUCAS-JENKINS
Monday-Tuesday
"McFADDEN FLATS"
Wednesday
"DON MIKE"
Thursday-Friday
"COLLEGE DAYS"
Saturday
TOM TYLER

ALAMO NO. 2
Monday, REBE DANIELS
"His Children's Children"
TUES. RICHARD BARTHELMLESS
"New Toys"
WED.-THURS. FIRST RUN
"One Increasing Purpose"
FRI. D. W. GRIFITH'S
"The Love Flower"
SATURDAY
RICHARD DIX "ZANE GREY'S
"Call of the Canyon"
10c MATINEE AND NIGHT EXCEPT SATURDAY

'The Old Code'
James Oliver Curwood
WALTER McGRATH
LILLIAN RICH
Wednesday and Thursday
RANGER
"Breed of Courage"
Friday and Saturday
YAKIMA CANNITT
"Wild Horse Canyon"
15c-Matinee 30c-Night

TUDOR

Capitol Shows 'A Man's Past,' Gripping Drama

Honors this week for the finest screen entertainment current in a local theater will be pretty sure to go to "A Man's Past," one of the most unusual and unique pictures that the eye of the camera has ever recorded, and which will be shown all this week at the Capitol theater. In addition to the regular bill of five acts of Pantheas' vaudeville.

Conrad Veidt, the noted and sensational European star, makes his premier American appearance in "A Man's Past," and if we may judge from the laudatory comments of critics from the country over, then his American debut is fully as noteworthy as his notable career in European films.

"A Man's Past" is one of the greatest dramas ever filmed and in addition to Veidt embraces a long list of well known players including Ian Keith, Barbara Bedford, George Siegman, Corliss Palmer and Charles Puffy.

The film is a screen adaptation of the celebrated Hungarian play of the same name, written by Emirik Follies, and deals with a very vital social problem. The prison scenes are accredited with being the most realistic ever pictured, and Veidt's escape from his solitary cell is a most vivid portrayal.

The action starts in the French prison on the Isle of St. Noir, where a once noted physician is serving a ten-year term for taking the law into his own hands and putting to death a patient suffering an incurable disease. The physician escapes to the mainland and is preparing to get out of the country when he finds an old friend who has gone blind. Forfeiting his own desires, he stays with the friend and helps him to do his work. The story builds to a startling climax when the physician is recognized by a prison official and once more sees

STARTING MONDAY FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

LOEW'S GRAND
CONTINUOUS 1 P. M. TO 11 P. M.
60th-ANNIVERSARY EDITION—60th OF THE WORLD FAMOUS

PRIMROSE MINSTRELS
20 MINSTREL FAVORITES 20
INCLUDING

DAN QUINLAN
JOHN KING
BOB FISHER
MALLOY TWINS
MILLER & GIRARD
SMITH SISTERS
and
PRIMROSE SYNCOPATORS

"IN OLD KENTUCKY" WITH Freckled
WESLEY BARRY
HELENE COSTELLO
A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURE

Thrills
Chills
Spills

WHAT A SHOW!

Four Other BIG ACTS including

Harry Breen
THE YUT WITHOUT A GRAIN OF COMMON SENSE.

The Golden Bird
—PRESENTED BY—
Lorraine Evon

Bernard & Kranz
—IN—
"Let's Go"

Robbins Trio
A WHIRL-A TWIRL-A GIRL!

NO INCREASE IN PRICES
Come Early

LEONA LAMAR
—THE MYSTERY GIRL—
Sees All—Knows All—Tells All

COMING NEXT WEEK

CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE

CAPITOL

ATLANTA'S FINEST THEATRE

Tech-Georgia Week

On the Screen

CONRAD VEIDT
in "A MAN'S PAST"
UNIVERSAL PICTURE

From the play "Diploma" by Emirik Follies.

Arthur Edmund Carew, Ian Keith
George Siegmann, Barbara Bedford

On the Stage
Two Great Headliners!
MODENA'S FANTASTIC REVUE
Featuring Bishop and LYNN
and
An Eminent Company of Metropolitan Artists
10- People-10

MARIE MACQUARRIE
HARP ENSEMBLE
With ANNA WELCH, Solo Harpist
7- People-7

TOM KELLY
That Irishman

SHRINER & GREGORY
A Black and Tan Comedy

THE YOUNGERS
A Study in Art

Behind him lay a dread past—before him the horror of discovery. Only in the uncertain present could he snatch the joys of fame and wealth. Packed with breathless suspense, it is a totally unusual picture.

also
THE COLLEGIANS
in "SLIDING HOME"
COMEDY
and
INTERNATIONAL NEWSREEL

PRICES
Matinee 35¢; Night 60¢
Loge seats reserved in advance for any performance
50¢ and 75¢

PONCE DE LEON
AT ROUTE 10
Monday
HAROLD LLOYD in
"GIRL SHY"
Tuesday
LAURA LA PLANTE in
"POKER FACES"
Wednesday
"SERVICE FOR LADIES"
Thursday and Friday
CLARA BOW in
"HULA"
Saturday
"NEVADA"

'The Old Code'
James Oliver Curwood
WALTER McGRATH
LILLIAN RICH
Wednesday and Thursday
RANGER
"Breed of Courage"
Friday and Saturday
YAKIMA CANNITT
"Wild Horse Canyon"
15c-Matinee 30c-Night

TUDOR

THE CONSTITUTION EXPRESS

Boys

Girls

It's Easy

ONLY 3 NEW { Daily and Sunday } SUBSCRIPTIONS NEEDED

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION makes it possible for thousands of boys and girls in Georgia, and especially the city of Atlanta and suburbs, to possess the "Constitution Express."

This smooth-running, balloon-tired COASTER WAGON wins its way into the heart of every child that sees it. It's the dandiest COASTER WAGON ever given away by any newspaper. It has a large-sized hardwood body (16x36 inches) finished with glistening varnish and brilliant paint. Heavy steel bolsters front and rear are extra braced. Silent running roller bearings and extra heavy single disc wheels make this the fastest and handsomest COASTER WAGON that you have ever seen. Tires are solid rubber and are of the full one-inch balloon type.

Strong—Swift—Silent

You cannot surpass this handsome "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagon for strength and durability. No old-fashioned wood bolsters to split and crack — The "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" has bolsters of heavy steel. Wheels have roller bearings, just like the big automobiles, and the full one-inch balloon-type tires make the coaster whiz by almost without a sound.

Read These Instructions:

New subscriptions must be from persons not at present subscribers to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, nor have been for the last thirty days, and must not, directly or indirectly, take the place of someone who is now or has been a recent subscriber.

Such new subscriptions will be acceptable in Atlanta and in any town where The Constitution has a carrier delivery service, provided the new subscriptions are acceptable to the carrier.

CLIP THE COUPON

And bring or mail it today for a Contest Book

MAIL OR BRING THIS
"COASTER WAGON" COUPON
To THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION Office,
Forsyth and Alabama Sts., Atlanta, Ga.,
for
Contestant's SUBSCRIPTION BOOK

Gentlemen:
Deliver or mail to me your COASTER WAGON book for subscription blanks and instructions for securing three new six-month subscriptions to The Daily and Sunday Constitution for the "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," as advertised by you in The Constitution.

Name
Address
Street or Avenue
P. O. Box No. State

Balloon Tires Heavy Steel Bolsters

HOW TO EARN ONE

If you want one of these beautiful "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons, the first thing to do is to clip out the coupon at the left, bring or mail it to The Constitution for a Contest Book. When you get the book, if "Dad" isn't a subscriber to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, get his subscription first and then you will need two more.

THREE DAILY AND SUNDAY NEW SIX-MONTHS' SUBSCRIPTIONS.

That's all! Just three new Daily and Sunday six-months' subscriptions are required to earn one of these beautifully finished "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons. You are not to collect any money.

IT'S EASY WORK!

It will take you only a short time to get three new subscribers to The Constitution, because everyone knows that The Atlanta Constitution is Atlanta's outstanding newspaper. Besides helping you earn your "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," the people who sign the agreement or contract for you are receiving the news of the world, interesting reading articles and features for every member of the family for six months.

Start out right now! It's more like fun than work. Get a contract book, secure from good, reliable, financially responsible subscribers, "signature of each," bring or send it to The Constitution office. After the subscriptions are verified and found "O. K.," the wagon is yours.

Read These Instructions Carefully:

Out-of-town workers must turn their coupon book of subscriptions, after it has been filled out with the required number of subscriptions, each signed by the subscriber himself, over to the local Constitution dealer for his acceptance of the new subscriptions.

Newsdealer will indicate his acceptance by writing on the back of the subscription agreement "O. K., accepted by me," and sign his name. Then the book with required number of accepted subscriptions to be sent to The Constitution.

COASTER WAGONS will be shipped by express (collect) to out-of-town workers. Those who live in Atlanta and suburban towns will get the wagons at The Constitution office.

Gift Suggestions FROM GIFTLAND AT KEELY COMPANY'S

A Store Rife With Yuletide Spirit---Beautifully Bedecked With Christmas Festoons---Laden With Most Appropriate Gifts---Will Find Inspiration to Your Choosing of Tokens of Love and Good Will for All

Little Gifts of Charm and Beauty, Modestly Priced

There are numerous dainty gift items in this section of Giftland at Keely's. For instance:

French Pearls (boxed).....$1.00
French Opera Pearls (white and flesh).....$1.00
Evening and Party Bags.....$3.50 to $15.00
French Beaded Bags.....$5.00 to $35.00
Leather Bags.....$2.95 to $29.00
Bridal Lamps.....$7.50
Bridal Gifts.....$1.00
Whiting & Davis Mesh Bags.....$2.75 to $20.00
Gotta Blue and celestial Jade jewelry.....$1.00 to $3.00

French Chokers.....$1.00 to $2.95
Debutante Indestructible Pearls, one, two and three strands, flesh and white. Also 60-inch single strands. In satin-lined gift boxes, at.....$1.00
Gold Necklaces.....$1.00 to $1.98
Children's bracelet and necklace sets, boxed.....$1.00
Children's bracelet, necklace and mesh bag sets, boxed.....$1.00
Traveling Cases.....$3.50 to $15.00
Military Sets.....$1.00 to $6.50
Bill Folds.....$1.00 to $5.00
Fountain Pens.....$2.75 to $7.50
Desk Sets.....$3.50 to $10.00
Sterling Silver Pencils.....$1.75 to $10.00

Gloves and Handkerchiefs

A most beautiful display of gift gloves and handkerchiefs for men and women. A few of the prominent items in this collection follow:

Gloves
For Women—
Real Kid.....$3.95 to $5.50
Chamoisette.....$1.00 to $2.25
For Men—
Chamoisette.....$1.50
Real Kid.....$3.50
Mocha.....$4.95
Auto Driving.....$2.50 to $5.95
Handkerchiefs
For Women—
Pure Linen, hand-broidered.....25c
Crepe with lace trim.....25c

Hand-made Linen and lace-trimmed George.....50c and 59c
Hand-made George and Linen.....$1 to $2
For Men—
White Linen with colored borders.....25c
Hand-made Linen, colored drawn threads.....50c and $1.50
Initial Linen.....25c
Hand-made Linen, initial, colored drawn thread, box of.....3 for $1.50
White Linen.....50c
Hand-made.....50c
Poncee.....39c and 50c
Hand-made Crepe de Chine.....$1.50

Give a Fur Scarf for Christmas

What a wonderful gift for wife, mother or sister on Christmas morning—a lovely fur neckpiece! This is the vogue of furs, and for gifts and for your own use we are featuring medium and large size animal scarfs, such as the following:

Black Pointed Foxes.....$39.50 to $150
Dyed Foxes (beige, cinnamon and blonde).....$49.50 to $115
Red Foxes.....$39.50 to $115
White Foxes (special).....$75
Black Foxes.....$39.50 to $115
Dyed Brown Foxes.....$39.50 to $98.50

Keely's Ready-to-Wear—Second Floor

A Gift That's Sure to Please—A Pair of Comfys

YOU can't go wrong, when selecting gifts for those who are close to you, by choosing a pair of good-looking, restful Comfys. They are always welcome, always appropriate. Besides the snug, cozy felts, your choice can range over a number of smart styles and bright, attractive colors, in satins, brocades and soft leathers.

Comfys will bring a glow of appreciation that will extend over many months of restful comfort for the lucky owner—a daily reminder of the giver's thoughtfulness. Our holiday selection is wide and varied, but come soon.

Prices Are $2.00 to $4.50

"A Better Place to Buy Better Shoes"

Shoe Department
First Floor

Lingerie Silks

Somehow, gifts that have been made by the donor carry a little more of the real Christmas spirit with them, and the recipient is made to feel a little nearer the one whose loving thoughts and nimble fingers formed and fashioned the gift. Lingerie, for instance, when made so daintily from silks of real quality, convey a message of thoughtfulness that is sincere and convincing. The silks for this purpose are here in great abundance—the kind of silks that we are glad to recommend for their superb quality and delicate petal shades. Among the more popular lingerie silks are the following:

—40-Inch Crepe Satin, $1.98 to $4.50.
—40-Inch Crepe de Chine, $1.98 to $3.50.
—32-Inch Society Satin, $2.00.
—40-Inch Triple Voile, $2.95.
—40-Inch Pussy Willow Taffeta, $3.50.
—40-Inch Indestructible Voile, $2.95.
—40-Inch Cheney's Printed Radium, $3.50.
(This is one of the very latest silks for lingerie, and shown in all the wanted pastel colorings.)

Negligee---Lingerie

For those who cannot make their gifts, or whose time is too limited, these lovely items will be welcomed. They are all dainty and of utmost feminine appeal, and prices are moderate. Such things, for instance, as:

Spanish Shawls—Large silk shawls, beautifully embroidered in self and contrasting colors. They are good values at $29.75. Our price is $15.75.

Lounging Robes—Satin quilted robes in black and all pastel shades; a gift you know she will appreciate. Prices range from $7.95 to $39.75.

Nainsook Gowns—"La Parisienne" snow-white nainsook gowns with scalloped necks, embroidered medallion overlay on fine net, and trims of dainty hand embroidery. Sizes 15, 16 and 17. Price, $2.95.

Silk Gowns—"Fantana" hand-made crepe de chine gowns and teddies in flesh only. All are skillfully tailored, some with sprays of hemstitching, some with French knots, and some with beautiful embroidered floral designs. Gowns, sizes 15 to 17, at $6.95 to $9.95. Teddies, sizes 34 to 44, at $3.95 to $5.95.

MEN'S TIES

A wonderful assortment in all the pleasing colors of the season—the kind that men like. Some are moire, some stripes, and some novelty patterns. Prices $1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50. Also a lovely hand-made tie for $3. Ties for the young man and for those more conservatively inclined. Each tie packed in a pretty Christmas box.

UMBRELLAS

A new shipment of women's silk umbrellas—the kind that has won for us a reputation as handlers of umbrellas of the best quality. The variety is great, featuring the new handle treatment (same color as the silk top). All have 16 ribs attached to a heavy ferrule. All adding colors, including the new browns. Assembled in 4 groups—$4.95, $6.50, $7.50 and $10.

Gift Items From the Linen Section

Damask Sets—White hemmed damask sets of all linen, for square or round tables. Set consists of one 64-inch cloth and six napkins, boxed.....$4.95

Damask Sets—All-linen sets with colored borders, hemmed and in plaid effects. Set consists of one cloth and six napkins, boxed.....$3.95

Mosaic Luncheon Sets—All-linen hand hemstitched and embroidered sets, consisting of cloth and 4 napkins, boxed.....$5.95

Tea Napkins—Madeira hand-embroidered tea napkins in various pretty patterns. Box of 6 for.....$1.98

Madeira Pillow Cases—Of fine round thread art linen, with dainty Madeira hand embroidery. Size is 45x36 inches. Price, pair.....$6.50

All-Linen Pillow Cases—Mosaic hand-embroidered in several pretty designs. Size 45x36 inches. Pair.....$8.50

Turkish Towel Sets—These 3-piece sets have pretty colored borders, and consist of one towel and two wash cloths, boxed. Set.....$1.00

Turkish Towel Sets—In pretty color combinations, some silk bordered. One towel and two wash cloths for.....$1.75

Tea Sets—Cross stitch all-linen tea sets, Chinese hand-embroidered in pretty blended colors, consisting of one cloth and 4 napkins, set.....$6.95

Mosaic Tea Napkins—Finest round thread linen with dainty hand embroidery. Size 13x13 inches. Box of 12 for.....$10.95

Breakfast Cloths—All-linen cloths, size 45x45 inches, in various colored border effects. Each.....98c

Breakfast Sets—All-linen sets consisting of a 36-inch cloth and 4 napkins. Plaid or colored borders. Set.....98c

Cotton Pillow Cases—Beautifully embroidered—make ideal gifts. Size 45x36 inches. Per pair, boxed.....$1.00

Scalloped Pillow Cases—Extra heavy quality fast lock-stitch material and scalloped edges. Size 45x36 inches. Per pair, boxed.....$1.50

Automobile Robes—Make a splendid gift. Strictly all-wool, and shown in various dark plaids. Each.....$8.95

Steamer Rugs—All wool, in pretty bright plaids—just the thing for traveling or ocean voyage. Each.....$12.50

Linen Section—First Floor, Rear

Keely Company

Whitehall St.
at Hunter

Same Location
Since 1869

Gifts from Keely's Boys' and Men's Department

The men's and boys' section on the first floor presents a most beautiful and practical list of gifts for men and boys at prices that are attractive indeed. The following will give you an idea of the many things ideal for gifts:

Indian Suits, 2 to 8-year sizes.....$1.25 to $3.50
Policeman's Suits.....$3.50
Cowboy's Suits.....$4.00 to $7.50
Cowboy's Chaps, sizes 8 and 10 years.....$3.00
Fireman's Suits.....$3.50
Neckties, boxed.....50c
Ties, combination sets—with belts, knives and pencils—per set.....75c to $2.00
Men's and Boys' Shirts.....$1.50 to $3.50

Men's and Boys' Palamas.....$1.25 to $3.50
Men's and Boys' Scarfs, Squares and Mufflers.....$1.00 to $7.50
Men's Silk Lounging Robes.....$12.50 up
Men's Blanket Robes.....$6.50
Boys' Lumber Jacks, Zip and Button.....$3.50 to $6.50
Boys' Wind Breakers.....$7.50
Boys' Rain Coats.....$3.50 to $5.95
Little Boys' Overcoats.....$5.95 to $12.50
Juvenile Wool Suits.....$3.50 to $8.95
Boys' Wash Suits, 4 to 8 years.....$1.19 to $3.50
English Shorts with belts, in jerseys and sport styles, sizes 3 to 8.
Golf Knickers and Plus Fours.

Gift Hosiery for the Family

No gift list is complete without hosiery—the practical, useful and always pleasing gift.

Keely's Hosiery by McCallum—chiffon and service weights.....$2.00 to $3.95
McCallum's Chiffon with contrasting heels.....$2.00 to $3.95
Irene Castle Chiffon.....$3.00 to $3.95
Kavser Slipper Heel in chiffon and service weights.....$1.65 to $2.50
Kavser Twin Heel (chiffon).....$2.50
As-You-Like-It (chiffon and service weights).....$1.50 and $1.85

As-You-Like-It (outsizes).....$2
Holeproof-all-over silk, service weight.....$1.95
Humming Bird (full fashioned) chiffon and service weights.....$1.50 and $1.95
Finery Coral Band—chiffon and service weights.....$1.65 to $1.95
Finery Coral Band—Outsizes.....$2.00
Blue Crane—pure silk—chiffon and service weights.....$1.00
Beautiful Gift Box with each purchase of Christmas gift hosiery.

Give Her a Hat for Christmas

Keely's Sanmere Shop is showing a beautiful display of hats for madam and mademoiselle that will prove most happy gifts to the recipients. They are hats that she will wear for the remainder of the winter season and up into the spring season. All the pretty pastel shades are shown—the newest shapes and the latest materials. Give her a hat for her Christmas gift, or an order on Keely's Sanmere Shop and she can make her own selection at her pleasure.

Keely's Sanmere Shop

Second Floor—Middle Section

Beautiful Gifts for the Home

Something for the home is a gift that the entire family can enjoy—something that will make the home brighter, more cheerful and more comfortable. Such gifts will be found on our third floor. In addition to our regular stock of rugs and draperies, the following gifts will prove unusually interesting:

Table Scarfs—Beautiful table runners and scarfs imported from Germany and Belgium at $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

Silk Pillows—French pillows trimmed with hand-made silk flowers. All shapes and sizes. Prices, $2.35, $3.98, $4.98 and $7.98.

Oval Rugs—Marshall Field's oval rugs for bedrooms at $5.95, $7.95, $10.50 and $27.50.

Rugs and Draperies
Third Floor

CHRYSLER ANNOUNCES 'AMERICA'S MOST POWERFUL CAR'

NEW IMPERIAL '80' IS ADDED TO LINE;
112 HORSEPOWER

Latest Car Is 191 Inches Long Over All; "Red-Head" Engine Standard Equipment.

Walter P. Chrysler and his engineers announce what they declare is the most notable car Chrysler has ever produced—the new 112-horsepower Imperial '80. It is the most powerful standard model car in America, as well as Chrysler's conception of "the finest that money can build."

Overall length of the luxurious new Imperial is 191 inches. The long springs, anchored in blocks of live rubber, and the Special Chrysler rubber mounting at the front and rear of the engine contribute to a restful ride. The car is also one of the world's most distinguished fine motor cars.

There are five Chrysler-built custom models. They are town sedan, four and seven passenger sedans, sedanlimousine and roadster. Custom models by LeBaron, Locke and Dietrich, three of America's foremost authorities in designing and building special bodies round out the body choices. Prices range from $2,795 to $6,795.

In the new Imperial '80 are found all the features that have contributed so materially to Chrysler's outstanding success during the last four years. J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of Chrysler sales, who asked the new car announcement, stresses the many new features of the car which now comes into its own as the leader of the Chrysler line of four great cars in four great markets, and as America's most powerful car.

Many Improvements.
"Improvements and refinements extend throughout body and chassis," he points out. They contribute not only to the car's fine appearance, but also to its performance. With full realization of the remarkable capabilities of the previous Imperial '80, this new car is from every point of view the finest we have ever built. We feel that those who appreciate truly fine motor cars will share our enthusiasm when they have had the opportunity to examine and drive this new model.

Inspection of the new car will reveal to the eyes scores of improvements. Others, in both body and chassis, can be noted only through its use or by a detailed study of its specifications. Innovations in manufacturing make each of the five Chrysler-built body models an individual, its custom-tailored creation, with new ideas and many options in both body trim and upholstery of broadcloths, Bedford cord, mohair and leather.

This custom idea is furthered by finishing all bodies to match the individual body tones. It is accentuated still more by matching the colorings of bumpers, radiator shells, trunk and door are covers to fit each car turned out. The buyer has the option of having disappearing glass panels built into the backs of the front seats in each of the sedan models, at slight extra cost. This feature converts these cars into either an owner-driven or chauffeur car in a moment. Outside finish is in new and distinctive color blends, with narrow belt lines. One experiences a surprising sense of comfort in the long, wide bodies.

New Front Seat Design.
Chrysler has accomplished another unusual thing in fashioning the back of the front seat straight across the car, rather than following the conventional practice of curving it. Its engineers have devised a front seat that is equally as comfortable as the curved one, combining with that fact a full utilization of the width of door openings both front and rear. This also permits the use of flat plate glass partitions between the bodies of type heretofore universally employed, obviating those light reflections that have always been bothersome to rear seat occupants at night because of the curved glass partition. Doors are likewise wider.

Roof coverings of all closed cars are of the soft fabric type, impressive in appearance and of enduring quality. Rear quarters are of the same material and match the body colorings. The striking individuality of the new Imperial '80 is heightened by the fact that the car is completely without "manufactured" insignia which tends to advertise its make. Except for the wings of the Chrysler radiator cap, the three-pointed Chrysler trade mark on the dash and door sill plates. Neither on the radiator shell, hub caps nor lamps can any manufacturer's identification be found. Lamps, incidentally, are of new hood type. Lamps, tie rods and radiator shell are plated with chromium, one of the hardest and most durable of metals. Rear

Keen Interest Displayed In Address of H. G. Moock

From the way reservations are pouring in to the executive offices for the big annual meeting and celebration of the Atlanta Automobile association on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel the night of Monday, December 12, an unusual amount of interest is being displayed in the visit to Atlanta of H. G. Moock, managing director of the greater market development division of the Automobile Equipment association.

Mr. Moock ranks as one of the outstanding figures among those in the automotive industry of America, and he has selected Atlanta as the key city of the southeast in order to present the industry with a message that has many extraordinary features. Sales figures are of the three signal types—red warning light, stop and back lights, the latter throwing a floodlight white beam.

Great Range of Vision.
Seated in the front compartment, the use of new, narrowed pillars will be noted, increasing the range of vision. The steering column is adjustable to three positions—for large, medium-built and small persons, by means of a bracket under the cowl. The steering wheel has a new type, spark, throttle and headlamp controls. Instrument panel is of new design, indirectly lighted in the Chrysler style. Ventilation built into both sides of the cowl and the vision-ventilating windshield, long a Chrysler feature, aid in keeping fresh, cool air constantly circulating in the front compartment whenever desired and promote driving comfort. The ignition lock, which automatically cuts off ignition and makes the car inoperative in the event of a theft attempt, is standard equipment.

Chassis improvements are many. In addition to those already enumerated, Crankshaft, crankcase, pistons, valves, camshaft, impulse neutralizer, engine mountings, clutch transmission, manifold, radiator, rear axle, springs and brakes have all had the close painstaking attention of the Chrysler engineering staff and are designed to handle with an ample factor of safety the vast power capabilities and extreme flexibility at every speed of the 112-horsepower engine.

"Red-Head" Engine Standard.
Performance will be found even smoother. With the "Red-Head" high compression engine, first introduced into the Chrysler line several months ago, and now adopted as standard for all body types of the new Imperial '80, is obtained even faster acceleration and noticeably greater power at all speeds.

Pistons of the famous Invar-steel type, which Chrysler pioneered, are now equipped with "Baird" rings, another new development by Chrysler engineers. Each piston is now fitted with four rings of the new type and one oil wiper ring. Valves are sil-chrome steel.

The cylinder bore has been increased to 3.58 inches, with 5-inch piston stroke. An efficient crankcase ventilation system is built into the engine, lengthening the useful life of the oil and minimizing the possibility of corrosion through impurities in the oil or air. It has a shut-off that is quickly accessible for warm weather driving.

The crankshaft is balanced both statically and dynamically, and is counterweighted. The impulse neutralizer, another proved result of Chrysler engineering achievement, neutralizes torsional reactions in the crankshaft at all engine speeds. According to factory officials these developments play a large and vital part in the combination of engineering triumphs in the new Imperial '80, which set up new standards of performance, even for super-fine motor cars.

New Carburetor Principle.
The carburetor is especially designed to assure the greatest flexibility in meeting all power requirements, and to promote an amazing smoothness of engine operation. A new principle of positive injection of fuel for acceleration assures instantaneous response to every touch on the throttle, and overcomes the tendency toward stalling that has characterized carburetors of the past when used with engines of exceptionally rapid acceleration ability. It has an extra gasoline needle lift for cold weather starting. The manifold, of course, is also constructed to handle the great power output.

The new clutch is of the single plate type with cone drive. The transmission case is aluminum. The emergency brake lever is so shaped that handling it is unusually convenient. Large ring gears are used in the rear axle.

Springs are anchored in blocks of live rubber, the springs themselves being protected from water and mud by rubber boots. The new type hydraulic four-wheel brakes are internal expanding, with an automatic refill for the master cylinder. A feature showing great improvement in braking performance. The gasoline tank has 20-gallon capacity, with three-gallon reserve.

A feature of the new radiator that marks another interesting departure from the usual is that it has a special door built into the right side to assist entering the rumble seat.

and advertising promotion in the automobile business today are absorbing topics and Mr. Moock's unusual capacity along these lines fit him eminently for the important assignment given him in Atlanta on the night of December 12.

The Atlanta Automobile association is made up of not only every automobile dealer, distributor and factory branch in Atlanta, but of a large number of automotive dealers in various trade lines located in Atlanta. On account of the unusual character of this event, it is probable that the association may extend invitations to attend this meeting to some of the leading automobile dealers located in some of the larger cities of Georgia.

Clarence Knowles, sales manager for Martin-Nash Motor company, general chairman on arrangements for the meeting, requests everyone to secure tickets, not only for themselves, but for their department heads and assistants, at the earliest practicable moment, however seating arrangements are limited and after the allotted number of tickets are sold, there will be no way to provide for others.

Mr. Knowles is particularly anxious that the executives and their assistants be taken care of first. Tickets are $2.50 each and can be secured by sending remittance for the necessary number to the executive offices, 1208 Citizens & Southern Bank building, payable to the Atlanta Automobile association.

Following Mr. Moock's address, officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A special nominating committee, consisting of the past presidents of the association, recently was appointed to consider suggestions from members as to who will make the most suitable officers for the ensuing year. D. C. Black is general chairman of the nominating committee.

Following the business session the members will sit down to an elaborate course dinner accompanied by entertainment under direction of Earl Elrod.

Retiring officers are: Harry Sommers, president; Ralph Parker, first vice president; Ed Yancey, second vice president; C. G. Parsons, third vice president; F. L. Brandes, fourth vice president; Max Metzner, secretary, and Jack Philizy, treasurer.

Completion a few days ago of an expansion program that practically doubles its manufacturing capacity indicates how strongly Graham Brothers believes that it will do a record business in 1928. This plant expansion has three stages. According to the company's various producing units and enables the company to build approximately 500 trucks a day on a single shift basis. Should the need arise it will be possible to increase this capacity very materially by the addition of extra shifts.

In addition to increasing its manufacturing facilities Graham Brothers may be credited with three other developments that should vitally affect its truck sales during the coming year. Through the addition of two new models and the incorporation of vital improvements in its other trucks the company finds itself in the position of marketing the broadest and strongest line in its history.

Each of the new models materially strengthens Graham Brothers position in their respective fields, permitting the company to parallel more closely the needs of users of these types of trucks. The six cylinder 2-ton model, which was introduced first, is built with a four forward speed transmission which gives it great pulling power and makes possible moderate engine speed for fast, long runs. Locked hydraulic four-wheel internal expanding brakes built for heavy service provide quick and positive braking.

A light and fast 1.2-ton panel delivery car, introduced later, adds supplements the company's line in a field in which volume sales have already materialized. Graham Brothers has for several years been marketing a 3.4-ton commercial car which has been popular in its field but by the addition of the 1.2-ton model the company enters a possible market somewhat lower to reach a vast number of users whose needs do not warrant purchase of the heavier type.

Already this 1.2-ton model is making a name for itself because of its exceptional power and pickup, these qualities making it particularly suitable to operation in heavy city traffic. The panel body is trim in appearance and is built of materials that readily lend themselves to attractive color combinations that make effective advertising mediums for the user.

NEW PLANT OPENED BY CHEVROLET AT FLINT

The Chevrolet Motor company has announced the opening of a new $2,500,000 parts and service building in Flint, Mich. This structure marks the completion of a $2,000,000 parts and service program, extending over the last year and a half and involving in addition the construction of four major supply depots and a complete reorganization of those at Oakland and Tarrytown.

The new Flint building is a three-story steel and concrete structure with a total of 225,000 square feet of floor space. Railroad tracks for 12 freight cars have been provided to expedite shipping.

Made necessary because of the great increase in Chevrolet ownership during the year, the new warehouse is one of the finest in the industry with the most modern conveyors and the latest equipment for handling parts and promises to provide Chevrolet with the most complete facilities for the efficient handling of parts distribution.

The structure becomes the central Chevrolet warehouse, the major portion of which is devoted to the storing of parts to insure good service to Chevrolet owners. More than $2,000,000 worth of parts will be kept on hand at all times.

The plant is also equipped to handle the vast export business now being done by the Chevrolet Motor company. Shipments leave the plant daily for Chevrolet foreign plants and representatives in all quarters of the world.

Since the first of the year Chevrolet has also established complete warehousing operations at Des Moines, Memphis and Kansas City, with a new warehouse to be completed in Los Angeles February 1. The four major supply depots built in the last year and a half are at Janesville, Wis.; St. Louis, Mo.; Norwood, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Sydney, Nova Scotia.—The Cape Breton Tourist association, with an initial membership of over 100, is organized at Sydney, with H. J. Kelly, general manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel company, as president and S. P. Chaloner, secretary. No time is being lost in getting forth the attractions of the district.

Unusual interest was displayed by fastidious motor car buyers in the annual exhibit of the fine custom built cars at the New York automobile salon held during the last week in the Hotel Commodore. The display of cars brought out as never before the high degree of craftsmanship that has been reached in the automobile industry.

New body types, such as the convertible sedan and town car with all weather features, were much in evidence. Special interest was shown in the exhibit of Franklin air-cooled models, embodying striking ideas in this line of coach work.

A design by Dietrich on the Airman chassis revealed in the convertible sedan a combination closed and open car, notable for the fact that the top can be collapsed and which the top can be collapsed and

NEW YORK SALON SHOWS FINEST OF BODY-BUILDER'S ART

Smart equipped with wire wheels with two spares carried in fender wells in front. Broad windshield wings were provided for the driver's compartment.

A five-passenger custom built sport sedan by Holbrook was displayed, which was distinguished by a new method of exterior paneling which adapted itself to an original and attractive scheme of painting that was most admired.

A recent announcement by the Franklin custom body department offers the work of the foremost American and international body designers on the new Airman chassis.

One of the most popular of the Franklin custom built models proved to be the enclosed drive town cabriolet. This smart body was also designed and built by Dietrich as the personal car of H. H. Franklin.

On this body the rear quarters fold down, leaving the passenger compartment open when desired. A town car by Willoughby was distinguished by details of exterior finish and upholstery, which looked

NICKEL, SILVER and GOLD PLATING
Auto Parts, Silverware, etc., Replated and Made New BAKED ENAMELING
Mirrors Resilvered—Block Tinning
Metal Beds Refinished, Wood Finishes
SIMMONS PLATING WORKS
219-221 Pryor St., S. W. WALNUT 6244-65
Established 1895

GRAHAM BROTHERS IN STRONG POSITION

With business in the United States on a sound basis and apparently heading into another good year, the motor truck industry, which is largely dependent for its prosperity upon that of other lines, is actively making preparations to take full advantage of whatever the new year brings.

Among the leading manufacturers who are getting their houses in order for the new year is Graham Brothers, the truck division of Dodge Brothers, Inc. For many months this company has been making its preparations for the new selling season and it is said to be now in the best position in its history both as regards manufacturing facilities and diversity of its line of trucks.

Completion a few days ago of an expansion program that practically doubles its manufacturing capacity indicates how strongly Graham Brothers believes that it will do a record business in 1928. This plant expansion has three stages. According to the company's various producing units and enables the company to build approximately 500 trucks a day on a single shift basis. Should the need arise it will be possible to increase this capacity very materially by the addition of extra shifts.

In addition to increasing its manufacturing facilities Graham Brothers may be credited with three other developments that should vitally affect its truck sales during the coming year. Through the addition of two new models and the incorporation of vital improvements in its other trucks the company finds itself in the position of marketing the broadest and strongest line in its history.

Each of the new models materially strengthens Graham Brothers position in their respective fields, permitting the company to parallel more closely the needs of users of these types of trucks. The six cylinder 2-ton model, which was introduced first, is built with a four forward speed transmission which gives it great pulling power and makes possible moderate engine speed for fast, long runs. Locked hydraulic four-wheel internal expanding brakes built for heavy service provide quick and positive braking.

A light and fast 1.2-ton panel delivery car, introduced later, adds supplements the company's line in a field in which volume sales have already materialized. Graham Brothers has for several years been marketing a 3.4-ton commercial car which has been popular in its field but by the addition of the 1.2-ton model the company enters a possible market somewhat lower to reach a vast number of users whose needs do not warrant purchase of the heavier type.

Already this 1.2-ton model is making a name for itself because of its exceptional power and pickup, these qualities making it particularly suitable to operation in heavy city traffic. The panel body is trim in appearance and is built of materials that readily lend themselves to attractive color combinations that make effective advertising mediums for the user.

PRICES SMASHED ON TIRES

Splendid Cash Bargains ON SECOND FLOOR

The Size	Brand	Price
20x3.5	Ret. Cord	$ 4.50 $2.25
21x4	O. S. Cord	$ 9.70 $1.75
22x4	O. S. Cord	$ 9.80 $1.80
23x4	O. S. Cord	$ 9.90 $1.85
24x4	O. S. Cord	$10.00 $1.90
22x4.5	O. S. Cord	$12.90 $2.75
23x4.5	O. S. Cord	$14.25 $2.60
24x4.5	O. S. Cord	$14.70 $2.70
25x5	O. S. Cord	$17.50 $2.90
25x5.5	O. S. Cord	$17.95 $2.95
29x4.0	Balloon	$ 6.95 $1.50
29x4.5	Balloon	$10.55 $1.85
29x5.25	Balloon	$11.95 $1.95
31x5.25	Balloon	$11.95 $2.00
30x5.75	Balloon	$13.20 $2.75

PUNCTURES
VULCANIZED
ANY SIZE. .25c

At COTTONGIM'S Tire & Supply Co.

114 2931—223 Spring St., At Simpson

Batteries

Auto and Radio

These are excellent at a low price. A new one is better than a used one. A new one is better than a used one. A new one is better than a used one.

Terms If Desired

Rims

To fit any size car or truck—Clincher—Ballon—Ford—The Price Is Right On Second Floor

Glass Broken?

Let us replace that broken windshield or window. We'll do it in a few minutes. Your car will look 100% better. And, it will be more comfortable too. Drive by tomorrow.

A-C Miller & Co.

17 COURTLAND STREET N.E.

— WRECKED BODIES REBUILT — — DODGERS REFINISHED — FENDERS STRAIGHTENED —
PHONE WALNUT 1971-1972

Established 1909.

Reo Sales and Service, Inc.

Distributors

419 Peachtree

Walnut 6432-6433

Open Evenings Until Nine O'clock

NO OTHER AMERICAN CAR LASTS AS LONG AS REO—NOT ONE

Offerings, New and Old, Which Are Accorded Wide Popularity

The new Hupmobile six sedan is a car in which the up-to-the-minute trends in design have been accorded free play.

The new Nash cabriolet roadster, a real snappy job in the around a thousand dollars class.

The Whipper cabriolet coupe is the latest addition to the Whipper line of motor cars. This snappy model can easily be converted from a closed to an open model sport roadster.

One of the finest models in the popular Chrysler line. This one, their "80" town sedan, a representative car in the finer class field with a special custom body.

Locomobiles—New town car with all American and European designs combined.

Six Additional Gems of the Auto-Building Craft Are Presented; Each Has Rare Beauty and Stamina

Here is this week's group of gems from the craft of the auto-maker—six beauties with speed, dependability and everything that goes into the makeup of the car of 1927.

Among those presented in pictures on this page is Hupmobile's new six sedan, an offering which has attracted wide attention since its appearance on Auto Row only a short time ago. Its long, low, shapely lines are handily set off by the smart visor and high, distinctive radiator, and the roomy, comfortable body is powered by an engine that is in every way up to the Hupp standard.

The latest addition to the popular Whipper line is the new cabriolet coupe, which presents many new and distinctive features and which is backed in both body and motor structure by the well-known name of Willys-Overland. It's a snappy, classy number, and it has met with warm reception wherever glimpsed.

Then there's Nash's new cabriolet roadster, which has the dash and beauty of much higher-priced cars, together with every one of the careful, inbuilt virtues of Nash cars to recommend it. In brilliant color combinations, this car will catch and hold the eye wherever it appears on the road.

One of the most popular of the Chrysler models is the "80" town car, which is in the fine car class and which radiates an atmosphere of luxury and refinement. Its lines are among the most graceful to be encountered in the auto field, and its engine and body are built with the careful detail and inevitable stamina that has marked every Chrysler offering.

Locomobile's new town car also is a thing of rare beauty and distinction in design. It has many European car features to set it apart as a car for the purchaser who demands much in his selection, and its performance is lauded in no uncertain terms by its dealers here.

The Willys-Knight name on any car is tantamount to a sterling recommendation. On this page are presented two of the Willys-Knight line, the "Great Six" and the "70" cabriolet. Both have beauty and charm all their own, and both are motored with the nationally-famous Knight motors, which is all that need be said of them.

Reo Motor Co. Announces Its New Wolverine Sedan

Faster to meet its comrades of the roads comes the new Wolverine sedan, the third Wolverine model announced by the Reo Motor Co. company within the last few months.

Like the Wolverine brougham and cabriolet, this new model inherits the traditional strength of the Wolverine of the woods from which it takes its name, plus a new beauty of line and appointments which reflect upon distinction coupled with extreme good taste. Built long and low, the new Wolverine sedan is a roomy, comfortable four-door motor car for those who want the spaciousness of a five-passenger body with the customary excellence of Wolverine performance.

The body of the new Wolverine sedan is made of hard wood and is strengthened with metal braces. Skillful designing of body contours gives it unusual roominess for a car of moderate wheelbase, a feature which will be appreciated in a motor car built primarily for use by the average family.

Comfort and Beauty.

Seat cushions are soft and durable. Seats are wide and there is plenty of leg-room. The whole of the interior is upholstered with a rich, light gray special mohair-type material which is extremely longwearing and which gives an appearance of distinctive refinement when blended with the pleasing artistry of the metal fittings. The floor in the front compartment is covered with a felt-backed rubber mat and the tonneau floor is concealed by a thick, high-grade carpet which harmonizes with the other rich interior appointments. The windshield swings outward and may be secured easily and quickly at any desired angle. The hood ventilator is operated by a lever beneath the instrument board, this lever having a round and artistic bakelite knob. Instruments are grouped in the center of the instrument board and are illuminated for night driving by indirect lighting. Lights are controlled from the 17-inch walnut steering wheel.

The standard color for the new Wolverine sedan is a rich shade of green. As in the Wolverine brougham and cabriolet, lateral louvers in the hood give the sedan an added rigidity and symmetry which are accentuated in the streamline effect of the body lines.

Completely Equipped. Ready for the road is this newest of the popular Wolverine models. It is furnished with bumpers both front and rear, four-wheel hydraulic brakes, shock absorbers on the front springs, seven-bearing crankshaft, cam and lever steering and many other refinements.

The cylinder engine of advanced design gives the new Wolverine sedan the necessary speed and acceleration to meet the changed traffic conditions encountered by motorists today. Nothing has been overlooked to make the new Wolverine sedan an ideal car for the American family. Strength to master any road and beauty to

FALL PAIGE SALES SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Sale of Paige cars during the first half of November shows an increase of 24 per cent over October sales, during the corresponding period, factory officials announced Saturday. This increase is in direct reverse to the usual sales records for this season. Instead of falling off after November, as has been the experience of practically the entire automotive industry in the past, October Paige sales marked a 15 per cent increase over those of September. November, keeping up the increase to an even greater degree, gives every indication that this rise in volume of sales will continue.

The autumn increase is attributed in part to the confidence of the general public in the three Graham brothers, and in the improved Paige cars brought out by them in August. Immediately after securing controlling ownership of Paige, the Grahams set about making improvements in all models offered, and in August announced reductions in the list prices of ten of the 20 models. Simultaneous with this announcement came the gradual rise in retail sales which has continued to the present time.

Winter Auto Purchasing Advised by Paige Chiefs

Eight reasons why prospective new car purchasers may buy motor cars to advantage at this season, are enumerated by officials of the Paige company of Georgia, local Paige distributors. They explain that many persons put off the purchase of a new car until spring, not realizing that by buying in the fall they are often saved considerable expense.

Here in detail are reasons for present buying: "First, your present car will undoubtedly require some reconditioning to fit it for winter use. Save this expense and apply the money towards a new car.

"Second, winter driving on worn tires is unsafe and changing tires in cold weather is a real hardship. If you do not buy a new car, you will need new tires. The cost of these will help pay for the new car.

"Third, your present car will be rated as a year older by spring. By trading it in now you will profit by a better allowance.

"Fourth, these fall days are ideal for breaking in a new automobile—no excessive heat, fewer grueling trips and plenty of time in most parts of the country to have the car well worn in before cold weather comes.

"Fifth, if you happen to be driving a car with two-wheel brakes and high pressure tires, you cannot afford to risk your safety and that of your family during another winter. Paige hydraulic four-wheel brakes with balloon tires, are much safer on icy pavements and in snow and slush.

MANY ADVANTAGES IN NEW COACHWORK

Higher speed ranges, more powerful engines, faster pick-up, and even faster deceleration, due to four wheel brakes, subject present-day motor car bodies to strains much more destructive than those of a few years ago. According to F. E. Watts, chief engineer of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, bodies that were highly satisfactory even as recently as three years ago are wholly inadequate for today's modern automobile. "Today's body must contain greater durability, strength and rigidity than ever before," he says. "It must group with those features a finer appearance, enhanced comfort and increased spaciousness. The bodies of three years ago would fail completely to withstand the strains to which the greater performance advantages of the present motor cars would impose on them."

The new 1928 Hupmobile Six well illustrates the newest in body construction. In addition to being the latest expression in body design, the coachwork for this car contains, we believe, the qualities of appearance, comfort, durability and construction that make it attractive to the eye, pleasurable to ride in, durable to own and comparatively simple to manufacture," he continues. "The last two features give the bodies a remarkable freedom from service."

"They are of the composite, or steel-and-wood, type. Practically every quality body built today is of this composite type. Where steel is superior steel is used. Where steel is unsatisfactory or of no advantage, wood is employed. Wood's greater resiliency gives it a definite advantage wherever there is any question.

"Particular attention has been devoted to designing a rigid body front—including dash, cowl, front pillars, windshield and instrument board. Much of the unusual rigidity achieved in the front end is traceable to the differently designed dash. Heretofore, this body part has generally been a simple flat steel panel, with little ability to resist flexure. In the new Hupmobile the panel is edged with continuous U-shaped channel section. In combination with the cowl's front edge, this forms an extremely rigid structure, resisting any tendency to twist or wobble. The front body bolt brackets are heavy gauge steel riveted and welded to the dash, thus clamping the dash at its strongest and most rigid point firmly to the chassis frame. Still further rigidity is provided by flanging the brackets on which the toolboards are mounted, increasing the stiffness needed at the base of the dash, to resist side motion.

"Narrow front body pillars, essential to maximum vision, are demanded today. They must be small, yet their strength and rigidity must be ample. This has been solved successfully by stamping the pillar proper from 9-64 inch steel plates into an angle, or 'L' shape. This steel pillar extends from sill to roof.

"A direct tie from pillar base to chassis frame is made by bolts through extremely wide-based steel footing brackets, welded and riveted to the lower end of the body pillars, and the upper flange of the chassis frame. Mouldings Integral. "Similar sturdy, well-planned construction is utilized throughout the body. Externally, special attention has been given the mouldings. These are stamped into the metal panels themselves, instead of using strip moulding and nailing it on, as has been common practice. This feature obviates the possibility of mouldings working loose in service, cracking the lacquer surface and permitting rust to form under the loosened moulding.

"All major external body panels are either stamped in one piece or welded into one piece units. The entire back panel, extending from the rear of the right door to the rear of the left door, and from sill to roof, is made in one continuous unjointed unit. This construction, requiring huge presses and extensive welding equipment, might well be classed as an outstanding feature of the new bodies.

"Causes of the majority of body squeaks have been overcome by the use of anti-squeak tape between all surfaces where metal can touch metal, or where metal might otherwise bear against wood. Joints are filled with white lead to avoid friction that might produce a squeak. In fact, complete precautions to insure silence, are provided at 123 different points. "Each of the various body models that go to make up the complete line of the new 1928 Hupmobile Six has undergone severe road tests. Several of them have received the equivalent of a year's use in an owner's hands, under conditions much more destructive than the average owner would care to attempt. In every case the bodies have offered convincing proof that they represent a long step forward in body construction."

H. C. Witwer, well-known humorist, shows a decided partiality for Willys-Knight cars. He is shown above standing beside his new Willys-Knight "Great Six," while Mrs. Witwer is seated in her "70" cabriolet.

NEW CABRIOLET COUPE IS ANNOUNCED BY WHIPPET

WILLYS-OVERLAND CONVERTIBLE CAR STRIKES NEW NOTE

Many Unique Features
Are Introduced in New Addition to Whippet Six Line.

Introduction of the new Whippet cabriolet coupe, an addition to the Whippet line of cars, is announced this week by the Willys-Overland company. Unique features are introduced in the design of this new model which strike a new and distinctive note of style. This is the first two-type cabriolet coupe to be offered in the light car field and is included in the Whippet six line as well.

Mounted on the low swing Whippet chassis, the body as a whole presents a trim and sporty appearance. In addition, it provides the protection of a closed car together with the freedom of an open roadster.

Four passengers are easily accommodated, two in the front seat and two in the rumble seat which is built into the rear deck.

Weather-Proof Body.
The employment of matted sponge rubber weather stripping makes the body entirely weather-proof when the top is up. It takes but a moment to convert the car from an entirely closed model to an open roadster. This is done by merely folding the collapsible top which fits into a trim hood, part of the car's equipment.

Another distinct feature provides for removal of the panel at the rear when the top is up. This permits the occupants in the rumble seat to converse with the passengers in front, thus giving a distinct air of informality to the car. When the top is lowered, the side windows set in matted frames may be raised, thus permitting a three-sided windshield. The interior is fitted in fine leather.

Pouring Buick Engine Castings

Overhead monorails do most of the heavy work connected with pouring. The overhead trucks visible in the background bring molten iron from the cupolas, tilting their contents into the workers' hand ladles, which also hang from monorails. These workers are standing on a moving platform which keeps pace with the conveyor line bearing the flasks. Note the steel hood into which the flasks pass immediately after pouring, an arrangement which keeps them from overheating the room and contaminating the air with their gases.

Monorails, adding to the smartness of appearance, Laminar bows and the use of genuine Hartz material are among the custom refinements which enhance the individuality of the cabriolet coupe.

Excellent Performance.
The high standard of performance of the Whippet line of motor cars is maintained in the cabriolet coupe.

Noted for its oil and fuel economy, power and speed, it also embraces numerous advantages and features found in cars selling in a higher-priced field. These features include Bendix four-wheel brakes, increased roominess, low center of gravity to provide smoother riding qualities and greater road stability, higher speed, more power, better acceleration, forced-feed lubricating system, silent timing chain, adjustable steering column, oversize balloon tires and snubbers on the front springs.

In the design and production of this new cabriolet coupe, Willys-Overland officials declare that an advanced step has been taken, striking a new idea of value in both the light car and the light six chassis.

DODGE BROTHERS HAVE HEAVY MAIL

Detroit's largest mailing department, and the one which handles the largest amount of all classes of mail is that of Dodge Brothers, automobile and truck manufacturers, experts from the postoffice department at Washington state. The Dodge mail division also has been notably successful, they say, in establishing an efficient method of handling all classes of mail.

On the average, 11,000 pieces of incoming first-class mail and 25,000 pieces of outgoing first-class mail are handled daily by this division of Dodge Brothers, Inc. In addition, it handles daily papers, trade papers, trade magazines, second, third and fourth-class mail and parcel post packages. Outgoing parcel post packages alone average a half freight car daily. This does not include the various special mailings for which regular days are set aside. The weekly output of special material averages 18,000 envelopes per week, a line about two miles long if extended end to end.

Two stamps are used on outgoing first-class mail, postage being paid by means of an indicia printed on each letter by an automatic metered machine which stamps and seals the letters at a rate of 15,000 per hour. Incoming mail is opened by an electric letter opener at the rate of ten per second.

A system of collecting mail at the main postoffice in Detroit is carried out four times daily and the schedules are so arranged that the driver arrives at the postoffice in sufficient time to catch the important train and late enough that the mail from the largest cities has been sorted for Dodge Brothers.

Electric Vulcanizing Equipment Installed by Dobbs Tire Company

Above is the very latest equipment for vulcanizing tires. It was recently installed in the plant of the Dobbs Tire company, local Goodyear dealers. It is said that this equipment is so arranged and timed as to give perfect vulcanization, and is just one of the up-to-the-minute tire services this company gives.

announcing!

Atlanta's
Newest Tire Store
at 785
Marietta
Street

Opened Nov. 26th
With a Complete Line of America's Scientifically Correct
Tires—the Tires of Amazing new records of mileage and greater economy

BUY THESE

Miller Tires

GEARED-TO-THE-ROAD

Pay As You Ride

Our Easy Pay Plan enables you to do this. No red tape, nor added profit. Just a simple deferred plan for buying your tires and paying at your convenience. Let us explain.

Put these tires of proved fineness on your car. Three Big Features of inbuilt strength give you freedom from tire troubles: 1. One-Piece Tread and Sidewall. 2. Road-shaped Tread. 3. Uniflex Cord Construction. Size and style for your car in stock.

Road Service --- Vulcanizing

DIXIE TIRE STORE

Phone HEm. 3168

785 Marietta St.

PROSPERITY FOR SOUTH SEEN BY AUTO OFFICIAL

The southern states from now on will show one of the most prosperously outstanding increases in sales of automotive equipment and products, according to A. S. Holmes, of Atlanta, district sales manager of the AC Spark Plug company. Mr. Holmes was speaking before several members of the Automotive Equipment association, which held its annual show here last week and at which about 2,000 leading manufacturers and jobbers from all over the United States were in attendance.

A. S. HOLMES.

"Every factor involved in general economic conditions throughout the south points to a continued era of the most permanent kind of prosperity," Mr. Holmes said. "Planters are diversifying crops, cotton prices are attaining a figure where this staple can be produced profitably, good roads are rapidly being constructed throughout the entire section and a strong sentiment for ambitious highway programs is more pronounced than ever before."

"The south more than ever realizes the tremendous potential power of its fertile soil, natural resources and pleasant climate combined with adequate highway facilities, is establishing itself on a sound basis of prosperity, greater than ever before attained. Another thing that will bring about vast economic improvement, not only in the south but all over the country, is the proposed comprehensive federal flood control legislation, which, in my opinion, will become a law very quickly."

Mr. Holmes added that car sales have increased 15 per cent over a year in the Atlanta territory, and repurchases are much smaller than they have been in months because of the improved financial conditions.

He told of the AC Spark Plug company, the world's largest automobile accessory manufacturing concern, opening a district office in Atlanta recently, and of the Chevrolet Motor company's assembly plant soon to be completed in that city, which he termed the "gateway of the south."

Count Keyserling to Help Popularize Knowledge

Count Hermann Keyserling, famous for his "Travel Diary of a Philosopher" and for his most recent achievement as editor of "The Book of Marriage" has just joined the committee of experts who will assist in awarding the $7,500 Francis Bacon award, which is offered jointly by the Forum Magazine and Simon & Schuster, publishers. Count Keyserling will serve on the council of specialists who will serve as consultants, supporting the jury of award.

This council has been drawn from the most famous authorities in various fields of knowledge. It includes an Orientalist, Dr. James Henry Breasted, of Chicago university; an astronomer, Professor Harlow Shapley, of Harvard; two biologists, Dr. Vernon L. Kellogg, of the national research council, and Dr. Edward I. Grant Conklin, of Princeton, and an art critic, Professor Frank Jewett Mather, also of Princeton. As the Francis Bacon award will include books which popularize any and every subject, it is necessary to have specialists in many fields, to make sure that the books submitted in the contest are accurate and fully abreast of modern research.

Old friends Buick owners - Buick dealers

How often you've seen a Buick owner stop at a Buick dealer's showroom—not merely to look at a new Buick—but just to chat a while . . . old friends!

Such friendships exist between Buick owners and Buick dealers the country over. They have been built up through many years of pleasant association. For Buick owners invariably buy Buicks again and again. And the Buick dealer organization stands out as one of the oldest and most permanent in the entire industry.

In buying an automobile, as in any other business transaction, it is to your advantage to deal with solid and substantial men who are in business to stay, and who have an interest in your continued satisfaction with your motor car investment. The Buick dealer looks upon each new customer as a new friend.

Step into the nearest Buick showroom. Become acquainted with your Buick dealer. You'll find him ready to help and advise you, whether you are now considering the purchase of a new car or not.

SEDANS $1195 to $1995 COUPES $1195 to $1850 SPORT MODELS $1195 to $1525

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich., government tax to be added. The G. M. A. C. financing plan, the most desirable, is available.

BUICK for 1928

D. C. Black

330 Peachtree St.
Atlanta

Atlanta Branch

512 Spring St.
Atlanta

Decatur Buick Co.

Court Square
Decatur

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

EDITED by RICHARD CLARK

The Atlanta Constitution was the First Daily Newspaper in the Entire South to Offer Its Subscribers Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance Protection. Today There Is No Daily Newspaper In the South That Offers Such Complete and Large Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance Coverage As the Daily and Sunday Constitution, Which Paper Goes Into Nearly Every Worth-while Home in Atlanta and Vicinity and Is Delivered Into More Atlanta Homes Than Any Other Atlanta Newspaper.

BOOK REVIEWS IN TABLOID

MATTHEW HENDON, FAIRLY FAMOUS author of "Rebellion," Dodd-Mead who is widely known as an editor and also as the author of "The Story of a Country Town," which has become a classic.

Rebellion was written by the daughter of Ed Howe, the Kansas editor, prize novel, published on November 11.

The story by Mrs. Farnham is woven around a young willful girl, Jacqueline Burrell, and her father, John Taliaferro Burrell, Jr., of New Concord, Kan., the last of an old Virginia family who followed the westward trail in the days of the war between the states in hope of claiming Kansas for the old south. It is a story of a clash between father and daughter, of the old and the young generation and the results of the clash between the two. Some writer says "It is a poignant drama of the inevitable revolt of one generation from that which nurtured and preceded it—an affecting story of age which loves but will not understand, and of youth which ever longs for new scenes and is impatient of restraint."

It is the youth of today who refuse to be held by the hands of love or friendship of those of another generation, and who, in their thoughtlessness, will not recognize any rules or regulations but their own—impetuous, reckless, sometimes cruel and desperate but wholesome throughout. The latter is what the reviewer of the daughter will have to be established, and freshness that is seen all through the story.

It is an up-to-date story—not a story of fiction which is used to introduce a chapter with all her rockiness and frivolous style, but a story with a deeper undercurrent which impresses upon the reader that a new order of things is being established, and daughter will have to be established, and freshness that is seen all through the story.

NEW FICTION RECEIVED. Those Dumbest Bonapartes. By Robert Gordon Anderson. The story of the Bonapartes begins in Corsica from which time the reader becomes so interested in the family that he follows Napoleon as he walks, talks with Napoleon and also about him with the other members of the family. The reader meets every member of the family during the period that he becomes a follower of the great Corsican.

The story is filled with incidents of human interest and "as long as men are thrilled with the genuinely dramatic in actual history, as long as they are inspired by achievement and awe by greatness, so long will they be fascinated by the thrilling career of Napoleon Bonaparte." And so long will they be interested in the home life of the family of Bonapartes. (Century company, New York. Price $2.50.)

Sixteen to Forty. A woman's story. By "Marna." This is another story that will interest the reader. The life of a woman is indeed a varied one and as the reader follows in her footsteps from young girlhood to womanhood—the story of the daughter of an inventor and a weak but devoted wife and loving mother who spent much of her life in clean boarding houses in New York, this being followed by years in France and England, he will understand the life of a woman who is considered one of the best books. (Doran.)

Fair Game. By Olive Wadley, author of "Shirley." Another story of modern days. Philippa Gascoyne, a young girl of scarcely twenty years, married a man twenty years her senior. It ended as so many marriages do. Then the girl becomes reckless and finds her way to the Riviera, where she is attracted by a professional dancer whom she finally conquers. A terrible accident prevents the marriage at the appointed time. She is waiting for his recovery when her former husband pleads with her to return to him. The question now is will she return to him who divorced her, or wait for the recovery of the professional dancer? This problem is not a new one, but one that is interwoven into the life of many men and women. (Dodd, Mead & Co.)

SELECTIONS IN LITERATURE. 1927. With an Irish supplement. Edited by Edward J. O'Brien. The present record covers the period from June, 1926, to May, 1927, inclusive. The stories have been carefully selected from British and American periodicals especially those by Irish authors, and of which Mr. O'Brien says: "Substance is something achieved by the artist in every generation rather than something already present." The first test of a short story is the measure of how vitally compelling the writer makes his selected facts or incidents. This test may be conveniently made the test of substance and the true artist makes it a living substance with power to transform it into a living truth. Among the short stories selected are those that will please and entertain the reader and others that are simply worthwhile studies. (Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.)

The Appleton Book of Short Plays. Edited by Kenyon Nicholson, with stage plans and production notes. Among the writers are Edna Ferber, Octavus Roy Cohen, Florence Ryan, Rex Taylor. The introduction is by Barrett H. Clark, author of "A Study of the Modern Drama." The book has been planned so that the amateur producer will not find the stage settings difficult. The selections are satire, tragedy, romance and comedy. (D. Appleton & Co., New York.)

THE BEST PLAYS OF 1927. The Year Book of the Drama in America. Edited by Lewis Mittle. "If you were the editor of an American year book of the drama which of the ten plays out of the list of 24 selected from 163 enclosed would you include?" This question was sent out to ten

Defenders. By Stella G. S. Perry. The author wrote "Come Home," a story which was widely read. This new romance is located in

New Orleans in 1814-15. It is a story so full of action, so many things of excitement—battle, storm, shipwreck, etc., all so closely interwoven with the characters and the part they played in Louisiana in the saving of America that the reader will not find a dull moment in it.

It is termed a triple love story, the story of a "flapper" of one hundred years ago and a young naval officer; the devotion of a Cuban senator, a Mississippi dragon, an American girl; a pirate chief, an outlaw's daughter, etc. It is a stage full of actors and dramatic action to the limit. (Stokes.)

The Girl in the Glass Cage. By George Kilhe Turner. (McBride.)

Ballyhoo. By Beth Brown. Colored picture jacket, by Carroll Snell. "Carnival life is the lowest rung in the show-game ladder." Imagine a young girl who felt that she had to "dance it out" and who joined the carnival. It is a real story of carnival life. (The Dial Press.)

Profane Earth. A full canvas pageant of American life, by Holger H. Hill. Some critics who were well pleased with the style of the introduction says: "The book opens up with a tender idyll and then a drum beat of events drives the action forward. There are disturbing premonitions, hinting tragedy, then a gathering of forces sweeping to collision and catastrophe. Tumbling walls and a dead moon brood over the dead bodies of a town."

The author must have been in a serious mood when he created an American farm boy to whom a small town is a wonder and a world with one swoop of the pen equal to the force of an eagle snatching a child from earth, he flings this boy down into the vortex of modern problems. It is a true story of life. (Macaulay, New York.)

Hula. A Romance of Hawaii. By Armine von Tompeki. For years Hawaii seems to be the popular setting for a romance with its "hills of a thousand greens." The description of the location of this setting sounds like a newly discovered Eden, even in Hawaii. This beautifully described island was at one time owned by the Calhoun family, noted as big sugar planters, ranch owners, lovers of blooded horses and above everything, royal lives.

This is the setting for Hula and in which Hula, the English engineer, found her when he became a participant in the pleasure life of the Calhouns. It is a real American love story in a Hawaiian setting. (Stokes, New York.)

Denaturing Wings. By Faith Baldwin, author of "Three Women." The title of the writer's new book, tells its own story if the reader would concentrate long enough to work out its meaning—it is a charming romance in which the hero is all wound up in flying the last of a generation from which he never recovered—watching of denaturing wings. And next there is the heroine to whom marriage has become one of conflict, she too, watches the denaturing wings.

In writing of "Three Women" a reviewer says: "As reading it is dramatic and absorbing, as literature sound." (Dodd, Mead & Co.)

Sons of Israel. By Joseph Mendel Kesselring, author of "Sons of Israel." This story is not only one of spiritual interest to the young sons of Israel but one in which any reader of history as well as romance will find many subjects to discuss. (Dorrance & Co., Philadelphia.)

Coming the Rose. By Eric Shepherd. The story is woven around a Cambridge professor, a specialist in Roman inscriptions and vintage Burgundies; his daughter is a modern young woman and an excellent of the professor's. These characters all meet in Arignon in a "richly colored atmosphere of moonlit ruins to the song of the nightingale." The story is full of action. (Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston.)

The Place Called Dagon. By Herbert S. Gorman. A modern tale of witchcraft by the author of "A Victorian American." The story is located in the western hills of Massachusetts. In a valley surrounded by a range of hills the reader will find a mysterious community of New Englanders. There is an unusual romance to add to interest in which a young doctor fights for the safety of the girl he loves, as well as attempts to solve the mystery of Marlborough. It is a modern story but all through it there is a suggestion of the spirit of the witch days of Old Salem. The author is a well-known newspaper man of New York. He will understand the life of a woman who is considered one of the best books. (Doran.)

Fair Game. By Olive Wadley, author of "Shirley." Another story of modern days. Philippa Gascoyne, a young girl of scarcely twenty years, married a man twenty years her senior. It ended as so many marriages do. Then the girl becomes reckless and finds her way to the Riviera, where she is attracted by a professional dancer whom she finally conquers. A terrible accident prevents the marriage at the appointed time. She is waiting for his recovery when her former husband pleads with her to return to him. The question now is will she return to him who divorced her, or wait for the recovery of the professional dancer? This problem is not a new one, but one that is interwoven into the life of many men and women. (Dodd, Mead & Co.)

SELECTIONS IN LITERATURE. 1927. With an Irish supplement. Edited by Edward J. O'Brien. The present record covers the period from June, 1926, to May, 1927, inclusive. The stories have been carefully selected from British and American periodicals especially those by Irish authors, and of which Mr. O'Brien says: "Substance is something achieved by the artist in every generation rather than something already present." The first test of a short story is the measure of how vitally compelling the writer makes his selected facts or incidents. This test may be conveniently made the test of substance and the true artist makes it a living substance with power to transform it into a living truth. Among the short stories selected are those that will please and entertain the reader and others that are simply worthwhile studies. (Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.)

The Appleton Book of Short Plays. Edited by Kenyon Nicholson, with stage plans and production notes. Among the writers are Edna Ferber, Octavus Roy Cohen, Florence Ryan, Rex Taylor. The introduction is by Barrett H. Clark, author of "A Study of the Modern Drama." The book has been planned so that the amateur producer will not find the stage settings difficult. The selections are satire, tragedy, romance and comedy. (D. Appleton & Co., New York.)

THE BEST PLAYS OF 1927. The Year Book of the Drama in America. Edited by Lewis Mittle. "If you were the editor of an American year book of the drama which of the ten plays out of the list of 24 selected from 163 enclosed would you include?" This question was sent out to ten

Defenders. By Stella G. S. Perry. The author wrote "Come Home," a story which was widely read. This new romance is located in

New Orleans in 1814-15. It is a story so full of action, so many things of excitement—battle, storm, shipwreck, etc., all so closely interwoven with the characters and the part they played in Louisiana in the saving of America that the reader will not find a dull moment in it.

It is termed a triple love story, the story of a "flapper" of one hundred years ago and a young naval officer; the devotion of a Cuban senator, a Mississippi dragon, an American girl; a pirate chief, an outlaw's daughter, etc. It is a stage full of actors and dramatic action to the limit. (Stokes.)

Atlanta's Municipal Airport Is Nearing Completion

Atlanta's municipal airport is rapidly approaching completion, with two large hangars already constructed and a third well under way. In this aerial photograph of the hangar row, snapped Friday afternoon, it is seen that the local airport is in a fair position to rival the flying fields of larger cities of the north.

The structure going up at the right of the picture is Beeler Blevins' new hangar, which will house from eight to ten planes. In the middle of the picture is the elaborately fitted hangar of the Pitcairn Aviation Company, Inc., of Philadelphia, holders of the New York-Atlanta-Miami air mail contract, while to the left is the all-metal hangar belonging to Doug Davis. The lighthouse tower in the left foreground will accommodate the floodlights to be used in night flying. The air beacon will be placed on a lofty pole at the rear of the hangar row.

At the edge of the flying field in the foreground are seen the three Orowings and the Fleetwing planes of the Pitcairn company, together with several planes from the Davis hangar. The trenches seen around the hangars have been dug for the electric wires, as no overhead wiring can be allowed at the flying field. At one side of the Davis hangar workmen are rapidly completing the rest house.

In the group picture are the members of the Pitcairn company's staff at Candler field. From left to right they are M. P. Hanscom, chief mechanic; W. J. Shaffer, chief pilot; Johnnie Kyle, pilot; J. D. Hand, pilot; Sterling Smith, pilot; E. G. Baringer, pilot, and Ben Faulkner, operations manager. The pilots shown in the picture will be among the air mail pilots operating over the New York-Atlanta-Miami route, which will open about March 4.

VETUS MELIUS EST

BY ERNEST NEAL.

Tickle my taste with the tinkling chime
Of the grapy-juicy modern rhyme;
But seal not all that classic lore,
The priceless mellow wines of yore.
Old Homer, blinded though his mortal eyes,
In dream and truth saw visions rise;
They who in him no beauties find,
Not Homer but themselves are blind.
Great Findar's odes and poems clear
Still have charms to please the ear;
Sweet Vergil's harp and ringing lays
Of Horace—in Rome's golden days—
Echoed in themes of Ariosto,
Awoke the genius of Tasso,
Give Dante's torch Olympic fire,
And tune our Milton's heavenly lyre.

New York critics—nine answered. When the votes were counted it was found that Philip Dunning and George Abbott's "Broadway" and Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children," the ten best plays of last season were:

- 1—Broadway.
- 2—Saturday's Children.
- 3—Chicago.
- 4—The Constant Wife.
- 5—The Road to Rome.
- 6—The Play's the Thing.
- 7—The Captive.
- 8—The Silver Cord.
- 9—The Second Man.
- 10—The Cradle Song or In Abraham's Bosom.

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS. Latest Contemporary Portraits. By Frank Harris, who wrote "Oscar Wilde: His Life and Confessions." The stormy petrel of literature here brings up to date his famous biographical studies of world figures in letters, finance, diplomacy, medicine and architecture. Bernard Shaw has called Frank Harris the greatest critic of the day, declaring "you can bend the bow of Ulysses while other critics cannot."

In writing in the introduction Mr. Harris says that he loves a good many of his subjects, that he has an intimate sympathy for all of them. In fact, he says they are men and women of importance or he would not write about them, among them being Barbusse, the historian of the world war; Russell, who gives us the very soul of Ireland, and Annie Besant who does similar service for India. The book shows Mr. Harris' wonderful and intimate knowledge of the world and the understanding of the noted men and women. (Macaulay's Book, $2.50, New York.)

The Organ and Its Masters. An account of the organists of former days as well as some of the prominent virtuosi of the present, with a brief sketch of the development of organ construction. By Henry C. Robbins, author of "Grand Opera in America" and other valuable books to the musical world.

The author gives a list of some of the noted music artists and composers of the world. The story of the organ is worth reading—it might be called "The Romance of the Organ." Part

I discusses the early organs and organists. Beginning with the Continental organ, Mr. Labece ends a most interesting story with the American organ and organists. The author is well known as a traveler while searching for a treasure which he had buried on the island years before. There is plenty of action in this story for both boys and girls who love adventures. There's a gulf story, a leaky boat, a thrilling capture after a hand-to-hand encounter, and then comes the climax. (D. Appleton & Co., New York.)

JUNIOR BOOKS RECEIVED. The Blushing Camel. By Kent Curtis. The hero of this story is told by the young hero, Lex Braggart, a happy-go-lucky youth who was living all alone on an island off the coast of Florida. Several years before the father of Lex was killed in a hurricane while searching for a treasure which he had buried on the island years before. There is plenty of action in this story for both boys and girls who love adventures. There's a gulf story, a leaky boat, a thrilling capture after a hand-to-hand encounter, and then comes the climax. (D. Appleton & Co., New York.)

The Desert Hawk. By Harry Sinclair Drago, author of "The Snow Patrol." This is another stirring tale of the old west with all the excitement that usually comes to a cattle herder. In this story a young girl and her cowboy lover play a most thrilling part. (Macaulay's Book, New York.)

Nolichucky Jack. By John T. Fariss. Frontispiece in color and three other illustrations by D. Cammerota. The author is well known as a traveler and a writer of travel stories. He has now written a historical story of 160 years ago for boys, and has woven it around John Sevier, who is now so well known, even as the North Carolina forest in which he locates the tale.

It is a thrilling story of several battles with the Chickasaws and the Creeks, the best known of the battles being King's mountain. It was during this time that John Sevier, called "Jack," did his most heroic work. It is also a story of frontier life in which a great nation was being made—Indian legends told around the camp fire, descriptions of games, and other things like Jack's romance and the building of the log fort and the great chief of the Chickasaws is a thrilling story for the youth, especially in the south. (Lippincott's Book, Philadelphia.)

"CHILDREN, THE MAGAZINE FOR PARENTS," CELEBRATES ITS FIRST BIRTHDAY. "Children, The Magazine for Parents," in its first anniversary number, announces that it has 60,000 names on its calling list. In this issue George J. Hecht, president of the New York association which publishes the magazine, rededicates the publication "to the interests of parents for the sake of their children."

"Children are the world's most precious heritage; the task of rearing them is the greatest of all."

Beautiful Balm of Bahama. Iles of Perpetual June. HOTEL FORT MONTAGU, NASSAU, N. P. Tropical, Fresh, Open Air, Sea Breeze, Every Outdoor Sport, Open All Year.

Clark's Famous Cruises. By CUNARD-ANCHOR new oil burners, at rates including food, guides, drives, fees and Europe stop-over.

ROUND THE WORLD 125 Days $1250 to $3000 "Caledonia," sailing Jan. 16, west 8th cruise, Jan. 25; 65 days, $600 to $1700; features 15 days Egypt-Palestine 4th Norway Cruise, June 30; 82 days, $600 to $1300

THE MEDITERRANEAN 24th cruise, Jan. 25; 65 days, $600 to $1700; features 15 days Egypt-Palestine 4th Norway Cruise, June 30; 82 days, $600 to $1300

John T. North, 68 Broad St., N. Y. F. C. Clark, Times Bldg., New York. Cunard Line, 44 Walton St., New York.

MAGNIFICENT NEW HOTEL 400 ROOMS WITH BATH $12 and up for ONE PERSON $14 and up for TWO PERSONS

HOTEL KNICKERBOCKER NEW YORK WEST 45th STREET Just East of Broadway Times Square

Reservations made by Amer. 1000, Express Co. Travel Dept.

Cunard Caribbean Cruises this winter

WEST INDIES CRUISES Another popular 15-day Xmas Cruise to the West Indies by the luxurious new "FRANCONIA" sailing December 20th, followed by two delightful 31-day cruises by the new "CALIFORNIA" sailing January 21st and February 25th. The ideal winter vacation.

To EGYPT AND THE HOLY LAND Cunard offers two fascinating Mediterranean Cruises by the new "CARINTHIA" and palatial "MAURETANIA" sailing December 3d and February 21st respectively. Plan to go—now.

Write or call for full details, rates and literature. Apply to Local Agents or Cunard-Anchor Steamship Lines 44 Walton Street Atlanta, Ga.

Always Carry American Express Travelers Cheques

100 PCT. REACHED AT JOE BROWN

All of Joe Brown's 1,400 pupils had a holiday November 22 as a reward for having 100 per cent perfect teeth.

Last year Joe Brown had his own dentist to examine teeth and only 400 had to get certificates. It took us until spring to get these certificates. This year all of Joe Brown's 1,400 pupils had to get perfect teeth certificates and we got them by Tuesday, November 21.

It was largely through the untiring efforts of Miss O'Sullivan that we got perfect teeth. Due credit should be given to the Parent-Teacher association, who spent much time and money, and for four years furnished cars to take pupils to the dentist, which no parent can afford to neglect.

The Mexican Question. Mexico and American-Mexican Relations under Calles and Obregon. By William English Walling, author of "American Labor and American Democracy." (Robinson Press, Fourth Avenue, New York.)

The Book of Puzzles. By A. Frederick Collins. How would you like to try your hand on a good puzzle? The illustrations add to the book. (Appleton's Book.)

What and Why in China. By Paul Hutchinson. If you will read this book it will help you to understand China news. (Willett Clark & Co., Dearborn street, Chicago.)

Primitive Man as Philosopher. By Paul Radin, editor of "Crashing Thunder." With a foreword by John Dewey, professor of philosophy, Columbia university. (D. Appleton & Co., price $3.)

However, even these loyal supporters would not have succeeded without the full cooperation of the group advisers and pupils.

The classes of Joe Brown filled and decorated 42 baskets to be equally distributed between the Old Ladies' home and the St. Andrew's Avenue Day Nursery. The baskets were overflowing with canned and fresh food. It is through the courtesy of Skinner Transfer and Storage company that the baskets were delivered.

3-B-G gave a Thanksgiving program at the Old Ladies' home Tuesday afternoon. Among other Red Cross activities Joe Brown is having a tin foil drive, and is 75 per cent of the Red Cross.

EVELYN MATHIEU.

THE LUXURY CRUISE Mediterranean PALESTINE-EGYPT By the famous S.S. "ROTTERDAM" Leaving New York, Feb. 2nd, 1928

71 Days of Delightful Diversions ITINERARY: Includes Madeira, Cadiz, Seville, (Granada) Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Rome, Athens, Constantinople, Smyrna, Izmir, Jerusalem, (The Holy Land), Alexandria, Cairo (and Egypt), Suez, Aden, Bombay, Ceylon, fully planned shore excursions in each port. American Express Co., Singapore.

For choice selection of accommodations make reservations now. Cost of Cruise $955 up. Number of guests limited. Illustrations by Holland-America Line.

BEST HOTEL VALUE IN NEW YORK Gregorian SPECIAL SUMMER RATES LARGE ROOM, BATH $3.00 per week. 10 PERSONS 15 TA ROOM-RESTAURANT-LUNCH 50 IN WEEK

ITALY AND THE CONTINENT

By the Roman Splendor Ships that take you over the Sunny Southern Route to Genoa or Naples, enchanting gateways to the Continent. ROMA • Dec. 13 (The ship of Beauty and Refinement)

COLOMBO • Dec. 8 (The popular Cabin Class Steamer) Luxurious accommodations are now available at reduced rates on all steamers

Special Winter Voyages MADEIRA, GIBRALTAR, ALGIERS, NAPLES, GENOA COLOMBO, Jan. 17 ROMA, Jan. 28 COLOMBO, Feb. 24

SITMAR DE LUXE CONNECTING LINE From Naples and Genoa to Egypt, Asia Minor and Constantinople

ITALIA AMERICA SHIPPING CORP., General Agents Limited, 101 E. 42nd St., New York

When Traveling for business or pleasure, use these hotels in Boston—Buffalo Cleveland—Detroit—St. Louis New York [Hotel Pennsylvania Statler Operated]

Buildings, Equipment and Policies: Modern hotels, clean, well-kept, bath in every room. Trained, competent organizations. Fixed, unchanging rates, posted in all rooms.

Newspaper under your door every morning. Well-selected libraries. Variety of restaurants, from lunch counter or cafeteria to formal à la carte service.

Recognition of the guest's right to courteous, interested, helpful service from every Statler employee; and if you get unsatisfactory service and the local management does not satisfy you, I will.

HOTELS STATLER 7700 rooms with bath and circulating ice-water

Choosing a winter cruise

94 ideal cruises to select from in this booklet

These cruises go all over the globe—to the Mediterranean, West Indies, South America, Africa, Around the World. Some West Indies cruises are $200 for 16 days. Others are longer and cost in proportion. Mediterranean cruises are as low as $345 for 39 days.

Cruising is keen pleasure—the most popular way to travel in winter. The AMERICAN EXPRESS can help you to decide and save you trouble and expense. American Express travel experts can save you the bothersome worries

AMERICAN EXPRESS Travel Department 91 Luckie Street, N. W. MAin 3471 Atlanta, Ga.

Always Carry American Express Travelers Cheques

$1,000,000 Stock of Winter Merchandise Must Be Reduced at Once! Look at the PRICE CRASH!

There is no credit due us for offering you these startling Low prices. We MUST do it! There is no alternative. Our stocks of Fall and Winter merchandise are a quarter of a million dollars too heavy—due to the hot spell of October and November—and now Holiday Merchandise is piling in on top of that and we must have the room.

We'll help you to the most phenomenal bargains you have ever seen AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR if you will help us to get some of that necessary space we need so badly here and there in the store. Come now, and get IN NOVEMBER greater bargains than you'd expect even in a January Clearance Sale! Never before have we seen such things as have been here since this sale started.

COATS

For Women, Misses and Juniors

at $25

Values $35 and $39.95

25 Navy and Black Medium-Weight Twill Coats. Straight lines, some have box pleats on the side, turn-back cuffs of self material, fur collars. Just the coat for travel, warm days, or Florida wear.

Coat Suits at $25

Worth up to $39.95. Coat suits of Navy Twill, all wool, double and single-breasted, two to four-button. Well tailored. Lining of pure silk crepe in tan or gray. Long lapels, some bound around collar cuffs and pockets with silk braid. Skirts straight, open all way down, wrap-around style. Sizes 14 to 44 included.

MEN'S NOFADE SHIRTS $2

In solid white, also in big range of color combinations. Collars-attached or neckband styles. Guaranteed fast colors. Full cut and well made of Genuine Broadcloth. Sizes 14 to 17.

Men's Silk Lounging Robes $12.50

Trimmed with Skinner satin. In beautiful range of colors. Made with two side and one breast pockets. Beautiful silk cable cord. All regular sizes.

Others from $9.95 to $35

Men's Wool Smoking Jackets, $6.95

Made of all-wool material with two side and one breast pocket. Regulation coat style, 2-button front. Neatly trimmed with braid or cord. Sizes 36 to 44.

Men's "Faultless Nobelt" PAJAMAS $2.50

In a big range of new holiday patterns, all guaranteed fast colors. Come in a big assortment of stripes and other fancy patterns. All regular sizes. The Faultless Webb Belt is guaranteed for one year.

High's, Men's Furnishings Section, Street Floor

Rayon Bedspreads

Limit 3 to a Customer

Size 81x105! One thousand of them for Monday. All first quality. Choice of Rose, Blue, Green, Gold. Regular $2.98 spreads.

81x90 Bed Sheets

Special Monday

Full-sized bed sheets. Made from excellent quality sheeting and have wide hems. A special that will crowd our Main Floor Bedding Section Monday.

Bed Comforters $3.98 Each

Full bed-size. Filled with white cotton and covered with excellent quality printed challie. We must have the room these now occupy for our holiday goods, otherwise they would sell for the regular price—about half higher.

Wool-Mixed Blankets $5.98 Pair

Size 70x80. Wool-mixed blankets in large, fancy block plaids and colored sateen binding. The warm spell left us heavily stocked with these, but at this low price it pays to buy a supply for seasons to come.

Enormous Reductions in Boys' Overcoats

$8.95 $12.50

For Overcoats that sold up to $15.00. Sizes 10 to 16. ALL-WOOL. Double-breasted styles. Don't wait till January to buy that fine overcoat at about half price. Here it is now.

In this lot are Overcoats that even last week sold up to $22.50. Sizes 10 years to size 36. ALL-WOOL. Best known makes. Perfectly tailored and finished. Darker shades only.

High's—Boys' Clothing Section—Third Floor

Bring the Kiddies to

JOYLAND

Atlanta's Greatest Toy and Doll Display

Dressed Dolls—26 inches tall. Unbreakable composition head, legs and arms. Moving eyes and eyelashes. Dressed in pretty rayon dresses—choice of Pink, Blue and Yellow—with caps to match. All have shoes and stockings. A real big realistic Doll, and $5.00 value. Our special at $3.98

Roller Skates—The "Roll Fast" for boys or girls. Strongly built of heavy grade steel, fully nickel plated, ball bearing throughout. Adjustable to fit any size shoe. $1.95

Large Size Boys' Football $1.00 Made of heavy grade cowhide, with strong flexible rubber bladder. High's Special at $1.

Writing Desks

For the grown girl. Made of oak, nice varnished. The roll-top style, with partitions, drawers on the side. They come complete with chair. Priced at—

$6.49 to $24.50

Scooters—Just the thing for outdoor exercise for the boy. Made of hardwood, disc wheels, rubber tired for easy running. Our special at $1.98

TOY SECTION—FOURTH FLOOR

50-Inch Silk Drapery

Special Monday 98c Per Yard

In this lot of fine Drapery Silk will be found colors and combinations for any window in the home, and at a saving of more than half. Price regularly is up to $3.00 per yard.

DRESSES

For Women, Misses and Juniors

Dresses That Sold for $24.95 and $29.95, Now

$15

Sizes 14 to 44

200 New midwinter Silk and Cloth Dresses. Youthful styles and more mature straight-line styles. Crepe de Chine, Velveteen, three-piece dresses, Georgette, combined with Velvet, and Satin-back Crepe. Black, Wine, Green, Cocoa.

HIGH'S, SECOND FLOOR

HANDKERCHIEFS

HIGH'S Annual Pre-Christmas Sale, for which Atlanta folks wait, starts Monday. Thousands of Christmas lists are filled in this sale—for which we prepare months in advance, and known by all to be the greatest sale of the season for Fine Handkerchiefs.

HIGH'S, STREET FLOOR

500 Dozen Ladies' Novelty Voile Handkerchiefs

Made in Switzerland. With embroidered corners. Also lace edges. White with colors and assorted colors with lace edges. 39c values. Sale Price Monday, in our Annual Pre-Christmas Sale—

12c Each

Men's Fancy Colored Handkerchiefs—Full size. Hemstitched borders. Soft quality. 25c 19c values, sale price, each... 10c, 19c, 25c Each

MEN'S WHITE LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS

With colored hand-drawn threads. Assorted patterns. Special, each... 39c

Men's Novelty Crepe de Chine Silk Handkerchiefs—Hand-rolled hems. Assorted colors. $1.00 to $2.00 Each

Men's Plain Linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs—Full size, soft quality. 35c, 3 for $1.00

Men's Hand-Made Hand-Embroidered Linen Handkerchiefs—Very fine quality at, each... $1.95

Men's Fine Linen Hand-Embroidered Hand-Drawn Handkerchiefs—Full size. All white and white with colors. Each... $1.00

Men's Nice White Linen Handkerchiefs—Fancy initial. Three in box, for... $1.25

MEN'S HAND-MADE HANDKERCHIEFS

With hand-rolled borders and drawn colored threads, each... 59c

Men's White Handkerchiefs—Linen with colored stripes and colored initials, each... 59c

Men's Very Fine Linen Hand-Embroidered Hand-Drawn Handkerchiefs—Full size. All white and white with colors. Each... $1.00

Men's Fine Hand-Drawn Silk Pongee Handkerchiefs—Assorted designs with colored threads, at, each... $1.00

Men's Fancy Colored Handkerchiefs. With colored initials. Three in box... $1.00

Men's Plain White Linen Handkerchiefs—Soft quality, plain hemstitched borders, at 25c, 35c to $1.00 Ea.

Men's Fine Soft Cotton Handkerchiefs. Three in box... 59c

500 Boxes Ladies' Fine Linen Handkerchiefs

White and Colors. About 50 kinds to select from. Fancy embroidered corners. Assorted designs. Put up in fancy boxes. 3 in box. Regular $1.00 values. Sale Price—

79c Box

Ladies' Hand-Made Linen Handkerchiefs—White with colored embroidered corners. Big assortment patterns— 25c, 35c, 39c to $1

Ladies' Hand-Painted Silk Handkerchiefs—In pastel colors. 29c, 50c to 89c Each

Ladies' Hand-Made Silk Georgette Handkerchiefs—Lace edges and hand-embroidered corners. Pastel colors. 59c to $1.00

Ladies' Hand-Made Armenian Linen Handkerchiefs—White with colored embroidered corners. All white. 59c and $1.00 Each

Ladies' Mourning Handkerchiefs—1-8 and 1-4 in hems. Made on fine cloth. 10c, 15c, 25c Each

Fancy Mourning Handkerchiefs—Made on fine linen. Hand-embroidered in black embroidery at, each... 89c

Boys' Boxed Handkerchiefs—White and colors. Three in fancy box, for... 59c

Kiddies' Fancy Boxed Handkerchiefs—White with colored designs. Three in box. 39c, 59c to 75c

2,000 MEN'S

Pure Linen Longfellow Initial

Handkerchiefs. All white. Full size. Soft. 35c quality. Special at—

25c Each

10,000 Yards of High-Grade Silks

Worth up to $2.50, $2.95 and $3.50 Yd.

To go on sale Monday. Fresh and desirable merchandise from our regular stocks.

- 40-inch Ballet Crepe
- 40-inch Pure Dye Flat Crepe
- 40-inch Satin Crepe
- 40-inch Printed Crepes
- 40-inch Plain Georgettes
- 40-inch Charmeuse Satin
- 36-inch Changeable and Plain Taffetas.

40-Inch Extra Heavy and Crepey Weave Pure-Dye Flat Crepe

Complete line of pastel shades. Especially desirable for underwear. Very timely at this time of gift-buying. Specially priced for Monday at $1.49 Yd.

54-Inch Suede Coating

Regular Price $5.90 Yard

$3.45 Yd.

Soft, velvety finish. Medium weight. Colors: Tan, Cocoa, Brown, Navy, Black. Special for Monday at an almost unbelievably low price.

Woolens

at $1.98 Yd.

Special purchase of $2.95, $3.95 and $4.95 coatings—novelties, brocaded weaves, checks and plain. Poirer Twills, Flannels. Every yard this season's merchandise. Quantity limited.

Velvets

at $3.69 Yd.

40-inch All-Silk face. Chiffon. Velvet Erect Pile. High, lustrous finish. Very light weight. Suitable for draping. Colors: Copen, Malaga, Cocoa, Navy, Russet and much wanted Black.

HIGH'S—SILK STORE

J.M. HIGH CO.

45 Years of Faithful Service and Value-giving

THE CONSTITUTION'S PARENT-TEACHER PAGE

 Edited by
MAINER LEE TOLER

OFFICERS GEORGIA BRANCH, NATIONAL CONGRESS OF MOTHERS AND PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS—Mrs. P. H. Jeter, of Decatur, president; Mrs. J. J. Hoffmeyer, of Albany, first vice president; Mrs. A. F. McGhee, of Macon, recording secretary; Mrs. James Calhoun, of Columbus, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Desautels, of Savannah, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Nunnally Johnson, of Columbus, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. W. Rowlett, of Atlanta, historian; Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, of Atlanta, second vice president; Mrs. Katherine Dwyer, of Gainesville, sixth vice president; Mrs. Dan Miller, of Gainesville, seventh vice president; Mrs. W. C. Reers, of Atlanta, president.

OFFICERS OF ATLANTA PARENT-TEACHER COUNCIL—Mrs. C. J. Foster, president; Mrs. Cliff Barnes, first vice president; Mrs. E. W. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. W. L. McCall, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. H. T. Loeber, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. G. Otwell, treasurer.

'Dogwood for Atlanta' Is Slogan For Atlanta's School Children

Miss Hattie Rainwater, supervisor of the public school system, has written the following article captioned, "Dogwood for Atlanta," which has its bearing upon Arbor day celebration Friday, December 2.

"Five years ago came December 2. Arbor day, the school children of Atlanta started a project to make their city one of the most beautiful cities of the world by planting dogwood trees in quantities on their home and public grounds. The first year we worked under the slogan 'Atlanta as an April bride in her wedding white gown.' More than 700 dogwood trees were planted by the children that first year.

"Each autumn the work has gone steadily forward by the planting of greater numbers of dogwood trees each year and now, of our 40,000 homes, there is hardly one left that does not boast its dogwood tree as its inspiration to greater things each spring, as its thrill of color in the fall. One home boasts 2,000.

"The bride's perfume has been supplied by interspersing here and there in the planting our native crapehairs, and a new touch of color to make her up-to-date has been given by red, white and blue native oaks, and by crape myrtle, a gift from a friendly foreign country.

"Within the five years since the project started not less than 5,000 dogwood trees have been planted by the children and more thousands more have been and are being planted by their adult friends who have caught the spirit.

"The real estate companies who are opening up new subdivisions are catching the idea and are planting dogwood trees between their sidewalk shade trees over the entire subdivisions.

"The dogwood beauty spot of our city, DuPont Hills, conceived and planted many years ago by the late Joel Hurt, Sr., and others who are gone, has been our inspiration from the beginning.

"Already we find that we are known in other states and other lands for our dogwoods, and we foresee that Atlanta as a nursery for lovers of beauty, is near at hand and each spring we find ourselves entertaining an ever-increasing number of enthusiasts on our city beautiful.

"In order that all parts of Atlanta may be part of this beauty and reap an equal share of fame, we are working this year under a more localized slogan. My community as pretty as the prettiest when dogwood blooms, in addition to the city-wide interest slogan.

"We believe in cooperation in our schools and in each individual taking a hand, so each child has assumed a definite part of the responsibility of making his school community the most attractive in the city during dogwood blooming season.

"Each child will attempt: 1.—To plant one dogwood tree himself. 2.—To so spread the gospel of dogwood planting among his adult friends that he will be able to influence the planting of at least one tree by an adult by December 2. This gives him two trees to report to his school on Arbor day—Dogwood day.

"Planting may begin now at any time. At the close of this article we are supplying some suggestions for planting the dogwood trees by Mr. Butts of Ashford Park Nurseries several years ago. We have found them helpful. You may, too, Atlanta belongs to all of us. It is our hope that every adult friend will plant his dogwood tree and thereby purchase for himself a share in the beauty that is destined to give Atlanta fame.

"Many streets are being widened on the south side of the city. This is our opportunity to make that section second to none in beauty by planting dogwood trees between the larger shade trees that are being set on the new sidewalks. The home owners will miss an opportunity if they do not get these trees in at the time.

"The children are much interested, too, in saving the dogwoods that we have. Those trees that grow in our woods within sight of the highways or the railroads are to be left to give our visitors the first thrill of greater beauty to come.

"Only trees that grow in the deep woods (not posted) may be taken up. Many of the trees planted are brought in from other parts of the state.

"In the spring our dogwoods are

I. N. Ragsdale P.T.A. Announces Yearly Program

The following program has been arranged by the I. N. Ragsdale P.T.A. for the year 1927-1928 by Miss Stella Meadows, chairman of the program committee; September, organization; short business session; remarks by Miss Fannie Spahr, principal; introduction of teachers; Miss Margaret Thornton, kindergarten; Miss Marion Brooks, low one; Miss Betty Morse, low one; Miss Blanche Beers, low one; Miss Bess McDonald, high two; Miss Grace New, low three; Miss Blanche Johnston, high three; Mrs. A. J. McClure, low four; Miss Lexie Jenkins, high four; Miss Agnes Cunningham, low five; Miss Emmalee Nolen, high five; Miss Ida Hurtel, low six; Mrs. Allen, high six; Miss Belle Simpson, deaf.

Plans for the year outlined by the president:

October—Health; remarks by Mrs. Barnett; address by Miss Fannie Spahr; report by Mrs. Gaston Hawkins, chairman of better films committee.

November—The School and Its Work; three minutes talk by each of the faculty; 1. Miss Brooks, order to and from school; 2. Miss Grace New, banking; 3. Miss Ida Hurtel, school party, sponsored by the low six; 4. Mrs. A. J. McClure, home work; 5. Miss Agnes Cunningham, children's reading; 6. Miss Stella Meadows, Teeth.

December—Adolescent reading; plea for library shower.

January—Thrill; the school bank, February—Child welfare.

March—Recreation.

April—Home cooperation.

May—Final yearly reports by officers and chairman; election of officers; social hour.

Temple Ave. P.T.A. To Sponsor Show In College Park

A vaudeville will be staged December 2 at the College Park High school for the benefit of the Temple Avenue P.T.A. Tickets will be 25 and 35 cents if bought before the performance. At the door tickets will be 50 cents.

This vaudeville consists of a variety of acts beginning with a song and dance revue of 1927-1928 composed of a chorus of pretty girls with lovely voices. There will be black-faced comedienne; the rehearsal of the next court speech of a prominent Atlanta lawyer, by Tom Lofton and Bill Chapman, of Atlanta, charming little Tootsie Dunbar will have an act all her own. Two short one-act plays will be given which will keep the audience roaring with laughter. Pupils of Miss Nellie Sullivan and little three-year-old Dorothy Dischune, of Atlanta, will have prominent parts in the show. The last act is beautiful, artistic and peppy, the scene being set in old Spain with seniors and seniors making merry in a cabaret of Seville.

Miss Jean Dozier, of the Atlanta conservatory, with her dancing partner, will be featured in this act.

This vaudeville is being directed by Miss Manota Conley of College Park, who is a graduate in expression of Sullins college, Bristol, Va., and well known as a teacher of dramatic art and expression. Assisting Miss Conley will be Misses Annie Ray Thompson and Avis Patterson and a number of College Park's most talented young people.

bution of garments, taking place November 28, are asked to do so on Thursday as a thank offering. Mrs. W. F. Floding, chairman of philanthropy, will receive these gifts, which is the last opportunity of giving for the 1927 collection.

Mrs. Kate Green Hess, newly elected president of the fifth district Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, will be a special guest and will bring a message to the Buckeye club. Mrs. Edwin M. Helbig, president of the club, will preside at the business meeting.

Buckeye Woman's Club Meets Tuesday.

The Buckeye Woman's club meets Tuesday afternoon, November 29, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. D. O. Smith, 40 Fourteenth street, N. E. with Mrs. J. E. Whitman and Mrs. S. G. Hunter as assisting hostesses. The topics of the program will be "Thanksgiving in Song and Story" and Mrs. W. Earl Quillian and Mrs. Fred J. White, the well known talented reader, will sponsor the program.

This will be the last regular meeting of the 1927 and members are urged to be present.

Members who have not contributed garments or money for the annual Needlework quilt collection and distribution

Peoples Street P.T.A. Daddies' Meeting Addressed by Dr. Stauffer

Daddies' night was largely attended by the P.T.A. members and friends of the Peoples Street school Tuesday evening at the school. Mrs. J. Q. Hooper presided.

Dr. R. C. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered an inspiring talk on "The Spiritual Education of the Child." He told very interestingly why it was impossible for the child to grow without spiritual education, as physical, intellectual and spiritual education were all related.

The picture of a snake was pasted on each one. A more earnest development of spiritual life in the home was the outstanding thought given in this uplifting talk. Miss Lucile Price, one of the school's teachers, gave two vocal solos.

The membership drive, which was put on in the school several weeks ago, was very successful, due to the untiring efforts of the chairman and her co-workers. Much interest was shown and the prizes were awarded at this meeting. Miss Hamilton's first grade won the first honor; Miss Hamilton's fifth grade, the second honor and Miss Chambers' fourth grade received third honor.

Mrs. Simmons was introduced as the new pre-school age chairman appointed to fill Mrs. J. B. Carter's untimely term on account of a change of address out of the city. Mrs. Simmons enters her new work with much enthusiasm and it is hoped that the mothers will gladly cooperate with her for a successful year.

A pleasant and unique surprise was planned by Mrs. Mills, membership chairman, which created much interest. The picture of a snake was pasted on each one of the chairs, and when asked who had the lucky chair it was found that Mrs. McDonald was the winner and received a large home-baked cake. All chairman gave encouraging reports. Mrs. Wilson reported over $50 cleared from the October carnival.

It was also announced that no December meeting would be held. Plans are being made for an Arbor day program and a Joel Chandler Harris program to be held at the school the first part of December. The count for the growth of the system during the past 10 years and outlined the building program which is being carried out.

Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor of Gordon Street Baptist church, who was the principal speaker of the evening, spoke of the importance of home life.

Hammond school was awarded the sixth attendance prize. D. L. J. E. White teacher, was awarded a special prize offered to the class having the largest percentage of fathers present.

Ben Hill P.T.A. Daddies' Meeting.

On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Ben Hill P.T.A. held an interesting meeting in honor of the "daddies" of the school. Mrs. J. H. Strickland, principal of the school, had charge of the program, presenting the following artists in piano duets, piano solos, vocal solos and readings: Miss Jeanette Baker, Master Jim Tom Bryant, Mrs. W. O. Suttles, W. R. Miller, Miss Perdita Collins, Miss Dorothy

Moreland P.T.A. Hears Address By Mrs. Arthur Tufts

The Moreland P.T.A. met in the school building Tuesday afternoon, November 22, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Arthur Tufts, president of Dekalb county council, who spoke on "The Spiritual Development of the Child."

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. Tufts stressed the value of spiritual training in early childhood. Following this inspiring talk was a discussion of the problems of moving pictures by Mrs. Parks, chairman of the Saturday matinee at the Howard theater. Mrs. Parks urged that all disorders begin in childhood and the training of the child has all to do with its future career.

Mrs. B. M. Smith, citizenship chairman, urged everyone present to use their vote on December 7.

Mrs. Wesley, of the better films committee, called attention to the Christmas donations of toys and children's garments that must be provided.

Moreland Pre-School Circle Holds Meeting.

The Moreland pre-school circle met Wednesday, November 15, at the school. Mrs. Parks, council chairman of pre-school work, gave a most interesting and helpful talk on the importance of pre-school years in child training.

The circle meets the third Wednesday of each month in the kindergarten rooms of the school. The next meeting will be on December 21. It is hoped that all pre-school mothers will avail themselves of the wonderful opportunity of attending these circle meetings.

Parent-Teacher Meetings

Mrs. C. F. von Herrmann urges a full attendance at the meeting of the executive board of the O'Keefe P.T.A. Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Mr. Hastings' office.

The executive board of Pryor Street school meets Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The pre-school circle of Adair P.T.A. meets Friday afternoon, December 2, at 2:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. H. G. Parks, city chairwoman of the school, will have children under the age of 6 please attend.

A joint meeting of Emory P.T.A. and the Commerce association will be held in the community house on Tuesday evening, November 29, at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be in interest of school bonds, which will be voted on November 30.

The P.T.A. of the First Presbyterian church will hold a fathers' and mothers' meeting Monday evening, November 28, at 7:30 o'clock in the church. Mrs. Charlotte Persinger will talk on "The Necessity of a Director of Religious Education" and the "Duties of a Director of Religious Education." A large attendance is urged.

West End Woman's Club News Is of Interest.

Several social events are on the calendar of the West End Woman's club following the quiet Thanksgiving week. Mrs. J. T. Layfield, chairman of Tallulah Falls work, assisted by Mrs. Luta Gene Maury and a large committee, will give a mammoth bridge-luncheon Friday, December 2. A turkey luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, to be followed by the bridge game. Tables will be $2, including luncheon.

This affair is for the benefit of the school at Tallulah and the building fund of the club. Many tables have been reserved. For additional reservations, call Mrs. G. W. Grant, West 0723-J; Mrs. Z. T. Layfield, West 0723-J; Mrs. L. M. Alcorn, West 2087, or Mrs. F. H. Jackson, West 1061.

Mrs. J. R. Wakefield will entertain a large private party November 29 at the clubhouse. Those wishing to secure the building for dances or private parties may do so by calling the president, Mrs. George Grant, West 0723-J.

Mrs. Julius Spier announces that all contributions to the needlework quilt must be brought to her Monday morning.

The hospital committee, Mrs. Julius Spier chairman, Mrs. Sam Colton co-chairman, participated in the annual jelly shower at the Steiner clinic, Mrs. J. H. Plagman, in charge of the Smith-Hughes classes in arts and craftswork, Mrs. Luther C. Holcomb instructor, has a few vacancies in the classes meeting Wednesday morning. Call the chairman, West 2405. Those who have not yet purchased their Christmas cards should call West 1380-B. The club will observe Arbor day and "plant a tree."

Miss Ruth Layfield was awarded the scholarship given by the club by the Butler "School of the Dance." The president has just received a touching appeal for assistance in north Georgia, where the roads are full of the children, for clothes for children. This appeal has been turned over to Mrs. Everett Hudson, public welfare chairwoman, who will be glad to receive contributions.

Fulton Hi P.T.A. Fathers' Meeting Is of Interest

The annual fathers' meeting of the Fulton High School P.T.A. was held Thursday evening at the school. Mrs. John W. Humphries, president of the association, presided. A devotional service was led by H. C. Hodges. "Souvenir," by Frank Drilla, was rendered as a violin solo by Miss Bernice Jones.

Mr. Dykes, principal of the school, extended a welcome to those present. In a brief message to the fathers he urged the companionship of son and father.

Two vocal solos, "Gates of Gold," by Edwards, and "Schoolyard Sweetheart," by Glen Elrod, were rendered by Mrs. J. W. Harris.

Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, spoke of the growth of the system during the past 10 years and outlined the building program which is being carried out.

Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor of Gordon Street Baptist church, who was the principal speaker of the evening, spoke of the importance of home life.

Hammond school was awarded the sixth attendance prize. D. L. J. E. White teacher, was awarded a special prize offered to the class having the largest percentage of fathers present.

Ben Hill P.T.A. Daddies' Meeting.

On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Ben Hill P.T.A. held an interesting meeting in honor of the "daddies" of the school. Mrs. J. H. Strickland, principal of the school, had charge of the program, presenting the following artists in piano duets, piano solos, vocal solos and readings: Miss Jeanette Baker, Master Jim Tom Bryant, Mrs. W. O. Suttles, W. R. Miller, Miss Perdita Collins, Miss Dorothy

Moreland P.T.A. Hears Address By Mrs. Arthur Tufts

The Moreland P.T.A. met in the school building Tuesday afternoon, November 22, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Arthur Tufts, president of Dekalb county council, who spoke on "The Spiritual Development of the Child."

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. Tufts stressed the value of spiritual training in early childhood. Following this inspiring talk was a discussion of the problems of moving pictures by Mrs. Parks, chairman of the Saturday matinee at the Howard theater. Mrs. Parks urged that all disorders begin in childhood and the training of the child has all to do with its future career.

Mrs. B. M. Smith, citizenship chairman, urged everyone present to use their vote on December 7.

Mrs. Wesley, of the better films committee, called attention to the Christmas donations of toys and children's garments that must be provided.

Moreland Pre-School Circle Holds Meeting.

The Moreland pre-school circle met Wednesday, November 15, at the school. Mrs. Parks, council chairman of pre-school work, gave a most interesting and helpful talk on the importance of pre-school years in child training.

The circle meets the third Wednesday of each month in the kindergarten rooms of the school. The next meeting will be on December 21. It is hoped that all pre-school mothers will avail themselves of the wonderful opportunity of attending these circle meetings.

Parent-Teacher Meetings

Mrs. C. F. von Herrmann urges a full attendance at the meeting of the executive board of the O'Keefe P.T.A. Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Mr. Hastings' office.

The executive board of Pryor Street school meets Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The pre-school circle of Adair P.T.A. meets Friday afternoon, December 2, at 2:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. H. G. Parks, city chairwoman of the school, will have children under the age of 6 please attend.

A joint meeting of Emory P.T.A. and the Commerce association will be held in the community house on Tuesday evening, November 29, at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be in interest of school bonds, which will be voted on November 30.

The P.T.A. of the First Presbyterian church will hold a fathers' and mothers' meeting Monday evening, November 28, at 7:30 o'clock in the church. Mrs. Charlotte Persinger will talk on "The Necessity of a Director of Religious Education" and the "Duties of a Director of Religious Education." A large attendance is urged.

West End Woman's Club News Is of Interest.

Several social events are on the calendar of the West End Woman's club following the quiet Thanksgiving week. Mrs. J. T. Layfield, chairman of Tallulah Falls work, assisted by Mrs. Luta Gene Maury and a large committee, will give a mammoth bridge-luncheon Friday, December 2. A turkey luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, to be followed by the bridge game. Tables will be $2, including luncheon.

This affair is for the benefit of the school at Tallulah and the building fund of the club. Many tables have been reserved. For additional reservations, call Mrs. G. W. Grant, West 0723-J; Mrs. Z. T. Layfield, West 0723-J; Mrs. L. M. Alcorn, West 2087, or Mrs. F. H. Jackson, West 1061.

Mrs. J. R. Wakefield will entertain a large private party November 29 at the clubhouse. Those wishing to secure the building for dances or private parties may do so by calling the president, Mrs. George Grant, West 0723-J.

Mrs. Julius Spier announces that all contributions to the needlework quilt must be brought to her Monday morning.

The hospital committee, Mrs. Julius Spier chairman, Mrs. Sam Colton co-chairman, participated in the annual jelly shower at the Steiner clinic, Mrs. J. H. Plagman, in charge of the Smith-Hughes classes in arts and craftswork, Mrs. Luther C. Holcomb instructor, has a few vacancies in the classes meeting Wednesday morning. Call the chairman, West 2405. Those who have not yet purchased their Christmas cards should call West 1380-B. The club will observe Arbor day and "plant a tree."

Miss Ruth Layfield was awarded the scholarship given by the club by the Butler "School of the Dance." The president has just received a touching appeal for assistance in north Georgia, where the roads are full of the children, for clothes for children. This appeal has been turned over to Mrs. Everett Hudson, public welfare chairwoman, who will be glad to receive contributions.

P.T.A. Council To Hold Meetings.

The Atlanta council, P.T.A., meets Thursday, December 1, at 10 a. m., in Rich's schoolroom. A full attendance is urged.

The executive board of the Atlanta council, P.T.A., meets Monday, November 28, at 10 a. m., in Rich's conference room.

Folker, Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Sadie Fowler, Miss Christine Miller, Mr. Ramsey, elementary supervisor of Fulton county, was the speaker. He spoke of the aims of Gaines county schools, the progress being made and the great field of work just ahead for teachers, fathers and mothers and the importance of cooperation of home and school.

Crew Street P.T.A. Holds Meeting.

The Crew Street P.T.A. met at Crew Street school Wednesday evening, Mrs. A. Kabanow, president presiding. This was a daddies' meeting and a record-breaking crowd was present. A delightful musical program was given by the Hull family. Mr. Hull made a talk about harmony in the home, harmony in the school between parents and teachers and children.

The main speakers were M. E. Coleman, head of the census and attorney department of public schools, and J. W. Maddox, member of the board of education from the fifth ward, who made an earnest plea that all parents do their best to secure an adequate appropriation from council for the schools whereby the crowded classrooms might be abolished.

Mrs. Bloodworth, principal, welcomed the daddies and gave the glad news that Crew Street school was about ready for the holidays given for perfect teeth. Only five pupils did not have their dental certificates and vases and home made to get these before the week was out. The low sixth and low third won the attendance prizes.

Mrs. Anderson Honored By Faculty Members.

Misses Strickland, Pryor, Martin, Nail and Pullen, faculty members of the Georgia Baptist home, were hosts for an elaborate dinner at the Ansley hotel Saturday in honor of Mrs. W. P. Anderson, followed by a theater party at the Forsyth.

Hoke Smith P.T.A. Meeting Features Report of Activities

"One who creates a desire to study for self is the best friend a pupil has," says Miss Anne England, head of the mathematics department at Hoke Smith Junior High, in an inspiring talk made at the November P.T.A. meeting, held in the gymnasium. Mrs. W. C. Reers, president, presided.

The Glee club, under Miss Spencer's leadership, gave several selections. Mr. Kimberly, principal, reported a 30 per cent gain in deficiencies on account of over-crowded class rooms.

Committee chairmen were appointed as follows: Membership and grade, Mrs. J. H. McWaters; safety and citizenship, Mrs. W. A. Kimbrell; letter films, Mrs. R. C. Ailor; welfare, Mrs. K. E. Herder; press, Mrs. J. H. Lane, Mrs. T. W. Robinson; hospitality, presidents of contributing schools, Ormwood, Mrs. Shaft; Milena Avenue, Mrs. Montaine; council, Mrs. Kabanow; James L. Key, Mrs. McCallum; Fair, Mrs. Hanson; Winford Avenue, Mrs. Farkas; Georgia Avenue, Mrs. Fontaine; council, Mrs. Charles Foster, Mrs. Elrod, Mrs. Lockhart and Mrs. Bock.

The attendance reports were won by 1-R-1, Miss Hinton, teacher; 2-A-1, Miss J. Brown, teacher, and 3-B-1, Miss Williamson, teacher. As an exciting feature of the afternoon was the introduction of the grade chairmen to the teachers and the mothers.

Mrs. Anderson Honored By Faculty Members.

Misses Strickland, Pryor, Martin, Nail and Pullen, faculty members of the Georgia Baptist home, were hosts for an elaborate dinner at the Ansley hotel Saturday in honor of Mrs. W. P. Anderson, followed by a theater party at the Forsyth.

SPECIALS FOR CHRISTMAS

That Will Help You Solve the Gift Problem

Terms
To Suit

Suites for the Living Room

Beautiful two-piece suites in Mohair—Mahogany frames, full spring construction, reversible cushions. One of these suites will make your home cozier at Christmas time. Priced from $129 up

Cogswell Chairs From $25 Up

Winthrop Desks and Secretaries $69.50

Tea Carts In Walnut, Black and Red $22.50 Up

Sewing Cabinets $6.00 Up

Cedar Chests Large assortment to choose from, priced at $12.50 Up

Mirrors $3.45 Up

Tilt Top Tables All Colors $6.45

Smoke Stands A large assortment of styles and finishes. Priced from $3.25 up Magazine Racks Decorated magazine racks in red and black. Priced from $1.98 up

SATTERWHITE FURNITURE COMPANY

306 Peachtree St. IVy 2066

It is Our Privilege to Offer for This Week Only MATRIX SHOES

Reduced

To Better Acquaint the Women of Atlanta With These Wonder Shoes—"That Fit the Bottom of Your Foot"—for One Week All Matrix Shoes Are Reduced.

$12.50 Shoes now

Exquisite in Style--- Unequalled for Comfort---

$10.85

Try on a pair of MATRIX shoes and you'll know the reason for their popularity. Wear them shopping, hiking or dancing and you will discover an ever-widening sphere of enjoyable and healthful activity.

Ask to have the "Bottom of your foot Fitted!"

Matrix Shoes Never Need Breaking-in

"Like your footprint in the sand"

2 Peachtree ALEXANDER'S Peachtree Arcade

Miss Burkett Weds
Clarence A. Chaplin.

The Manning Times of Manning, S. C., carried the following account of the Burkett-Chaplin wedding: Miss Nancy Patterson Burkett, of Atlanta, Ga., and Clarence Augustus Chaplin, of Beaufort, S. C., were quietly married at the home of the former's sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gilmore Simms, Saturday afternoon, November 19, at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. B. Walker, of Sumter, in the presence of the family and a few close friends.

The bride was lovely in a draped dress of white chintilly lace made over flesh chiffon, with which she wore white kid slippers and carried an armful of Easter lilies.

Miss Louise Burkett, of Myrtle Beach, was her sister's maid of honor, and was zoned in cream lace.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ellis Burkett, of Atlanta.

and a granddaughter of the late E. L. Patterson, of Barnwell. The groom is a member of an old family of South Carolina, and is a popular business man of Beaufort.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin will be at home in Beaufort.

Grant Park O. E. S.
To Give Oyster Supper.

Grant Park chapter, No. 178, O. E. S., will sponsor an oyster supper in Grant park Masonic temple, 464 Cherokee avenue, S. E., Tuesday evening, November 29, from 5 to 10 o'clock. By special arrangements the oysters are being shipped direct from the fisheries and the best cooks in the city have been secured to cook and serve them any style. The supper will be served for 50 cents.

Mrs. Burton Weds
George C. Ketchum
At Quiet Ceremony

Mrs. S. C. Huff announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor Burton, and George C. Ketchum, November 24, at the home of Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Second Baptist church, who officiated. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a small group of relatives and close friends.

The bride wore a beautiful ensemble of rose beige crepe with a close fitting hat to match trimmed with a handsome rhinestone ornament. Her shoulder bouquet was fashioned of orchids and valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Ketchum left immediately after the ceremony for a short trip. They will be at home after December 3 at their home on North Mayson avenue.

Ormeewood Park Social News.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Granger, of Bogota, Colombia, South America, were the guests the past week-end of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hansell. Among those entertaining for these visitors was Mrs. Van Porter Enloe, who was hostess at a luncheon Friday at her home in Moreland avenue. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Broadnax and Mr. and Mrs. Granger Harsell, who were joint hosts at a dinner party Saturday evening at their home in Seventh street, and Mr. and Mrs. Hansell, who entertained a group of friends at a informal luncheon Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Crossley, Mrs. C. M. Crossley, Mrs. L. R. Still and Mrs. John McClure Gibson formed a congenial party motoring to Monroe the past week.

George Johnson is convalescing at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Johnson, following an operation for appendicitis.

Pave D. West is spending the week-end at Milledgeville, the guest of friends.

Mrs. Charles R. Anderson, of Augusta, was the guest the past week of Mrs. L. V. Kennedy.

Miss Mable Bernhardt, who is attending school at G. S. C. W., is the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Bernhardt.

W. A. Hansell has returned from a business trip to New Orleans, Houston and Galveston.

Steve Rivers spent the Thanksgiving holidays at Gainesville, the guest of relatives.

Mrs. John L. Bowers returned Monday from Tampa where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wayne Patillo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Strickland were hosts to the members of the Young People's Missionary society of Martha Brown Memorial church, Friday evening.

Baron De Kalb D. A. R.
Met at Mrs. Bond's.

The Baron DeKalb chapter, D. A. R., met Friday at the home of Mrs. Bond, in Decatur, and the guests of honor were the wives of the faculty of Columbia university and Mrs. Howard McCall, who charmingly expressed congratulations and greetings upon the 15th birthday of the chapter. Honoring two past regents, Mrs. V. A. S. Moore and Mrs. A. L. Wade, the board of management recommended that the chapter's chair in Constitution hall, Washington, be named for Mrs. Moore, and the senior high school prize in American history be known as the Pearl Hodges Wade award.

Mrs. John Montgomery, the regent announced the formation of three new committees, forestry conservation and thrift, headed by Mrs. D. M. Byrd; social, Mrs. Henry Farthman and Mrs. J. W. Melton; and Ironsides, Mrs. A. L. Wade. The registrar announced the addition of three new members, Mrs. H. R. Carreker, Mrs. R. E. Barry and Mrs. T. H. Snoot. Captain Augustine Sams gave a patriotic address combining the outstanding themes of the month, Armistice and Thanksgiving. Mrs. Bond was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. Paul Milton and Mrs. John Weckerling.

The Instrument you buy but once in a Lifetime*The Brunswick
Panatrope

A Panatrope in the home makes happy hours. Relax to music half hour daily. It will help to keep you young.

Panatrope
$90 up
Convenient Terms
arranged.

PHILLIPS & CREW
PIANO COMPANY
Established 1865
181 Peachtree
Opposite Macy's
Phone WA. 8051

Presbyterian Circle
Plans Christmas Party.

The Business Woman's circle of the Central Presbyterian church met Friday evening at the church and after the business session enjoyed an interesting program.

Miss Mary Nagle gave a comprehensive review of the mission study book, "The Task of the Presbyterian Church in Georgia." A humorous reading was given by little Miss Elsie Teac. Mrs. F. L. Rayburn, accompanied by Miss Mamie Barnes at the piano, rendered two vocal selections, "I'm a Pilgrim," and "I Knew a Lovely Garden."

The last half hour was devoted to the Bible study lesson, conducted by Miss Gussie Fraser. The date of the annual Christmas party of the circle has been set for December 2, at which time the box of toys will be packed for the children at Nacoochee institute. Each member drew a name at this meeting. Supper was served by Mrs. Guy Cruselle and circle.

French Alliance
Meets November 28.

The French Alliance meets Monday evening, November 28, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Neely on Barksdale drive. The meeting will be in the nature of a "welcome home" party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lorrains, who had just returned from a four months' trip abroad.

The following program will be rendered: Monsieur Pierre Bruck, from Oglethorpe university, will give a talk on the French theaters and modern plays. A one-act play from Tristan Bernard entitled "Je vais m'en aller" will be given by Mademoiselle Martha Crowe and Griffith Edwards. A group of French poems from Gustave Nadaud will be recited by Madame Laure Lenoir.

The musical program will be arranged by the hostess, Mrs. Edgar Neely, and will conclude the evening's entertainment.

Frohsin's

50 Whitehall • Our Only Store

A Sale in which every garment is backed by the name of Frohsin. That name means honest dealing and square values! Nothing has been bought for special sale, every item of merchandise placed in the store because of its authentic smartness and clever style, now brought to a fraction of the original value!

CLEARANCE

Thousands Upon Thousands of Our Smartest Costumes and Daintiest
Lingerie in a Sweeping,
Value-Giving Sale

COATS

$325 Exquisitely Furred Coats.....	$162.50
$350 Model Coats.....	$175.00
$465 Coats With Loveliest Furs.....	$232.50
$500 Model Coats.....	$250.00
Coats That Were $165 to $198.75.....	$139.00
Coats That Were $125 to $149.75.....	$98.00
Coats That Were $79.75 to $100.....	$67.00
Coats That Were Priced at $69.75.....	$49.00
$59.75 to $69.75 Sports Coats.....	$45.00
$49.75 Sports Coats.....	$35.00

DRESSES

$114.75 Original Nemser Creations.....	$57.37
$169.75 Original Nemser Creations.....	$84.87
Dresses Formerly Priced to $110.....	$59.00
Dresses Formerly Priced to $75.....	$49.00
Dresses Formerly Priced to $59.75.....	$33.00
Dresses Formerly Priced to $49.75.....	$27.00
Dresses Formerly $25 to $29.75.....	$18.00
Dresses Formerly $13.95 to $19.75.....	$10.00

EVENING GOWNS

$69.75 to $98.75 Evening Gowns.....	$25.00
$49.75 Evening Gowns (One Half).....	$24.88
$39.75 Evening Gowns.....	$26.50
$295.00 Evening Gowns.....	$196.00
$350.00 Evening Gowns (One Half).....	$175.00

"SPINDRIFT" SILK UNDERWEAR

Slightly Soiled—Broken Sizes

$1.50 Bandeaux.....	59c
$2.95 Vests.....	$1.29
$4.75 Teddies.....	$2.09
$3.75 Step-Ins.....	$1.69
$8.75 Gowns.....	$3.49
$3.95 Bloomers.....	$2.49

CREPE DE CHINE
UNDERWEAR

Slightly Soiled

$2.95 Teddies.....	$1.98
$4.95 Teddies.....	$3.30
$2.95 Step-Ins.....	$1.98
$3.95 Step-Ins.....	$2.63
$7.95 Gowns.....	$5.30
$10.95 Gowns.....	$7.30

HOSIERY

Broken Sizes

Hose Formerly Priced at $1.49.....	$1.09
Hose Formerly Priced at $1.95.....	$1.49
Hose Formerly Priced at $2.50.....	$1.69
Hose Formerly Priced at $3.95.....	$2.49

Forty-Two Years On Whitehall; No Connection With Any

Other Store of Similar Name

Frohsin's

Correct Dress for Women
50 WHITEHALL

Arch the Shoe
Without
Arch the Price*A Modern Achievement

BECAUSE the built-in steel arch brings added comfort is no good reason why it should be sold at an added profit. The steel arch, through its support of the weakened natural arch of the foot, has proven a boon to the foot weary. Its cost, however, is but an infinitesimal part of the cost to produce any fine shoe in which it is a feature. We know—because we are manufacturers.

Why then should you pay more for an Arch Shoe than you do for any other type? Ask your Orthopedic doctor about Nisley's Arch Comfort Shoes. Recognized leaders in this profession, all over America, are recommending Nisley's Arch Comfort Shoes to their clientele, not alone for their genuine all around goodness but for their economy as well.

"Arch Oxford"

A SNUG fitting Arch Comfort oxford with unusually smart lines. Presented in black kid, brown kid, and white nile cloth.

"Arch Strap"

FOR STREET wear the four-strap sandal has no rival. This Arch Comfort four-strap may be had in patent leather, black kid or brown kid.

"Arch Button"

A CHARMING cut-out pattern in a button oxford with all the Arch Comfort features. Developed in four different materials—patent leather, brown kid, black kid and black satin.

NISLEY'S

EMBODIES all of the best anatomical features yet devised for foot comfort. Built over the combination last (two widths narrower in the heel than in the ball), it insures a snug fit at the ankle. Made of select leathers with light-weight flexible leather soles, it has that fine, soft springy feel and appearance so much desired. A special built-in steel arch gives just the right amount of support without too much rigidity. Nisley's Beautiful Shoes, including all Arch Comfort patterns are shown in

Seventy
Styles at $5

Sizes 2½ to 9—AAA to D — Special Styles in AAAA

NISLEY'S
Beautiful Shoes

Perfectly Appointed Stores in America's Principal Cities

In Atlanta — 68 Whitehall Street, S. W.

WEDDING BELLS CHIME FOR CHARMING ATLANTANS

Miss Louise Cooper To Wed Mr. Tennent at Early Date

Social importance is attached to the announcement of the engagement of Miss Louise Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cooper, to Thomas Hill Tennent, of San Germain, Cuba, formerly of Atlanta.

Miss Cooper is a representative of prominent southern families, her mother having been before her marriage the beautiful Miss Jeanne Louise Byrd. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cooper are prominent factors in the development of Atlanta's social and cultural life.

The bride-elect's paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Henry Byrd, of Augusta, Ga., for former being a member of Virginia's pioneer families. Mrs. Byrd was the daughter of the late Major R. F. White, of South Carolina, a noted musician and composer. He contributed much to the musical world in his compilation of the original old Sacred Harp hymn book. The young bride-elect is also related to the eminent Gulgith family, of South Carolina, her great-grandmother having been before her marriage to Major White Miss Thelma Gulgith.

Miss Cooper is a graduate of the Atlanta Girls' High school, her mother having also graduated from this school. Following her graduation at Girls' High, Miss Cooper received a diploma from Westhampton college, Richmond, Va., having won a scholarship from Girls' High school by a comprehensive examination.

Mr. Tennent is the son of William Clark Tennent, of Lowndesville, N. C., and the late Mrs. Tennent. Mrs. Tennent was before her marriage Miss Katherine Kay, whose family is numbered among the most aristocratic in South Carolina. The groom-elect's great-grandfather was the Rev. William Tennent, the founder of Princeton college and a handsome monument was recently erected over his grave on Princeton's campus.

The groom-to-be is a graduate of the military college at Millidgeville, completing his education at Georgia Tech. Mr. Tennent was formerly connected with the firm of Tilson & McKimney and during his residence here he was prominently identified with the city's club and social life. Mr. Tennent is now located in San Germain, Cuba, where he is chemist with Lowery & Co.'s sugar mills.

The marriage of Miss Cooper and Mr. Tennent will be solemnized during the winter after which they will leave for New Orleans from where they will sail for Cuba.

Prominent Southerners Will Attend Convention

Prominent southerners will assemble from all sections during the coming week at the annual meeting of the Georgia Florida Sigma Xi association to convene here December 23, and the sixth annual asphalt paving conference which meets at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel the week of November 28.

The Sigma Xi association will be entertained by the Atlanta chapter of Sigma Xi in conjunction with the Gamma Alpha chapter of Georgia Tech and Xi chapter of Emory university. Senator Walter F. George, of Vienna, is expected to attend and play a prominent part in the activities of the association. More than 200 active and expected to attend the dinner to be held at the Georgian Terrace hotel Friday, December 2.

Mrs. Robert K. Ranslow, prominent Atlanta woman, is general chairman of social entertainment for the asphalt paving conference. A group of socially prominent women are expected to attend the convention.

Mrs. William Royer To Give Reception.

Featuring December's social calendar will be Mrs. William Christian Royer's reception Wednesday, December 7, in the ballroom of the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, in compliment to Mrs. John Burwell Royer, formerly of Baltimore, Md., who, with Mr. Royer and their three attractive children, have recently come to Atlanta to reside.

Mrs. Royer has invited over one hundred and fifty members of the married prominent matrons to meet Mrs.

Royer, who will be a charming acquisition to Atlanta society.

Colonel and Mrs. Jarvis To Honor Belles.

Colonel and Mrs. Melville S. Jarvis will be hosts at a buffet supper Sunday evening at their quarters at Ft. McPherson honoring Miss Dorothy Tolbert and Miss Gertrude Rowell, two of the most popular members of the younger set of society at the army post.

Fifteen members of the younger military social contingent have been invited to meet these lovely young girls. Miss Rowell will leave at an early date with her parents, Colonel and Mrs. Frank Rowell, for Vancouver harbor, in Washington, where Colonel Rowell has been detailed for duty.

Mrs. Huger Honors Miss Virginia Clark.

Mrs. William Huger was hostess Saturday at luncheon at her home on Crest Hill avenue in compliment to Miss Virginia Clark, of Clarkdale, Miss., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jackson. Invited to meet the honor guest were Miss Evelyn Jackson, Mrs. Waldo Mallory, Mrs. Walter Wellborn, Mrs. Preston Uplaw, Mrs. Rebecca Harmon Lindsey and Miss Callie Orme.

Control Ride and Hunt Breakfast Postponed.

The control ride and hunt breakfast at Fort McPherson scheduled for Sunday by the twenty-second infantry

The beautiful trio on the upper part of the page presents a beautiful bride and two lovely brides-elect. Miss Margaret Ellen Garwood, at the upper left is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Barnes Garwood, and her engagement is announced today to Samuel Martin Inman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin Inman, the marriage to be an interesting social event of December. Mrs. Nathaniel Hammond Bailey, in the center, was formerly Miss Sadler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie Sadler, whose marriage was a brilliant and important ceremony at the First Presbyterian church on Peachtree road, taking place Saturday afternoon, November 19. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey are in New York on their wedding journey, and will reside in Griffin, where Mr. Bailey is among the influential citizens. Miss Louise Byrd Cooper is the striking figure at the upper right. Miss Cooper's engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Cooper, to Thomas Hill Tennent, of San Germain, Cuba, formerly of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized this winter. The group in the lower picture includes the members of the Sadler-Bailey bridal party, and reading from left to right on the back row are Charles Hammond, Miss Laura Greene, of Charleston, S. C.; Bruce Woodruff, Miss Callie Orme, Seaton Bailey, brother of the groom; Miss Louise Gibbon, of Charlotte, N. C.; Nathaniel Hammond Bailey, the groom; Miss Margaret Nelson, William Proctor, of Chicago, Ill.; Hugh Carter, Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, Tillman Blakeley, of Griffin. Seated on the front row are Miss Ida Sadler, sister of the bride; Misses Sadie Young and Carry Marshall Young, cousins of the bride and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Young, of Charlotte, N. C., maternal uncle and aunt of Mrs. Bailey. Photograph of Miss Garwood by Winn's studio; Brubaker's studio made that of Mrs. Bailey and her bridal party, while Miss Cooper's stunning picture is the work of Kenneth Rogers, staff photographer.

at Fort McPherson, has been postponed until a later date.

Stubbs-Barnes Wedding Cards.

Dr. and Mrs. John Wilson Somerville have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louise Gay Stubbs, to William Chambers Barnes Thursday, December 15, at 8:30 o'clock, in St. Luke's Episcopal church, on Peachtree street.

Dr. and Mrs. Somerville will entertain at a brilliant reception at the Biltmore after the church ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. King Are Honor Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander King, whose marriage was a recent event, were honor guests in a party at the Piedmont Driving club dinner-dance Saturday evening at which Sam Cooper was host. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. William Huger, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNeel, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson,

Mr. and Mrs. C. Marshall Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Foreman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Norris Broyles, Misses Isabel Johnston, Pamela Johnston, Virginia Courts, Jennie Hodgson, Pauline DeGize and Esmond Brady, Richard Curtis, Hugh Carter, Joseph W. Cooper, Jr., and Sam Cooper.

Miss Sams Weds Travis Johnson.

J. A. Sams announces the marriage of his daughter, Katie Lucia, to Travis Johnson Thanksgiving morning at 11 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father in Decatur in the presence of only the immediate family.

Riley-Barnes Wedding Cards Are Issued.

Cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Gale Kyle Riley, of Easton, announcing the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to MacKenzie Dana Barnes, of Atlanta, on Wednesday, November 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes will be at home after December 5 at 1041 West Peachtree street, Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. James Wynn Entertains at Club.

Mrs. James Osgood Wynn was hostess at luncheon Saturday at the Piedmont Driving club. An artistic central decoration of grapes, galax leaves and chrysanthemums, the shades of purple predominating, added a distinctive note to the lovely table where the guests assembled. Mrs. Wynn wore a charming model of gray georgette trimmed in zinnia petals.

Covers were placed for Mesdames Charles Rice, James Whitford Russell, J. M. High, W. L. Flowers, W. Woods White, G. C. Hatcher, George

Miss Garwood And Mr. Inman To Be Married

Social interest centers in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Ellen Garwood, to Samuel Martin Inman. Miss Garwood is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Barnes Garwood and the late Edmund Burke Garwood, of Marietta and Rocky Mount, N. C. She is a graduate of the Girls' High school, a member of the class of '27 at Bessie Tift college, and attended Emory university. The charming bride-elect was voted to be the most beautiful girl at Bessie Tift college and at the summer school at Emory university. She is a sister of Mrs. Leonard G. McClain, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Hugh J. Garwood, of Washington, D. C.; Howard R. Garwood, of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Mary Garwood, of Atlanta.

The ceremony takes place Tuesday evening, December 27, at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, with Dr. Luther Christie, pastor of the church, and Dr. Aquila Chamblee, assistant president of Bessie Tift college, performing the ceremony.

Mr. Inman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin Inman and the grandson of the late Samuel Martin Inman. He was graduated from Tech High school and attended Davidson college and Emory university, where he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is a brother of Mrs. Eugene McNeel, Frank Inman, Jr., Reese Inman and William Inman.

State College Alumnae Hold Club Luncheon.

The Georgia State College for Women Alumnae club had a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic club Saturday at 1:30 o'clock. There were several alumnae and friends of the college present.

The social committee, Miss Ida Randall chairman, were hostesses, and had charge of the program. Miss Ida Randall presided. Those who took part in the program were Miss Julia Mae Fillingim, Mrs. A. A. McGuigan, Mrs. Wilbur R. Wilson, who gave a report of her trip to the college as representative from our club at the laying of the first brick for the Parks Memorial hospital. Little Jane Burks gave two solo dances. Mrs. McWhorter Miller was one of the speakers. Miss Julia Chapman sang two solos.

Miss Rogers To Be Hostess to Visitors.

Miss Charlie Griggs, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Wilhelmina Mackin, of Sparta, and Miss Sarah Morris, of Athens, will form an attractive group of visitors who will be the guests of Miss Martha Worth Rogers next week-end at her home on West Peachtree street. These young belles will attend the Tech-Georgia football game and will be entertained at a series of lovely affairs planned by the members of the college set.

Miss Griggs will remain several weeks as the guest of Miss Rogers and Mrs. Worth Rogers.

L. Brower, Charles J. Haden, T. H. McCrea, Wallace Boyd, Robert Pezgram, Gordon Burnett, Porter King, James Osgood Wynn and Miss Nora Belle Starke.

AS FOUR WOMEN HEAR IT

"ACTING as social secretary and lady's maid to a debutante daughter grows wearisome at times," says a wily Atlanta mother, and especially is this true when the debut in question belongs to a winter's lovely array of buds. But the service is one of love and preserves in turn that youthful freshness which is every debutante's chief charm, making up thereby for the infinite time and patience required to answer telephone calls and invitations, keep tab on engagements, supervise an elaborate wardrobe, always with an eye for precision in matching the sheers of hose, the daintiest of lingerie and the correct hat, shoes, bag and gloves to the costume of the moment.

Launching a daughter in society is indeed an undertaking and food for thought, whether it be very simply done at a small luncheon or reception, or on a more elaborate scale at a brilliant ball. It is the ambition of every normal girl, along with that dream of white satin, tulle and orange blossoms, to be "brought out" some day with music, dinner and orchids, her ideals always crystallizing in her own debut party, when she, crowned in the loveliest creation that Parisian hands and brains can fashion, stands beside her mother against a background of myriads of flowers sent by admiring friends, while an orchestra plays behind a screen of palms, the lights are softly shaded and the guests that world of society of which she is at that moment becoming a part.

The question of clothes is an all important one! First of all, a fur coat is almost a necessity, for it serves as a daytime wrap and it also covers and protects the elaborate gowns worn for evening affairs. One popular Atlanta bud, who appears at all of society's affairs, began the season with five new evening gowns and three reconstructed ones which serve admirably for small dinners and informal affairs. "Now, at least three more will have to be added," her mother told us, "for fragile chiffons and perishable tulle do not long withstand the strain of constant dancing." This sensible mother's idea of an appropriate frock for her daughter is crisp tulle fashioned in the becoming robe de style, or a youthful gown formed of many layers of tulle. Not many days ago, however, this lovely bud, serving as a model in a fashion revue for sweet charity's sake, appeared in one of the more sophisticated beaded creations, and so lovely did she look and so becoming were the simple, clinging lines that mother is almost ready to waive objections in favor of its brilliance.

To be comfortable, a debut should have a car of her own—in addition to the family automobile. With engagements crowding upon each other in bewildering array, obliging one to dash from luncheon and bridge at the Athletic or the Capital City club to tea at the Driving club with just a few minutes in between to change one's costume, a car at one's disposal becomes a necessity. If a girl drives her own car, the services of a chauffeur may be dispensed with, and so many of this season's buds may be seen at the wheels of their smart sport models or small town cars.

It is estimated that the cost of a party introducing a debutante, ranges from $500 to $1,500 or $2,000. An afternoon reception or tea is the simplest form of debut and is held at home or at the club. The mother of an only daughter, whose how to society was recently made at one of the most charming affairs of the season, had planned since babyhood the tea at which she would present her to her friends. Its setting was the lovely home which was also planned with this occasion in view, and every detail including the deliciously southern chicken salad revealed the perfection born of much thought and time. "I only bought flowers for the tea table," she said, "and my neighbors and friends sent all the other hundreds of roses, chrysanthemums, orchids and violets which adorned the house."

Another ambitious mother, not so blessed with the coin of the realm, will soon issue invitations to a reception at which she will present her queenly daughter. "I shall have to inject into my party personality and an atmosphere which bespeaks informal cordiality and the warmest of welcomes, to make up for the lack of costly expenditure." Inheriting in addition to the innate charm, a background of prestige and the entire into the inner circles of exclusive society, this gracious mother and daughter are among the most popular and sought after members of society. "It perhaps involves a sacrifice of time and energy," says this Atlanta mother, "to formally present my daughter to my friends, but it is well worth the effort because of the added brightness and joy which a debutante brings into the home."

This particular mother keeps the home fires burning and there is ever a ready welcome extended to the friends of the debutante to have an informal meal, not a highly financed one, but just the homelike meal, the culinary planning of which is so well known by this Atlanta. Gorgeous flowers, sent to a certain deb of this season, constantly adorn the house, the fragrance and beauty being a part of the household's pleasure as well. The house is kept still and quiet every morning until after breakfast has been served, because she is out until very late every evening, requiring complete rest so as to be able to keep her engagements for the next day.

As for father, the man who signs the checks, just what does he get out of all this? One Atlanta father seems just as thrilled and as much interested as does the debutante herself in the brilliant ball which will mark her presentation to society in the near future. In fact, after the idea of the party was suggested by the young son of the family, father had to urge and plead for the pleasure, for daughter rather demurred, having spent so much time away from the city in the fashionable schools she attended. Both the married and unmarried members of society will be inclined to meet this lovely bud and receiving with her will be the group of married sisters and brothers who will come from a distance to honor their youngest sister. Time, preparation and money will not be spared to make the ball worthy of its honor guests' charm, the success of the affair being assured in advance by the far-famed hospitality of its host.

Another debut father expresses himself as "getting the greatest kick in the world" out of his daughter's debut. Of course there are checks galore, signs, there are many nights of disturbed rest, and any number of other sacrifices which fathers are called upon to make, but it is all returned a thousand fold in the pleasure given and the appreciation expressed by the sweet young thing who is having the time of her life.

And father generally sums up his angle by declaring "and I care a whoop how much it costs me."

A GAY, happy and care-free coterie of sub-debutes, including Misses Jaqueline Moore, Cornelia Orme, Louise Moore, Elizabeth Spaulding and Eleanor Johnson, chaperoned by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, attended the Thanksgiving hop at the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va., Friday evening. The last named foursome danced in the second classman's "ring figure" dressed in all white gowns, according to a custom of many years' standing, where the girls place a ring upon the finger of the cadet bidding her to the hop. Pretty Miss Jaqueline Moore's bid came from Bob Mitchell, of St. Louis, and she was the only Atlanta girl wearing the red cape, as tradition only allows a first classman the right to place his crimson cape around the shoulders of the little lady he invites to the dance. Included in the baggage, apart from all the fluffy gowns, Mrs. Moore carried several delicious chocolate cakes in answer to frantic telegrams sent by Marion Jackson, Lila Fletcher, Darrell Ayers, and Bob Mitchell, and they were devoured immediately after the dance at the Dutch inn.

In 1893, when the distinguished Dr. Michael Hoke was captain of the University of North Carolina football team, Miss Cornelia Jackson, who is now Mrs. Moore, was the sponsor of the team. She was the first North Carolina football team playing the University of Virginia at Chapel Hill, N. C. History but repeated itself when the same team played the Tech Yellow Jackets in Atlanta and she, Mrs. Moore, was the sponsor of the team, a special invitation to her being the same honor of sponsor upon her daughter in 1927. The new stadium was opened Thanksgiving day at Chapel Hill, and the North Carolina team sent a special invitation to the oldest and youngest sponsor on the roster. Mrs. Moore and her daughter would have occupied seats of honor at the game, but the only way to cover the distance between Chapel Hill and Lexington, in the Old Dominion in time for the festivities which began Thursday at the V. M. I., would have been by air travel.

THE future Mrs. Hunter Seaborn Bell's arrival in Atlanta will be hailed with special joy by the Emory Glee club, the full quota of which met the same boat crossing to England summer before last, at the same opportune moment her fiancé, himself an honor graduate of Emory, made the acquaintance of the pretty brunette who so completely captured his heart, and in turn placed him as high in her affection. She was on her way to England, the land of the Hawthorne hedge, for a visit to her maternal relatives, and immediately became so popular with the Georgia and lace, surrounded by Rev. Father Cotter, of Sacred Heart; Rev. Father Cassidy, of St. Peter; Rev. Father Clark, of Atlanta; Rev. Father Leo Keenan, of Albany, and Rev. Father Brennan, formerly of Atlanta, made a never-to-be-forgotten picture on that balmy Sunday morning.

The church fills a long-needed place in the life of the community, as heretofore the followers of the Catholic faith met at the home offered for service, and the gift of Mrs. Lynch to this particular city was prompted by this fact, and she hopes the little seed planted that day will grow, flourish and increase a hundredfold. She placed the church of St. John the Evangelist under the special patronage of the beloved disciple for whom it was named, and in closing her speech this pious woman donated her humble gift to "Our Heavenly Father for the glory and salvation of men," and with the following verse: "We have built a church to the honor of God."

To show to man the path He trod: We have built a church for any who care.

To come and kneel in silent prayer: We have built a church for those in need.

With no distinction in race or creed: We have built a church wherein man may.

Commune with God day by day, Come any time for silent meditation: Come without fear or hesitation."

THE informal gathering of ten or twelve friends last Sunday afternoon at Woodville, her Andrews drive home, provided an occasion to christen Mrs. Robert Alston's handsome silver tea kettle, made to match her handsome 38-year-old colonial service, the work of the earliest American silversmiths. Engraved upon one side is the Alston coat of arms, composed of a shield, surrounded by stars, with a single star rises above the half-moon topping the shield, and engraved upon it is the Latin word "Immutatus," the translation of which is "unmoved," and humorously translated in its meaning by original Mrs. Alston, as "stubborn." The complete service of ten or twelve massive pieces will be inherited by Robert Alston, Jr., youth, and namesake of his brilliant uncle, Robert C. Alston.

Slipping deliciously flavored oolong in the sun room, and gazing out into the old-fashioned flower garden with its single star rises above the half-moon topping the shield, and engraved upon it is the Latin word "Immutatus," the translation of which is "unmoved," and humorously translated in its meaning by original Mrs. Alston, as "stubborn." The complete service of ten or twelve massive pieces will be inherited by Robert Alston, Jr., youth, and namesake of his brilliant uncle, Robert C. Alston.

Slipping deliciously flavored oolong in the sun room, and gazing out into the old-fashioned flower garden with its single star rises above the half-moon topping the shield, and engraved upon it is the Latin word "Immutatus," the translation of which is "unmoved," and humorously translated in its meaning by original Mrs. Alston, as "stubborn." The complete service of ten or twelve massive pieces will be inherited by Robert Alston, Jr., youth, and namesake of his brilliant uncle, Robert C. Alston.

MR. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hammond Bailey escaped being mercilessly showered with confetti and rose petals by the parental roof on West Thirteenth street to depart for their wedding journey to New York.

When the bridesmaids and ushers rushed madly to their respective homes to change their respective clothes, Mr. Bailey and his lovely bride motored to Newnan, driven by Mrs. David Bailey's and Mrs. James Gilbert's chauffeurs, and boarded the northbound Southern. When the train thundered through Atlanta an hour or so later nobody was wise to the fact that the newlyweds were passengers. The bridal party searched all over Atlanta for the bride and groom to pet them with rice and confetti, and bedeck their stylish luggage in old shoes tied with white satin ribbons.

When Mrs. Bailey tossed her bouquet of fragrant gardenias from the stairs landing on ascending to change to her chic traveling attire, it fell into the hands of her sister, Miss Ida Sadler, and if tradition runs true to form she will be the next one to take the orange-blossom trail.

Symbols of good luck were drawn from the snowy white fruit cake, gorgeously embossed in roses and orange blossoms, but the cutting of the cake, which mellows and grows richer with age, will be deferred until November 19, 1928, when the first anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will be observed. The magnificent array of wedding gifts presented to them will leave but little to be added to the furnishings of the dot-cote when they set up housekeeping in Griffin, among these valuable possessions being a silver pitcher made during the civil war from silver dollars, and inherited by Mrs. Bailey from her aristocratic maternal ancestors.

THE form of memorial chosen by Mrs. J. L. Lynch to commemorate the memory of her husband was consecrated last Sunday in Valdosta in an appropriate ceremony dedicating the church of St. John the Evangelist, by the Rt. Rev. M. J. Keyes, D. D., Catholic bishop of Savannah. Seldom has there been such a representative gathering as accompanied the donor to the little southern city down near Georgia and Florida's boundary line to take charge of the services. The bishop, in his royal purple robes rear were several kinds of birds ready to burst into songs of joy because of the pleasure of living in Mrs. Alston's gardens.

THERE is a decidedly sentimental interest in Miss Mary Hall Tupper's coming out party, a supper-dance at La Louisiane, in New Orleans, Tuesday evening, the 29th of November. The pretty little deb is a first cousin of Miss Edna Belle Raine, one of the cutest members of Atlanta's bevy of debutantes, and a granddaughter of the late Captain and Mrs. John A. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yoe Tupper, a foursome of beloved pioneer residents of this city, whose contribution to its philanthropic and social life did much towards its early upbuilding.

Miss Tupper is being handsomely and continually entertained in the Creole City, being invited to many affairs that she cannot find time to go to, as there are five debutantes in the New Orleans club, with hundreds of parties announced before Mardi Gras begins. Miss Tupper's co-debutantes will be seated with her at a long table where only rose-colored flowers will be used in the decorations, and her gown is of white chiffon and silver cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Tupper will entertain a group of married friends at their daughter's debut party, seating them at a table placed in one end of the La Louisiane, and among the familiar faces gracing the board will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pearce, former Atlantans, the latter having been Miss Henrietta Tupper, one of the most popular members ever inducted into the Atlanta Junior league.

Miss Edith Edwards Weds Mr. Holder.

Miss Edith Edwards and Vester A. Holder were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edwards, at 8 o'clock Wednesday, November 23, in the presence of the families and a few close friends. Dr. B. F. Fraser, of the Saint Paul Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

The young couple left immediately for points in Florida, after which they will make their home in Tampa, Fla., where Mr. Holder is prominently connected with the Standard Oil company.

School of Oratory Observes Thanksgiving.

The morning students of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, 402 Wesley Memorial Church building, observed Thanksgiving with a very appropriate program Thursday morning. Among those taking part were Mrs. E. L. Harling, Miss Virginia Owen, Miss Jimmie Stansell, Miss Mary Bellevean, Mrs. J. A. Spinks.

RADIO TIME

Let Us Install Yours Now!

5-Tube Neutrodyne

(Installed Complete) SPECIAL FOR MONDAY! A five-tube Neutrodyne of highest quality, operating entirely on dry batteries. All batteries enclosed in cabinet of walnut and mahogany finish. Assures selectivity and the finest tone quality.

$69.50

Convenient Terms

ATWATER KENT RECEIVER

One-Dial, 6-Tube Atwater Kent receiver, with complete Instruction Book, without tubes. You have long been desirous of a Radio and at this new low price you can buy it. $49.00

Terms, $15 Cash, Balance Weekly or Monthly

5-Tube Neutrodyne

(Installed Complete) SPECIAL FOR MONDAY! This five-tube Neutrodyne Radio set complete, is operated with wet batteries. Batteries enclosed in cabinet, beautifully finished in mahogany. Take advantage of this special for tomorrow. Installed complete.

$89.50

Convenient Terms

Corner Edgewood Ave. and Pryor St.

Announcing A Sale of Haverty's Special 9x12 Axminster Rugs

$33.00

~$1.00 Cash~
$1.00 Weekly

Just the rug you want ~
A variety of beautiful designs ~
So reasonably priced ~
And such an easy way
of paying for it !

The Ideal
Gift

HAYVERTY
FURNITURE CO.

One Week
Only

Corner Edgewood Ave. and Pryor St.

ALL MERCHANDISE PURCHASED ON CHARGE PAYABLE IN JANUARY

BLAUNER'S
43 WHITEHALL ST.

Every Winter
COAT
In Our Entire Stock
REDUCED!

Not a Winter Coat Reserved!
Savings From $5.00 to $35.00.

GET HERE EARLY MONDAY

Christmas and your Home

For Decoration--- Pier Cabinets

$24.75

—Whether it's lucky elephants that she's collecting or domesticated types of cats . . . or, if she is the bookish sort . . . a pier cabinet will please her immensely. It's such a charming way to exhibit treasures . . . to make of collecting a decorative art.

For Convenience--- Tea Wagons

$29.75

—And where is there a woman who is not proud of the smooth-running of her establishment? . . . Make it easier for her on those servantless Sunday afternoon teas . . . those evenings when a couple drop in for bridge . . . with a tea wagon. This one has a removable tray.

For Comfort--- Wing Chairs

$52.50

—Gorgeously comfortable! Big enough to curl up in (if you happen to be petite) . . . inviting enough to choose for hours of smoke-encircled book-browsing . . . and yet formal enough to sit in when you are paying a call . . . In a word—it's a chair for the life of a family!

For Treasures Cedar Chests---

—If you are not quite satisfied with the personality of your guest room, try a chest in that empty spot under the window . . . draped with a decorative scarf or a few cozy pillows . . . and note the effect . . . and besides . . . what a magic thing is a chest for your treasures . . .

36-in. Chest of aromatic Red Cedar, $9.75.

40-in. Cedar chest, extra deep, with tray, $15.

46-in. Cedar chest with copper band trimming and tray, $21.75.

Extra large chest of Cedar, 44 in. long, 30 in. deep, $30.

Others of decorative woods.

For Background--- Fine Wilton Rugs

$75 to $135

—Probably more of the charm of your home than you realize depends on the quality of the background . . . and a sixth of the background, the sixth you see the most—is the rug. Here are Wiltons in newest of Chinese and Persian reproductions just arrived for pre-holiday lecture. Size 9x12.

For Color--- $22 Chinese Scatter Rugs

$15.95

—Add a touch of color, a bit of richness to that spot in your living room that first meets the eyes of your guest . . . with a Chinese scatter rug . . . 24x36-in. size, ordinarily $22, priced for tomorrow just $15.95.

—RICH & BROS. FIFTH FLOOR

The Secretary

—There is probably no piece of furniture in use today around which it is so easy to build a charming group than a secretary . . . a chair, a small rug beside it, and on its own shelves, colorful books, a desk set, a writing lamp.

The secretary sketched is $65.

The ladder back chair is $16.50.

—RICH & BROS. FIFTH FLOOR

The 2-Pc. Suite

—One of the most charming things of its kind . . . for there is grace in its every line, comfort in its every curve, and just the touch of suave formality one likes. In mohair with colorful cushions the davenport and chair priced . . . $249.75

The End Table

—A most intriguing piece, combining almost genius qualities. There's a top for a lamp and bric-a-brac, a trough for books, and a drawer containing an ash tray. In solid mahogany just $13.75.

—RICH & BROS. FIFTH FLOOR

M. RICH & BROS. Co.

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

GARWOOD-INMAN.

Mrs. Edmond Burke Garwood announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret Ellen, to Samuel Martin Inman, the marriage to be solemnized Tuesday evening, December 27, at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church at 8:30 o'clock.

COOPER-TENNENT.

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Cooper announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Byrd, to Thomas Hill Tennent, of Atlanta and San German, Cuba, the marriage to be solemnized in the early winter.

PHILLIPS-KAY.

Mrs. Mamie S. McCowen, of Macon, Ga., announces the engagement of her daughter, Mrs. Lucile Phillips, of Atlanta, to Lambdin Kay, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized December 21.

PEARCE-SMITH.

Mrs. Mary Moss Pearce announces the engagement of her daughter, Willene, to Howard Steele Smith, of Atlanta and Albany, the marriage to take place December 24. No cards.

BARWALD-HAMILTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Barwald announce the engagement of their daughter, Anna Rosalind, to William Floyd Hamilton, of Simsbury, Conn., formerly of Corsicana, Texas, the marriage to be solemnized December 26 at All Saints Episcopal church.

MDANIEL-M'GEE.

Mrs. Homer Leslie McDaniel announces the engagement of her daughter, Faith, to Herbert S. McGee, of Chicago, Ill., formerly of Juliette, the marriage to be solemnized in January. No cards.

WILSON-JENKINS.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wilson, Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose Josephine, to Roy A. Jenkins, of Atlanta, the wedding to be solemnized in December. No cards.

Miss Idabel Hunt Entertained At Series of Parties

Marietta, Ga., November 26.—Mrs. D. C. Cole entertained at bridge Friday afternoon at her home on Page street in compliment to Miss Idabel Hunt, a popular bride-elect. Sharing honors with Miss Hunt was Miss Kate Jones, of Asheville, N. C., who is the house guest of Miss Lucy Tate.

Mrs. Madison Fowler entertained a large assembly at bridge on Saturday afternoon at the Marietta Golf club in honor of Miss Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahomed Whitlock and Miss Harriette Leake honored Miss Hunt Tuesday evening with a bridge party at the golf club, and Thursday noon she was honor guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Len Baldwin and Mrs. A. D. Grant at the home of Mrs. Baldwin on Forest avenue.

Mrs. H. M. Cottingham was hostess at a bridge-tena Saturday afternoon at the Marietta Golf club. Mrs. H. M. Hogue was club hostess. Mrs. Cottingham's guests were Mrs. W. A. Dupper, Mrs. D. C. Cole, Mrs. George H. Keeler, Mrs. H. H. Morris, Mrs. H. H. Perkins, Mrs. Len C. Baldwin, Mrs. Pierre Chambliss, Mrs. Fannie Trezvant, Mrs. S. H. Sibbey, Mrs. W. B. Tate and Miss Fannie Glover.

Mrs. W. B. Tate and Mrs. S. H. Sibbey, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adamson in Cedar town, Ga., Mrs. Arnolda Freyer has returned to her home in Savannah, after a visit to Mrs. Morgan McNeil, Sr., and Mrs. D. C. Cole.

Mrs. Paul West, of Cedar town, Ga., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hubert Barren, on McDonald street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Williamson are spending the week in Darien, Ga., and Savannah.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams and little son, Jimmy, are visiting relatives in Barbourville, Ky.

Miss Lois Biles and Miss Anita Murray attended a studio tea given by Hugh L. Hodgson in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson Tobe and daughters, Eleanor and Gay, are guests of Mrs. W. S. Tomlinson.

R. M. McNeil, Sr., has returned to Miami, after several days visit here. Miss Frances Campbell spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Chattanooga.

Mayor Gordon Gann left Tuesday for Sarasota, Fla., where he will spend several days before returning home with Mrs. Gann, who has been the guest for two weeks of Mrs. E. C. Ward.

Judge and Mrs. S. C. Atkinson are spending a week at Black Hammock, near Brunswick, Ga.

George McNeil, of Riverside academy, spent Thanksgiving with his mother, Mrs. R. M. McNeil, Sr.

Miss Lena Arnold and Fred Hucker, of Experiment, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, The Rev. W. R. Williams performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. The bride was beautifully gowned in a model of blue, with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in Griffin.

Miss Lena Arnold and Fred Hucker, of Experiment, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, The Rev. W. R. Williams performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. The bride was beautifully gowned in a model of blue, with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in Griffin.

Miss Lena Arnold and Fred Hucker, of Experiment, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, The Rev. W. R. Williams performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. The bride was beautifully gowned in a model of blue, with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in Griffin.

Miss Lena Arnold and Fred Hucker, of Experiment, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, The Rev. W. R. Williams performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. The bride was beautifully gowned in a model of blue, with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in Griffin.

Miss Lena Arnold and Fred Hucker, of Experiment, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, The Rev. W. R. Williams performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. The bride was beautifully gowned in a model of blue, with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in Griffin.

HENDRIX-MEADOWS.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hendrix, of Douglasville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Annie, to Jot Arnold Meadows, the marriage to take place early in December.

SMITH-MALCOM.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Smith, of Bogart, announce the engagement of their daughter, Willie Lois, to Weyman Luck Malcom, of Eastville, the marriage to be solemnized in December.

YOUNG-STRICKLAND.

T. J. Young, of Moreland, announces the engagement of his daughter, Elton Ione, to John Mercer Strickland, of Haralson, the marriage to be solemnized December 29 at the Moreland Methodist church.

HAMMACK-MANGHAM.

Mrs. Alma Jay Hammack, of Blakely, announces the engagement of her daughter, Alta, to William McKenzie Mangham, of Hawkinsville, the marriage to be solemnized December 27.

GRIFFITH-HARDMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Griffith, of Danielsville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruby, to Dr. Joel G. Hardman, of Colbert, the date of the marriage to be announced later.

HARDIN-BRITTON.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Chancey, of Ball Ground, Ga., announce the engagement of their niece, Myrtle Hardin, of Atlanta, to J. L. Britton, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

HOLLAND-KNAPP.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Holland, of Monticello, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah, to Rolland Baker Knapp, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized December 25 at home. No cards.

MATTHEWS-M'AFEE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Matthews, of LaGrange, announce the engagement of their daughter, Wilma, to Broadus B. McAfee, of Aragon, the ceremony to be solemnized December 25 at home.

BELL-ACREE.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bell, of Bairdstown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Annie Ruth, to William Alex Acree, of Decatur, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date. No cards.

KILLINGSWORTH-BACHELOR.

Mrs. Sarah Emma Killingsworth, of Shellman, announce the engagement of her daughter, Mary Emma, to Wetumpka, Ala., to Oliver Smith Bachelor, the wedding to be an event of early winter.

WALKER-JONES.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Walker, of Bremen, announce the engagement of their daughter, Hattie, to E. Buel Jones, the wedding to be solemnized the last of December.

FORT-COLLINS.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Fort, of Americus, announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Niles, to James Chalmers Collins, the wedding to be solemnized in December.

HARWELL-HAYES.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Harwell, of Starrville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Frances, to Clarence F. Hayes, of Mansfield, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

KIKER-WILLIAMS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Knox Kerr, of Jacksonville, Fla., announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Nellie Kiker, to George Welton Williams, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

MAXWELL-TERHUNE.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Maxwell, of Pittsburg, Kansas, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Adelaide Nelson Maxwell, to Howard Haven Terhune, of Atlanta, the wedding to be solemnized December 24 at Pittsburg, Kansas.

Mrs. Muriel C. Copeland Weds Mr. Bellinger in Bamberg, S. C.

Bamberg, S. C., November 26.—Mrs. Rosa Claire Carnes announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Muriel Copeland, to Robert Pickney Bellinger, Wednesday, November 23, at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William S. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church with only the members of the two families present.

The church presented a lovely scene with its decorations of palms and ferns, interspersed with handsome white chrysanthemums. The chancel rail was twined with smilax, the altar being banded with palms and chrysanthemums.

Among the beautiful gifts received by the bride and groom was a chest of handsome flat silver, a treasured heirloom in the groom's family for almost a century, which was presented by Mrs. Lillian R. Faulkner, of Atlanta, a sister of the groom.

"ROSE MARIE" CORSELETTES

The Corselette with the Detachable Top $10.00-$18.00
Nature's Rival Corselettes $5.00 Up
Scanties $5.00 Up
Girdles $3.50 Up
Pajamas, Bloomers, Vests, Silk Hosiery, Fancy Garters

Negligee Belts
EAGER & SIMPSON
8 N. Forsyth St.

"The Shop of Beautiful Gifts"

Select the Choicest Gifts
Put the love and thought in a gift that it deserves, visit our little shop with your list, and everybody will be happy. Here's a few suggestions.

Brooches $2.00 to $500.00
Pearls $5.00 to $300.00
Scarf Pins $1.00 to $100.00
Cigarette Cases $3.50 to $25.00
Watch Chains $3.00 to $45.00
Wrist Watches $10.00 to $300.00

This is just a suggestive list from a store of worthwhile gifts for your selection. We assure you prompt and courteous attention.

E. A. MORGAN
JEWELER
Established Over Twenty Years.

119 Hunter Street, S. W.

"There's economy in a few steps around the corner"

Junior Chamber To Give Dance At East Lake Club

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will entertain at an informal dance Thursday evening, December 1, at the East Lake Country club, the occasion honoring the past presidents, including John Westmoreland, Palmer Blackburn, Eugene Oberdorfer, Jr., Roy LeCraw, John M. Slaton, Jr., and Pittsburgh Knox, Jr.

Joe Ray and George B. Yancey are co-chairmen for the dance and they will be assisted in entertaining by the officers of the chamber, including Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy, president; Frank A. Hooper, first vice president; George W. Suggs, second vice president; Taylor Modder, third vice president; Frank W. Harrison, fourth vice president; J. H. Woody, treasurer. Several membership prizes will be given at the dance. A buffet supper will be served at 11 o'clock.

Miss Carey Weds

Gerald W. Cothran.
Mrs. John W. Harper, of Seneca, S. C., announces the marriage of her niece, Ruth Carolyn Carey, formerly of Seneca, now of Atlanta, to Gerald William Cothran, formerly of Toledo, Ohio, now of Atlanta, Saturday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock in Anderson, S. C. After a short wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Cothran will reside in Atlanta at 469 Seminole avenue.

Miss Daniels Weds

Chauncey C. Mitchell.
Miss Louise Daniels and Chauncey C. Mitchell were quietly married at the home of Rev. E. J. Hammond, 453 Jackson street, N. E., Thursday afternoon, November 24, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Mitchell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Daniels, 25 Alexander street, N. W. Mr. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mitchell. After December 1 they will be at home at 453 Jackson street, N. E.

Miss Evans Weds

Harry L. Johnson.
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans announce the marriage of their daughter, Annie Belle, to Harry L. Johnson, of Gainesville, The marriage having taken place November 19.

Wesley Class Plans

Home-Coming Day.
The young ladies' Wesley class of David Hills Methodist church will hold a reunion of all members Sunday, December 4, from 9:30 to 11 o'clock. All present and former members are urged to be present. An attractive program has been arranged.

WELLBORN'S SPRING DRESSES

Many innovations mark this collection of New Spring Frocks of Flat Crepe. The colors are Nude, Peach, Blue and other Spring favorites.

$11.98

J. V. Wellborn Company, Inc.
112 Arcade

M'ELROY-BRANTLY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McElroy announce the engagement of their daughter, Venia, to Charles Eugene Brantly, Jr., of Decatur, the wedding to be solemnized December 24. No cards.

SIMPSON-CALLAWAY.

Mrs. Bessie Simpson announces the engagement of her daughter, Mildred, to Robert M. Callaway, of Washington, Ga., the marriage to be solemnized December 21. No cards.

MAXWELL-TAYLOR.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Maxwell announce the engagement of their daughter, Eva Louise, to Alexander Selkirk Taylor, Jr., the marriage to be solemnized the latter part of December.

BURKE-RAYMOND.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rudolph announce the engagement of their sister, Nell Burke, to Clayton Morse Raymond, of Detroit and Atlanta, date of the wedding to be announced later.

THOMPSON-M'ARTHUR.

Mrs. R. L. Thompson, of McDonough, announces the engagement of their daughter, Irene, to Horace David McArthur, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized in December.

MORGAN-SAWYER.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Morgan, of Vienna, announce the engagement of their daughter, Leila Helen, to George Clarke Sawyer, of Union, S. C., the marriage to be solemnized in December.

LINDSEY-HUTCHINSON.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Lindsey, of Coleman, announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence, to Clarence L. Hutchinson, of Bessemer, Ala., the marriage to take place December 22.

The Criterion of Style

Je Nan's

Milliner
225 Peachtree Street
N. E.

New Hats

featured tomorrow

Essentially suited to the whim of winter chic yet subtly suggesting the new ideas Paris is originating for advanced spring wear.

$10-$12.50

New Flowers

Violets—decidedly in vogue. Je Nan's features a smart collection. Also coat and dress flowers in fancy boxes for gifts.

Priced 50c to $5

A CHARGE ACCOUNT WITH JE NAN'S IS A FASHIONABLE CONVENIENCE

Books Closed—Charges Payable in January

The Store of Dependability

Sterling Silver

For Christmas

Beautiful in its simplicity of design and delicacy of ornamentation but made with a rugged honesty that assures generations of wear.

Sterling Solid Silver is the ideal Christmas gift.

LATHAM & ATKINSON

JEWELERS
Successors to DAVIS & FREEMAN
81 Whitehall, S. W.

Mr. Rich Says—Before You Get a "Permanent Wave"

Consult Us—We Know Hair and Its Texture

Marcel Waving—Manicuring—Shampoos

ARTISTIC HAIR CUTTING

Phone WAL. 7875

Incomparable Finger Waves—For Straight and Wavy Hair

Artistic Bob Shop

Balcony—Jacobs' Main Store—Five Points

12 Operators

Phone WAL. 7875

"The South's Modern Hairdressers"

Play Safe

BRIDGE

by Using

La Mode Cards

.... which will slip easily in dealing and do not stick to the fingers because of their smooth moisture-proof linen finish surface. Beautiful new designs—something different from the ordinary store cards and not for sale elsewhere. Two designs: blue and old rose are the dominating colors of one style and orange and black in the other. As a Christmas present these new cards with monogram are very acceptable.

See them at—
105 Peachtree Street—
Samples Mailed Upon Request—

J. P. STEVENS
ENGRAVING COMPANY
ATLANTA

WEBSTER

Defines Beauty Culture

as training and refining the graces and charms most pleasing to the eye

To do this requires skill, science, knowledge and experience. Every operator employed by us is a graduated expert trained in the art of Beauty Culture.

Every booth is complete in equipment

For Manicuring, Face Massage, Hot Oil Treatments, Shampooing, Hair Dyeing, Hair Bobs and

PERMANENT WAVING

Our standard of work has stood the test for 30 years. Standardized prices. No tipping

Phone for engagements Walnut 7289-7290

Clayton's Beauty Shoppe

New Number 113-115 Hunter Street, S. W.
THE S. A. CLAYTON CO.

Myron E. Freeman E. B. Freeman E. B. Freeman, Jr.

Quality and Price Considerations

The house of Freeman presents no faulty gems and no inferior mountings.

The designs are individual, exclusive and often unduplicated even in the slightest detail.

Freeman gem pieces are therefore never cheap, but they are never exorbitantly expensive. In fact, Freeman prices are decidedly moderate.

Write for beautiful Rotogravure booklet of Gift Suggestions.

Our Stock of Silverware Is Distinctive for Being All Sterling and the Largest in the South

Myron E. Freeman & Bro.

JEWELERS
103 PEACHTREE STREET
ATLANTA

Miss Bowles Weds

B. S. Cullen.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Bowles announce the marriage of their daughter, Lena, to Bayne Stacy Cullen, of Oklahoma City, November 17. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Collum, of the Third Baptist church, pastor of the bride, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Jack Rastall rendered a beautiful and appropriate musical program before and during the ceremony. The young couple are at home at 981 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Miss Danner Weds

Maxwell L. Elliott.

A marriage of interest to friends and relatives was that of Miss Margaret Edith Danner to Maxwell L. Elliott, of Atlanta, formerly of Griffin, Ga., which was solemnized Saturday evening, November 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Reeves, pastor of the Grant Park Baptist church. The bride is the daughter of Roy R. Danner. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott are at home at 93 Rockeyford road.

HONEYMOON TRIPS!

Ask For Information

John M. Born Travel Agency
1108 Candler Bldg.

Senator George, To Address Meet Of Sigma Nu

A full program of business and social events will mark the annual meeting of the Georgia-Alabama-Florida Sigma Nu association, which convenes here on Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3. Considerable interest is being manifested in the convention among members of this fraternity and one of the largest meetings in the history of the association is indicated, owing to the large number of out-of-town visitors who will be in Atlanta to attend the Tech-Georgia football game.

Gamma Alpha chapter, of Georgia Tech, and Xi chapter, of Emory university will assist the Atlanta alumni chapter of Sigma Nu in entertaining the delegates and visitors.

Senator Walter F. George, of Vienna, Ga., president of the association, and Oscar Palmour, of Atlanta, national regent of the fraternity, will have prominent parts in the meeting.

The annual election of officers for the coming year will be held at the business session at the Georgian Terrace hotel on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Reports of the delegates sent by collegiate chapters and the alumni chapters from the three states will be read, and the selection of the city for the next annual convention will be made.

The last meeting of the association was held in Columbus during the Christmas holidays of last year, at which time Senator George was chosen president of the association. Borden Burr, national committeeman from Alabama, and a former regent of the fraternity, was named first vice president; Allen Woodall, of Columbus, is second vice president. Other officers include R. L. Fagan, Fort Valley, Ga., secretary-treasurer, and Sam H. Worley, of Atlanta, publicity director.

An opening dinner of 200 covers has been arranged at the Georgian Terrace hotel on Friday night, December 2 at 7:30. The business session is scheduled for Saturday morning, while the entire convention has made arrangements for the football game that afternoon. A resolution will be given at Druid Hills club at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening.

Splendid music and an interesting and unique program have been arranged by the committee, appointed by Percy Megaw, president of the Atlanta alumni chapter of Sigma Nu.

Among the more than 200 residents and members and delegates to the convention are such outstanding figures in political, social, educational and civilian life as United States Senator Walter F. George, president of the Tri-State Association of Sigma Nu; Oscar Palmour, national regent; Borden Burr, national committeeman from Alabama; R. L. Fagan, of Fort Valley; Duncan Graham, of McRae; Judge M. J. Yeomans, of Dawson; Attorney General E. T. Tamm, of Princeton, S. C.; Judge S. E. Jenkins, of Besen; Judge Graham, of McRae; Robert Cotton Alston, of Atlanta; and others.

Atlanta men serving on the local entertainment committee with President Megaw include W. L. Kemp, R. L. Fagan, Sam H. Worley, W. N. Schaeffer, Leeman Anderson, Chandler Cochran, Emory Kendrick and Ed Jameson.

Charming Visitor From the National Capital

Miss Fanny Dial, of Washington, D. C., the attractive guest of her cousin, Mrs. Charles J. Haden, on Peachtree road, who made her debut under brilliant social plans in the national capital. She is a daughter of Senator Dial, of South Carolina. Photograph by Francis E. Price, staff photographer.

Explorer To Speak At Fine Arts Club Tuesday Afternoon

J. P. ALLEN & CO. —“The Store All Women Know”—

A Sensational Sale!

YOUR CHOICE OF EVERY HAT IN OUR FRENCH
SALON!

$10

Hats Formerly Priced as High as $40! Original Models From Famous Makers!

Hattie Carnegie	Normandie
Cupid	Ace High
Philmont	May Smith
Warshauer	Harryson
Belart	Empress
De Marines	Borgos

French Salon—Third Floor

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

“The Store All Women Know”

COMPLIMENT AND COMPLEMENT

The Two-Fold Duty of a Gift!

A lovely gift pays an involuntary compliment wherever it is received—it's the salute of one kindred spirit to another, in recognition of a common appreciation of beauty!

There is, however, a more subtle side to the art of gift giving—that second duty of a gift—to complement the surroundings it will live in! Selection of a charming lamp that will harmonize with its surroundings, or an ornament that suits the personality of somebody's room—that shows thought beyond mere list checking, and gives an added value beyond intrinsic worth!

Select Yours From Allen's Gift Shop

Military Brushes, Leather Cases
Writing Portfolios
Folding Picture Frames
Mahogany Desk Clocks
Enameled Clocks
Bridge Cards, Leather Cases
Beverage Shakers
Japanese Autumny Pieces
And Sundry Others!

Main Floor

Crystal Tree

Chinese Soochow
Jade Lamps

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

“The Store All Women Know”

From All Parts of the Globe Come Our

CHRISTMAS HANDKERCHIEFS

For many months Allen's handkerchief buyers have been busy, buying for Christmas! They've searched the globe for your gift handkerchiefs! And they've sent wonderful things back to us from PORTO RICO, ARMENIA, FRANCE, SWITZERLAND, IRELAND, SPAIN, BELGIUM, AUSTRIA, GERMANY, MADEIRA, JAPAN, and CHINA—the largest and best assortment we have yet had.

For Women

Hand-rolled French prints—lace-trimmed georgettes—Creme de chine, with hand-drawn threads—Porto Rican linen—Real Armenian hand-made edges—and countless others at 50c each!

Special mourning handkerchiefs, in black and white—special novelties of all kinds, in a variety of styles, colors and prices.

For Men

All white Irish linen with hemstitched borders—sheer French linen with hand-rolled edges and corded borders—hemstitched and hand-rolled linen with drawn threads, patches and embroidered designs.

Priced all the way from 25c to $3 and $4 each. A wide selection specially bought for discriminating tastes!

For Children

Cunning handkerchiefs for kiddies! Some with scalloped and embroidered corners, others with French hand-rolled edges. Boxed novelties of all kinds.

For Boys

Plain white linen, hemstitched with colored borders—initialed—hand-rolled—hemstitched pongee with hand-drawn threads in colors.

Hundreds of specially boxed handkerchiefs at a variety of attractive prices.

Main Floor

From the Four Corners of the Earth

HAMILTON WATCHES

VAN BUREN

12 size, thin model

17 jewels, adjusted

14-k. green or white gold filled.

$55.00

Others $50 to $250.

Also

Hamilton Wrist Watches

Ladies and Gents

$48 to $85

GOLDWASSER BROTHERS, Inc.

Jewelers

175 Peachtree

Opposite Wincoff

Georgia Products Dinner Takes Place Wednesday

The annual Georgia products dinner of the Joseph Habersham chapter D. A. R. will be given at the chapter house on Fifteenth street Wednesday evening, November 30, at 8:30 o'clock. This dinner was instituted by the late Mrs. William Lawson Peel, the founder of the chapter.

The tables will be in charge of Mrs. Julian Jones, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, Mrs. A. R. Colcord, Mrs. Frank Golden, Mrs. A. C. Whitehead and Mrs. G. L. Berry.

A turkey dinner will be served. Afterwards bridge games may be played by those desiring, and there will be dancing.

Reservations may be made through any of the chairmen or by calling the chapter house, Hemlock 7028.

Social Items

From Brookhaven.

C. H. Cook and family left last Saturday for Kansas City, Mo., where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Emma Bain has returned from a three months' visit to Kansas City and points in Oklahoma.

H. B. Moore left Thursday for an extended visit to Haskell, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Martin and Miss Gladys Martin, of Atlanta, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Henry Cox, Senior.

At the quarterly conference at the Methodist church last week the following board of stewards was elected for the coming year: Chairman, W. H. Tanner; vice chairman, R. T. Sills; secretary, E. E. Tamm, with the additional members C. Hudgins, E. D. Allen, C. Whitehead and J. W. McGhee. D. K. Palmer was elected superintendent of the Sunday school.

Mrs. C. G. Little entertained at a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Henry Cox, Jr., a recent bride. Those present were Mrs. Tamm, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Chamblee, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Sills, Mrs. Cadore, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. W. H. Tanner, Mrs. Clyde Wright, Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Folds, Mrs. Cox, Sr., Mrs. J. R. Wright, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Lila Cox, Mrs. O. A. Dibble, Sr., Mrs. O. A. Dibble, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Cox, Jr.

Tea was served by the hostess.

The Teachers' board of the Baptist church will present the three-act play, "Always in Trouble," at the school auditorium Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Weston Bruner, pastor of the Rockhead Baptist church, is conducting a class in the "Sunday School Manual" at the Baptist church each night this week.

East Point W. M. S. Elects Officers.

At a called meeting Monday afternoon, the East Point Church Street Methodist Missionary society elected the following staff of officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. J. T. McGee; vice president, Mrs. J. D. Campbell; superintendent of young people, Mrs. J. A. Mayton; superintendent of junior society, Mrs. R. B. Callahan; superintendent of supplies, Mrs. A. G. McPuffie; superintendent of mission study, Mrs. W. D. Morgan; superintendent of publicity, Mrs. Gwin Lipus; superintendent of social service, Miss Maggie Little; superintendent of home call, Mrs. W. W. Mitchell; agent of Missionary Voice, Mrs. J. W. Fowler; recording secretary, Miss Emma Harrison; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. G. Conch; treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Langley.

Committees and chairmen of circles will be appointed at the December meeting.

Wesleyan Alumnae To Give Tea Friday.

The Atlanta Alumnae club of Wesleyan college will entertain at a large tea Friday afternoon, December 2, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock at the Druid Hills Golf club.

The honor guests of the occasion are the seniors in the Girls' High school, Fulton High school, Washington seminary, North Avenue Presbyterian school, the DeWitt High school, and the Emory High school.

Invited to meet these young girls are Dr. W. F. Quillian, president of the principals of the different high schools and the Atlanta Wesleyan college; Mrs. Quillian, Miss Jennie Loyall, alumnae secretary; the alumnae. The Emory quartet will furnish music for the occasion.

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION

State Regent, Mrs. Herbert M. Franklin, Tennille, Ga.; First Vice Regent, Mrs. Wilbur E. Coner, Savannah, Ga.; Second Vice Regent, Mrs. John D. Pope, Albany, Ga.; State Recording Secretary, Mrs. Bun Wille, Atlanta, Ga.; State Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Colgate, Tennille, Ga.; State Treasurer, Mrs. H. Fay Gaffney, Columbus, Ga.; State Auditor, Mrs. A. L. Wilkins, Eastman, Ga.; State Historian, Mrs. John Davidson, Quitman, Ga.; State Librarian, Mrs. W. B. Daniel, Eastman, Ga.; State Consulting Registrar, Mrs. Meli Knox, Social Circle, Ga.; State Editor, Mrs. C. H. Leavy, Brunswick, Ga.; Assistant State Editor, Mrs. Howell Simmons, Americus, Ga.; State Chaplain, Mrs. Walter Jordan, Hawkinsville, Ga.

State Regent's Report Made At Board Meeting Published

The following report was submitted by the state regent, Mrs. Herbert M. Franklin, at the recent D. A. R. state board meeting held in Savannah, giving in detail the many accomplishments and activities of her office.

"I wish to express sincere appreciation to the three Savannah chapters for the cooperation which you are giving your state regent along all lines of our work. Whenever there is any new enterprise that requires strenuous effort, I feel that in you we have a tower of strength. Your good citizenship meeting of this year, with the immense audience, which filled the Lucas theater, was a remarkable manifestation of your patriotic success. As you know, our state conference in Thomaston, April 5-6-7, was a brilliant occasion from every standpoint. The patriotic address of our president general, Mrs. Broussard, the enthusiasm of the chairman of the convention, Mr. Magna, and presence of other distinguished guests lent inspiration and assisted in making the conference one of the best in the history of our organization. Thomaston was first in several instances, first to have a special D. A. R. edition of the newspaper, first to give to the delegates such valuable souvenirs as full-page sheets, made in the mill there. The delegate from the new chapter, John Ball, at Irwinton, took her shoes home, embroidered, it was said, it off for about $20, which was used in D. A. R. work. As Thomaston was the birthplace of your state regent, the convention was filled with rare pleasure for her and her mother, Mrs. Louisa Kendall Rogers, who is state poet laureate, U. S. C.

"At continental congress, in Washington, Georgia was represented by 20 local D. A. R. Your state regent presided at a meeting of the Georgia delegation and represented you on all occasions to the best of her ability. Our vice president general, Mrs. Julius Talmadge, our past vice president general and honorary state regent, Mrs. Howard McCall, and our state recording secretary, Mrs. Bun Wille, were other guests of honor. Your state regent had appointed three pages from Georgia: Miss Willie Williams, of Atlanta; Miss Lilla Sims, of Savannah; and Miss Rachel McMaster, of Waynesboro, and our "Georgia Peach," as they were called, lent beauty and charm to the congress. All state reports at the congress were read by the state regent, and many reports were read before they finished. Your state regent condensed and condensed until the report of all our work came within the allotted time. Georgia's report received warm commendation, proving that it pays to be brief at times. When we found that Georgia leads in student loan funds, that Georgia leads in conservation and thrift, which includes forestry, that Georgia leads in so many things, we realize what distinction is ours to be the Daughters of the American Revolution. By the way, our state chairman of forestry states that Mr. Lufburrow, who is at the head of state forestry, writes that Georgia D. A. R. planted more trees and shrubs than any other organization in our state.

"All three of your Savannah chapters were represented at congress, and I am sure we will feel the effect of their inspiration at this meeting. The Georgia society, of Washington, D. C., of which Honorable W. W. Larson, of Dublin, is president, gave a reception and called on Georgia's state officers, and all delegates were invited to stand in receiving line. Mrs. Theodore Tiller, a former Georgian, gave an after-dinner address in honor of the Georgia representatives, and the officers were guests of Mrs. De Los Blodgett, formerly of Atlanta, at a brilliant reception. Our own Georgia banquet, of which Mrs. R. McMaster, of Waynesboro, had charge, was a brilliant occasion. Your state regent appreciated the beautiful flowers presented by the Georgia delegation and the lovely bouquets presented by individual members.

"En route home from Washington, your regent visited a former Tennille D. A. R. at Johnston, S. C. Made address at a D. A. R. meeting at Womans club, and received many nice attentions from South Carolina D. A. R. Later, was invited to return and make an address there on Flag day.

but a previous engagement prevented. On June 11, your regent, with the state corresponding secretary and others, went to Dublin to install new officers in the John Laurens chapter. There was an interesting program and many were in attendance. Your state regent made an address on "Continental Highways and Markers." The D. A. R. were pioneer promoters of the first continental highways, and the United States congress gave us credit for beginning this work in 1911. Your regent was appointed a member of the highway beautification committee, to let us continue our splendid work of planting trees and shrubs to beautify the highways.

In June your regent went to Augusta for a meeting of the executive board of the Tenth District Club Federation. Shared honors at a delightful luncheon, met many D. A. R. and had a conference with the regent of the Augusta chapter, Mrs. Sanford Gardner, in regard to our state conference next spring. On flag day your state regent installed new officers of her long chapter, the Major General Samuel Elbert, and read an original poem at the exercises following. She made an address in Tennille during the presentation of prizes awarded by the D. A. R. chapter for best history records. She could not accept invitation to the W. T. F. convention in Atlanta July 6-7, but at the suggestion of Mrs. Irving Thomas, regent Joseph Habersham chapter, Mrs. John R. Rossett, regent of the chapter, represented our organization and made an address. Your state regent spent most of July and all of August in Texas, having interesting visits to various places in the valleys of the Rio Grande and in Mexico. Met many D. A. R. at a delightful reception in Harlingen, given for the state regent, the occasion of her honor roll and other information of importance. In October returned home in September and sent out full message to state chairman and chapter regents with requests for honor roll and other information of importance. In October served on the Georgia committee for the Atlanta Kent radio contest, with Mrs. E. K. Ralston, in Atlanta, chairman. Sent suggestions as to a Georgia tree for a colonial grove to be planted by the D. A. R. of Ontario, Calif. On October 15, your regent went to Gordon for the unveiling of a marker on the Old Hartwood road, one of the most important of Georgia's early roads. This marker was erected by the John B24 chapter, one of our youngest chapters, which has placed three historic markers which is state's only one and one-half years old. Your state regent made an address and was the guest of the chapter regent, Mrs. J. W. Hooks. Attended a meeting of the Major General Elbert chapter of Tennille, in Waynesboro, with two of our members who live there, Mrs. S. S. Elliott and Miss Alice Trafton Smith. The meeting was held in the beautiful new home of Mrs. Elliott. Met our new organizing regent, whom I had appointed to organize there, and a number of her prospective members. October 19 is one of the trustees of the Confederate Soldiers' home attended the board meeting in Atlanta, and saw some of our prominent D. A. R. workers. October 20 made an address for Athens D. A. R. also at the State Teachers' college, where your state regent enjoyed seeing pictures and monuments of the American Legion and was presented with a beautiful badge called "Keep the Faith" by the poppy lady, Miss Meina Michael, and received attention from teachers and pupils. While in Athens was the guest of a relative, Mrs. Frances Long Taylor, honored with a luncheon by Mrs. J. A. Rucker, regent, a reception by the Elbert chapter and was presented with flowers from our vice president general, Mrs. Talmadge, who was in Washington at the time. The chapter bought 10 cubic feet of foundation for Constitution hall in honor of the state regent.

October 25-26-27 attended U. S. C. state convention in Covington as past state regent. U. S. C. and state chairman historical programs for 14 years. Represented our D. A. R. organization and was introduced among guests on opening evening. Served as parliamentarian in the absence of Mrs. Talmadge. Was guest of the chapter regent, Mrs. R. A. Norris, enjoyed a luncheon with Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, past state regent, and received lovely flowers from the D. A. R. On account of conflicting engagements your state regent had to decline invitations from the Joseph Habersham chapter for a reception in honor of Mrs. L. G. Hardman, wife of our governor, who is a member of that chapter, and the new regent of that chapter, Mrs. Irving Thomas. Other invitations which could not be accepted came from Fort Valley, Perry, Social Circle and Forsyth.

New Chapters. Organization of two new chapters was confirmed by the national board in October and we welcome the Arthur Fort chapter at Grantville, Mrs. Stewart Colley, regent, and the Camilla chapter at Camilla, Mrs. Ruth Walker Stevenson, regent. The appointment of three other organizing regents has been confirmed—Mrs. Duward Collier at Barnesville, Mrs. Irving A. Brannen at Swainsboro, Mrs. Oler S. Warthen at Vidalia. We hope to have these chapters fully organized by our next board meeting, also chapter at Louisville. Your state regent is working hard for organization of these six new chapters in Georgia. Have also furnished information for organizing to Mrs. Will Knox, of Metter.

Nancy Hart Highway. You will recall that one of your state regent's recommendations at conference was that the Georgia D. A. R. endeavor to have a highway through our state named for the revolutionary heroine, the Nancy Hart highway. Thinking that this would come under consideration of the government, I wrote Senator Harris, Senator George and Congressman Carl Vinson, of my own district. Received replies from each assuring us of their hearty cooperation whenever they could be of assistance to the D. A. R. Also received a letter from the chief of division of bureau of public roads, who had been consulted by Senator Harris. He stated that the United States had no jurisdiction over the numbered routes in Georgia, but that the state highway had this matter in charge. The state route 15 is one of the new roads through Georgia, is the shortest route to Jacksonville and has other advantages, so we appealed to the chairman of the state highway department, Honorable John N. Holder. He has given consent for us to name this highway, through his board knows the route by number only. I would like for the D. A. R. to decide on this route No. 15, then our Nancy Hart highway committee will call on the chapters to place signs of uniformity and design to mark the highway. At the request of Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, copies of the proceedings for 1924-25-26 were sent for the library at our state capital.

Letter Received. The following letter has been received from the regent of the chapter in London, England: September 9, 1927. Mrs. Herbert Mitchell Franklin, 206 Main street, Tennille, Ga. E. S. A. Madam—We of the London, England, chapter D. A. R. extend to you our greetings and would like you to know that any of our members visiting London would be most cordially welcomed at our meetings. Should the meetings not coincide with a visit, one of our members would be delighted to meet visitors and explain to them our work, which is historical and is also an effort to consolidate the trans-Atlantic friendship. In the last week of July each year we make a pilgrimage by motor coach to a place of historic interest to Americans. Any one wishing to join this party may do so and be most cordially welcome. We should be glad if you would read this at your state meeting so that our members may make use of our invitation. Kindly advise Mrs. Robert Brannard Moseley, (regent, London, England, chapter), Sunnyside, Tenfenden Grove, Hendon, London, N. W. 4, of any intended visits. With cordial greetings to all the chapters in your state from ours over the seas, I am, most sincerely yours, Margaret Chaffee (Mrs. Robert B.) Moseley, regent.

Constitution Hall State Chairman Issues Message

Mrs. Thomas C. Mell, of Atlanta, state chairman of Constitution Hall finance committee, sends today an interesting reminder of the importance of Georgia D. A. R. making substantial contributions to the work of erecting this new D. A. R. building in Washington, D. C. She suggests that each chapter purchase one chair, and that cubic feet of foundation be bought.

Several suggestions are made by the state chairman as to ways of raising money for contributions to the Constitution Hall fund, any one of which may easily be accomplished.

Mrs. Mell's message follows: "As you know, Constitution Hall will not be commenced until $1,000,000 in cash is on hand. The amount assured at last congress, including gifts, pledges and cash on hand is $826,473.51, making a little over half the desired amount. The slogan of this committee is 'The Million by March.' Mrs. Russell W. Melina, national chairman of this committee has been challenged by a friend, very much interested in Constitution Hall, that if he could 'sell' the Million by March' he would give the society $25,000."

"Your state chairman hopes that Georgia will continue her efforts to assist in raising the balance of the necessary fund, so that the cornerstone of Constitution Hall can be laid during congress, 1928. A chair ($150 per chair) for every chapter has been our aim, but where this is impossible, the sale of cubic feet of foundation ($1 per cubic foot). It is hoped that all chapters which have taken chairs and have not yet paid for them will do so as early as possible."

"The following four suggestions have been made for raising money in the future: (1) That every state try to find some individuals, not necessarily D. A. R. members, who will become 'potential donors' by contributing $1,000 each as outright gifts, payable before January 1, 1928. (2) When making out Christmas lists, include Constitution Hall as a friend and give to this friend a Christmas gift, the value of which should be $3.50. (3) A penny a day be placed in a box for Constitution Hall as chapter work. In one year's time each member of the D. A. R. will have contributed by this method $3.65, irrespective of any other donation. (4) That instead of costly houndful displays of flowers at meetings, a small bouquet be given and that the rest of the flower fund be used to purchase cubic feet of foundation, as in cases of death instead of flowers cubic feet of foundation be taken in the name of the departed member. Please remit sales promptly. Very respectfully yours, JOSEPHINE D. MELL, (Mrs. Thomas C.) Mell, 2495 Peachtree Road, N. E., Atlanta, Ga."

LaGrange Alumnae Give Reception. The preachers of the North Georgia Methodist conference, with their wives, who are present with them at their annual conference, now in session at Wesley Memorial church, were tendered a reception by the LaGrange Alumnae, of Atlanta, in the ball room of the Henry Grady hotel Friday, November 25, at 4:30 o'clock. The officers of the alumnae were assisted in receiving by Bishop and Mrs. Candler, by Mr. W. E. Thompson, president of LaGrange college, and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, who are the trustees of LaGrange college, these comprising a number of men and women of prominence throughout Georgia. There was a large attendance and both the preachers of the conference and the alumnae of LaGrange.

Those taking part on the program were S. C. Dobbs, chairman of the board of trustees of LaGrange college; Bishop Warren A. Candler, the beloved senior bishop of southern Methodism; Edmund Martin, a prominent Methodist layman of Atlanta; Judge John S. Candler, of the board of trustees; Mrs. S. C. Dobbs, president of the state alumnae association.

Turkey Dinner To Feature Atlanta Woman's Club Bazar

Mrs. T. G. Delph, chairman of the house committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, which committee is sponsoring the great annual bazar to be held this week, announces that a turkey dinner has been arranged for Thursday evening under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Carlisle and Mrs. R. L. Reed. A menu will be served consisting of several courses for the nominal sum of 75 cents, which includes roast turkey with dressing and giblet gravy, sweet potatoes, cranberry jelly, molded spinach with bechamel sauce, buttered carrots, head of celery and pickles, hot rolls and butter, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, Swiss cheese, ice cream and cake, and coffee. The opening night of the bazar is Wednesday, November 30. A concert will be given which is free to the public. Several of Atlanta's talented artists will appear on the program, as follows: Mrs. Susan Bowden Johnson, soprano, will render a group of songs, with Miss Ruby Slaton, who has done concert work over the state, at the piano. Beautiful piano solos will be rendered by Miss Kathleen McCullough and Miss Sarah Coleman, Mrs. M. L. Throver and Mrs. E. V. Carter will direct the concert. Miss Mary Sayward, monologist, who is a popular Agnes Scott student and a member of the Blackfriars' club, will give several dramatic readings. Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the club, will be assisted in receiving the visitors by the officers of the club. Other members of the committee active in arrangements for the bazar are Mrs. Charles Goodman, Mrs. John R. Hornsby, Mrs. George Ripley, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Hazard. Mrs. T. G. Delph will have charge of the direction of the bazar activities. More than 60 departments, divisions and committees are at work on the arrangements of the bazar, which will be held from November 30 through December 2, with luncheons served daily to those attending.

D. A. R. Movie Guide Is Announced.

The motion picture department this month, in the National D. A. R. magazine, has paid particular attention to the short subject—an interesting part of the motion picture program. The short subject is usually unobtrusively educational and includes not only the one-reel but special travel pictures, comedies and short features.

There are several series of pictures—the Hodge Dodge series, Bruce Willardness Tales and the like. It is interesting to know that increasing thought is being given by the motion picture industry to short subjects. Both Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Paramount-Famous Lasky have recently entered the news reel and short subject field.

The following short subjects are approved by the national chairman of better films, Mrs. Newton D. Chapman: Educational Film Exchange, Inc., "A Bird of Flight," "Climbing Into Cloudland," "Tales of a Traveler," "A Sonnet Treasure Chest," "Captures of a Camera" and "Bubbles of Geography."

The Lyman H. Howe Hodge Dodge series of very unusual places and people excellently photographed and containing keen bits of humor. The Music Master series, Fitzpatrick Pictures, Inc., "Franz Schubert," "Felix Mendelssohn," "Stephen Foster," "Ludwig Van Beethoven," "Franz Liszt" and "Frederick Chopin."

"The Elegy," Paramount-Famous Lasky corporation.

Friendship Garden To Honor President General.

Word has been received by the state regent, Mrs. Herbert M. Franklin, to the effect that at the next meeting of the National D. A. R. executive board it was decided to plant a "Friendship Garden" in Washington, D. C. in honor of the president general, Mrs. Alfred J. Broussard.

The plan is that each state officer send at least one dozen bulbs or plants for the garden, if possible from the home garden of a D. A. R. member or from some place of historic interest. Each state has been allotted 30 feet, which is to be filled with either bulbs or plants.

This offering of love and esteem be sent as soon as possible to her home address in Tennille, before the meeting of the board, December 2. This is a beautiful idea and one

Mrs. Price-Smith To Be Paid Tribute By Woman's Club

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, a woman possessing every splendid requisite in leadership, will be signally honored Friday afternoon, December 9, by having a tree planted as a tribute to the beloved president.

Hundreds of friends and admirers will gather to honor Mrs. Price-Smith and the tree will be planted on the front lawn, and in years to come will typify in the pleasure and refuge of its beauty and shade the help and uplift which has always been extended to all by her for whom this tree is to be planted.

Miss Alice Baxyer, chairman of state forestry and also chairman of conservation for the Atlanta Woman's club, and Mrs. W. O. Woodward, chairman of tree planting as memorial charge of the program at this time.

Monday, December 12, at 3 o'clock, the meeting of the Atlanta Woman's club takes place in the audi-

College Park Club To Sponsor Bazar November 29

The College Park Woman's club will have the greatest bazar of its history November 29, 30 and December 1. Luncheon will be served from 1 to 2 and dinner from 6 to 8 each day at an exceedingly nominal price.

The bazar will be held in the new clubhouse, where a large variety of articles will be displayed. Dainty and serviceable aprons, household linens, hand-made handkerchiefs, art novelties, candies, cakes, jellies and many other articles appropriate for Christmas gifts will be for sale.

Mrs. Oscar Palmour, president of the club, and Mrs. Charles Center, chairman of the bazar, urge the general public to attend.

atorium and Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president, will preside.

Mrs. Fred White, one of Atlanta's most talented and well-known readers, will give "The Beauty of Nash," which is one of the most modern and talked of plays of recent times. It is a one-act drama and will be given in costume.

LAST
2
DAYS

$1.95
A PAIR

TWO-DAY
SALE

BAKER'S

1 WHITEHALL ST.—ON THE VIADUCT

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

To Assure Holiday Happiness!

Gay New Frocks

$11.00

A re-ordered shipment of the frocks that went so fast in Lewis' After-Thanksgiving Sale! Exquisite fabric—georgette, satin and crepe—in the most flattering high shades and in black. Subtle swinging lines that place the exclamation point after beauty! Sizes 14 to 46.

Your Gift to Yourself—
The Furred Coat

$25
and $58

Christmas frost is in the air! Lewis' furred wraps will take you, warm and gay, on your shopping expeditions and to your holiday festivities! Blacks and Tans predominate, for these have been accorded first place in fashion's color list. Two groups of coats—and each wrap a marvelous value!

Sizes 12 1-2 to 46

H. G. Lewis & Co.

Walnut
8889

NEW LOCATION
SALE
of Oriental Rugs
And Novelty Gift Goods

In order to acquaint our customers and the buying public with our new location, where we have a larger and roomier store, with a more varied and complete stock of Oriental Rugs and beautiful Novelty Gift Goods, we are inaugurating tomorrow what we call our New Location Sale. Every article in our new store is offered at surprisingly low prices. Featuring values whose magnitude is evident, and so convincing they are simply irresistible.

KEISHIAN & ALBERT
280 Peachtree St. Phone IVy 4893
Formerly at 537 Peachtree St.

An Opportunity For Early Christmas Shoppers

Soft Sole Boudoirs

$1

Gaily Embroidered in Every Tone and Shade!

Black Rose Copen

Satin D'Orsays

$1.95

With or Without Ostrich

—May be had in black satin with peach lining, or in all rose, all copen or black satin with embroidered toe. Ideal as a Christmas gift!

M. RICH & BROS. CO.

Famous Orchestra Will Begin Engagement at Biltmore Dec. 5

An announcement of interest is made today by Holland Jenkins, vice president of the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, that Johnny Jackson will present Mack Davis and his orchestra to the Biltmore hotel patrons December 5 for an indefinite engagement.

MUSE'S ladies' shop in the HENRY GRADY

Women's APPAREL
Reduced
DRESSES
SPORTSWEAR

COATS and ENSEMBLES
LUXURIOUS WITH FURS

MUSE'S
LADIES SHOP
in the HENRY GRADY

"The Greatest Shoe Sale Ever Held in Atlanta"

STEWART'S MAMMOTH STOCK-REDUCING

SALE

ENTIRE STOCK OF SHOES—MEN'S HATS—FURNISHINGS—HOSIERY!

--in full swing--

1,000 Men's
"GIFT TIES"
Formerly $1.00
75c
MEN'S DEPT.

Tomorrow!
3,000 PAIRS
LADIES' SILK
HOSE
$1.19
Pair
Formerly $1.50 and $1.75

Tomorrow—Atlanta's greatest hosiery event! 3,000 pairs Stewart's famous stock-reducing, guaranteed perfect medium weight, FULL CASHIONED SILK HOSE to go regardless of cost. Colors: Black, Champagne, Squirrel, Flesh, Parchment and Blonde.

900 Prs. Basement
LADIES' SLIPPERS
$2.95
—BASEMENT

Over 4,000 Prs.
CHILDREN'S SHOES AND SLIPPERS
25% off and 1,000 pairs at greater savings!

1,000 Prs. Main Floor
WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
Formerly $7.50 to $12.50
$5.75

800 Prs. Main Floor
WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
Formerly $8.50 to $12.50
$7.75

1,800 Prs. Stewart's Best Quality—Newest
WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
$9.75

59 Whitehall S. W.
120 Alabama S. W.
Stewart
GOOD SHOES FOR EVERYBODY
Fred S. Stewart Company

Social Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cuthbert May announce the birth of a son, Stephen Cuthbert May, Jr., to their daughter, Miss Mary Jo Merritt, of Atlanta, and Captain H. A. May, of the United States navy, and Mrs. May, who are now located in San Diego, Calif. Mrs. S. C. May was formerly Miss Mary Jo Merritt, well known through Atlanta's literary and women's clubs.

Mrs. Bon F. Noble and Miss Helen Noble have returned from two weeks' visit to New York.

Mrs. Emmet McKenzie and Miss Mary Laura McKenzie, of Macon, Ga., are at the Biltmore hotel.

Major and Mrs. S. H. McGregor and Captain and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, of Fort Benning, Ga., are spending the week-end at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. W. Sanders Hickey and Miss Eleanor Browder, of Montgomery, Ala., are guests at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. Elmer C. Wood, Mrs. Grace E. Bell, Miss Lucy T. Bell, Miss Mary Laura McKenzie, of Macon, Ga., Chattanooga, Tenn., are guests at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roundtree and Miss Juliette Roundtree, of Wrightsville Beach, Ga., are stopping at the Biltmore hotel for a few days.

Mrs. V. M. S. Loring, of New York, is a guest at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McConiff, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Forsyth, E. W. Feinster, Jr., R. W. Dusenberry and J. W. Baxter, of Columbus, are at the Biltmore.

Frank Standard and Ed Johnson, students at A. & M. college, Monroe, La., are at the Biltmore for the holiday week-end.

Miss Mary Johnson spent the holidays with friends in Villa Rica, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Drew announce the birth of a son, Glen, Jr., November 17.

Miss Margaret Elder will return Sunday from Birmingham, Ala., where she spent the past few days as the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Ahlman, of Miami, Fla., announce the birth of a daughter November 15 at Wesley Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. John R. Hornady, Mrs. George L. Turner and Mrs. Frederick Rice will motor to Macon Sunday and to Fitzgerald on Monday, where they will attend the conference of the Dixie highway auxiliary.

Mrs. Maynard D. Smith is ill at her home on Westminster drive.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Knight have taken possession of their apartment at 1050 Ponce de Leon apartments.

Dr. A. G. Fort is spending the week in Miami, Fla., where he is attending the convention of the Seaboard Air railway surgeons.

Lowry A. Moore, of Macon, spent Thanksgiving in Atlanta.

Hugh Skinner, Horace Cantrell and Stewart Blair have returned to Atlanta from Birmingham, where they spent a month.

J. Royce Dobbs has returned from a three months' business trip through the north.

Steve Bomar, Tami Camp and Jay Camp were attendants at the Georgia-Alabama game in Birmingham.

R. M. Smith, of Atlanta, spent Thanksgiving with his parents in Chattanooga.

Mrs. Paul Dobbin has returned from a visit with relatives in Uniontown, Ala.

Miss Frances Adair is recuperating from a serious illness at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kubird, of Norfolk, Va., are at the Hotel Georgian Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitehead and little daughter, of Orlando, Fla., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watson, on Cascade avenue, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Jones and Mrs. J. R. Williams were the recent guests of Mrs. Jeff Graham and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brooks in Athens.

Mrs. Julian Watson has returned from a visit to her daughter in Ocala, Florida.

Frank Harbin attended the Georgia-Alabama football game in Birmingham Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Settle and daughter motored to Gainesville Thursday to spend Thanksgiving with Elvin Settle, a student at Riverside.

Miss Luie M. Sargeant has gone to Spring Hill, Tenn., to make her home with her sister, Mrs. Fountain Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, of Charlotte, N. C., are at the Hotel Georgian Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Conway are visiting relative in Scottsdale, Ala.

Mrs. William L. Cogswell will make her home at the Georgian Terrace after Monday. She has been the guest of Mrs. Hugh Banker at her home on East Seventeenth street since her return from Europe two weeks ago.

Mrs. Lillian B. Faulkner and daughter, Miss Anne Faulkner, with her sister, Mrs. Jane Bellinger Broome, who motored over to Hamburg, S. C., to attend the marriage of their brother, Robert Pinckney Bellinger, to Mrs. Muriel Copeland, formerly of Washington, D. C., have returned to Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Davis have returned home after a trip through south Georgia.

Mrs. Jack Lawless To Sponsor Party.

Mrs. Jack Lawless, chairman of a circle of the Ladies' Altar society of Sacred Heart church, assisted by the members of her circle, will sponsor a benefit bridge at the Junior League tea room in the Medical Arts building, Wednesday, November 30, and requests that reservations be made through her at Hemlock 0860-W. The proceeds accruing from the bridge party will go towards the Altar society.

Miss Jane Van de Vrede To Address Nurses.

Miss Jane Van de Vrede, secretary of the state board of nurses for Georgia, will address the colored graduate nurses at the Carnegie library, Auburn avenue, Friday afternoon, December 2, at 4 o'clock. "Registration" will be the subject of her talk.

MEETINGS

Junior Hadassah meets at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Sunday, November 27.

The board of management of the Georgia society, Daughters of the American Colonies, meets at the home of the regent, Mrs. Run Wylie, 3 Peachtree place, N. W., Tuesday morning, November 29, at 10:30 o'clock.

A called meeting of John R. Wilkinson chapter, No. 253, O. E. S., will be held Monday evening in the chapter room, corner Bankhead avenue and Ashby street, at 7:30 o'clock.

The woman's auxiliary of the Georgia Baptist hospital meets Friday, December 9, at 10:30 a. m. at the hospital. Representatives from all Baptist churches in Atlanta and vicinity are urged to attend. This meeting will be a memorial to the late Mrs. E. L. Connally and the members of her family and her friends are especially invited to be present.

Grant park chapter, No. 178, O. E. S., meets Thursday evening, December 1, in Grant park Masonic temple, 464 Cherokee avenue, S. E.

Lakewood chapter, No. 162, O. E. S., meets Thursday evening, December 1 at the Lakewood Masonic temple.

There will be a call meeting of the De Moly Mothers' auxiliary at Chamberlain's tea room at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday. Plans for the fourth annual state convocation to be held in Atlanta on December 29-30 will be discussed.

The board of management of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., meets at the home of the chairman, Mrs. J. M. High, 58 Fifteenth street, N. E., Thursday morning, December 1, at 10:30 o'clock.

The W. M. S. of the South Side Baptist church meets at the home of Mrs. O. B. Adams, 979 Sylvan avenue.

Monday, November 27, at 2:30 o'clock.

Teachers and workers of the Central Presbyterian Sunday school meet Monday, November 28, at 6:30 o'clock and the executive committee meets at 5:30 o'clock.

The executive board of the woman's auxiliary of the Central Presbyterian church meets at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, November 28, at the church.

The Fine Arts club meets for Professor Baumgardt's lecture Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club. The lecture will be followed by a tea.

The circles of the Woman's Missionary society of Haygood Memorial Methodist church meet Monday at 3 o'clock at the following places: Circle No. 1, with Mrs. McKibben, 1446 Gore place; circle No. 2, with Mrs. Daniel, 948 Highland terrace; circle No. 3, with Mrs. McKamy, 1486 Lanier place; circle No. 4, with Mrs. Longmire, 1344 Lanier place.

Dixie lodge, 810 ladies' auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will be held Thursday, December 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the Wigwam, 86 Central avenue.

Pi Lambda Delta Give Dance at Ansley.

Members of the Pi Lambda Delta fraternity, of Georgia Tech, were hosts Saturday evening at a dance given on the Ansley road garden in honor of the pledges to the fraternity, with the pledges of all other Tech fraternities as their guests. The pledges to Pi Lambda Delta are Eugene F. Moretta, Staten Island, N. Y.; William Murfree Bragg, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Edward W. Johnson, Port Richmond, N. Y.; Frederick Leary Craven, Marion, S. C.; Lamont Myers, Atlanta; Clarence Linton Renfro, Macon, and Frank Hicks Reynolds, Sweetwater, Tennessee.

Miss Rauers To Wed Mr. Granger At Fashionable Church Ceremony

Savannah, Ga., November 26.—Carrying wide social importance throughout the south is the approaching marriage of Miss Marion Morrell Rauers, beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Rauers, to Harvey Granger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Granger, which will be fashionably solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, December 10, at St. John's church. A brilliant throng of representative southern society will attend the ceremony which will be among the important social events of the season.

The lovely bride-elect will be attended by her sister, Miss Joan Rauers, as maid of honor.

Noted Lecturer To Speak To Fine Arts Club.

Professor R. R. Baumgardt, F. R. A. S., who has lectured in New York and Washington countless times on his many subjects ranging from art, descriptive geography and history to astronomy, will lecture before the members of the Fine Arts club on Tuesday afternoon, November 29, at 3:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club. The lecture will be followed by a tea.

The following from the Washington, D. C., Star is a typical press comment on Professor Baumgardt: "It would seem a difficult task to create a new impression in the lecture field, yet this is precisely what Mr. Baumgardt has done by adding to the elements of instruction and entertainment the charm of poetic interpretation. His enthusiasm is contagious, his personality peculiarly attractive and his delivery modulated to a nicely, which shows him to be the professor of historic abilities. He is a man of the rarest intellectual attainments."

Garden Club to Hear Dr. Paul Bartsch At Meeting Monday

Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Jr., entertains the Peachtree Garden club Monday afternoon, November 28, at the Piedmont Driving club at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Paul Bartsch, assistant curator of the Smithsonian institution, will give a side lecture on "Wild Flowers and Birds."

Dr. Bartsch is a noted lecturer, and his talk to the garden club members will be replete with interesting and practical notes as he is an authority on this subject.

Mrs. Robert L. Conney is president of the club and the other officers include Mrs. William H. Kiser, first vice president; Mrs. Prince Webster, second vice president; Mrs. Cam Dorsey, secretary; and Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Jr., treasurer.

MUSE'S
impressive mid-season

sale of apparel for women

PRACTICALLY ALL OF THE FIFTH FLOOR'S

One Group
Coats and Dresses
that were $25.00 and $29.50
Now: $13 in this Sale

One Group
Coats and Dresses
that were $29.50 and $39.50
Now: $19 in this Sale

One Group
Dresses of Velvet
Satin, Canton Crepe, Flat Crepe, Chiffon and Elizabeth Crepe
That were $69.50-$79.50
Now! $54

One Group
Satin and Frost Crepe DRESSES that were $59.50 and $69.50
now: $44

One Group
Velvets, Satins, Cantons, Chiffons
Exclusive! Paris-smart!
$89.50 and $99.50
$74

One Group
Coats
$49.50 and $59.50
SPORTS COATS
In smart American and imported fabrics—furred in Jap fox. $39

One Group
Coats
$69.50 and $79.50
SPORTS COATS
Imported fabrics—furred in kit fox; Jap fox; beaver; badger. $54

Hundreds of handsome Dress Coats, luxuriously furred, go into this sale. $79.50 to $99.50 Coats now $68; $119.50 Coats now $98; $149.50 Coats now $128.

MUSE'S
The Style Center of the South
PEACHTREE-WALTON-BROAD

Also—all of Muse's finer feminine Coats go in this sale at solid reductions.

GEORGIA DIVISION Daughters of the Confederacy

Mrs. W. Troy Bankston, Covington, president; Mrs. H. O. Ball, Jackson, first vice president; Mrs. J. L. Baskins, Dublin, second vice president; Mrs. W. H. H. Kenzie, Montezuma, third vice president and director of Children's Confederacy; Mrs. Powell, Gutter, Barrowville, recording secretary; Mrs. R. E. Everett, Covington, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John C. Lane, Statesboro, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Craig, Augusta, registrar; Miss Mildred Rutherford, Athens, historian; Mrs. Kirby Smith, Anderson, Madison, assistant historian; Miss Rebecca Black, Dupont, Savannah, recorder of names; Miss Lillian Henderson, Atlanta, custodian of world war records; Mrs. J. J. Harris, Sandersville, state editor; Mrs. Chas. Tillman, Quitman, auditor; Mrs. L. M. Rogers, Tennesse, post laureate. Honorary President: Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Atlanta; Mrs. Anna Caroline Bending, Columbus; Mrs. Ida Evans, Eves, Augusta.

Un Mot Ici, Est Bien

Mrs. J. J. Harris Editor Georgia Division, U. D. C.

The mellow notes of a bugle pealing out in the Citadel Baptist church in Charleston, S. C., marked the beginning of the 34th annual general convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Mrs. I. Sumpter Rhame, president of the Charleston chapter, U. D. C., opened the convention. Her speech was followed by the welcome of the evening, Mrs. Walter Grace, of Macon, chairman of programs, introduced the speaker of the occasion, Dr. Rufus March, whose address, "The Future of the Southern Confederacy," was of inspirational value. Mrs. Walter Lane, of Macon, introduced the past presidents, Mrs. Frank Harold, past president general, was greeted with enthusiasm.

Dr. Weaver paid the highest tribute to southern womanhood. He said: "The future of the confederacy lies in the women of the south—you Daughters of the Confederacy can aid the land of your birth by advocating good roads and education." A memorial service, in charge of Mrs. Charles R. Hyde, was held Wednesday. Beautiful and impressive this sacred ceremony was a tribute of loyalty and remembrance to those who have passed over the Great Divide.

The Georgia dinner, at which 30 were present was a brilliant function. Mrs. Kirby Smith, Anderson, state assistant historian, was in charge and had arranged a delightful program. Tributes were paid to the retiring president, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma. Mrs. Frank Harold, past president general of America; Mrs. W. Troy Bankston, newly-elected division president, of Covington, and the toastmistress, Mrs. Anderson. Business relative to the convention was discussed.

Division presidents evening, which immediately followed the Georgia dinner, was of intensive interest, as at this time Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, division president, outlined the work of the division and her activities in a comprehensive and inspirational manner. Her report was of paramount interest and her manner of presentation was a source of great pride to her division.

Georgia Honored

Thursday morning was set aside for election of officers and was a time of great excitement. There were three candidates for the office of president general, Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Chatham, Va., chairman of the committee on history; Mrs. W. E. R. Byrne, of Charleston, W. Va., first vice president general and Miss Katie Duffin, of Lufkin, Texas, third vice president general. When Mrs. Merchant gained the victory over her two opponents on first ballot and was elected president general it was the first time in the

Elected to High U. D. C. Office

Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, who was elected first vice president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at their annual convention in Charleston, S. C.

she is to hold the still higher honor which has been conferred upon her. Her reign has been one of actual achievement, constantly putting herself in the background and insisting that the real work of the organization be the chief objective. She has made the ministration to the beloved veterans of the sixties her special obligation. She has been a brilliant executive, clear in judgment and unbiased in her decisions. Lineally Mrs. McKenzie is descended from the Quakers and the Protestants. On her mother's side she is directly descended from Francis Cooke, who came over in the Mayflower, and from Thomas Prouce, one of the first governors of Plymouth colony, and through this line she has membership in the Mayflower society and Colonial Dames. Her maternal great-grandmother was Avis Keene, a Quaker, and a close friend of John Greenleaf Whittier. On her father's side she is descended from General Rumph and Andrew Frederick, and from them she has her identity with the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. McKenzie's father was Major James Frederick, a veteran of the Civil War, and the states, for whom the U. D. C. chapter at Marshville is named.

Mrs. McKenzie is a graduate of Wesleyan college, a member of the Phi Mu fraternity. She has held many local as well as state offices, having served twice as president of the Montezuma Woman's club, president of the Phi Cook chapter, U. D. C., and organizer and regent of the Bullock chapter, D. A. R. Mrs. McKenzie is the only woman who has ever served as secretary for three state organizations at the same time.

Retiring from a brilliant administration as division president, it is only natural that U. D. C. general would recognize her ability and elect her to the second highest office in that organization.

Historical Evening

Never in the history of the general organization was historical evening staged upon more brilliant lines than in Charleston on Thursday evening. Mrs. J. L. Woodbury, historian general, gave a brief address, dealing specifically with the development of history from the beginning up to the present day. A delightful feature of the evening was the rendition of the Pledge for the Preservation of Negro Spirituals, giving several of these selections in a most realistic manner. In the chanting of the singers one was transported to old plantation scenes, "Way Down Upon the Swannee River" and "Where the Cotton Blossoms Bloom."

The banner-bearers, holding the flags of the states of the general organization, lined up around the rostrum, the flags forming a background for the pageant of the sixties, which passed in review before a most enthusiastic audience. Mrs. Z. W. Oglesby, of Atlanta, was a most charming figure in rose pink and ruffles appearing like a miniature painted on ivory, as also was Mrs. Charles Tillman, of Quitman, who wore her mother's wedding gown and orange blossoms. Mrs. Walter Lane, of Macon, was charming in an original costume of the sixties, carrying one back to the atmosphere of Confederate times.

On Friday morning Georgia again won recognition by receiving the Dorothy Blount Lamar cup and the Youree money prize. Another signal honor for our state was the award of a prize of $200 to Mrs. R. E. Everett, of Covington, newly appointed corresponding secretary for the Georgia division. Mrs. Everett received this for the best essay on "Meadow Ranges" and given by the general organization.

Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, division president, extended for Georgia in the name of the Fulton chapter, of Atlanta, an invitation for the next general convention. In this she was followed by Mrs. L. T. Quinby, president of the Fulton chapter, who read the endorsements to the invitation from the mayor of Atlanta, practically every organization in the city and Dr. Harman, governor of the state. Mrs. Quinby, in a few words, expressed the wish that this state-wide hospitality could be accepted. Texas and Florida

De Molay Conclave Meets in December In Atlanta

The fourth annual conclave of the Georgia DeMolays meets in Atlanta Thursday and Friday, December 29 and 30. Delegations are expected from Albany, Augusta, Columbus, Marietta and Savannah, and Atlanta chapter of the order will be the host of the occasion.

The order of DeMolays is an organization of boys of the ages between 16 and 21 years and is devoted to clean living and the development of good character, instituted in Kansas City in 1919. It has grown from a boys' club to an international organization with a membership of nearly one hundred and twenty-five thousand.

The order is sponsored by Masonry, built in no sense a junior Masonic order. It is a secret fraternal society for young men to assist them in the development of clean citizenship. The program for the Georgia conclave has not yet been completed but will consist mainly of business sessions and conferences for the delegates. Talks will be made by men of broad experience in young men's work. Both degrees will be exemplified probably by visiting chapters.

Louis Lower, first DeMolay in the world and in charge of ritualism and field work for the grand council, will be present, accompanied by Mrs. Lower. Howard Geldert, deputy of Georgia for the grand council of the order, will be in charge of the conclave, assisted by the advisory council and the officers of the Atlanta chapter.

The principal officers of the Atlanta chapter are as follows: W. Harold Huer, master councilor; John L. Garrison, senior councilor; Ralph Gibson, junior councilor; Louis Rauschenberg, acting treasurer; Frank McDonald, senior deacon; Charles G. Wilson, senior deacon; McHenry Jackson, junior deacon; Bill Mount, senior steward; Perry Huff, junior steward; Allen Ford, chaplain; Aubrey White, marshal; Leighton Mitchell, standard-bearer; Washington Irwin, sentinel; Frank Walker, Almon, sponsors; Miss Dorothy Spratt and Miss Anna Hill Price.

Atlanta Lodge of Elks To Entertain at Teas.

Atlanta lodge of Elks No. 78 extends a cordial invitation to Elks' families and their friends to a tea at the new home, 736 Peachtree street, each Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Nadele will act as hostess on Wednesday, November 30, and the program will be in charge of the Gertrude Kelly Lambright School of Dancing. The solo artists will be Misses Grace Terrin, Nonnie Maughan and Phyllis Nadele.

Yaarab Temple To Entertain.

Yaarab Temple will entertain the nobility with their last dance before the holidays Friday evening, December 2, at the Druid Hills Golf club. This affair, as usual, will be strictly formal and the current card must be presented at the door. Potentially Thomas C. Law has requested that all nobles wear the fez, so that visitors may be identified and properly entertained. Yaarab will have its annual New Year's ball, December 31.

GIFTS OF JEWELRY

Affiliated with Atlanta Retail Jewelers' Association
For Hearts Desire

Established 22 Years

DURHAM JEWELRY COMPANY
14 Edgewood Ave. A Few Steps from 5 Points

"Regenstein's Smart Styles"

Monday---December Reductions on

COATS and DRESSES

All Regenstein's Regular Merchandise---
Selected From Our Large Stock. Every Garment Fresh and Clean, This Season's Styles.

FUR-TRIMMED COATS

TWO SPLENDID GROUPS

ONE GROUP—

$55.

$69.50 to $79.50 Coats

Venise — Broadcloth — Suede

Beautifully Furred

Fox — Wolf — Badger — Beaver

Pointed Wolf — Ringtail

Coats for Dress, Travel, Sports

ONE GROUP—

$98.

$125.00 to $139.50 Coats

Malina — Broadcloth — Suede

abric — Kitten's Ear Cloth

Finest Furs

Foxes — Wolf — Badger

Skunk — Beaver — Squirrel

Large Fur Shawl and Cuffs

DRESSES

ONE GROUP—

½ Price

Regular Prices $19.75 to $69.50

SALE PRICES:

$9.88 to $34.75

Styles for All Occasions—

Satins, Crepes, Velvet Combinations, Woolens, Georgettes, Chiffons

Black and Colors

ONE GROUP—

⅓ Less

Regular Prices $25.00 to $79.50

SALE PRICES:

$16.67 to $53.00

Modes for Street and Afternoon—

Transparent Velvets, Satins, Crepes, Georgettes and Chiffons

All Colors and Black

On Sale Monday---Second Floor

FUR SCARFS

A small group of Fur Scarfs—

Only 15 in lot—Grey Fox.

Brown Fox, Pointed Fox, Kit Fox. Choice

$25.

REGENSTEIN'S

"55 Years in Atlanta"

Good News—
Tobe Is Coming!

The Foremost Style Authority in America
Will Arrive
At Rich's Monday

Circle Monday and Tuesday on your calendar in red—let lesser engagements slide... Tobe is coming! Acclaimed by foremost courtiers everywhere—by women to whom Fashion is a fine art, as the preeminent style authority in America. On Monday at 3:30 in the tea-room Tobe will speak on "Present Fashion Trends." On Tuesday at the same time the subject will be "Palm Beach and Early Spring."

M. RICH & BROS. CO

CHRISTMAS GREETING CARDS

Designs That Are Different
Unusual Variety

Your order for 50 or more gives you exclusive use of design selected. Time is short. Delay in ordering means uncertain delivery. Play safe by placing order NOW!

A. K. Hawkes Co.

76 Whitehall St., S. W.

Better Films Committee Plans Christmas Cheer for Children

With the experience of five years of Christmas giving, the Atlanta better films committee will take care of 3,000 needy children of Atlanta's public schools, helping to continue their faith in Santa Claus. Mrs. Newton C. Wing is president of the better films committee. Mrs. Frank McCormack, past president of the better films committee, will have charge of the Christmas plans, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Beall, who represents 60 Parent-Teacher associations on the films committee. Mrs. McCormack, as extension chairman, represents 15 other civic organizations, and the cooperation of merchants and the public generally, no little child will find an empty stocking Christmas morning.

To avoid duplication with other Christmas organizations, the list of these needy children is secured from their teachers, in approximately 30 schools.

The lists must be in the hands of Mrs. J. A. Beall, P. T. A. chairman, by December 10, in order that the needs of each school be met. The complete lists are passed on by the Community Chest to secure accuracy and to avoid duplication.

Amorous-Caldwell Wedding Is Beautiful Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Janice Amorous and William Ashford Caldwell was solemnized at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus W. Sprickler, on Oakdale road, in Druid Hills. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Michael Cotter, of Sacred Heart church, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends.

In the living room, where the marriage was performed, an improvised altar was formed of palms interspersed with hollyhocks, white chrysanthemums, flanked with large three-branched candelabra holding slender, lighted tapers, which cast a soft glow over the scene.

The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Martin F. Amorous, Sr., of Marietta, was met at the altar by the groom and the best man, Howell Caldwell, brother of the groom. The bride wore a more attractive than in her wedding dress of cream and brown printed velvet, made along straight lines with a slight Hapeville News Is of Interest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stewart and family spent the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives in Macon, Ga. Guy Smith, of Knoxville, Tenn., spent the past week-end with his parents on Virginia avenue.

Miss Willie Hockaby, who attends Shorter college, spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hockaby, on Harding avenue.

Harvey Lowe has returned to his home in Charleston, S. C. Mrs. J. E. Palmer, of Washington, was the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hale.

Miss Olivia Murphy was last week guest of Mrs. Alex Perkins on Central avenue.

J. R. Cathey left Wednesday for Jacksonville, Florida and other points in Florida on a business trip. Miss Margaret Kirkland of Fayetteville, was the recent guest of Mrs. J. W. Hall on Stewart avenue.

Mr. M. T. Lewis, of Montezuma, and Ruth Lewis, of Macon, and J. K. Jr., are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Lewis on Whitner avenue.

Rev. J. S. Threlkell and family are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Threlkell on Whitner avenue.

Miss Edith Robo is spending several days with her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Hood, on Fairburn road.

Miss Ruth Adlon spent the past week-end with her parents on Stewart avenue.

Mrs. Howard K. Moss, formerly of Hapeville, spent several days with friends here.

Mrs. N. D. Johnson is ill at Georgia Baptist hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Minter, of Woodbury, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Minter on Fulton avenue.

Miss Josephine Wells and Miss Evelyn Smith, teachers of fourth and fifth grade of the Hapeville school, gave a candy pulling Wednesday afternoon at the school. Over $30 was cleared for the school rooms.

Miss Eugenia Meadows is convalescing at her home on Central avenue after an operation for appendicitis at Georgia Baptist hospital.

Dr. W. F. Wells was the principal speaker at the convocation of the Royal Arch Masons at East Point Wednesday night.

W. A. Lester has returned from a business trip to Chattanooga, Tenn. Miss Louise Wall spent Thanksgiving

Women Voters' Election Day To Be Held November 29

The annual election day of the Atlanta League of Women Voters will take place Tuesday, November 29, and a new president and six directors for 1928 will be chosen. Mrs. Palmer Johnson, chairman of the election committee, will be in charge with her committee at league headquarters, 356 Candler annex, where regular polls will be open to the members from 8 to 4 o'clock. Special booths and ballots have been arranged for the voters and officers will be appointed to see that no irregularities occur, such as lobbying for a candidate within 50 feet of the booths, or two persons in a booth at the same time.

Six directors will be elected out of 15 candidates. The polls are opened early in order that those members in business may have the opportunity of voting before going to work.

All paid-up members are eligible to cast votes. For the benefit of those members who cannot vote in person, a ballot was published in the November issue of the Pilgrim, which may be marked, cut out and mailed to headquarters. Members voting by mail are urged to mail their ballot in time for it to arrive before 4 o'clock Tuesday, at which time the polls will close and the committee will retire to count the ballots by the proportional representation system which is used in all league elections.

Mrs. A. W. Waldman will act as chairman of hospitality in the absence of Mrs. W. F. Trenary. She will be assisted in serving refreshments by the hospitality committee, between 11 and 4 o'clock.

Ward Officers' Council Meets. The ward officers' council meets in league headquarters, 356 Candler annex, Wednesday, November 30, at 10:30 o'clock. Miss Katherine Koch, of the eleventh ward, is chairman, and has several important matters to bring before the city hall, which he is to deliver a special place on the program to deliver a message to the body.

League members will regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. V. F. Trenary of the eighth ward, who is chairman of the hospitality committee for the Atlanta league. During her absence Mrs. A. W. Waldman will assist her committee.

League Bazar. The league will sponsor a bazar at a local downtown store, Friday, December 10, from 8 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. W. C. Robinson, of the sixth ward, is chairman. A white elephant sale and a melting pot will be two of the attractive features and on Saturday the league will specialize on selling edibles such as cakes, candied fruits and preserves. Each ward will have a booth, the proceeds to go to the credit of that ward quota, to be raised by entertainment or sales. Members desiring to aid their wards by contributing to the ward booth are asked to call the ward chairman, or headquarters, Wednesday, November 30, at 10:30 o'clock. Members who have not done so are urged to register at the city hall, which he is to deliver a special place on the program to deliver a message to the body.

Mrs. Carl B. Walker Is Named Manager Of 'Y' Cafeteria

Mrs. Carl B. Walker, a val ed and very active member of the Young Women's Christian association, has been appointed manager of the "Y" cafeteria in Atlanta.

Mrs. Walker received her early training in St. Louis and later was in charge of a tea room in Chicago for six years, where she gained valuable experience. She also took a course in tea room interior decoration at a well-known training school in St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Walker, whose former services highly recommend her to the position for which she has been appointed, has already taken charge of the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria which is located on the top floor of the Turner building at the corner of Broad and Alabama streets, where splendid noon meals are served from 12 to 2:30 o'clock daily.

Mrs. Walker resides with Mr. Walker at 136 Terrace drive. Mr. Walker is prominently connected with the Southern railway.

Mrs. Gray Celebrates 92nd Birthday At Home in Senoia

Mrs. C. M. Gray, one of the most beloved and respected women of Georgia, celebrated her ninety-second birthday Friday, November 25, at a beautifully appointed dinner given by her son and daughter, Colonel and Mrs.

Sam W. Wilkes, at their home in Senoia.

The table was graced in the center by a handsome birthday cake, holding 92 lighted candles, surrounded by masses of roses and chrysanthemums. Covers were placed for Mrs. Gray, Mrs. M. H. Couch, Dr. McLaughlin, Mrs. Gray's former pastor of Atlanta, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mr. Steylitz and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes.

Mrs. Gray, who formerly made her home in Atlanta when she resided here, with Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes, has many friends in the city and throughout the state who will be interested in her birthday anniversary. Her long life of usefulness and kindness to all with whom she has come in contact stands as a shining example and an inspiration to those who know and love her. Though her sight is greatly impaired, her cheerfulness and gentleness of spirit continue to attract a wide circle of friends who have become endeared to her because of her numerous admirable traits of character.

CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON DUBOSE COMPANY

December Sale of Furniture

Beginning Monday, our immense stock of fine Furniture—with the exception of a few special contract lines—will go on sale. A backward season is largely responsible for an over-accumulation of merchandise. We want to reduce our stock by at least $50,000 before January 1st, hence this sale.

Christmas Shoppers Nothing better than Furniture that will endure throughout the years. Sale prices at just the moment to help your Christmas money go further.

Coxwell Chairs

Exactly as pictured except there is no fringe on arms, down cushions, fine tapestry seat and backs, outside backs in velour, arms in mohair. Very special value $52.75. Others up to $90.

- $25 Fireside Bench, tap-extry or mohair $19.75
- $28 Walnut or Mahogany Gateleg Tables $23
- $30 Cretone Chair $19
- $30 Hand Decorated Screens $25
- $25 Occasional Table $19.75
- $24 Japanese Decorated Tilt Top Tables $18.75

Living Room Suites

- $385 two-piece solid mahogany frame, down cushions, Living Room Suite $285
- $395 two-piece solid mahogany base, red and taupe, Valentine-Seares Living Room Suite (Half Price) $197.50
- $410 two-piece solid mahogany frame, Living Room Suite, all mohair inside and out $330
- $380 two-piece solid mahogany, hand-carved Living Room Suite in frieze $300

Dining Room Suites

- $443 ten-piece walnut Dining Room Suite $259
- $198 ten-piece walnut Dining Room Suite $159
- $766 ten-piece mahogany and maple Dining Room Suite (Half Price) $363
- $646 ten-piece mahogany Dining Room Suite $449

Bedroom Suites

- $491 seven-piece Decorated Bedroom Suite (Half Price) $245.50
- $294 five-piece Walnut Bed Room Suite $198
- $218.50 five-piece Walnut Bed Room Suite $169
- $687 eight-piece Twin Bed, Berkey and Gay Walnut Decorated Bed Room Suite $550

Governor Winthrop DESKS

Exactly as pictured, in mahogany. Specially priced at $68.

- $35 Cretone Love Bench $27
- $22 Mahogany Windsor Chair or Rocker $18
- $32 Green Decorated Pier Bookcase $25
- $95 Radio Cabinet with built-in horn $47.50
- $82 Cretone covered chaise longue $65
- $27 Walnut Cedar Chest $21

Spinnet Desks

Grand Rapids make, in antique mahogany. Specially priced $23. Ladder back chair as pictured. Specially priced at $11.50.

- $32 Occasional Chair $20
- $46 Coxwell Chair $38.75
- $28 Walnut or Mahogany Chair $14.75
- $7.50 Ottoman to match $53
- $60 Secretary at $53
- $42 Walnut and Tapestry Slipper Chair $26

Governor Winthrop Secretaries

Exactly as pictured, in antique mahogany. Specially priced at $85. Others up to $175.

- $95 Japanese decorated secretary $78
- $7.50 Decorated End Tables $5.50
- $65 Wing Tapestry Chair $50
- $22 Decorated Telephone Sets $16.50
- $115 Coxwell Chair, down cushion $85

Just In!

New Platinum Grey-Suede New Brown-Rose Suede New Green-Rose Suede New Black-Rose Suede New Black-Telvet or Suede

CHANDLER'S

Exquisite Shoes

Whitehall, Cor. Alabama

New

17 Smart Designs

Cash Mail Orders-Filled!

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

Furniture Department—Fourth Floor

Terms: 10% Cash and 10% Per Month on Purchases of $50 or More.

Your HOME Should Come FIRST

Rich's The Christmas Store for all Georgia

Happy Toyland---

Where childish dreams come true, where eyes wide with wonder may feast on toys shining and new from Santa's workshop! We are listing only a few—come see for yourself.

Humpty-Dumpty Circus Toys, 69c to $14.95.

Pianos, 49c to $4.95.

Piano Stools, 49c to 98c.

Black Boards, $1.95 to $7.95.

Trunks, 49c to $11.95.

Table and Chair Sets, $5.95 to $7.95.

Blocks, 25c to $2.50.

"American Flyer" Mechanical Trains, $1 to $5.

"American Flyer" Electrical Trains, $5.75 to $55.

Cleaning Sets, 49c to 98c.

Slates, 25c to $1.

Horsman Dolls, $1.69 to $20.

Doll Houses, $1.95 to $29.50.

Refrigerators, $3 to $7.

Kitchen Cabinets, $8.50.

Bye Lo Baby Dolls, 25c to 98c.

Aluminum Tea Sets—"Like Mother's," $1.59 to $2.95.

"Chime-a-Phones," 49c to $2.49.

Stoves, 59c to $20.

Carom Boards, $5 to $7.50.

Bassinets, 98c to $7.95.

Doll Carriages, $2.95 to $12.95.

Erector Sets, $1 to $25.

Buddy L. Toys, $4.95 to $12.95.

Bow and Arrow Sets, 50c to $4.95.

Chimes, 25c to $12.50.

Games, 25c to $2.50.

Toy Soldiers, 69c to $7.49.

Movie Machines, $5 to $20.

Football, $1 to $2.95.

Pool Tables, 98c to $1.29.

Boats, 98c to $1.95.

Teddy Bears, 98c to $5.95.

Tinker Toys, 50c to $1.50.

Paint Sets, 50c to $2.

—TOY SHOP—
—RICH'S, SECOND FLOOR—

Tailored and Lace-Trimmed Styles Sample Sale Silk Lingerie

25% to 33 1-3% Below Usual Price!

—The charm of silk lingerie appeals irresistibly to all beauty-loving women! No Christmas gift brings with it such loveliness, service and genuine satisfaction! Rich's sample sale of silk lingerie offers untold opportunities!

Lace-Trimmed Satin and Crepe de Chine

—Beautifully combined with Alencon, Margot and Venice laces, lace medallions. Trimmed with French flowers and double faced satin ribbons.

$8.95 GOWNS	$5.95
$9.95 GOWNS	$6.95
$12.50 GOWNS	$7.50
$8.95 PAJAMAS	$5.95
$12.50 PAJAMAS	$7.50
$15 PAJAMAS	$8.95
$4.95 TEDDIES	$2.98
$5.95 TEDDIES	$3.95
$7.50 TEDDIES	$4.95
$8.95 TEDDIES	$5.95
$3.50 STEP-INS AND BLOOMERS	$2.49
$3.95 STEP-INS AND BLOOMERS	$2.98
$5.95 STEP-INS AND BLOOMERS	$3.95
$3.95 SHORT PETTICOATS	$2.98
$5.95 SHORT PETTICOATS	$3.95
$7.50 SHORT PETTICOATS	$4.95
$4.95 PRINCESS SLIPS	$2.98
$5.95 PRINCESS SLIPS	$3.95
$7.50 PRINCESS SLIPS	$4.95
$8.95 PRINCESS SLIPS	$5.95
$12.50 PRINCESS SLIPS	$7.50

—RICH'S, THIRD FLOOR—

—Now is the time to buy... for yourself and for gifts! Silk underwear from two of America's foremost manufacturers. Tailored garments of the famous Trillium make! Also daintily lace-trimmed models! Radium, heavy crepe de chine, georgette!

Tailored Trillium Crepe de Chine and Radium

$5.95 SLIPS	$3.95
$7.50 SLIPS	$4.95
$9.95 SLIPS	$5.95
Trillium Teddies of heavy crepe de chine, radium, satin! Trimmed with applied lace, hemstitching, georgette bands, imported rosebuds.
$3.50 TEDDIES	$1.98
$3.95 TEDDIES	$2.98
$5.95 TEDDIES	$3.95
$7.50 TEDDIES	$4.95
$3.95 BLOOMERS AND SHORTIES	$2.98
$5.95 BLOOMERS AND SHORTIES	$3.95
$2.98 STEP-INS	$1.98
$3.95 STEP-INS	$2.98
Trillium gowns of crepe de chine, radium and satin. Trimmed with fine tucks, hemstitching, applique. Pastel shades. Pajamas; few dark ones.
$7.70 GOWNS	$4.95
$8.95 GOWNS	$5.95
$9.95 GOWNS	$6.95
$12.50 GOWNS	$7.95
$15 GOWNS	$8.95
$9.95 PAJAMAS	$5.95
$12.50 PAJAMAS	$7.95
$15 PAJAMAS	$9.95
$3.95 DANCE SETS	$2.98
$4.95 and $5.95 DANCE SETS	$3.95
$7.50 DANCE SETS	$4.95

—RICH'S, THIRD FLOOR—

For the Homemaker! Gift Linens

At $1.59

Breakfast Sets. Linen crash bordered, in blue, rose, gold, green.

3-Pc. Vanity Sets. Lovely hand-embroidered Madeira Linen.

3-Pc. Buffet Sets. Fine hand-embroidered Madeira Linen.

Damask Breakfast Cloths. 45-in. size. Hemmed. Attractive floral pattern.

Hemstitched Tea Napkins. Fine bleached linen. Priced per dozen, $1.59.

At $1.95

$2.59 Damask Luncheon Sets. Good quality linen, bordered in colors.

$2.59 Bridge Sets. Porto Rican hand-embroidery in lovely colorings.

Hand-blocked Luncheon Cloths. Pure linen Mummy Cloth in vivid designs.

Madeira Tea Napkins. Exquisitely hand-embroidered. 12-in. size. 6 for $1.95.

$2.95 colored Rayon Spreads. Size 81x105. Blue, rose, gold, on white grounds.

At $2.95

Spanish Hand-embroidered Bridge Sets. Beautifully done in rose, blue, green, gold.

Spanish Hand-embroidered Scarfs. Size 18x36. Colorful designs with charming scalloping.

Linen Crash Breakfast Sets. Bleached soft creamy shade. Bordered in blue, rose, gold.

Breakfast Sets of damask in silver bleach. Bordered in blue, rose, gold, green.

Breakfast Sets of fine Czech-Slovakian linen, hemstitched, hand-drawn thread—bound in colored linen.

—RICH'S, SECOND FLOOR—

Kayser---For Gift Hose!

—A new shipment with all the newest colors, square, slipper, twin and lance heel. Sonata, flesh, white, bamboo, chaire, chateau, chalet, naturelle, patio, nude, rachelle circassian, arab, riveria, cedar, ciro, boulevard, rose, taupe, illusion, rosita, cascade, black and platinum.

—GAUZE WITH PICOT TOPS, square heel, full fashioned. Newest colors.	$3.95 and $5.95
—SHEER CHIFFON with twin and lance heel full fashioned; all new shades	$2.50
—SLIPPER HEEL in all silk chiffon; full fashioned; picot top, all shades	$2.50
—SERVICE WEIGHT with 3 in. lisle hem. Outsize in the new colors. 9 to 10 1/2	$1.95
—ALL SILK CHIFFON, slipper heel, full fashioned, street and evening shades. Sizes 8 to 10.	$1.95
—SEMI-SERVICE full fashioned silk from top to toe. Fashionable colors. All sizes	$1.95
—HEAVY SILK HOSE, full fashioned, square heels in popular street shades. All sizes	$2.50
—SERVICE WEIGHT with 3 in. lisle hem for service. Slipper heel. All shades, all sizes	$1.65

—RICH'S, STREET FLOOR—

Men's $1 Linen 'Kerchiefs 69c

—The kinds of handkerchiefs that make Christmas a success for the men in the family! Of pure Irish linen—a beautiful sheer quality! With half-inch hemstitched or hand-rolled hem! Any initial you want neatly hand-embroidered in the corner.

—Men's Linen 'Kerchiefs; beautiful quality of linen with hand-rolled hems. Gaily colored woven borders that tell a story of smartness! 50c.

—Other linen handkerchiefs of fine linen with corded borders and hand-embroidered initials, 50c.

—Women's sheer linen kerchiefs with hand-drawn colored threads and tiny embroidered designs. Hand-rolled hems, 85c.

—Women's linen 'kerchiefs with imitation appenzel embroidered edges. Dainty designs, 50c.

WOMEN'S SHEER LINEN KERCHIEFS with attractive hand drawn threads in different colors. Tiny embroidered sprays in corner and hand rolled hems. Priced 85c.

WOMEN'S LINEN 'KERCHIEFS with dainty imitation Appenzel embroidered edges. With loveliest of new designs! The ever appropriate Christmas gift.

—RICH'S, STREET FLOOR—

$2 All White Imported English Broadcloth Shirts

$1.69

3 for $4.75

—The shirt that stands the gaff—an all white SYLKLIKE broadcloth! Ready for any occasion in its immaculateness. Tailored to perfection. Well fitting. Collars attached, neckband styles. Sizes 13 1/2 to 18.

Cut Silk Neckwear $1 to $3.50

—Ties of every description and every combination of color, for every type, for every occasion! At prices for every pocketbook—and the very newest and smartest no matter how low the price!

$4 Silk Mixed Scarfs $2.95

—Imported from France these scarfs in smart patterns for His Christmas present! For protection against the cold and to save the shirt and collar from soil. They give a cold-weather dash to masculine attire!

MEN'S FURNISHING DEPT.
—RICH'S, STREET FLOOR—

Gifts Dear to Feminine Hearts!

The path to a woman's heart is softly feminine—strewn with laces and ribbons and lovely trivialities. No more flattering gift can you choose than a dainty, intimate novelty suggestive of the personality of the recipient. Read the list and see your gift problems melt away! Each packed in individual box.

Kerchief and Garter Sets	59c to 95c
Kerchief and Puff Cases	79c
Kerchief and Flower Sets	79c
Handkerchief Cases	59c to $3.50
Lavender and Rose Sachets	25c to $1.50
Pin Sets	25c to 95c
Kiddies' Kerchief and Garter Sets	59c to 95c
Bob Combs in Ribbon Cases	50c
Whisk Brooms in Ribbon Cases	59c

Metal Coat Hangers in Ribbon Cases	59c
Ribbon Covered Thermometers	95c
Back Puffs	95c
Lingerie Bands	95c
Lavender and Rose Petal Sachets	10c to 15c
Ribbon for tying gifts. Gold, silver and red satin or novelty red and green, 10c to $2.50 bolt.

—RICH'S, STREET FLOOR—

Give a Silk Length for Christmas Rich's Box Them Charmingly for You!

For Lingerie
Crepe de Chine

$1.95 Yd.

—In just the weight that tubs and wears the best. In the colors that are favored mostly. Other qualities $1.44 to $2.95.

For Frocks
Satin Crepe

$2.95 Yd.

—In the newest colors for street and evening—and, of course, the always liked black. Beautiful quality at $2.95. Other prices range from $1.64 to $5.95.

For Kimonos
Printed Satins

$1.95

—In a gorgeous array of floral and fauna motifs and others from the Chinese... for kimonos and lounging pajamas.
—P. S.—Velvets and Brocades and Metals.

—RICH'S, SECOND FLOOR—

M. RICH & BROS. Co.

To GRAPPLE in Historic CLASH

Tech's Yellow Jackets

CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY

The Constitution cup, for the permanent possession of which the University of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology will battle in the south's greatest football classic to decide the Dixie grid title. The battle next Saturday will be staged on Grant Field. The trophy has been won one year by Tech and one year by Georgia. Probably the most epochal football game ever played in the south, Saturday's clash of grid giants is scheduled to draw the biggest and most colorful crowd in the history of southern sporting events.

Captain
Chick Shiver of Georgia

Captain
Ed Crowley of Tech

Georgia's Bulldogs

UNCLE SAM'S MONSTER BLIMP GARAGE—This tremendous hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., houses big and little dirigibles of the U. S. army. (Underwood)

STIR UP TROUBLE IN GEORGIA—Carefully groomed racing greyhounds like these—shown wearing their winter coats with hoods that come up high over their heads—are now the subject of court proceedings as the result of establishment of this state's first and only dog racing track in Campbell county. (International)

TY, JR., BLAZES NEW ATHLETIC PATH—Instead of following baseball, in which his famous dad won fame and fortune, Tyrus Raymond Cobb, Jr., is trying to make his mark on the gridiron. He plays guard for the Hun Preparatory school of Princeton and plans to enter Princeton university. (Associated Press)

Left IT WON'T BE LONG NOW—Here's what happens to candidates for the presidency in Mexico, that playful land of the firing squad and the stone wall. This picture shows General Arnulfo R. Gomez being eliminated from the presidential race. (International)

"THE WOMAN ALWAYS PAYS"—The other side of the picture in the Mexican executions. Here are seen relatives of the slain General Gomez throwing earth into his grave. The woman with her face half covered has sworn a vendetta against the general's nephew who executed him. (International)

COLLEGE CO-ED WEDS RIVAL GRID TEAM'S CAPTAIN—Pretty Peggy Tackett, Washington university student, who married Captain Harold Cochran, of the Lafayette university eleven, two days after he brought his team to Washington to down the colors of his future bride. (International)

ROYAL PHOTOGRAPH MADE BY ROYAL HAND—Here's the first picture of the new-born Princess Josephine Charlotte, daughter of Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and Princess Astrid, in the arms of its father. The picture was made by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium. (Underwood)

Left FRANCE STRUGGLES WITH ITS OWN LITTLE "CRIME WAVE"—Scene in a Paris courtroom of the trial of 22 Polish footpads and gunmen for a number of murders and robberies. The prisoners—each guarded by his own gendarme—are shown seated in the dock. The government is seeking the death penalty. (Herbert)

RED COATS AGAIN INVADE WASHINGTON, for the first time since the war of 1812—115 years ago—when General Ross burned the "president's house." President Coolidge is shown reviewing friendly Canadian troops on the white house grounds. (Underwood)

"THE LONG LIGHT SHAKES ACROSS THE LAKES"—This gorgeous panorama of Silver Lake, known also as Forest Park lake, near Oglethorpe university, recalls to memory Tennyson's immortal line.

Atlanta Lakes Mirror Beauties of Autumn.

Herewith is presented a series of sylvan masterpieces from the camera lens of Kenneth Rogers, Constitution staff photographer, showing Atlanta's diadem of lakes in a gorgeous setting of fall. Rich colors and subdued reflections make the photographs particularly appealing at this season to nature-lovers, thousands of whom are visiting the various lakesides on Sunday afternoons to enjoy the magnificent scenes.

Photos by KENNETH ROGERS

LEFT—

RIPPLING WATERS—They murmur softly at the foot of the hill which is crowned by the imposing East Lake Country club house.

LIKE A VENETIAN CANAL is this beautiful vista of a winding section of the Grant Park lake where one almost expects to hear the drip of the gondolier's paddle.

NATURE'S LOOKING GLASS, reflecting all the riotous colors and beauties of fall, is this section of Silver Lake.

HAUNT OF THE LILY PAD—A speckled gem is Springdale Park lake in Inman Park as autumn wields its color brush.

NEW LINK IN HIGHWAY CHAIN OPENED—This scene shows celebration of the opening of the Savannah river bridge at Calhoun, S. C., on the Calhoun highway. It is one of six bridges tying Georgia and South Carolina together.

FOR TEETH, NOT OFFICES—Positively not a sky-scraper but the largest cake ever made, a replica in confection of the Old National bank of Spokane, Washington. The cake weighs 1,100 pounds and contains 2,300 eggs, 250 pounds of butter, 525 pounds of sugar and 260 pounds of flour. (Associated Press)

LOVELY BRIDE—Mrs. H. W. West, formerly Miss Estelle Mooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Mooney, of East Pace's Ferry road, Atlanta. Her marriage was solemnized November 6. (Winn)

COTTON "COTTONS" TO IT—Now comes the cotton harvester, invented by J. S. Thurman. The photograph shows pickers going through a field at Griffin, Ga., with their hose nozzles, into which the fiber flies at terrific speed. The machine can pick 4,500 pounds of cotton in 10 hours, the work of 30 persons. (Paramount)

SHE'S A PLAYER—Not on the gridiron, but on the stage. Miss Eloise Martin, hero in "The Elopement of Ellen," play to be given November 22 at the Tech Y. M. C. A. by the Cecelian Dramatic club of North Avenue • Presbyterian school under direction of Miss Augusta Roberts.

NOW IT'S THE YALE BLUE—Old Eli's gridiron popularity inspired this crepe dress in blue trimmed with beige-colored crepe and embroidered with beige-colored thread. (Underwood)

TIP ON HOW TO OWN YOUR OWN HOME—Buy a lot in Vermont and pray for a freak life this. In recent floods, this two-story house was carried intact a mile and deposited on a railroad track. Technically it's the property of the railroad company. (Associated Press)

HE SOLVED THE PROBLEM—J. S. Thurman, inventor of the new cotton harvester which, it is claimed, will eliminate the laborious hand-picking process. The photo was made at Griffin, Ga. (Paramount)

THAT WHOPPING LOAF—Made by an Atlantic City baker, it is said to be the largest ever made. It measures 11 feet in length and weighs 200 pounds. (International)

DAINTY AMATEUR STAR—Miss Cecil Wood, one of the principals of "The Elopement of Ellen," to be presented at the Tech "Y" November 22

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION,

GOVERNOR AT SEA—Dr. L. G. Hardman, Georgia's chief executive, shown leaving the coast guard cutter Yamacraw on Navy day, October 27. The governor is being piped ashore while officers and side boys stand at salute.

THE GRID CHAMP DOLL—Select your own name to go on his sweater when Tech and Georgia meet next Saturday. Pretty Loretta Young displays the latest fad as the football season reaches its height.

A KISS IN SHREDDED WHEAT—Donald Kirk and the cabaret girls in "Broadway," booked for an early appearance at the Erlanger.

GEORGIA VENUS PLAYS JUNO—Miss Virginia Badney, now known as Virginia Thomas because of the remarriage of her mother, will play Juno in the filming of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy." She was formerly a resident of Atlanta and won her place in the movies in a contest with many other beauties. (Underwood)

SPEAKING OF COINCIDENCES, consider the case of Mrs. James Bartram, former American stage star, to whom a baby was born recently in a London home on the same night that the stork visited her twin sister Mrs. Mary Goblenz, in Baltimore. (International)

SHE TOOK THE FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS; HE DIDN'T—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Ruth Elder, aviation heroes, photographed in Washington. Lindy refused many flattering offers after conquering the ocean, but Miss Elder signed a $100,000 vaudeville contract. (International)

A "TIGER'S" FUNERAL—Tiger Flowers, respected and esteemed churchman and professional prizefighter, former middleweight titleholder of the world, drew to his funeral great crowds of both races. Here is shown the Atlanta auditorium-armory with the casket surrounded by members of a fraternal organization of which Flowers was an active member. (Photo by Kenneth Rogers)

"TIGER" GOES TO REST. The Atlanta auditorium-armory was filled to capacity when funeral services were conducted for "Tiger" Flowers, negro and former middleweight champion of the world. The esteem in which the hard-hitting and sportsman-like negro was held by both races brought together the greatest crowd ever to attend a funeral in Atlanta. (Photo by Kenneth Rogers)

WHAT THE WELL DRESSED MAN WEARS IN RUSSIA—Not so much to attain that sheikish appearance as to protect him against the piercing cold and cutting sleet of the Georgian mountain slopes.

Intimate Glimpses of Secretive Russia

ANOTHER PAGE of fascinating photographs showing life in the land of the soviet. The pictures were made by E. M. Newman, who traveled 10,000 miles through Russia and, at the expense of great hardship, secured the views. They are presented by The Constitution exclusively in this territory.

WHERE BRITAIN'S HEROIC DEAD SLEEP ON FOREIGN SOIL—A part of the little British cemetery at Balaklava, where lie the slain heroes of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava.

RUSSIA'S OIL CENTER—A section of the great field in Baku where the Standard Oil company has contracted for a huge supply of crude oil for eastern markets.

ORIGIN OF RUSSIAN CAVIAR—The harbor in Astrachan on the Caspian sea. The boats shown here fish for sturgeon, from which caviar is obtained.

RUSSIA'S WAY OF SAYING IT WITH FLOWERS—A unique floral likeness of the red leader, Lenin, in the public park at Vladikavkaz, in the Caucasus.

VOLGA BOATMEN. Travelers like these swarm the decks of vessels that ply the Volga river, bringing with them everything but the kitchen stove. Not a very romantic scene to inspire the recent popular song.

TO HEROISM — The grave of a Sister of Mercy who died in Britain's cause in the world-famous battle of Balaklava.

TITANS TAKE SHAPE ON STONE MOUNTAIN—This photograph shows progress on the gigantic Confederate memorial on the scarp of Stone Mountain. (Underwood)

FOUR WHO ARE TWELVE—Roberta, Mona, Marv and Leotaz, quadruplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Keys, of Hollis, Oklahoma, who recently celebrated their twelfth birthday. (Associated Press)

NEED ANY RED CORPUSCLES?—Stanley Potter, student of the college of physicians and surgeons of Columbia university, sells his blood at the rate of $50 per pint to pay his way through college. Last year he disposed of eight quarts. (International)

PERFECT SWAN DIVE—Helen Wainwright, Olympic diving and swimming champion, plunging gracefully against the pleasing architectural background of the Hotel General Oglethorpe pool at Savannah. (Underwood)

Flowers for football and all occasions. Variety—and the always dependable Joy's service.

Southern Classics
Ga. vs. Tech and Flowers from
Joy's FLOWER SHOP
636 Pine N. E. HE. 4214

"Say It With Flowers"

Myron E. Freeman E. B. Freeman E. B. Freeman, Jr.

Hand-engraved sterling silver dresser set, in an exquisite case of black pebble leather, silk lined. $200.

Our Stock of Silverware is Distinctive for Being All Sterling and the Largest in the South.

Superlative Gifts

Gift-seeking at this establishment is facilitated by a wide variety of unusual and individual items, carefully selected from all over the world. From our cases you may select a gift modest or elaborate, with equal assurance.

The recipient of a gift from this house requires no assurance, and harbors no uncertainty.

A valuable Gift Suggestion Book of 28 pages, illustrating choice pieces from our exceptional collection of fine jewels, watches, sterling silverware and novelties will be mailed upon request.

Myron E. Freeman & Bro.

JEWELERS

103 PEACHTREE STREET, ATLANTA

From
the minute you enter the Biltmore

you sense its genuine hospitality. Courteous, unobtrusive bell boys, clerks who are genteel and obliging, without austerity, and so on through every department—civility without servility from employees, each of whom is trained in the high standards of the Bowman Biltmore service.

Whether you eat in the main dining room or the Coffee Shop, you'll find the food of the Bowman Biltmore quality—many dishes unobtainable elsewhere—at surprisingly moderate charges.

The Biltmore [N. Y.] Orchestra will play at lunch and every evening beginning Dec. 5th. Dancing daily at dinner—no cover charge.

A Bowman Biltmore Institution
"Where Southern Hospitality Flowers"

Rates from $3.50

Atlanta Biltmore

Newest Fashions in Watches and Smart Jewelry

Christmas is the ideal time for the giving of a fine watch. No gift is more of a necessity than an accurate timekeeper; no gift more constantly useful—none could impart greater pleasure at the moment of its giving. In our cases are also many other selections in smart jewelry and silverware. Make a small deposit now on any article you wish and we will gladly lay it aside for you until the holidays.

W. H. DODSON
Successor to Daniell & Dodson
48 Broad St., S. W. WAL 9256
OPPOSITE RICH'S

BEAUTIFUL BRIDE
Miss Hazel Margaret Huddleston, daughter of L. Press Huddleston, of Atlanta, whose marriage to Mawyn P. Cannon has been announced.

PRIZE-WINNING FLOAT—Entered by the Dacula (Ga.) High school, it won a trophy in the recent Gwinnett county fair. On the float are: Queen, Miss Daisy Greeson; maids of honor, Misses Etta Marian Hinton, Ruby Jett Freeman, Geneva Woodruff, Dorothy Stanley and Josephine Sikes. Master Billy Pharr played Cupid.

PAGE MR. GRAY—The gentleman who wrote the immortal line, "The plowman homeward plods his weary way" would revise it if he saw this giant rotary plow designed for plantation work. Its revolving blades whirl the soil to great depth. (International.)

VETERANS IN DOUBLE HARNESS—Mr. and Mrs. Merriman Harmon, 87 and 85 years old, respectively, of Odessdale, Ga., were married 61 years ago and reared five children, all of whom are living. The youngest is 47 and the oldest in the sixties. They have lived in the same room of the same house ever since their marriage. (J. T. Holloway.)

WEDDED HALF CENTURY—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ellison, of Conyers, Ga., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary early in November, their family gathering from many cities to honor them on this occasion.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. John C. Matthews, of Blackville, S. C., recently were hosts to their family and descendants at their fiftieth wedding anniversary. (Miss Kelly's Studio.)

An Ounce of Prevention

Colds are relatively prevalent in children at this season and are apt to cause diseased tonsils, adenoids and inflammation of the middle ear. Prevent your child from having bad colds by using Cheney's Expectorant when the first symptoms appear.

30c Per Bottle at Your Druggist

CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT

From
"The Shop of Beautiful Gifts"
DIAMONDS

The perfect Christmas Gift—a real investment—a lasting pleasure. Through our method of buying we are able to offer you exceptionally fine diamonds and to make it possible for you to purchase from your income—not your capital.

E. A. MORGAN

Established over twenty years.

119 HUNTER ST., S. W.

"There's economy in a few steps around the corner"

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT FREAK—This car backed over the fill on Spring street at Alexander, but no one was hurt in the plunge. (Francis E. Price.)

DIAMONDS

IN SETTINGS
OF YOUR CHOICE

Blue-white diamonds as well as the smartest settings in platinum and 18-k white gold, are shown here in fascinating variety.

COMPARE OUR DIAMONDS
WE INVITE YOUR ACCOUNT

Claude S. Bennett
DIAMOND MERCHANT

118 Alabama St. Just Off Whitehall

A BOY SCOUT CALENDAR COMPLIMENTARY

Our Boy Scout Calendar for 1928, the frontispiece of which is reproduced above, is now ready for distribution. Any Boy Scout presenting a copy of this advertisement at our office, 110 Forsyth Street, N. W., before December 4th, will receive the Calendar in exchange.

The Calendar contains the Scout Law, the proper way to wear the official Uniform and Equipment, space for recording Scout meetings, hikes, etc., a record of Each Day's Good Turn, instructions as to how to wear the Official Insignia, and the making and wearing of packs.

This Calendar is published pursuant to a license issued by the Boy Scouts of America to the publisher.

Member of the National Selected Morticians

H. M. Patterson & Son

110 FORSYTH ST., N. W., ADJOINING CARNEGIE LIBRARY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS

FURS
30% Reduction
L. Chajage
220 Peachtree St.

For this week (only) a 30% reduction on all Fur Coats and Fur Pieces will prevail. Get your Fur needs for the big Georgia-Tech game.

Typical of Lewis' Chic!

A luxurious wrap of tan Kashmereella with soft deep collar and cuffs of the best fur of the mode—Badger! The exquisite lining is of beautiful tan peau de cygne. Priced

$135.00

Sports coats priced from $25.00 to $135.00

H. G. Lewis & Co.

Little Sweethearts
are the Rage now

All ideas of beauty, style and fitness call for slender figures now. All who seek to please, in movies or society, must banish excess fat.

Note how many do that. In every circle you can see that most folks now are slender. Fat is the exception.

One great reason is Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. The slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

No abnormal exercise or diet is required, though moderation helps. The results of Marmola come through supplying a substance which Nature employs in nutrition. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. The use is based on wide research and experiment.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. This to let you know just why it acts and avoid any fear of harm.

Marmola has for two decades held top place in this field. Go learn the reason. Watch what it does for beauty, health and vitality! Then tell your friends who need it. No one can afford to be abnormal when reduction is so easy. Order now—before you forget it.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

MARMOLA
Prescription Tablets
The Pleasant Way to Reduce

The HEIRESS

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

by FRANK SWINNERTON

*Just as the Young Man Had Decided
That He Could Not
Woo the Maid, Even for Her Fortune, He Fell Violently in Love with Her.*

Bill had never seen anything like the apparition at which his aunt had gasped.

BILL," said Aunt Gertrude, sharply, "it's time you did something."

Bill, rather startled, looked up from his sausages and and bacon as if he had bitten, on a bone.

"My dear Auntie," he murmured, "how explosive you are!"

"An idle man," proceeded Aunt Gertrude, "is an unhappy man."

She did her best to look stern as she said this, by frowning and compressing her lips into a thin line. But nothing could make Aunt Gertrude look really stern. She had such white hair and such a kind, placid face that sternness was outside her range. Even the far roaming stranger cats that came into the garden knew that when Aunt Gertrude said "Shoo! Be off!" they had only to advance toward her, arching their backs and waving their tails, to obtain saucers of milk and scraps of meat. So Bill was not in the least impressed by Aunt Gertrude's sternness.

"As far as I'm concerned," he observed at once, "I don't believe it. What you said about idleness. I'm not unhappy. Far from it."

"Then you ought to be!" declared Aunt Gertrude.

"I've tried to work. I've given my valuable time to several unappreciative employers. I have revolutionized their businesses; and at the last moment their nerve has failed."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Aunt Gertrude. "Now, listen, Bill. I have decided. You must do something. Otherwise, when I die you'll be stranded. Don't forget that I only have a life interest in my money—"

"My dear Auntie, there is always Great-Uncle Ephriam's money."

"Pooh! Uncle Ephriam will live another thirty years, and he'll leave his money to the Dogs' home. Don't think of it. I've thought of everything. If you won't work—"

"Auntie!" Bill was reproachful.

"You must marry."

My great-uncle Ephriam is rich. He must have a million dollars, which, as you know, my dear Auntie, is two hundred thousand pounds. On such a sum one could live—I won't say luxuriously—"

"Rubbish! Uncle Ephriam is a fraud."

"I'm not so sure. What will you bet me?"

"I'll bet you—no, I won't. You can't spare it. Uncle Ephriam is—after all, why should he leave his money to you? He's never seen you—"

"Exactly. Why shouldn't he?"

"I know the very girl for you."

"I'm afraid no girl in the village could ever—"

"I don't mean a girl in the village. I mean an heiress." Aunt Gertrude ignored Bill's calm smile and proceeded: "I'm not joking? I mean what I say. In fact, I've taken some steps—"

"Good Lord!" Bill was genuinely alarmed.

"The very girl. I haven't seen her for ten years, and she's an orphan. She lost her mother two years ago and her father when she was a child. She's got a fortune. About fifty thousand pounds. Her name is Elizabeth Barry. She's twenty-two. And she is coming this afternoon to stay with me for a month."

"Coming!" screamed Bill, sitting upright. "This afternoon! My dear Auntie, I'm called suddenly to town—"

"You're meeting her with me, and driving the car, at three o'clock."

"Impossible. I shall insult her! I shall drive you into the ditch."

"You'll do nothing of the kind. If she's a nice girl—I knew her mother very well, and I expect her to be nice —you'll fall in love with her."

Bill gave a ghastly laugh. He looked round the pretty little breakfast room and out through the latticed windows at the brilliant garden. It was June and the sun was high. The trees were very green and the birds still made merry among the clustering leaves. Within the room, with its plain cream walls and its old oak furniture, all was delicious and full of ease and comfort. But Bill was filled with consternation.

"Love!" he laughed.

"It might happen. We'll arrange for you to save her life, or something. That always does wonders."

"We'll arrange! I like that!"

"You can leave the whole thing to me," said Aunt Gertrude, confidently. "In fact, I may say that I've put the matter in train."

Bill groaned. He was terrified.

"Does she know," he stammered. "Does she know your plans?"

Aunt Gertrude demurred.

"I've mentioned that you're staying with me," she replied. "I even sent her a snapshot of you—standing by the lily pond—just to give her a notion—and if the girl is sensible she'll realize that the situation has possibilities."

"Golly!" cried Bill. "Snapshot! Well, I should think so. Snapshot, indeed! A bit crude, eh? Still, she's coming. I suppose she hasn't sent her own photograph?" Although he spoke with levity, he had the appearance of a rabbit confronted by a stoat.

Aunt Gertrude's delightful Elizabethan cottage stood amid five or six acres of orchard and garden, at a distance of seven miles from the nearest railway station. It was two and a half miles from the village of Plurt, and was as rural as any human being could wish. Bill loved to lounge in the garden, to walk briskly about the countryside, to talk to the villagers, and to speculate endlessly upon existence. He was a born speculator upon the problems of existence. It was not that he was wholly an idler—he was not—but circumstances had led him latterly to a somewhat idle way of life. War experiences in the east had left him shattered. Some sort of rest and rebuilding of his strength had been essential. And so, with gradually returning vigor, he had found Aunt Gertrude's home a haven.

In vain. His own account of his experience, although exaggerated, was not untrue. He had gone into several offices, had shown the quickness of his wits, his energy, and his disrespect for ordinary business conventions. In each case, by a misfortune, he had worked for men of the conventional beefy type; and the result had been—for Bill—disastrous. After the last experience, which had ended six months before, Bill had suffered again from malaria; his health had collapsed, and he had sought refuge with Aunt Gertrude. This refuge was now to be destroyed. As he sat beside her, driving to the station to meet the disquieting heiress, Bill knew that duty pointed once again to the long, long trail.

Mechanically Bill accelerated. The car sprang forward, whizzing as Bill loved to make her whizz. But his heart was very low. They beat the train by a couple of seconds, and Aunt Gertrude was upon the platform, with Bill in attendance, as the long row of coaches came grinding to a standstill.

Only two passengers left the train. One was a farmer known to them. The other was a girl who looked as if she had come from an orphanage. She wore a wide brimmed, flat topped straw hat with a red ribbon around it, and a shapeless blue cloak which fell nearly to her ankles. She helped, tiptoeing, to lift her single dressing case from the carriage, receiving it from the hands of a late fellow passenger, and then stood looking dolefully along the platform towards Bill and his aunt and the lumbering old porter. Her attitude bespoke complete dejection. Her mouth was drawn and pursed. Her eyes peered from behind large black rimmed spectacles.

The Heiress

Continued From First Page

"Our visitor hasn't come," murmured Aunt Gertrude. "Dear me. I hope she's not lost."

But the girl, catching sight of our friends, began to carry her dressing case towards them; and Bill with quick wittedness in excess of his aunt's, ran quickly to relieve her of its burden. He heard his aunt ejaculate incredulously; saw her step hesitatingly forward and take the hand of the little spectacled figure, was introduced, caught at a limp little paw, which hung—or seemed to hang—at the end of a pump handle, and following then out of the station.

"Good Lord!" thought he. "And this is the heiress! Good Lord!"

* * * *

Worse was to follow. They reached home very quickly, and Bill put the car away. He strolled around the garden, smoking a cigarette, in order to avoid Aunt Gertrude, and then went in for tea. His aunt was sitting in her usual chair by the window, with the little tea table drawn up in front of her. She did not meet his glance, and thereby confessed her state of shock. Instead of speaking, indeed, she began to fidget nervously with the cups and saucers.

The faint clinking had barely begun before Bill heard Aunt Gertrude gasp. He looked up at her, followed her gaze, and was petrified in his turn. The stranger had entered the room and was upon them overwhelmingly. Bill had never seen anything like the apparition at which his aunt had gasped. Elizabeth Barry stood there very awkwardly, her shoulders bent and her arms hanging; and her dress was the most disagreeable thing Bill had ever met with in the course of his lifetime. It was a perfectly frightful kind of electric pink—a pink so raw and so strident that it killed everything that came near it. Aunt Gertrude's smile of welcome, for example, was slain instantly, and withered upon her lips. Bill could not wonder. He felt himself shivering in sympathy.

Above the pink dress there was the doleful little spectacled face of the stranger, and a mat of dark hair, which seemed to hang about her head like rats' tails. She held herself badly, walked badly, in a sort of stumbling way, and seemed overcome with nervousness. Quickly sliding into a chair, she stretched out her hand for the cup and saucer which Bill carried, and sat with downcast eyes, as if speechless, her feet indescribably crossed, like a pile of old boots. Only one thing could Bill see in her favor. It was that her hands, as she received the cup and saucer, were exquisitely small and delicate. For the rest, she was appalling. He retreated. The three were tongue-tied for quite two minutes, which seemed like an hour and a half.

Aunt Gertrude was the first to make a desperate effort at conversation.

"I hope you found everything you needed in your room, Elizabeth?" she said, with her natural kindness. And then quickly: "Do they call you Elizabeth or Betty?"

The strange child hesitated.

"Lizzie," she said, hoarsely.

Bill felt his aunt shudder. He surmised that she would be out of action for a few moments, and so he rumbled along to the rescue.

"D'you like the country?" he asked. "I mean, this sort of thing?"

Again that hesitation. Then, as if it was said in a flurry of nervousness:

"I love it!" That cracked little voice! The wriggling of her shoulders!

"Riding?" persisted Bill, gently. A quickly shaken head. "Driving? Walking?" As Bill spoke he looked down at her feet, and almost jumped as he saw the big, ugly shoes which Elizabeth wore. No wonder she shambled, if her feet were as big as that!

"I like sitting still," said the stranger, abruptly.

"An excellent device," Bill assured her. "The garden here is made for loitering. It's the perfect garden for that."

"As Bill well knows," Aunt Gertrude had recovered her coolness. "I hope you won't encourage him to idle, Elizabeth."

"O, no," said Elizabeth, with a crackling laugh. "I won't encourage him." She looked dully at Bill through her glasses as she spoke, and Bill knew that she would not encourage him. "What does he do for his living?" asked Elizabeth, sharply.

Bill winced. So soon? His eyes roved the room for escape. After all, it was Aunt Gertrude who had invited this girl here. He had not been consulted at all. And if he left the next morning, to resume his efforts to earn a living, nobody had any right to complain.

"I advise business men how to run their businesses," he answered, as gayly as he could.

"O!" She seemed to consider. "Do they take your advice?"

"On the whole, no," admitted Bill, candidly. "But they will. But they will."

"I wonder if they will." The cracked voice was barely audible. Bill was not to be perturbed, but he was forced to admit to himself that this chit was excessively pert.

"I have every confidence," he told her, smiling.

Did he imagine it or was he not mistaken in thinking that a gleam of interest came into the dull eyes of the visitor? Spectacles are such liars when it comes to the eyes behind them! Aunt Gertrude, at any rate, had missed the gleam, if it had arisen at all, for she came hurriedly to Bill's assistance with a diversion.

"Do you play or sing, Elizabeth?" she asked.

"A little. Haven't much of a voice. I've brought some music." Briefly and hoarsely Elizabeth answered. "You see, I've been a good deal alone since mother died." There was a tired break in that weary voice. It was gone instantly. "Most of the time I've been traveling about with friends."

"With friends." Bill heard his aunt's murmur. He knew that she was thinking, "What sort of friends can they be to let you wear a dress like that?" And as if Elizabeth had somehow uncannily known it also, she continued:

"This is the first colored frock I've had for ages. I'm sick of black. I thought as I was coming here to stay I'd better get some fresh clothes. My old ones are all—there's some more coming on by post."

"Some more." Aunt Gertrude merely echoed the words. It was as if she had screamed in a whisper. Her pale face twitched with apprehensiveness. One hand was pressed nervously against her cheek.

"More tea?" Aunt Gertrude asked.

"No, thank you."

"No? Another cake? Then would you—would you like to come for a walk in the garden?"

Bill, from his place at the door, watched Elizabeth rise and shamble past him into the garden, following Aunt Gertrude. He had never seen a stranger contrast than the slim, delicate erectness of his aunt and the bent, almost shapeless ungracefulness of Elizabeth. It was hard to believe that they belonged to the same sex and the same class. Here was another problem for the philosopher to consider deeply. Was it not insoluble? Bill thought it was.

He presently took the same direction as the others, drawing his pipe from the pocket of his tweed jacket and slowly loading it. As he did this he laughed unexpectedly. His heart was lighter. Clearly Aunt Gertrude could not hold to her original plan. On the other hand, would not a month of this be more than they could stand? After all, one cannot concentrate upon a pair of exquisite hands for four solid weeks, especially when the owner of those hands appears to be slightly humpbacked, splay-footed, pert, and possessed of an electrifying wardrobe. What was Bill to do? Go or stay?

* * * *

They had listened to her singing in a cracked voice which at times could not reach the notes at which it seemed to be aimed, and they had heard the excruciating mess made by her fingers of some apparently simple pianoforte pieces. And they were sitting in dizzy silence, quite fogged by dismay, when they heard Elizabeth say:

"I wish we could go out into the moonlight. It's so romantic." She giggled.

"I have rather a headache," wavered Aunt Gertrude. "I—"

The stiff little figure gave a jerk that was intended to be arch.

"Then, of course, you mustn't, Miss Paget. But you, Mr.—Mr. Bill. I don't know your other name. Won't you join me? I'm sure you're romantic." She looked up meaningfully through the rats' tails, and a quiver ran through Bill at such early and inappropriate archness. Nevertheless, he was staunch.

"I'm ready," he declared. "Come along. I'll take you along to the mere."

That word caused a remarkable gush of sentiment.

"Really? A mere. How lovely! Moonlight on the mere! It sounds like Tennyson." She seemed hoarse with delight. "Can one swim there?"

"I do, every morning."

There was a sudden change in the atmosphere. Elizabeth's gush fell away. She spoke quietly.

"How splendid! Could I? I wish —" She checked herself. These words had been unlike any that she had previously spoken. Her voice for a moment had been quite clear—neither hoarse nor cracked. Evidently the thought of bathing in the mere had moved her deeply. Bill was startled. Then, in the old tone, like the voice of a damaged pie dish, she resumed: "Just wait till I change my shoes."

* * * *

The walk by the mere was entrancing, and Bill was astonished to find that the little visitor did not spoil it. She was as silent before its beauty as anybody could have wished. Having learned the path, which was a simple one leading through a wood at the end of Aunt Gertrude's garden, Elizabeth next asked at what time Bill was in the habit of taking his bath. He told her—seven o'clock. They walked back to the house, she shambling painfully, as if her shoes were heavy, and once within the house she bade good-night and went to bed. So ended the first day of this curious encounter. Bill, sitting in the drawing room for a last smoke before retiring, found his first impressions on the waif slightly modified. Her hands and her feet were at war. Her gush over music and her perfectly terrible performance had made him feel that she must be a fool; yet once or twice she had shown herself no fool. But his final conclusion was laughter at the preposterous downfall of Aunt Gertrude's scheme.

The night was unexpectedly cold, as it often is in England in June, and Bill was awakened early by a sense of chilliness. He pulled the bed-clothes over him and tried to get warm. Then, thoroughly awake, he looked at his watch. It was half past six, and he generally rose and took his bath at seven. Only a moment's doubt preceded his resolve to go at once. Leaping up, he wrapped around himself the warm dressing gown which he always used, seized a towel, and made his way out of the house.

It was so chilly in the fresh morning air that Bill ran down the garden and into the wood, and proceeded to run along the narrow path through the wood towards the mere, skipping like a young stag over every obstacle. And as he so lightly ran he heard a strange shrill cry. It came from in front of him—from the mere. Could it be a cry for help? He raced, shouting once sharply as he ran. The cry came again. Bill dashed through the last few yards of the wood, pushed aside some overhanging branches, and came to the edge of the mere.

In the morning light that calm, quick-silver-like sheet of water, in which every reflection was brilliantly clear, was as beautiful as ever. Very calm and still it lay, without a ripple. Bill's eye swept over its surface. His heart rose suddenly. There, well out in the middle of the silent water, he saw a dark head, a white arm.

"Hi!" came the voice. "Help! Quick! Cramp!"

Bill gurgled. He was a very powerful swimmer and he had been in the habit of swimming here since he could swim at all, and so he was out in the middle of the mere and approaching the distressed bather in a few seconds. The danger was no longer a danger. Such swiftness would have dismissed far greater peril. Then, as he came alongside, Bill saw to his astonishment that he was rescuing Elizabeth.

"Golly!" cried he. "Hold on! Get hold of me?" Slap went his arms. He had never swum more strongly. "Are you all right?"

"Yes," came a little voice—as clear as a bell. "I'm glad you came."

"I thought I was being clever," she said in his ear. "Worst of being an idiot. There, that's ever so much better. Shall we go?"

She stood up painfully, her face hidden from him, the dressing gown—his dressing gown, draped closely around her. A moment later her arms were raised and Bill lifted her from the ground. Then, bearing his burden very carefully, he began the journey back through the wood and towards Aunt Gertrude's cottage. It was not an easy journey, in present circumstances. And it gave them both time to think and to observe.

"I say," began Elizabeth, in a strange little apologetic voice. "I feel a bit mean, you know."

"Well, don't do it again, that's all," said Bill. "Not unless I'm there to fish you out. The water's apt to be film a plished fashion facade, nation-

Continued on Page 10.

The
the vill native-birth.
make C
the wo fects a

Vari ability work h for use standin
Hardin
the. Bu
park,

"Ka
of nor by Na
the m world, ington tional the c Urga.
Deser
China into d highw
Mong

Showing Georgia's Marble To the World

Giant cavities driven into deposits of solid Georgia marble in the vicinity of Tate, Ga., herewith are shown as news cameramen filmed a feature version of the industry to be released throughout the world.

A huge block of crystalline marble is shown in the picture on the left, being hoisted from the quarry, with a channeling machine in the foreground, while on the right, C. O. Beeland, movie man, is seen scaling the man-made cliff aboard a marble block.

BY BILL SHIPPEN.

AMERAMEN catering to a world that clamors for the picturesque, the epochal news events of the day, last week chose a North Georgia background against which to film a version of the work accomplished by a man whose dreams are fashioned today in flawless marble of facade, memorial and skyscraper the nation-over.

The man is Colonel Sam Tate, of the village which bears his name—a native Georgian by tradition and birth. It has been his life work to make Georgia marble the material of the world's leading sculptors, architects and builders.

Varying color tones and the adaptability of the product for monumental work has brought about its acceptance for use in three of the year's outstanding memorials, including the Harding memorial, at Marion, Ohio; the Buckingham fountain, in Grant park, at Chicago, and the projected Stedd Aquarium to be erected in Grant park at a cost approximating $3,000,000.

Paramount News cameramen were attracted to quarries and finishing plants in the vicinity of Tate by the wide-spread admiration evoked by the Harding memorial.

Two photographers were forthwith dispatched to film the process of quarrying and finishing the raw marble. These were J. B. Buchanan and C. O. Beeland.

The photographers, setting up their cameras on huge blocks, were hoisted up the sheer walls of the quarry; they filmed the process which frees the blocks from the original mass, and took close-ups of various finishing stages of sawing, shaping and polishing the pieces. The company operates finishing plants at Marble Hill, Nelson, Marietta and Tate.

Here the marble blocks are sawed, planed, polished and fabricated into building units specified by architects. Marble saws contain no teeth, but are long strips of steel cutting with sand fed to them on a stream of water. This is the slabbing process, and the product is again cut, this time by a high-speed circular saw, each tooth of which is set with a diamond. On a huge cast-iron disc revolving horizontally, the blocks are rubbed down to desired shape for polishing, or rougher finishes suitable for exterior work. Huge lathes turn out circular pieces, the larger machines being capable of shaping a column six feet in diameter and thirty feet in length.

While only the most expert craftsmen are employed in the finishing plants, the quarries also demand a high type of workman for the heroic task of freeing huge sections from the solid marble.

To aid the quarrymen, the Georgia Marble company employs the largest and most efficient equipment for the work, much of which was devised by company engineers to meet their own requirements.

One of the most valuable of these machines is the double channel cutter fitted with two sets of sharp chisels that deliver rapid and powerful strokes, slowly driving narrow vertical channels along the solid floor of the quarry. These cuts completed, the blocks are free on four vertical sides, but held firmly in the mass. To free the base, the line of blocks is undercut with drills and broken by wedges. Once free, they are hoisted to the surface by powerful cranes.

One by one, the blocks are loosened in tiers, as the quarrymen work toward the main wall; then another opening is made in the floor and work begins on a lower level.

Since the quarrying is of necessity slow and laborious, the company is confronted with the necessity of keeping a huge stock of standard size marble building units on hand at all times. This stock is stored in wide areas about the various finishing plants. Over 2,000 blocks are kept on hand, while more than 200,000 cubic feet of marble in the rough is held in reserve.

The movie cameras recorded a complete story of each process through which a raw block must pass en route to its appointed place in some magnificent memorial or public building, and the film is now being shown throughout the world.

:: Kalgan, on the Great Wall's Horseshoe Curve ::

WASHINGTON, D. C. "Kalgan, important trading center of northern China, recently occupied by Nationalist forces, occupies one of the most ancient crossroads in the world," says a bulletin from Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society. "There the caravan route from Peking to Uрга, on the other side of the Gobi Desert, crosses the Great Wall of China. The Great Wall has fallen into disuse and is no longer a military highway, but the caravan route to Mongolia has kept pace with the times and now automobiles mingle with the camel trains on its long and tedious path.

"Kalgan is situated near the border of the Province of Chili and Mongolia, about 125 miles by rail northwest of Peking. At this point the Great Wall has formed a horseshoe curve. Kalgan is on the outer edge and Nankow on the inner. The traveler from Peking thus crosses the old fortification twice, once at Nankow and later at Kalgan. The railway journey from Peking occupies an entire day, due to the steady rise in the landscape toward the Mongolian plateau, which has Kalgan on its rim.

"Thence tea and tobacco for the northern trade must be hauled across the Gobi by cart, camel, or an occasional motor truck. Such a journey occupies many days, wells being 20, 30 and even 50 miles apart. Caravans are enormous, some numbering between three and four hundred camels. Many camels succumb to heat, cold, hunger or thirst and the trail is barked with bleached bones of dead animals. For the most part they get through, however, and on their way south pour the products of Mongolia into Kalgan. Hides, wool, and furs reach this outpost of civilization in enormous quantities from the grazing lands of the north.

"Another Mongolian product marketed through Kalgan is the hardy little Mongol pony of the plains. These are in demand throughout the northern provinces, especially gray and white ponies, the latter being favorites with the Chinese. Foreigners find these tough little beasts first-rate for saddle purposes, though they have a reputation for stumbling.

Things New and Old About the Bible By W. P. KING

Pastor First Methodist Church, Athens, Ga.

The Hopeful Gospel.

DR. CHARLES A. ELLWOOD closes his volume, "The Reconstruction of Religion," with the words, "A Christian world is not only practicable; in a long run it will be found that no other sort is practicable."

Dr. Raymond Calkins in "The Eloquence of Christian Experience" writes: "One of the most glowing and glorious characteristics of the Bible is its fundamental note of hopefulness. Dean Church, of England, once said that the Bible from beginning to end is one unbroken call to hope. Open the Bible anywhere and you will find hope glowing at the center of it. You can find plenty of evil in the Bible, and struggle and defeat, but you cannot find despair. The heroes and heroines of the Bible may be faulty in other respects; but every one of them is a matchless example of hope. The preacher in our modern world will reproduce the message of hope which underlies the Bible. He will make his own the triumphant mood of the Old Testament prophets who did not hesitate, upon the guarantee of God, to prophesy salvation for the people of God, at the very hour when the national hopes were falling into ruin. He will deepen his faith in the omnipotence of the will of God whose word will not return unto Him void. He will recover the New Testament mood which was throughout one of unshaken serenity and confidence while the world itself was shaken as never before. And he will place his confidence where the New Testament writers placed theirs, on the immovable foundation of the personal work of Jesus Christ.

He will declare with Paul 'He must reign till He hath put all enemies under His feet.' With the author of the Epistle of Hebrews, he will see "Jesus crowned with glory and honor" even if, "now we see yet all things put under Him." And the modern preacher will have the hope of the Apocalypse, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever."

"Keep heart, O Comrade! God may be delayed

By evil but He suffers no defeat; Even as a chance rock in an upland brook

May change a river's course; and yet no rock,

No, nor the baffling mountains of the world,

Can hold it from its destiny, the sea. God is not foiled; the drift of the world will

Is stronger than all wrong. Earth and her years,

Down joy's bright way, or sorrow's longer road,

Are moving toward the purpose of the skies."

Gladstone said after the defeat of the reform bill for which he had labored: "Time is on our side."

Sublime was the declaration of Woodrow Wilson, "I had rather fail in a cause that will ultimately triumph than to win in a cause that will finally fail. We may not win as early as we might wish, but we know that in the long run the opposition cannot win at all."

"On the far reef the breakers

Recoil in scattered foam,

Yet still the sea behind them

- Urges its forces home.

Its chant of triumph surges

Through all the thunderous din;

The wave may break in failure,

But the tide is sure to win.

The reef is strong and cruel;

Upon its jagged wall

One wave, a score, a hundred,

Broken and beaten fall;

Yet in defeat they conquer,

The sea comes flooding in;

Wave upon wave is routed,

But the tide is sure to win.

O mighty sea! thy message

In clanging spray is cast;

Within God's plan of progress

It matters not at last

How wide the shores of evil,

How strong the reefs of sin;

The wave may be defeated,

But the tide is sure to win."

The poets of the Christian faith have given the finest expression of Christian optimism. Tennyson writes:

"If there are twenty million summers stored in the sunlight still, we are far from the noon of man, there is time for the race to grow."

"Oh yet we trust that somehow good Will be the final goal of ill,

To pangs of nature, sins of will

Defects of doubt, and taints of blood;

That nothing walks with aimless feet;

That not one life shall be destroyed,

Or cast as rubbish to the void

When God hath made the pile complete."

This fine old world of ours is but a child yet in the go-cart. Patience, give it time to learn its limbs; there is a hand that guides."

"Faith reels not in the storm of war-ringing words,

She brightens at the clash of 'yes' and 'no,'

She sees the best that glimmers through the worst,

She feels the sun is hid but for a night,

She spies the Summer thro' the Winter bud,

She tastes the fruit before the blossom falls,

She hears the lark within the songless egg,

She finds the fountain where they wailed; mirage?"

Browning with the same note of hopefulness writes:

"My own hope is, a sun will pierce

The thickest cloud earth ever stretched;

That after Last returns the First,

Though a wide compass round be fetched;

That what began best can't end worst, Nor what God blest once prove accurst."

Through all the apparently impersonal processes of nature there runs the personal purpose of God and He is forever on the side of the good. He is the omnipotent reinforcement of the good which means its ultimate victory.

"Careless seems the great avenger; history's pages but record

One death grapple in the darkness

'twixt old systems and the World;

Truth forever on the scaffold. Wrong forever on the throne—

Yet that scaffold sways the future, and behind the dim unknown,

Standeth God within the shadow, keep watch above His own."

Broadway Banter

— By —
FORNEY WYLY

AY DOOLEY, who has heretofore confined her contortions and writhings to revues, now emerges as the star of a full-length musical comedy called "The Sidewalks of New York." It is a show which has (1) pleasant if not brilliant music (2) two intoxicating dancers, Linda and Ruby Keeler (3) an excellent chorus and (4) far, far too much of Miss Dooley's pranks. For while her squirms, her twists and her naselings are quite all right for a ten-minute revue sketch, she does get just a trifle annoying if spread throughout a whole show. She did turn human toward the last of the show and then enacted a clever and ridiculous burlesque waltz. When she is all dressed up, Miss Dooley is very attractive-looking and then bears, I think, a curious resemblance to Honey Briggs.

Richard Keene as her "feller" at the Orphanage—it's one of those—is fresh without being too fresh. In the chorus of this show I espied the Johnny Abbott of your city whom Belle Bennett adopted and promptly endowed with the picturesque name of Richard Bennett.

The annual Actors' Equity Ball recently came off with a big bang at the Astor hotel. This is the theatrical world's "Pan Hellenic" as the ball starts at midnight and doesn't let up until six in the morning. Bedraggled guests then depart, taking with them those same gray ashen faces you always have with you after one of those drastic evenings of Pan-Hellenicizing. There's nobody in the world who looks good at six in the morning.

Mary Eaton and Oscar Shaw and the entire chorus from "The Five O'Clock Girl" did the fascinating "Up in the Clouds" number for the assembled mob at the ball. Then Zelma O'Neal and the "Good News" chorus did "The Varsity Drag." Mary Boland led the grand march and Jane Cowl dressed herself up to represent "The Spirit of Equity." At the conclusion of the show the guests left their boxes or whatever post they'd been leaning against and did much dancing. During supper I saw Mabel Normand rush over and greet Alla Nazimova with all the feverish delight Grace and Sara might employ on meeting at a Pan-Hellenic. However, I must say Miss Normand was not dressed as "Folly" nor did Madame Nazimova so far forget herself as to come as "Little Red Riding Hood." The ball was at least spared that.

"The Wasp's Nest" is another of the panel-sliding mystery plays at which you can emit one blood-curdling shriek after another if you're like that. The trouble I find with most mystery shows is that there's seldom any mystery—unless it is how the play got produced.

"The Wasp's Nest" is lucky in having so comely a couple as Dorothea Chard and Frank Beaston to head its cast. This Miss Chard, no bigger than a minute, is utterly charming and somebody I'd like to see rescued from mystery mush. Mr. Beaston I have for sometime considered one of the most capable young actors on Broadway.

"Night Stick" is as tense and exciting a play as I've seen since "Within the Law" those many years back. It relies on good old-fashioned melodrama for its suspense and does not sink to or through trap-doors nor haul out skeletons to be terrifying. It is acted perfectly and who do you suppose is in it? Kathryn Givney whom you liked so well with the original Forsyth Players.

In "Night Stick" it finally develops the murder was committed by a man during the time he went out between the acts of "The Trial of Mary Duggan" now current at the National. Consequently, if your escort returns to you at the conclusion of an act just a trifle more cheerful than usual, you may then know he has just completed a couple of charming little murders he'd gotten behind on.

I seem to like Mr. Milestone's "Fanatics" much better than most people did. It's one of those immediately-after-the-war plays in which everybody is getting adjusted. They preach free love at great length and I must say the conversation between the two innocent young girls and the slight shop-worn lady is more than frank. And really a telling, a beautiful scene. I use the word "telling" with no attempt at being funny, but on second thought, what "telling" did go on. Really, Mr. Milestone, really!

Richard Bird returns to America in this play after an absence of several years. I like the ease and naturalness with which he plays. He is the young chap who so upset New York a few seasons ago with his magnificent playing of Marchbanks in "Candida."

The new Beatrice Lillie show is now in rehearsing bearing the tentative title of "She's My Baby" which I trust will be changed. She has Clifton Webb with her and also young Jack Whiting whom I found so good in "Yes, Yes, Yvette." That show has now closed, failing in any way to duplicate the success of its predecessor, "No, No, Nannette." It seems the "No's" have it.

There were two big Victory Balls at two of the large hotels on Armistice night and I of course chose the wrong one. Don't be silly, I mean our hostess chose the wrong one to have her party at. To the one I went I saw nothing but sequins, first on the dresses and then on the floor where those violent dancers had shaken them. Somehow people never appear to worse advantage than on a holiday. It seems as though then everybody strives to reach a point of assinity never attained on just ordinary days.

PAGES FROM MY LIFE

— BY —
FEODOR CHALIAPINE

In Moscow.

SHORT time after I received a letter from Semenoff-Samarsky, who wrote that he could find me an engagement at one hundred roubles a month in Perovsky's opera company at Kazan.

However, the unexpected happened. My fellow-employees had frequently remarked on my fine voice, saying that I ought to study singing seriously under their local professor, Usatoff, formerly an artist of the Imperial theaters. On the day I was to leave Tiflis, I suddenly made up my mind to go and see this singing teacher, thinking that in any event I should lose nothing by doing so.

When I entered his house a pack of pug dogs scurried around me, and then a short, round man with the turned up twisted mustache of a stage brigand appeared, his cheeks blue from much shaving.

He inquired, not very courteously, what I wanted, and on my explaining, said:

"Very well, let's go and howl a bit!"

He ushered me into his drawing room, sat down at the piano, and made me run through a few arpeggios. My voice sounded well. He asked me to sing something from an opera.

As I imagined that my voice was a baritone, I proposed that I should sing the aria of Valentine from "Faust," but when, on a high note, I began to hold it "fermato," the professor ceased playing and prodded me in the side with one finger so hard that it hurt. I broke off the note, and there was a moment of complete silence. Usatoff gazed at the keys of the piano, and I looked at him, thinking that matters seemed ominous. The pause was painfully prolonged. Finally I lost patience, and inquired:

"Well, do you think I might study singing?"

Usatoff looked at me and answered decisively:

"You must."

I at once cheered up and told him that I was on the point of going to Kazan to sing in opera there, that I should get a hundred roubles a month, which, for five months, would mean five hundred roubles, out of which my living expenses would be one hundred roubles and thus there would remain four hundred roubles with which to return and study singing. He said, however:

"Give up the idea! You won't save anything, and anyway, 'it is hardly likely you will ever get your salary! I know that sort of business. Stay here and study with me. I won't take any money from you for lessons!"

I was astonished. Usatoff went on: "Your chief is a friend of mine. I will write to him to take you back again."

Inspired by my unexpected good fortune I rushed with Usatoff's letter to my chief, but found that I had already been replaced. This took the wind out of my sails, and I returned to Usatoff; who thereupon gave me a

"The only authorized English translation of my autobiography."

Feodor Chaliapine

note to the owner of a wholesale business in pharmaceutical goods. This man, who looked like an oriental, read the letter, and asked me whether I knew any other language than Russian.

I told him that I understood Little Russian, but he said that that was of no use to him, and asked me further whether I did not know any Latin. Of course I had to answer "No."

"That's a pity," said he. "Well, I will pay you ten roubles a month, and here is two months' pay in advance."

"What must I do?" I inquired.

"Nothing. You must study singing, and I shall pay you ten roubles a month for doing so."

Goes to Moscow.

After a season of study, I wanted to go to Moscow, the center of artistic life in Russia. Usatoff approved my determination, and furnished me with letters to Pchelnikoff, the manager of the administrative offices of the Imperial theaters, to the orchestral conductor, Altani, to the stage manager, Bartsal, and also to someone else whose name I cannot recollect at the moment.

Early one morning in the middle of May, Agnietseff, another student, and I went to the posthorse station and started for Moscow.

Moscow overwhelmed us provincials with its variety, bustle and uproar. As soon as we had engaged a room for ourselves, I hurried off to look at the Great theater.

Next morning I paid a visit to the office of the Imperial theaters. Porters with eagles embroidered on their uniforms were sitting in the vestibule, obviously bored to death. People ran about with papers in their hands and pens behind their ears. It was all very unlike a theater. A doorkeeper took my letter of introduction, turned it over in his hands uncertainly, and inquired indolently:

"Who is the Usatoff you say this is from? Wait here a little!"

An hour, two hours went by. At length I begged the porter to remind Mr. Pchelnikoff about me. After objecting for some time he at length consented to do so, went away, and returned after an absence of about an hour, when he informed me that Mr. Pchelnikoff could not receive me and had instructed him to say that at present, in the summer, all the government theaters were closed.

Agnietseff and I registered our names at Razokhina's Theatrical agency. I gave the agency my photograph, posters, and press-cuttings. Mme. Razokhine expressed a wish to hear my voice, and was evidently pleased with it.

"Excellent!" said she, "we will find you a theater!"

Very soon all my money was gone. But it was dull sitting alone and dinnerless in a little poky room; and when I had spent two days in this manner, I told Agnietseff of my predicament. He urged me to dine at his expense, saying that I could repay him later on when I had the money to do so.

Pavlusha Agnietseff was a very agreeable good fellow, but he was quite vexatiously punctilious in his accounts. If he spent seven kopecks he promptly debited me with 3 1-2 kopecks in his little note book. It was the right thing to do, of course, but wearisome in the extreme!

"Write me down with four kopecks!" I begged him, but he replied, very reasonably:

"But why? Half of seven is three and a half; half of five is two and a half . . ." and so on.

A month passed. At the beginning of July, a note came from Madame Razokhine asking me to call at her office. I snatched up my music and fairly ran all the way! A huge, curly-headed man with a handsome flowing beard sat in the hall. He looked like the Russian legendary bandit, Tchurkin, with his great broad chest, covered by about three pounds of assorted trinkets. From under his bushy eyebrows, he looked sternly, almost angrily at everybody. In fact, he had every air of being a most important personage which indeed he was for this man, they told me, was Lentvosky, the famous Moscow impresario!

I had already heard this name, which was celebrated in Russia, and I was rather afraid of him. Lentvosky looked at me up and down and said to Mme. Razokhine:

"He might do."

"Sing," said Mme. Razokhine.

I sang an aria from "Don Carlos," with eyes fixed on the back of my accompanist's neck. After listening for a few minutes, Lentvosky said:

"Enough. Well, what do you know and what can you do?"

I told him the extent of my knowledge, but that I did not know what it might be possible for me to do!

"Have you sung the 'Tales of Hoffman'?"

"No," said I.

"You will take the part of Dr. Miracle. Take the music and learn it. Here are one hundred roubles. Afterwards you will go to Petersburg to sing at 'Arcadia.'"

"The season at 'Arcadia' ended disastrously. I needed to pay my fare to Kazan, but could not get the money. Someone suggested I should join a society of operatic artists, which was going to arrange a series of performances in the Panaevsky theater in Petrograd.

Our performances were very successful. I had the good luck to speedily attract the attention of the public, and various well-known personalities in the musical world began to call on me behind the scenes. Everyone liked the way in which I sang Bertrand in "Robert le Diable." V. V. Andreieff, the famous balalaika artist, told me that the authorities of the Mariensky theater were taking an interest in me, and soon afterwards I was invited to call there and sing something in the presence of Napravnik, the celebrated Zcheko-Slovakian conductor.

Nappravnik was a man with a very dry manner, very uncommunicative and restrained in his speech. One never knew whether anything pleased him or not. He listened to my singing without a word of comment. Shortly afterwards, however, I learned that it was proposed to arrange an audition for me on the stage of the Mariensky theater, in the presence of the manager. I knew that the Mariensky theater required a bass singer, as the celebrated Melnikoff had then already ended his career.

Naturally, I did not expect to take his place, and was in a great-to-do when I was asked to prepare for my audition the aria of Russlan, which was one for which Melnikoff had usually received the greatest praise. The audition took place, but apparently my critics and judges were not satisfied with my singing of the aria of Russlan. They asked me to sing something else as well, and I sang the fourth act from "A Life for the Tsar," both the aria and the recitative.

I sang the aria in the same manner that all other artists did, but executed the recitative after my own fashion, in the same style as that in which I sing now. Apparently the impression produced on my judges was favorable.

Next day I was asked to sign a contract, and thus became a member of the artistic staff of the Imperial theaters.

I continued to sing at the Panaevsky theater, and zealously enlarged the circle of my acquaintances.

More and more frequently I appeared at charitable entertainments and students' concerts. The frequency with which I used to take part in such enterprises, led to my spending an evening once with Dalsky in a very odd fashion. We were invited to appear at a concert somewhere or other, but no carriage was sent for us. We determined to go there ourselves without waiting any longer.

We did not know where the concert was being held, however, and therefore went to the first hall we could think of and asked the managers of a concert which was being given there, whether we were not taking part in it.

"No," we were told, "we are sorry to say that you are not participating, but if you would care to do so . . ."

We took off our overcoats, sang our songs and went on to the next place. Once more we failed to find the right concert hall, where we were awaited. However, I sang again there, and Dalsky recited. In this manner we appeared, not without pleasure both for ourselves and for the public, at no less than four different concert halls but without succeeding in getting to the function to which we had been invited.

I was terribly provincial and clumsy in my ways. V. V. Andreieff zealously and very skillfully strove to remodel my education, persuading me to cut short my hair, which I wore long in the manner affected by some singers in Russia, teaching me how to dress properly, and in every way looking after me.

(Copyright, 1927, in U. S., Great Britain and all other countries by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved. Reproduction prohibited).

Next Sunday: "Disappointment."

"Egg Era" Impends in A

BY H. C. NORRIS

PARIS.

DON'T laugh at the hen. She has evolved from the egg; the American is evolving into one. Take a large egg in one hand and a mirror in the other. If you cannot readily distinguish between the two reflections, then you're 100 per cent American; the ovoid ancestor of the 110 per cent Americans with which the United States will, within the next few hundred years, be filled.

It was George Conlon who said it in his pleasing Maryland speech, the while his long fingers manipulated a mass of clay into a dancing girl airily poised on one toe.

A real workman, smocked and dusty, he stood beneath the skylight of his Rue Campagne Première studio surrounded by sculptured heads and figures and groups. Two heads immediately caught the eye; the two which have brought this sculptor new fame both in Paris and America.

They were the head of Lindbergh, a copy of which was recently installed at the American embassy in Paris, and the head of the American attorney, Clarence Darrow, which has just been completed.

Of these heads George Conlon was speaking, and as he spoke his hands paused for a minute to point out the strikingly different configuration.

"Lindbergh's head," he went on, "is almost a square, and it is one of the finest heads I ever saw. Look at the width here, where the reasoning faculty is lodged. Look at the shape of the face muscles; experience, that's what they spell. See the muscles around the chin; that lad has gritted his teeth more than once! Determination, practical common sense, courage, sheer brains; that's what the shape of Lindbergh's head tells you.

"Take him in any crowd—see these photographs, for example—you'd notice him even if you didn't know who he was. He stands out in any group of men. Notice the shape and carriage of his head, and then notice the heads of the people around him! No wonder he could fly the Atlantic.

"A sculptor, you know, learns to read a man's character and possibilities from the shape of the skull. Any sculptor would pick Lindbergh as a go-getter, a combination of daring and clear thinking. Any sculptor could tell you that if this young man of 25 planned a daring feat he would plan it care-

Typical American Skull Today Is Oval, Says Sculptor Conlon, and in a Few Centuries It Will Be Egg-Shaped—A Distinct American Type Is Thus Evolved Out of the Melting Pot fully. It isn't any surprise to me that his plans for an Atlantic flight were the result of months of serious thought.

"There's humor in the muscles of that face, too. By the way, when Lindbergh landed at Le Bourget, the French officials all rushed forward with chairs. 'No thanks,' he said, 'I've just been sitting,' and there's noise; the kind of poise which keeps a man's head from being turned.

"You think of Lindbergh as a typical American, don't you?" The sculptor chuckled and dabbed another bit of clay on the far-flung foot of the dancing girl. "Well, he isn't. Lindbergh is not, of course, the only human being who ever possessed his type of skull; but certainly he's not 'typical.' He's super." The typical American skull today is oval. In a few centuries it will be egg-shaped."

He indicated the head of Clarence Darrow—a massive head with shrewd, ironic, joke-loving lines at the mouth. "Monkeys!" the head seemed to say, harking back to the famous trial of the People of Tennessee vs. Darwin. "If you think we aren't descended from monkeys, look around you." Or something to that effect.

"Darrow has the longest head I've ever seen," Conlon commented, "not long up and down, but from the forehead to the back. Naturally, he's a good lawyer; that length indicates remarkable development of the reasoning faculty. It's perfectly true that a good attorney ought to be long-headed.

And he was, by the by, one of the most interesting subjects I've ever modeled"—and Conlon has modeled a good many subjects since winning the Rinehart Scholarship for European Study, which was at Baltimore in 1911—"with a keen humor that kept us all laughing."

"Kept us all laughing?" There were other people present?

"O, yes," Conlon answered. "I like to have the studio full of people when I'm at work, especially when I'm doing a portrait bust. If the subject's friends are present, the subject acts and looks more natural. But I think I like most to do very young children."

He nodded toward a chubby little head that had the most dolorous look in the world about mouth and eyes. "A Belgian baby," he said. "She was always on the point of bursting into tears. Nothing egg-shaped about that little rounded head, is there?"

"No, it isn't any joke about the egg-shaped Americans. On the other hand, it isn't any tragedy, either. It's just one of old nature's inscrutable doings. Really, it's less the fault of Mother Nature than of George Washington. He made America free. The result was that big slices of all the other nations emigrated to America. And the further result is that the melting pot, if I may mix my metaphors, has hatched an egg.

From the viewpoint of beauty—well, every one knows what an egg looks like. Artists say it is beautiful."

He added another dab of clay to the dancer, who didn't look like an egg at all—and yet was exquisite.

"Her great-great-grandchildren will look like eggs, however," smiled Conlon; "you just wait and see. While you're waiting, get several long pieces of string, tie objects of strikingly different shape to the ends, get some one to whirl them round rapidly, then stand back and watch the results. It will be a featureless blur.

"Roughly, that's what nature is doing in the United States. Intermarriage corresponds, let's say for the sake of argument, with the optical intermingling of different objects swung on strings.

A Conlon bust of Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent

"In types of Russian nation production. But it produces a culture of egg-shaped pretty. 'It's such a merely started.

let, long. 'The into an ticeable though are ple whose for fear rugged, cartoon present 'clean-as Natu 'smooth it says.

You the year eyes are ovoid g the kin

n America Says Sculptor

"In America we have all shapes and types of heads; Swedish, Irish, Italian, Russian—the entire list. The combination of Irish and Jewish, for instance, produces often a classical Greek type. But the combination of all types produces something as near a blank as nature can contrive—a head which is egg-shaped and features which are pretty nearly nil.

"It's as if Nature, confronted with such a bewildering variety of shapes, merely threw up her hands and then started to evolve the simplest shape in her repertory. Began all over again at the beginning, so to speak.

"During the parade of the American Legion in Paris I size, that you could pick up in any hen-coop. Would the small end of the egg be the crown of the head, or vice versa?

"Vice versa," Conlon said firmly; "the large end will be uppermost, to allow for brains. That's why it is so much better to look like an egg than to be one. An egg has no intellect—at least, hens have gained no reputation for logical thinking—but some of our brainiest Americans of today have egg-shaped skulls. Don't you know how cartoonists love to represent a professor as having an enormous dome-like skull and a tiny face? The egg-shaped head ought to allow for bigger and better brains where there's always room for them—at the top.

"And don't worry about the ovoid flapper of the future, nor about her young man. You can be sure right now that each will think the other is perfection, and neither of them will ever understand how their dozen great-great-grandparents could have seen anything in those crude, massive, early American features that shot out over the face in all directions. So untidy."

But—an egg. So lacking in individuality.

"Not at all," Conlon replied. "There are freckled eggs, brown eggs, white eggs, big eggs, little eggs; a wide range of styles. And while Nature is trying her best to transform the American head into a complete egg, she will never quite make it. Human beings, you see, are not eggs, after all; and they will always cling to features, or rather, features, however smoothed out, will always cling to them.

"The general style of the head will be egg-shap-

"Darrow has the largest head I've ever seen from the forehead to back. That length indicates remarkable development of the reasoning faculties."

ed. We can't help that, for Nature has set her heart on it and she has often accomplished more difficult things without half trying. But even the Americans of the far and entertaining future will be able to tell one another apart, even if to other nations they look a good deal alike—as the Orientals look to us."

He added, quite casually: "And, of course, you can always make your own head and face. We all do. It will be a little more difficult by the time the trend of heads is egg-shaped, but, inside certain limitations, it might be done even then."

Make your own head. Especially, make your own face!

"Why, of course." Conlon looked up from the dancing girl and nodded. "We all do it, but unfortunately we do it for the most part unconsciously. A baby's skull is a soft thing, not even fastened together in the middle. Every one is aware that as the child grows the shape of its head changes, but I believe few people realize the chief reason for the change in shape.

"As a man thinketh, so he is. It's particularly true of the skull. Of course, you must have a brain to begin with, but if a child reasons things out for himself—whether he does it voluntarily or is taught to do so—he is going to have a head which is broad at that part where the reasoning faculty is lodged, and so on. If, as in the case of Lindbergh, he makes up his mind to surmount difficulties—and if he has difficulties to surmount—he will set his teeth and develop a firm jaw.

"If a woman, for instance, decides to worry about things, she is going to create all those lines and wrinkles which keep the beauty shops open. If she is ill-tempered, her mouth will betray that fact; for hard words make hard mouths. Whether she takes life sadly or happily, the actual muscles of her face will indicate her outlook. From the shape of the skull and the muscles of the face you can judge with surprising accuracy a person's temperament, philosophy, character and abilities. At least, a sculptor can.

"But, as I said, unfortunately most people don't realize that they are making their own faces and heads till the faces and heads are made. Then they look in the mirror and blame it on their ancestors. They lament that they've inherited grandfather's chin, when what they've cultivated is grandfather's disposition. About the only feature you can't change just by thought waves is your nose. But take care of the rest, and your nose will take care of itself. If it doesn't, you can always take it to a facial surgeon. With the egg idea in sight, however, the like. as struck once more by the extraordinary range of types in American heads. Square, bullet, long, short, round or what have you. "The gradual blending of these types into an ovoid is, of course, more noticeable in the younger generations, though, as every sculptor realizes, there are plenty of mature Americans today whose heads are noticeably oval. As for features, it is rare now to meet the rugged, sharp defined features which cartoonists give to Uncle Sam. At present we speak of Americans as 'clean-cut.' They are. But pretty soon, as Nature reckons time, the description 'smooth-faced' will mean exactly what it says."

Continued on Page 12.

You tried to visualize the flapper of the year 2027, with her luminous, flat eyes and pinpoint nose, casting an ovoid glance at the young athlete with the kind of head, except perhaps for George Conlon with the sculptured head of Colonel Lindbergh.

MY LADY FAR AWAY

INSTALLMENT VI.

ELL, what proof can you offer me that he did die?"

"I can direct you to his grave," was the unexpected reply. "Will that satisfy you?" Somehow, Hugh felt that this Smith was very anxious it should satisfy him; wanted him to have done, and go. . . .

"My oath," he thought, "I believe the beggar had a hand in it himself. That would explain everything."

With this new theory in his mind he felt bound to watch Smith closely as he put the next question—

"Who buried him?"

"If you can find any of his native servants," was the reply, "they will tell you all about that."

"Why did he want to die?" By this time Hugh had shrewdly guessed a fact that he foresaw was going to help his inquiries immensely. Smith didn't like lying; probably, so far, hadn't lied at all.

"If that's so, I have him on the hip," was his triumphant thought, mingled with another—"It's a shame to worry him; even if he did help my uncle get out of the world in any way, he's a man and a gentleman."

Smith's reply to the last question came slowly.

"He wanted to die because he had lost what made life worth living. . . . I can understand."

"You mean his wife?"

"Yes."

"You—?" He paused; one could hardly ask such a thing point blank.

Smith remained immobile.

("By Gad, I will ask him—")

"You've had the same trouble, perhaps?" A new idea was beginning to creep into his mind—it seemed impossible, preposterous, but—"I have had the same. My wife—since you are good enough to ask—" the flavor of sarcasm was just perceptible—"my wife died very suddenly."

"And you were left, like Frank Royden, with one child?" Suspicion of he scarce knew what was gathering in Royden's mind, like waters pressing steadily up against the sides of a strained, collapsing dam.

The next words of Smith checked the flood, sent it back to the depths whence it had arisen.

"You are making a mistake. Antares was not—the son of my wife."

"Adopted?" asked Hugh bluntly. He did not believe it for a moment—the youth and the man were too much alike—however—

"Antares is mine," answered Smith. "But, I think—we were talking about your uncle."

"Scandalous old beggar, he's candid enough," thought Hugh. "I suppose Mrs. Smith wouldn't stand the introduction of Antares into the family. Not the son of his wife. . . . By gum!"

"You asked me why Frank Royden died. He died because he lost his wife; he was very much attached to her." The man spoke as a statue might have spoken, could it have moved its stony lips, to discuss mere affairs of flesh and blood. "Probably you heard how the death took place."

"More or less. She would go with him up the Pelican river when she was in the family way, and she was taken ill too soon, and died."

"You haven't got the facts quite right." Colder, more impersonal was the voice of Smith. "She followed him after he sent her back. She told him that there would be a recruiting boat up the river in three months' time; she said that would be soon enough. He let her stay; it seems he couldn't help it, since she got up the river in a boat that was making a yearly trip, and it didn't wait."

"Where was he?" asked Hugh, somewhat interested, and touched, in spite of Smith's dry manner.

"On a tributary of the Pelican, a long way up. She had to take a native canoe to find him. And—the recruiting boat didn't come, after all. They waited and waited. She was taken ill in that wilderness; there wasn't even a native woman. She was very ill. After some days, she died."

"And the child—my cousin? What did he do with her?"

"He traveled to the nearest village and gave the baby to a native woman to nurse. Later, he took the child away with him, further up the Pelican."

"What became of her? There were rumors—"

"That isn't known."

"And of him?"

"Will you be good enough to come with me a little way?"

"What start is this?" thought Hugh, following Smith through the amber shadows of the house out into the late, low lying afternoon sun outside.

They went a little way together, through a grove of giant bananas and down an avenue of planted papaya trees. It was very still; not a breath of wind from the lake came through to stir the loose swinging perfumed censers of the male pawpaw trees, or to fling down to earth a single ripened gold fruit from the sturdy female palms.

"That's the way," said Smith. "I hope you will excuse; I'm not quite myself yet."

He turned back to the house, and Royden was left alone.

After the papayas came a deep cutting through the forest, and then a tiny cleared space, dusk and profound as a well. Far up among the tree-tops one could see the light of day, but only for a few moments, at full noon, could any sun have touched the dank, moss clotted ground at the bottom of the clearing. No weeds grew there; no flowers, save certain strange ghostly blooms like the spirits of dead lilies, leafless, stalkless, and pale, that Royden remembered to have seen before along the banks of forest hidden streams.

Fungus flowers, they were; flowers that at night broke forth into ghastly splendor of livid fire.

"Queer taste," thought the Australian. "Wonder who planted them?" Then he saw what made him forget all about the ghost lilies—a slab of wood, sticking up out of the wet ground. It had been adzed flat on one side. There was an inscription; Royden bent to read it—

"STELLA
BELOVED WIFE OF
FRANK ROYDEN
DIED FEBRUARY 4
1908."

Underneath was a second inscription, somewhat less carefully carved—

"FRANK ROYDEN DIED 1908."

"Damn it all," was Royden's pardonable reaction. "This makes the whole thing madder than ever. Who, in the name of common sense, cut the second inscription?"

He put the question bluntly to Smith, on his return. Smith replied, after a moment or two spent in consideration—"I'd like to shake it out of you," thought Hugh.

"I cut it."

"Why on earth?"

"To mark the fact that he was dead."

"For whom?"

"Myself, chiefly."

"Was this his place?"

"He died before it was built or cleared."

"And how did you come in?"

"As you see."

"You mean you just blew in and settled down?"

"Exactly."

"Well," said Hugh, "I can't make you tell me your private affairs, and I don't want to." He was silent for a moment. Through the stillness the edges of the sago thatch went on whispering, as only sago roofs in the wilderness can whisper, hinting at strange things, secrets not to be told. From the lake, fitfully, came the 'Kua, kua!' of wild duck flying home.

"This may satisfy myself," went on Hugh Royden, "but I'm afraid the courts would want something more. Did Welch give you any idea of the importance of the matter?"

"Certainly. He told me that your grandfather had been granted a barony, for party services."

Was there a touch—just a touch—of scorn in the singularly deep, musical voice of Mr. Smith?

"Bolshie, maybe," thought Hugh, and then corrected himself. "Why, he can't even know what a Bolshie is—I suppose he hasn't seen a paper since the war." Aloud he continued, obstinately assuming his most formal, most county-representative tone—"Yes. My grandfather is now Lord Wilsdon, and as he is very old and not at all strong, the question of his heir becomes immediately important. I understand he has willed something like a million and a half to go with the title."

"That," said Mr. Smith, "should make the fortunate possessor supremely happy."

This time the touch of scorn was unmistakable. Hugh Royden felt vaguely uneasy. What business was it of this hatter's, anyhow?

He went on, determinedly, asking a question to which he knew, already, the answer.

"Would it be possible to induce you to give personal evidence?"

"It would not be possible," replied the father of Antares, with equal courtesy, equal determination.

Hugh had the strong man's quality of knowing when he was beaten. Sometimes—quite often—he didn't mind such a trifling circumstance; went on in spite of it. Sometimes, as now, he let go, prudently and at once.

"Very well. You would perhaps not object to making a sworn statement, if I could bring a magistrate up here?" ("That should not be difficult," was his private thought. "Probably they run up the Pelican once in a while; it would be all in their job.")

"I can do that," was the answer, not very cordially given.

"And now about my cousin. I am sure Lord Wilsdon will be most anxious to know what has become of her."

Smith seemed to be ready for that question. "She went before her father," he replied without hesitation.

"Whole thing seems a bit like the plot of Hamlet," commented Hugh, who had never read the play, "Everybody dyin' off in squads."

"The interior of Papua," said Smith, "is not the best place for women and children."

Another pause followed. Smith broke it with the air of a man who has concluded an unpleasant business.

"And now may I offer you some tea?"

"Tea? Thanks very much—you have it here?"

"We grow it. The villages send me girls to work in the garden. I pay in chinchona decoction—the nearest thing I can manage to quinine. I found one of the chinchonas in the bush, and cultivate it. Of course there's fever here." His tone was suggestive of warning.

"Quite," said Hugh. "We all take quinine every day. You must be on mighty good terms with the natives," he went on, in some amazement, "to induce them to trust their girls with you and Antares; girls are coin in these parts, aren't they?"

"You can't get the young boys to work—or the men, either," was Smith's quiet reply. He tapped on a small iguana skin drum, and Antares looked in. "Tea?" he queried. "Directly. . . ."

"This beggar," thought Hugh, "would know how to dodge hecklers a sight better than I shall when I start public speaking. . . . He speaks well, too. Sort who could address a crowd, and swing 'em. Clever, I shouldn't wonder. Hatters often are. . . . Aggravating devil, and yet there's something about him I seem to know and like. . . . Odd."

The tea came, in cups of baked clay. "I say," burst forth Hugh, watching Antares cross the big room with a wooden tray balanced in his hands, and thinking what a handsome lad he would be if only he'd a trifle more "dog," a bit more of the devil, about him—"I say, do you mind telling me what's the idea of all this sort of thing—this dressing in bark, and using pottery, and cutting with obsidian, and so on? Must be jolly inconvenient."

"It's simple," answered Smith, handing a cake of reddish sago flour to his guest. "Merely life insurance."

"I—I beg your pardon?"

"Life insurance. The people in Port Moresby, and down on the coast, would tell you that no white man could live here; they'd say the natives would murder him. Wild tribes, you know, generally do murder whites when they get the chance. But they don't do it without reason. They may be terrified—as they were the other day—or they may be merely covetous. They have known me too long to fear me, and I have taken care to own nothing that they don't own themselves. Perfectly simple. . . . Now your yacht," he went on, "is a treasure house; a sort of floating Bank of England—to savage peoples. Steel, gunpowder, fierarms, tools, blankets, clothes, food—everything they desire and delight in. You are in danger all the time."

He almost seemed to relish the fact.

Hugh spoke his thought.

"You called the beggars off us, sir, anyhow. Myself and Mrs. Lyle. They had it in for us all right. I think we have to thank you for saving our lives."

Mr. Smith ("I wish to heaven he'd selected a better name; it's comic opera, applied to his sort," thought Royden impatiently)—Mr. Smith neither affirmed nor denied. His attention seemed to be caught by the new subject.

"Mrs. Lyle? May I ask who she is?"

"She's the lady who has done me the honor of promising to marry me," replied Hugh, with a certain formality.

"But," said this extraordinary man, leaning forward with one bare elbow on his draped knee, and looking, Hugh thought, disconcertingly like Michael Angelo's terrible Moses, "But Mrs. Lyle's husband is not dead."

"How the devil do you know that, sir?" Hugh was angry. He thought he knew quite well how. It wasn't like Welch to gossip—certainly it was not like him!—but he must have done so on this occasion.

A Blue Ribbon Serial By Beatrice Grimshaw

"He didn't tell me," was Smith's comment, and again Royden felt himself surprisingly read.

"I don't see how any one could have known. I don't see either—pardon me—how it can possibly be any one's business but mine," declared the lover of Martha Lyle.

Smith, or Moses, as Hugh was beginning in his own mind to call him, passed over that also. "I should like to meet the future Lady Wilsdon," he said. "She is beautiful?"

"Very."

"Children?"

"None." That fact, to tell the truth, had troubled the man who hoped to be the second baron. But—"It'll be all right," he had thought, and dismissed the doubt.

Moses asked nothing more. They drank their tea, a delicately perfumed brew, and ate the crisp, roasted sago cakes. Antares had disappeared after bringing the tray; he seemed to know that his father and Royden were anxious to talk. Hugh wished that he could summon up nerve to ask his host how on earth the knowledge of Lyle's continued existence had reached him. "The beggar doesn't lie," he thought, "but one could almost think he did. There are things in this place that want explaining. How did he call the natives off?" And with that he found himself asking.

Smith replied, without embarrassment, "You couldn't understand."

"Not understand? Why?"

The older man sipped slowly from his pottery cup, and set it down.

"Because," he said deliberately, "the words are not made—yet. You think that there are words for everything that matters in the world. But it is not so. There are whole tracts of thought through which you must feel your way in darkness, without the lamp of language. Obscure tracts unknown, little visited. This matter is one."

"O, try me; I'm not quite a bloom-in' ass," suggested the big man.

"I can give you the outlines," replied Mr. Smith, with a slight touch of weariness. "But—well, you've heard, of course, of the 'bush telegraph'; how natives in various countries communicate with each other, faster than any posts can go?"

"Yes. Drum taps and smoke signals, isn't it?"

"It is. Sometimes. Mostly. But it's something more—at other times."

"What?"

"There you come upon the not-to-be-expressed. The nearest I can get to it is to say that it is the use of a lost sense—lost by us."

"How can a lost—"

"Quite right; it can't—if it is lost. But the point is that some people—some races—keep it. That's a key to words undreamed of."

"Do you mean a sense outside of seeing, hearing, and the rest?"

"Yes."

Hugh's face expressed, if his tongue did not, "Utter rubbish!"

"If you were blind or deaf," went on the other, "could I make you understand light and sound? No. Do any of us understand what the sense is that guides first-year land birds across seas and continents to their winter quarters? The sense that enables a moth shut up in a box to call its mates, five miles or more away? The—"

"O, pardon me, we know that the moth does it with a kind of wireless," broke in Hugh, disturbed, but not convinced.

"Just so. We—guess—that. But we are no nearer to knowing how it's done. If we did know we would do our own broadcasting. To return to what I was saying—primitive people, very near the animal, keep certain animal powers; they can't describe them, hardly know they have them, but they are not quite so unconscious of them as the animal is. With patience!—and long research, and the study of native languages, one gets near the central secrets. And then—then the wilderness blossoms. The glass through which we see darkly is lit up like the glass of a colored window when you see it from inside; it shows lights—forms—"

"Now is he mad, or is he not?" wondered Hugh. "What good does it all do you?" he asked aloud.

"That's the question they asked Palissy the potter—Newton—Columbus . . . I can't expect you to understand. Civilization means the forgetting of all these things; allowing the roads that lead to them to become overgrown. But—haven't you felt the secret tugging at you—heard the call of the hidden road?"

Hugh, remembering many things, made no reply.

"This bush telegraph business is but one wonder. There are ways to more. No man has ever looked for them just as I am looking. If I have another ten years—"

"Well," broke in Hugh, "and if you do have another ten years and if you find out fifty things—what, meantime, is happening to the old thing you are responsible for—your son Antares?"

Smith looked at him as if he were a long way off.

"Antares is happy," he said. "No one can be more."

"Education?"

"Antares is educated. I have educated him myself."

"Damn it, man, you'll die—might go any time in this country and what then?"

"Antares carries something that will make him safe."

"You mean," translated Hugh, who was possessed at times of a passion for plain facts, "that you've told him to kill himself?"

The other looked at him calmly and made no reply.

"Aren't you," said Hugh, getting somewhat hot, "aren't you rather a bit of a heathen, all round?"

"Are you not?" courteously queried Smith.

"Certainly not, sir. I go to church most Sunday mornings, and I say my prayers as I did at school. I'm not the least ashamed of either."

"Ah," said Smith gently, "you will make an excellent county magnate. Now," he went on, "do you know, I think I shall have to take a little rest; I am feeling the effects of the accident. No, don't apologize; you're naturally interested in these affairs of yours—very much so, of course. You'll pardon me if I ask you to consider my part as done . . . Must you go? Antares!"

Antares came back, light limbed, grave faced, graceful. Again Hugh felt his heart swell with anger over the unprotected position of the boy; over his captivity—for it amounted to that in a savage and wicked place.

"Beauty never fed any one," he thought. "Mysteries are poor living. I'd like to take him by force out of the hands of that hatter and send him to a—no," as they climbed down the outer side of the forest barrier and made for the canoes again, "no, he looks too much of a man for even a public school. And yet—"

"Get in, if you please," said Antares.

"That's one thing I can't stand about him," thought Hugh. "He's so hideously polite. If he'd said, 'Hop in, old bean,' I'd have liked him better."

Antares, grave, gracious, courteous, waved him good-by.

Mischievous Martha Again.

It was very still in the brown house on the island. The man called Smith was leaning back in a chair of wild beast skins reading. The rustle of a page when he turned one was almost the only sound to be heard in the house. He had a pad of paper mulberry bark beside him, and from time to time he made notes on it.

At the other end of the great dusky room, seated near a doorway, where the rich sun of afternoon made rainbows in his brilliant hair, was Antares. As the older man sat, so sat he, his young white limbs, under their ivory colored tunic, stretched out, one hand holding a book, the other copying from what he read. In spite of the delicacy, the overslimness of the youth; in spite of his hair, which was red golden like a Raggiana's wings, where Smith's was almost gray; his black, mothlike eyes, all unlike the steady eyes of his father, that were blue green as deep seas; in spite of the thirty years of time that lay between the two, Antares, outwardly at least, was an almost ludicrous likeness of Smith. He had the older man's tricks of posture, movement, accent, he held his head and moved his hands as Smith did. You would have thought, had you been looking on in some unseen corner, that the boy was mocking his father.

"Antares," came presently, in Smith's deep voice.

"Yes?" Antares was buried in his book; his slim, sun-kissed fingers had ceased to move upon the paper; the charcoal pencil stood still.

"What are you reading?"

"What are you?" His answer implied the freedom that existed between these two. If Smith commanded and the boy obeyed it was through no parental tyranny.

"Schopenhauer."

"This," said Antares, holding up a little gilded book.

"Not a novel?" the man frowned for an instant.

"No. Why do you think I would disobey you? It's poems."

"Poems? As far as I remember you never cared for poetry."

"I did not know what it was like," said Antares.

"Why, you learned plenty of it by heart!"

"I never really learned it. I never—knew." The youth was holding the tiny volume in both hands; his lips moved silently. Smith rose and went over to the doorway. Antares was murmuring:

There is none like her, none,
Nor will be when our summers are deceased.

"What does it mean, 'summers are deceased,' father?" he suddenly broke off.

"There is a part of the world," said Smith, "where the sun does not always shine. When it ceases, and the leaves fall, and the cold comes, they say that 'summer is deceased.'"

"Leaves fall! How terrible! And cold. What is cold?"

"I can't tell you that, Antares. You wouldn't understand. But it is painful, and miserable. Sometimes men die of it."

"And the sun does not shine. Is it always night there?"

"There are places in the world where it is night for half a year. In others it is night soon after day comes, for a long time."

"I don't want to go to those places. But—father—the words are very lovely. And there are other words—about blossoms of purple and red. There is something in those words—"

Now it was Smith who spoke. In a voice strangely, deeply, musical, he quoted the famous lines:

She is coming, my own sweet!
Were it ever so airy a tread
My heart would hear her and beat
Had it lain for a century dead;
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red.

"Is that what you mean?" he asked. Antares nodded. His eyes were sparkling with tears. "You tell it beautifully," he said. "Does it make your heart burn, though you don't know why?"

"It made my heart burn once," said the man.

"Do people's hearts burn in that country where the summer dies?"

"Yes, Antares. Very much and often. They can burn in other countries, too. But in other countries you can get away from it all. You can bury it; forget. You can't do that in the countries where summer dies; because the thing that makes hearts burn is there all the time."

"What is it?"

"Love! I heard you say that the people in the village—love."

"That's different. I used the word because there are uglier words, not fit for you to hear. You've always known about the people in the village. That's not real love."

"What's real love?"

"I'll answer you that if you'll tell me—why are you asking?"

"I don't know," said the youth, flushing painfully.

"But I do," said Smith, half to himself.

"And I know—it has all been no use."

"I don't understand."

"You will. You will, damn them!"

"Why do you 'damn' them? You hardly ever swear."

"Because," said the man, moving back to his own chair, "they've broken the Mirror of Shollott—and now that you have Tennyson in your hands you can read that and see what it means."

"I've read it before," called out Antares to the retreating back, "and if you mean that 'the curse has come upon us' I really don't agree with you, father. I think it's—it's quite too nice—to have visitors."

"I suppose you've got that from the woman they call Mrs. Lyle."

"Hush! There she is!" Antares' red cheek grew pale with sudden excitement. The volume of Tennyson slid to the floor; the youth jumped up, smoothed the folds of his tunic, felt his wavy hair. Smith looked on with a bitter smile; seemed about to speak, but, changing his mind, was silent.

In the flaming oblong of the doorway came two cool white figures; a woman in a dainty frock of lace and a tall, heavy man, immaculately clothed in drill.

Martha could walk with incomparable grace. She knew it, and loved nothing so much as an open space across which she might, swanlike, make her swimming way. She had seen the great, gaunt figure with her cleverly careless eyes before she was well through the door, and she advanced to meet him, chin a little up, eyes a little hidden under thick creamy eyelids, hand—ungloved, shimmering with jewels, perfect—held high to meet the long brown fingers of Smith.

"So you," she said, "are the famous hermit." Her voice was flattery, almost a caress.

The man who was called Smith bowed, old-fashionedly, over her hand. Martha, with the exquisite smile still fluttering over her face, like chilly." That was everything he was going to say about the escapade. It had ended fortunately. He had luckily been near and had heard her cry in time. The rest was automatic. He did not want gratitude. But he was conscious that the morning had immediately altered their relationship. They could not in future be strangers. For one thing, he now saw Elizabeth without her spectacles. He saw unobscured, that is, a face that was both piquant and delightful. He also saw Elizabeth's hair and felt it against his cheek, as a curly mass and not as a miserable collection of odds and ends, as it had seemed to be upon the previous night. There was something intoxicatingly alluring about her this morning. She was changed—in looks, in voice, in manner, in everything. A most peculiar emotion, which he had never previously known, surged up in Bill's breast. He repressed it. Laughter followed, and the impulse to tease. Surely, their acquaintance was making rapid strides! Dare he speak a candid word? Should he? No. Yes.

Continued on Page 11.

The Heiress

Continued from Page 2

"I say," said Bill. "Er—if I might give you a word of advice—leave your hair as it is." He glanced sideways into a soft brown eye, dull no longer but fresh with the dewy freshness of early morning.

"What d'you mean?" she demanded. "Wet?"

Bell hesitated again. His courage almost fled.

"No," he said, sturdily. "I mean—not in rat tails." He heard her gasp.

They were indoors, unseen. They were upon the stairs—at the door of her room. He had set her down. Color flamed in her cheeks. The sense that she was quite different this morning from what she had been thrilled Bill anew. She looked arch, attractive, winning. With that color, with that shyness, she was the most charming picture he had ever seen. It was difficult to think her the same person.

"I want to thank you," she said. "You've been——" She caught his hand and pressed it gently. "You've been splendid." Then, with the blood in her cheeks and a broad smile upon her lips, and a convulsion as of laughter, she indignantly exclaimed, "Rats' tails, indeed!" And, turning, was lost to his view, a little figure wrapped in a large, woolly dressing gown that trailed after her as if it had been a court robe.

* * * *

As he dressed that morning, Bill had a number of very peculiar and illuminating thoughts, and he went down to the cream lattice windowed breakfast room whistling a little air. He did not, of course, whistle when Aunt Gertrude, looking apprehensive, arrived, but greeted his aunt with a smile of good cheer. She, however, came close to him, her lips tightly drawn together and her ordinarily kind and smiling eyes hard with determination.

"I've quite made up my mind," she said. "I'm going to be taken ill."

"My dear auntie" Bill threw back his head and laughed.

"Anything else is quite impossible. You must go away, and I'll fall very ill. I'm sure dear old Doctor Downey wouldn't mind saying I was too ill to be nursed—hush!"

Elizabeth slopped into the room. Her hair was not in rats' tails, but it had been brushed very severely, so that it lay flat upon the top of her head. Her glasses were in place, and her frock was a dingy red, the color of flannel and somewhat of its appearance.

"Goodness!" whispered Aunt Gertrude to herself. "Impossible!"

Elizabeth and Bill exchanged a glance—upon her side imploring silence regarding the bathing episode, upon his not imploring anything at all. The three of them settled themselves about the breakfast table, while all without was bright and encouraging with sunshine and the songs of many birds.

"Did you sleep well, my dear?" asked Aunt Gertrude, freezingly.

"Thank you, yes," Elizabeth's voice was suddenly cracked again, so that Bill started with surprise.

"Will you have tea or coffee? I have both here."

"Coffee, please."

During these amenities they had forgotten Bill, who had found a long envelope beside his plate, had sliced it open, and had begun to read the contents. Suddenly he sprang to his feet with a wild "Hurray!" His face was deeply red, as if with excitement. As quickly as it had arisen, however, his excitement died down. He looked at both the astonished ladies and said, gravely enough:

"I'm sorry to have to tell you that this letter contains news of the death of a man I never saw. My great-uncle Ephriam, in fact."

"Dead!" screamed Aunt Gertrude. "And has he?"

"He has left me the whole of his fortune, amounting to five hundred thousand dollars—one hundred thousand pounds in our currency—and I'm a rich man." He was rather pale.

"Rich!" cried Aunt Gertrude. "Then you won't have to marry an—I mean——"

Bill looked at Elizabeth. She also was pale.

"My aunt," he said, quietly, "has been afraid that the only chance I had in life was marriage with a rich wife."

"Yes," said Elizabeth, quite as quietly, "she told me that when she sent me your photographs."

"Photographs—s-s! Plural!" shouted Bill. "O, you wicked woman! Elizabeth, do you know that she revealed to me yesterday morning this notion of hers. She told me that she'd invited you. She admitted that she'd sent you one snapshot."

"Three photographs—one a cabinet," said Elizabeth. "So I thought I'd come and see what you were really like. You sounded awful."

"You impertinent girl!" cried Aunt Gertrude. "He's a rich man!"

"Aha!" exclaimed Bill. "You thought you'd come, Oho!" And with that, to the astonishment of both his companions, he raised his fist and violently struck the table before him. His face was that of a judge pronouncing sentence.

* * * *

Almost nothing more was said during the meal, of which none of them ate much. Aunt Gertrude sat with her color coming and going, mincing with a piece of toast; Elizabeth kept her head low, so that only her flattened hair and the large spectacles and the tip of her demure nose could be seen. As for Bill, he read and reread the solicitors' letter which had brought him the glad tidings.

"This makes a lot of difference," said Bill, ruminatively.

"Yes; you're richer than I am," added a little cracked voice.

"Twice as rich!" snapped Aunt Gertrude.

Silence thereafter. It continued until Aunt Gertrude abandoned her toast and looked coldly towards Elizabeth. And at that all three rose. Bill followed the others; and as Elizabeth was about to go out of the room he caught her arm.

"I want to speak to Miss Paget," she protested.

"There's something I want to say to you first. All right, Aunt Gertrude." Bill had a new masterfulness in his manner, and Aunt Gertrude made no demur. She proceeded upon her way, with straight back and head held very high, while Bill closed the breakfast room door and confronted Elizabeth. For a moment he frowned sternly upon her. Then he snatched from her nose the spectacles which disfigured her face. "Masquerader!" he hissed. "Take off those absurd shoes! Do your hair properly! Put on a pretty frock! And let's see what you're really like!"

"I won't!" Elizabeth, fiery red, stamped her foot.

"You will!" Bill glared at her. "You've no right to play a trick like this on a nice old thing like Aunt Gertrude!"

"How was I to know she was nice? Or you, either? You both sounded awful. And, anyway," flared Elizabeth, "she had no right to think of me as a convenient chattel. She wrote as if the highest good I could hope for was to support an insufferable prig for the rest of his life."

"Prig meaning me," swallowed Bill.

"But you're not. You're a d——" It was Elizabeth's turn to swallow.

"Listen," said Bill. "When you've apologized to Auntie——"

Elizabeth gave one sob. Said she: "I should be doing it now, if you hadn't kept me here."

"You and I will have a talk," continued Bill, as if she had not spoken.

"I'm leaving by the eleven o'clock train!" She was defiant. "I'm going back to my friends and comfortable shoes."

Bill shrugged his shoulders. "You're doing no such thing," said he.

Again they faced each other with flashing eyes. Then, as if the strain for seriousness was too great, they both began to laugh, and Elizabeth's two hands were in Bill's.

"I'm sorry," she said, with real penitence. "I started in fun. I wanted to frighten you both for being sorry." Bill shrugged a second time.

"You succeeded," he told her. "You gave us the fright of our lives—especially auntie, who must have felt she'd burned her boats. But you couldn't hide your hands, you know. Hands and feet together. The hands gave you away."

"What!" cried Elizabeth. "You knew all the time?" Her eyes shone.

"I'm afraid auntie won't forgive you," Bill prevaricated. "I think you took her in, and she won't forgive that. Who would?"

"Will you?" Elizabeth spoke very low. He hesitated. He was trying to look into her eyes and she would not allow him to do so. There was so much to tell her that the rest of his life would not be long enough for the telling. Bill's breathing was a little faster than usual. If only he could see her eyes! At last he abandoned the attempt and answered.

"I'll forgive you everything on one condition," he said. "It's a hard one."

"Is it too hard?" whispered Elizabeth.

"Perhaps so. It is that you do what you were brought here for."

"You mean, m——" The color overspread her face afresh. Then, "O, but you don't need me now."

Her hands were no longer her own.

"After all, I saved your life," Bill reminded her, shamelessly. "You owe me something for that. And also, I shall want your help in spending my new fortune."

"Nothing else?" whispered Elizabeth. "You shame me."

She was in his arms. Her hair was being ruffled into some semblance of its normal richness.

"For heaven's sake, burn that pink dress!" Bill said in her ear. He felt her laughter. "It nearly killed both auntie and me."

"And my singing?" asked Elizabeth, with a smothered bubbling of laughter.

"You wretch!" cried a voice which made the two of them start apart. Aunt Gertrude stood in the doorway. Her white hair seemed to stand erect in horror. "You little wretch! And your playing! And let me ask you this! Parker has just found Bill's dressing gown in your room. She asks what about it? How did it get there?"

She looked very stern, but the corners of her mouth were twitching.

"Auntie!" cried Bill. "I can explain everything. But would you mind first forgiving my future wife. She has been naughty now, but she is going to make up for it in future by being as good as gold. She'll be a daughter to you, auntie."

"An hour's music a day!" groaned Aunt Gertrude. "And your dresses, my dear!" She continued to frown, with twitching lips, until Elizabeth ran imploringly to her side. Then, immediately, Aunt Gertrude capitulated. "However, if Bill wants me to forgive you, I suppose I must."

"Don't forget, auntie, that it was you who brought her here," said Bill. "The credit is all yours. You can claim it for the future."

"True," agreed his aunt. "And, after all, it is quite nice for a wife—even the wife of a rich man—to have a little money of her own."

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution.)

My Lady Far Away

Continued From Page 9

a butterfly over a bank of flowers, thought swiftly—"Pukka sahib!—nothing else could look dignified in a bathrobe and bare legs!" and melted into a chair.

He was roused from his thoughts by a light touch on his arm. Antares was standing beside him. There was a book in the hands of the youth.

"Will you do something for me?" he asked.

"All right," said Hugh, casually, feeling for his match box.

"Will you tell me something?"

"Right-O. Is it lessons?" For Antares had opened the book. His short upper lip, so short as to be almost a fault, and yet almost a beauty, quivered. His eyes, now hooded, now flashing out like lighthouse signals on a stormy coast, astonished the elder with their untamed fires. "Did I ever look like that, at sixteen or so?" he thought; and swiftly came another thought; the vision that had haunted him, lately, of a son like, unlike Antares. "Red hair for ginger," he thought. "But you are very hot stuff, my boy, for your age. No, I don't think I want the next but one Lord Wilsdon to look just like you. Still you are a broth of a boy, for all that." This passed in a moment; in the next moment, he heard Antares answering—"No. I want you to read this." He pointed to these lines:

But most of all would I flee from the cruel madness of love,
The honey of poison flowers and all the measureless ill.

Hugh read them. "Well?" he said. "What is love?" asked Antares.

Hugh shut the book, and looked at him. "Now how the deuce—" he thought. "Now what the devil—" He recalled the forked lightning looks that the boy had sent towards Martha. "If he's getting jealous of her—we shall have a very pretty kettle of fish on our hands in about two twos," he thought.

"I know what the honey of poison flowers is," persisted Antares. "I've gathered it."

"O?—indeed?"

"Yes. Flowers out in the bush. Red and black. I have it. It is 'measureless ill'; it can make you die." (Hugh was to remember those words). "But what is love? Not the love of natives in villages—I know that—but the other thing; the thing that makes you—" he was almost trembling now; his eyes blazed—"that makes you when you are dead a hundred years wake up if someone's foot treads over you, and makes your heart blossom—purple and red flowers!"

"(Jiminy, what a voice; chap ought to be on the stage. He said that like Evelyn Laye.) Why, Antares, that's a thing that certainly isn't poison of any kind; but, my dear chap, you're only a kid; you shouldn't worry yourself about those things. Wait till you—wait till you meet the right girl," he was going to say, but checked himself, almost with a groan. "Mewed up in this wilderness—how can he ever—it's a crying shame."

"I found it, today," went on Antares, still with that tense vibration that was not quite a quiver in his voice. "In this book, that I hadn't wanted to look at—for father made me learn poetry about the Last Minstrel, and boys on burning decks, and I didn't care for it. Those things were called poetry. But this is different. And I have been wanting to know that—and so many other things—since—since—"

"Since?" asked Hugh. "Now we shall get it," he thought.

"Since you all came on the boat. Nothing has been the same." His eyes again strayed towards Mrs. Lyle. They were angry eyes.

Hugh followed his glance, and being not quite the meekest of men, felt himself, astonishingly, in accord with Antares. Martha, seated beside the hermit, was exerting every wile of which she was mistress—and they were many—upon his apparently insensible spirit. Hugh knew her. He knew that dangerous, demure attitude; that wicked little foot, straying with apparent unconsciousness; that fluent leaning of the whole slight body, expressive in every line, while the face, ivory smooth, ivory pale, was calm as a moonbeam falling upon snow. That was her way. He ought to know! What the—one hundred inexpressible things—did she mean?

"Do you love her?" asked Antares, suddenly.

"Of course," replied Hugh.

"Is she honey of poison flowers?" Hugh bit off the—"Gad, I think so!" that all but passed his lips. Instead, he said, didactically, "You mustn't take a lady's name in vain; it isn't done. And as for love, Antares"—for he did not care to snub the boy; who would snub such a creature of fire and air, break the wings of such a butterfly?—"It's the finest and the greatest thing in all the world, and when you find it, as I—I—hope you will, you'll know that I'm speaking the truth. And as for your poet, the man in the poem called it poison flowers at first, if I remember, but he had something else to say when she came along. That was when he found out about the purple and red flowers. And you'll find them too—some day. And, my word, she'll not be so unlucky a girl either."

"What girl?"

"Your girl. (If that confounded old father of yours ever does his duty)," he added privately.

Antares rose to his feet. He was quivering all over now. "Is she a girl?" he asked, glancing at Martha.

"We seem to be going rather fast—Yes, you can call her that, if you like."

"Then," said Antares, "I would rather be dead than be a girl or have a girl, if—I—or—or look at one." And he was gone.

More piqued than he would have believed possible, Hugh stared for a moment at the retreating form of the boy. "I suppose I must have got across his hawser somehow," he thought. "Curious chap—but jolly interesting. I wish I had the bringing up of him." And through his mind drifted the vague longing for authority over something young and new that is apt to find a man in his late thirties developing, later, into the definite passion for fatherhood that drives so many into marriage about the turn of forty. "I don't know why I take an interest in him," he thought defensively. "He's a bit of a molly when all is said and done." He turned his attention to Martha.

Mrs. Lyle had insisted on being brought over to see the hermit and had given no one any peace until it was done. "He sounds too delightful for words," she declared, "and I really do want to know the father of that charming boy."

"Well," Hugh had told her, "you shall go if you'll promise me to play no tricks about the natives."

"Tricks?" she repeated, looking up innocently. Something in her glance recalled to Hugh a saying overheard in his schoolboy days about the famous actress Ellen March. "No one could possibly be so innocent as Ellen March looks . . ."

Ellen March was married and off the stage twenty years ago; her dimity demureness and her coy poke bonnet would never delight an audience again. But the spirit of Ellen surely survived in this creature who was his. No one on earth could have been as innocent, as simple as Martha looked at that moment. "Promise," persisted Hugh.

"O, I promise. I'll keep beside you all the time if you like. I shan't even look at a cannibal if one comes along."

"They won't come along. All I want is that you should promise you won't roam about alone looking for them."

"Dear me, no!"

And there she was, not twenty minutes after their arrival, crossing in her swimming way the space of the great hall, hands clasped before her, head well up, chin back, as if she were entering a London drawing room, out into the grounds and garden at the back. She had taken advantage of his preoccupation with Antares to end her talk with Antares' father and slip away by herself.

Smith was following her with his eyes as if he did not quite know what to make of her. He had risen and was still standing by his chair when Hugh came over to join him.

"She said she wanted to go alone," he explained, still staring.

"Who's out there?" Royden had caught a glimpse of dark forms, woolly heads.

"Only the garden girls."

"Thought I saw a man."

"That was your own boat boy, Jacky. She called him up."

"That's better. She gives me anxiety with her imprudence at times. I allow it's hard to realize that these queer people are actually dangerous. If you hadn't sent your message—whatever it was—that first day—"

"Don't rely on me," warned Smith gravely. "You must remember all these experiments are experiments only so far. We are handling forces only half understood. They may, and do, fail."

"I don't rely on any one but myself," declared the other. "I take it I needn't follow her now?"

"Unnecessary. My women laborers can't harm her. No native men are allowed on the island."

"A very good rule. Yes, thanks, I will. How do you get such capital looking cigars?"

"Antares and I make them for home use."

"Is he a cigar smoker?" Hugh felt a trifle surprised.

"No. Doesn't smoke."

"Ah, you are bringing him up carefully."

"I'm bringing Antares up," replied Smith deliberately, "in the way that best suits me." It was a snub, but Hugh could be very unsnubbable when he liked.

"Just so," he answered. "Do you reckon he'll marry a black?"

Into the eyes of the hermit came an angry light.

"Antares will marry no one," was his answer. "Antares has nothing to do with that sort of thing."

Hugh drew at his cigar. "Seems odd," he commented through a cloud of smoke, "under the circumstances that you fill the place with girls."

"You go too far," said Smith.

"I beg your pardon, sir. Your guest, I know, and all that—but the trouble isn't what you say. Trouble is I don't go far enough."

"Explain, if you please."

"O, I'll do that. You're heading straight for the rocks with Antares, and before you know where you are you'll have him running away. And I must say I could not blame him."

"You could not blame him! For leaving peace, safety, a world where there is neither sorrow, nor love, nor money, nor society, none of the things that curse life and rip it to rage—none of the links that bind you to your fellow men with rivets driven into the flesh, tearing you at each movement—a world that's as near heaven as you can get on earth—where one is spared and safe! To leave that for—"

"Life."

"Well, what is life? Agony when it isn't boredom."

"You didn't think so when you were a lad of fifteen."

"If I'd known then all I know now I would have found a place like this just so many years sooner, and been spared—"

"That's it. We don't want to be spared when we are young. We even want to suffer. Do you suppose that uncle of mine would willingly have been spared the adventure and romance of his life—the girl who followed him and died for love of him? He lived before he was buried. Your Antares hasn't lived and never will unless he runs away. I'm speaking for the boy, sir. He can't speak for himself. Give him a chance."

Hugh, watching the face of Antares' father, could not fathom it. Its expression, deliberately hardened, showed nevertheless a trace of something almost like fear. It was as though he were listening with concealed impatience to a mischievous child who spoke of mad, foolish deeds. . . .

"Thank you. You mean well," he said with an effort. "Suppose we go and look for Mrs. Lyle?"

Hugh, following him, remembered his odd bit of clairvoyance—if it had been clairvoyance—concerning Martha and her divorced husband; wondered a little whether Moses (who looked more than ever like the formidable Michael Angelo marble this afternoon) approved of the lady or not. . . .

Out in the garden it was very lovely—lovely enough to make Hugh, a true Royden, see, unwillingly, some trifle of reason in the passionate attachment of Smith to his island home. The tropic sun, still high, flooded the land with light of "gold like unto glass." The flaming green of the mangoes, crowned with russet flowers like racemes of giant mignonettes; the kopoks, spreading out their wide arms like swimmers breasting a sea of blue; the banyans, pillared, solemn, with python roots and banners of pendent hair; the sturdy sagos, plumed with green the richest in the world—were not these as fair, in their opulent beauty, as the delicate beeches, strong oaks, elms and hornbeams of wintry England; the light-leaved eucalyptuses, pale violet blossomed jacarandas of Australia? On

CHIROPADINE
THE NEW
20¢ CORN PLASTER
PUTS E-E'S IN FEET
For Corns, Bunions, Callouses
ALL DRUGGISTS, OR WRITE
CHIROPADINE CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

30 DAY TRIAL ONLY $1.99
High Grade Sterling Barber Outfit. Cuts, Trims, Shaves, Smooths. Action, Close Cutting, Steel Clippers. Fine Barber Comb and Shaver. Send No Money. Pay Postman $1.99 and postage. Use 30 Days. If not satisfied, return in good condition and purchase price will be refunded. STERLING CO. N.B. 194 BALTIMORE, MD.

LIQUOR or DRUG HABIT
Cured Forever or No Pay Full treatment sent on trial. Can be given secretly in privacy of home. Guaranteed to banish forever all desire for whiskey, gin, wine, home brew, moonshine, opium, morphine, heroin, paregoric and laudanum. Costs $2.00 if cured, nothing if fails.
Save him from Poison.
STANDARD LABORATORIES
Station H-22 Baltimore, Md.

My Lady Far Away

Continued From Page 11

the women's houses the sun faded thatch was like mat silver; under doorsills and eaves black shadows lay in pools. Above the broad leaves of the bananas on which lay a bloom like frosted velvet, the lake showed blue as hyacinth, striated with long glassy flaws. Over all was the benediction of high sun shining through—the lure, the dream of the wilderness and the long, long day.

Hugh Royden looked at it all and said to himself, "I shall be member for Wilsdon. I shall be on County councils and consider main drainage schemes. I shall sit on boards of companies. And if I ever feel that I want to cut my throat over it all I shall think of Antares' father."

Mrs. Lyle was in the food garden pacing about among the orderly rows of bananas and the trained-up creepers of the yams. Some native women dressed in little grass kilts were moving about near her working among the vegetables and casting shy glances at the wonderful white woman. Jacky, the irrepressible interpreter, attended on her at a little distance. Nobody seemed to be doing anything in particular, and there were no men anywhere within sight. Royden, without knowing why, felt relieved. He had been possessed with an idea that "Martie was up to something."

She came to meet them, cool, self-possessed, dainty as ever.

"I've been talking to these dear things; they are so quaint," she said.

"What have they said to you?" asked Hugh, somewhat idly.

Martha veiled her eyes; she was conscious that they told rather too much. "O, nothing, she said airily. "They asked me a lot—about who I was, and where my husband was, and so on. They fingered all my clothes and had a good look at everything. Quite a godsend to them, poor dears, I've no doubt. Jacky had to intervene; they nearly pulled my things off in their excitement."

"You should not let them annoy you," said Smith. He turned to the women and spoke to them briefly.

They picked up their digging sticks and fled.

Martha laughed a little. "Locking the stable door when the steed is stolen," she thought. "You little know how much too late you are!" She looked at the big gaunt man with a new admiration in her eyes; a poignant interest that did not escape her observant lover. "What the hell does Martie mean, staring at the fellow like that?" he thought. "She'll put ideas into his head before she knows where she is. He's no Methusaleh, yet. How women do love to play with fire! And she can't possibly be interested in him; it's all pure mischief."

In which conclusion Martha could have told him he was mistaken. That uninterrupted few minutes in the garden, among the native girls, had changed, for good, her outlook upon life, and love, and Hugh.

The yacht lay poised upon the lake like a long white bird. Jacky, the general factotum, had advised Hugh Royden to have her moored in the lee of a small uninhabited island, a basket of greenery, bright as flax in spring.

"If we get another blow like the last," he explained, in his curious mixture of pigeon and interpreters' English, "she drag her anchor close up, by 'n' by she lie down altogether, she makem pinish."

"Drag and go aground? I should not wonder," answered Hugh, giving the necessary orders. "If she did," he continued presently, to the sound of clanking chains, "what would happen."

"I can tell you that," replied Welsh. "By the way, just look at this little lady I got ashore; she's beautiful." He held out on one fingertip a spider, big as a small marble, color and texture of fine ivory, with palest green shadows under its belly. "Lives among the pawpaw flowers," he explained. "Looks as much like a pawpaw flower herself as she can. This other one hangs out in sunny corners, where she looks like a ray of light. She's a beauty; aren't you, my lady?" He held up a thing with long black clutching legs, and a back of pure silver. He seemed to have forgotten everything else. "Little queen," he said, touching her with an infinitely delicate finger. "And this bit of dirt, no shape, or all shapes—cornery black scrap—that's another live spider; lives in dusty, dirty corners; you've seen her a hundred times and never knew what she was. . . . The yacht? O, yes; that's curious, too. Did you ever see vultures coming down on a corpse?"

"Yes, in Africa," answered Hugh.

"Well, you know how they come; first no birds at all, then one, then five, then fifty, then a hundred and fifty—all in so short a time that you couldn't believe it unless you saw it yourself; no vultures anywhere in sight one minute, the next, down and at it, from the far ends of the earth. . . . Well, that's the lake."

"How do you mean?"

"Just what I say. You see nothing here; that's because there is no corpse. But just let the Lahara get into difficulties—run aground, or smash in a blow—and there'd be a canoe or so alongside at once from some place where they're spying near at hand. And then, another canoe or two would see them paddling in the distance, and set to work, at racing speed. And miles off others and others would see and join in. And in an hour or so you'd have the whole lake district on your back. . . . Exactly like vultures."

"Well, we aren't going to go aground, and we aren't going to smash, so I suppose we shan't have any chance to study the phenomenon," answered Hugh, somewhat formally. He thought that Welsh was somewhat too free with his suppositions in the presence of Martha. Martha was such a rash little devil; he did not like to see the way in which the very name of danger excited her. She was half drunk on it now—confound that bug hunter! Standing near to Royden, with her little figure poised on one foot, the other beating time on the deck in an inaudible dancing tune, Martha looked the very spirit of mischief.

"Keep your head," he said to her as the engines began to throb.

"I've never lost it," she answered. "You might be surprised, my dear Hugh, if you knew how very levelly it's set on—just at present."

"I certainly should be surprised, if I knew anything of the sort. I wish you'd try and remember, darling, that your position—the position of hope you're going to have—will need some carrying. I don't mean to say," he hurried, "that you're the only one will have to think about p's and q's. I know jolly well that a small station owner will have to train on quite a good bit before he can make a satisfactory—satisfactory—"

"Baron," supplied Martha cheerfully.

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution.)

Continued in Next Sunday's Magazine

"Egg Era" Impends in America, says Sculptor

Continued from Page 7.

nose will soon be going into eclipse."

At a deft touch he donated a particularly nice one to the dancer. "It will be an easy age for painters and sculptors," he added thoughtfully.

Which, with this and that, switched the talk around to artists and sculptors of the present age; their work, their fight for recognition.

"And it oughtn't to be a fight," said Conlon seriously; "in fact, the artist has his biggest fight in the United States, where things ought to be easiest. Why do so many young sculptors and artists come over here to Paris instead of working in their own country? Because they get more encouragement here, and the reason they get it is because France gives an official, governmental recognition to art. Nobody is under the delusion that France is so rich a country as the United States; yet France holds official salons each year in Paris and the young artist can work on something representing his ideal with the comforting knowledge that France is back of him and that if he makes good he will receive—oh, not a big sum, but enough to have made his labor worth while; enough to encourage him to continue."

"If he does a good piece of work, the French Government will buy it; the French Government sets aside a sum for exactly that purpose. Often the French Government presents the work of art to the native town of the artist, and so it comes about that nearly every French town has a good museum."

"In the United States, if a man does a good piece of work he generally has to depend on some commercial firm or some private collector for a sale. This is one reason why American art grows more and more commercial. It's a pity. What America needs is a secretary of art, a national art fund, some national scholarships. There are plenty of artists. An official salon, held annually in Washington or New York, would both encourage young artists and give them standards to live up to. It would also give them the advantage of comparing their own work with the work of better men; in other words, something to fight against, and a fight is necessary to an artist's development. New York or Washington could become one of the great art centers of the world. I repeat that we have the talent; all we lack is a ministry of fine arts. And we lack that only because we haven't quite waked up to the need for it. I wish the women's clubs would take up the idea. The art spirit doesn't need to be planted, nor revived, in the United States. It's there now, frost-bitten a little but very much alive. A mixture of races is the best recipe for genius, and beneath the sunshine of an official salon, how that genius would flower!"

He ought to know. He began taking prizes at the French salons long ago, and one of his recent sculptures, the Jemmett Memorial, unveiled last July at Biarritz, was described by French officials as "the finest monument to chivalry in modern times."

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution.)

A Boy's Unselfish Love for a Dog

What is Finer or More Worth Cultivating

THIS new and fascinating book, telling the story of

COP: CHIEF OF POLICE DOGS

By Reginald M. Cleveland
Illustrated by Paul Bransom

will make just the right Christmas gift for the children you want to remember. It will inspire them to a greater appreciation of their pets—or satisfy in part those heart hungry children to whom pets are denied because of unavoidable circumstances.

Read the book yourself—you will be surprised how it takes you back to the days of your childhood—how even a grown up will enjoy this thrilling story of a noble dog.

Put COP on your Christmas list now and ask your bookseller or department store to save several copies for you.

MILTON BRADLEY COMPANY
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Bradley Quality Books

Life's Secrets!

Amazing book, "Life's Secrets," tells you the things you want to know about sex matters, straight from the shoulder. Gives advice to newly married. Explains anatomy of reproductive organs, impotence, law of sex life, mistakes to avoid, diseases, pregnancy, etc. Contains startling sections: 1—Science of Eugenics, 2—Love, 3—Marriage, 4—Child-birth, 5—Family Life, 6—Sexual Science, 7—Diseases and Disorders, 8—Health and Hygiene, 9—Story of Life. In all, 10 chapters 77 illustrations. 512 pages. Over a million copies sold. Will you examine at our risk? Mailed in a plain wrapper.

Send No Money

a cent. Pay postman only $1.98, plus postage, on arrival. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

FRANKLIN PUBLISHING CO.
Dept. 9129, 800 N. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

LUCK

Money, happiness, success. There's health, wealth and happiness joy in love in games, in business all around you. Get your share. See it. Wear Luckodermus. A Wizard of Good Luck. This beautiful Good Luck ring embodying all the famous symbols can be yours. Seven Good Luck wishing rules FREE. Pay Postman $1.95.

Luckodermus Co. N-105 Columbus Ohio

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S Young Folks Section

SPORTS—GAMES—PUZZLES—RIDDLES

THE PUZZLE COLUMN

Thanksgiving dinner is a great occasion, and our puzzles this week are right in tune with the coming holiday. First of all is the proud turkey. Isn't he a dandy? There are some good words where his feathers ought to be, too.

COBBLER.

The definitions are:

- Horizontal.
1. Perform.
 3. Thanksgiving feast.
 7. Come out.
 9. Southern state (abbr.).
 10. To weaken.
 11. Butter substitute.
 14. Exists.
 15. Kind of vessel (abbr.).
 17. What you do at dinner.
 18. So (Latin).
 20. Girl's name.
 22. Snare.
 24. Period of time.
 25. Thoroughfare (abbr.).
 26. To drink slowly.
 28. A playing card.
 30. Used for pie.
 32. Mounds of dirt.
- Vertical.
1. To prepare a turkey.
 2. Used in soup.
 3. A beverage.
 4. Noise of satisfaction.
 5. Eaten at breakfast.
 6. You.
 8. Eaten with turkey.
 9. Used to cook dinner.
 12. Meadow.
 13. Hearing organs.
 14. Desserts.
 16. To scratch.
 19. Within.
 21. Is without.
 23. Point.
 27. Place.
 29. In explanation (abbr.).
 31. Pronoun.

What part of the turkey do you like? Four different parts are pictured here.

CAN YOU GUESS THESE FOUR PARTS OF A TURKEY?

A man who was rather deaf entered a little South church. He seated himself in a front pew and placed an ear trumpet on his knee. An elder of the kirk, who had never seen an ear trumpet, watched him with grave suspicion.

When the minister entered, the man lifted the trumpet from his knee, but before he could adjust it he felt a tap on his shoulder and heard the indignant elder saying:

"One foot, an' you're not."

FAMOUS

ART THOS. DISRAEL
WM. GLADSTONE
STATESMAN
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS - 8-1848
FRANK B. KELLOGG - SECY STATE - 22-1856
RUDYARD KIPPLING - 30-1865
EDWIN F. LADD - SENATOR - 13-1859
JOHN MILTON - POET - 9-1608
NERO - 15-37 B.C.
SIR ISAAC NEWTON - SCIENTIST - 25-1642
ISAAC WALTON - 15-1593
JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER - 17-1807
WOODROW WILSON - 28-1857

DECEMBER

1927

M	T	W	T	F	S
			1	2	3
5	6	7	8	9	10
12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

SOUTH POLE DISCOVERED BY CAPT. ROALD AMUNDSON
DECEMBER 14-1911

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS AT FRAUNCE'S TAVERN
DEC. 4-1783

CHRISTMAS
DECEMBER 25TH

HALIFAX DISASTER
DECEMBER 6-1917

LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS
DECEMBER 21-1620

Laplanders Count

Reindeer as Wealth

If you were riding through the country and saw, instead of the usual flocks of white sheep grazing in the fields, large herds of reindeer with their curved antlers, strolling about quite tame and contented, you would surely wonder at the sight. In Lapland and Alaska, however, you would not find it unusual, for the reindeer are the "sheep" of these countries.

They not only provide for themselves all year 'round with very little care, but they furnish food and clothing for their owners, and so valuable are they to the Laplanders that in their country a man's wealth is estimated by the size of his reindeer flock.

In the summer the herds wander about in search of fresh shoots and leaves of young trees and shrubs. They are equally at home when climbing among the rocks of the mountains or when grazing on the plains, for they have broad flat hoofs with a cleft in the middle which they can contract or spread out as they choose.

The reindeer gets ready for the long winter by growing a heavy coat of fur that is thicker and more closely packed than that of any other animal. His food in the winter is the reindeer moss which he must dig for through the snow. He probably flees the winter season best of all, for in

Editorial

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING

There is a place for everything. Nature, herself, teaches that. Each planet is in its own orbit; each season in its own time; each plant and tree growing in its correct latitude and longitude, as is each animal and race of people.

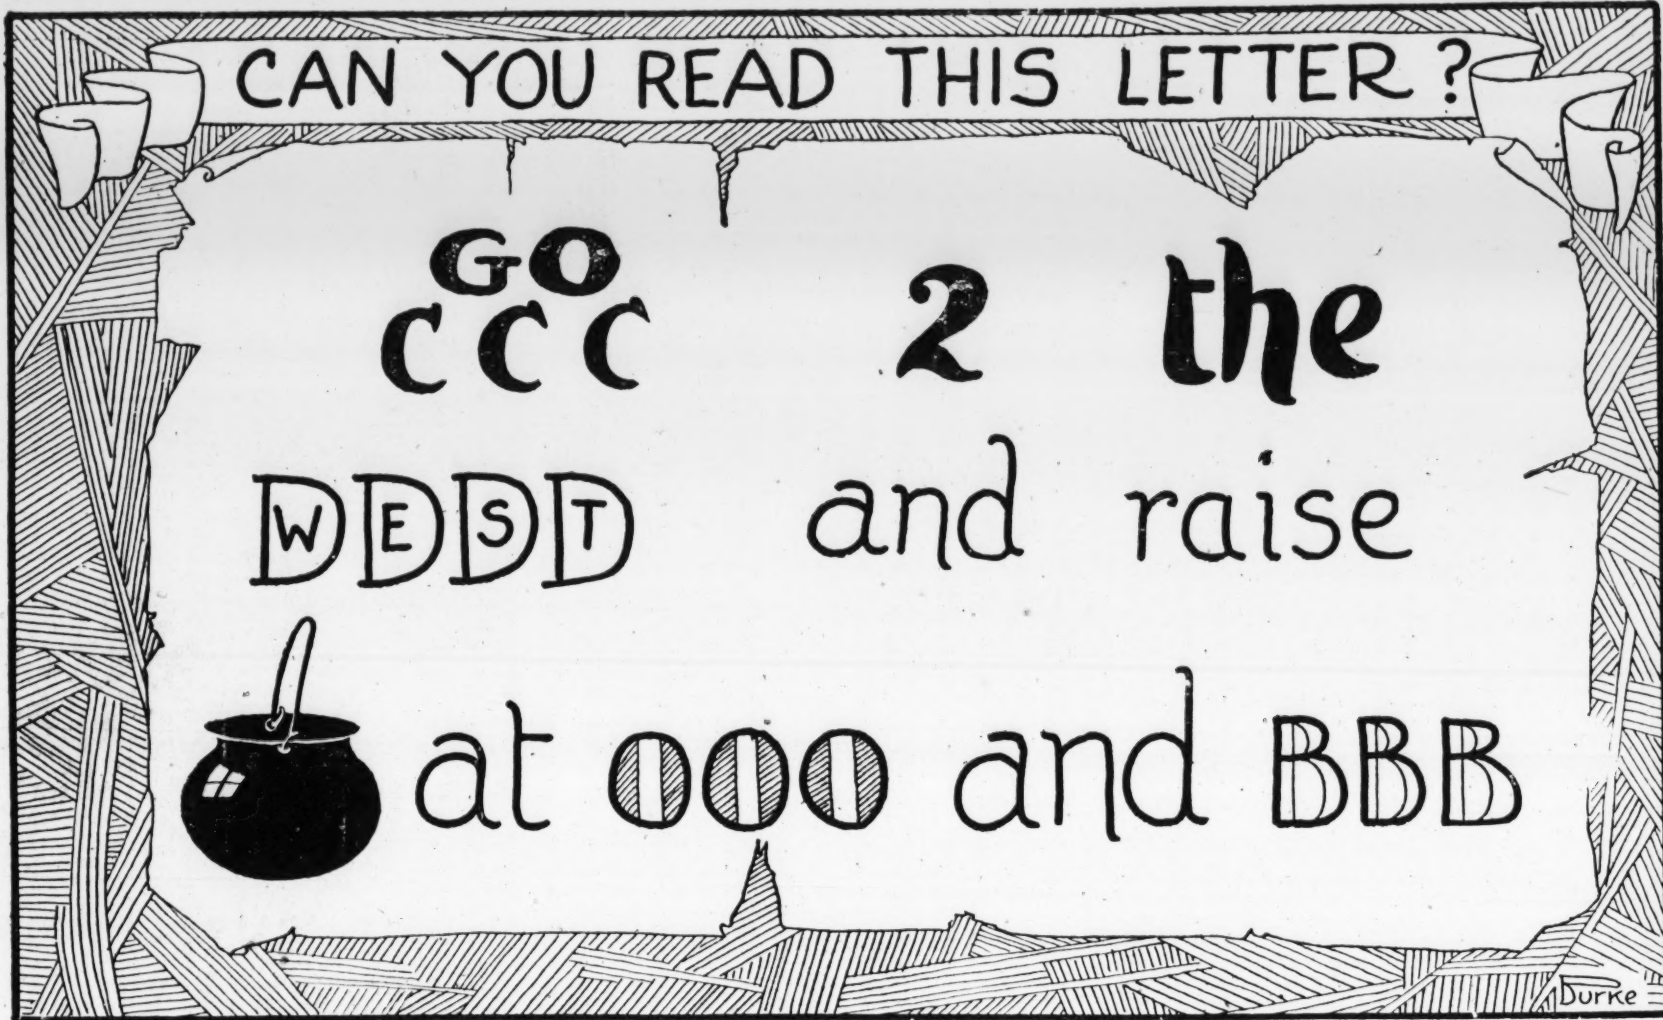

How is it with us? Are our clothes and books and playthings in the places where they belong? Or are we always madly searching for them and so losing time and opportunities and temper. What if nature followed our bad example and piled winter on top of spring or let fall come before summer? Had polar bears browsing in southern woods and maybe humming birds flitting about icebergs? No, sir, you don't find Nature getting herself into any such mess.

So let's learn a famous lesson from dear old Nature. Let's watch the example she sets for order—how perfectly this order works—and let's "order" our lives accordingly and then note how wonderfully they slip along.

The summer he is bothered by gadflies that get under his heavy coat and annoy drive him mad with their stings.

The reindeer cannot travel very fast, but walks with a slow, awkward straddle. What he lacks in speed, he makes up for by his great strength and endurance in pulling sledges over long distances.

PUZZLERS

Here's a letter that a certain young man has just received. It's rather hard to read, though. Can you tell what it means? Compare your answer with that on page three.

The letters in the words on each line stand for the name of some foreign country. There are three in all. Can you arrange the letters on each line so that you get the names of these countries? Answer on page three.

KEEP THEM APART

Three animals have their cages in a certain enclosure—a cat, a dog and a rat. Each has a private gate to the enclosure, and if only the right fences were built, each animal could reach its own gate without crossing any other animal's path. Can you show how the fences should be built so that each animal leaving its house could reach its own gate?

The BOYS and GIRLS PAGE

Start Ballet Dancing With Exercise Below

A few weeks ago we told you about the five positions of the hands and feet that are essentials of ballet dancing. If you were interested in them you have undoubtedly kept the picture that was published at that time, and have been practicing diligently. Even if you have not, however, you can get benefit and pleasure out of the movement shown this week.

The picture shows you two young girls in a studio, with their mothers looking on in the background and their instructor telling them to "Eleve!" This French word is pronounced "Elevay" and means rise.

You will note that the girls are in fourth position. The movement is simply a deep knee bend and rise on the toes.

Do this exercise with your feet in the first and fifth positions also, repeating four times in each position. Always have some solid support, such as the back of a chair, a table or a parallel bar. Before any other work is attempted at the beginning of an exercise period, these movements should be done.

Watch for the explanation of other simple ballet exercises to be published in a short time.

Short Story, Jr.

BRAVE BEN.

It was the night of the senior class play. The little old "city opera house" with its capacity of eight hundred was crowded to overflowing. People sat in the aisles on chairs; a number even stood in the back of the house.

"Wouldn't it be terrible if there was a fire?" Miss Lenn, the fussy little principal of the high school, worried. "Nobody could ever get out of here. It isn't safe to let so many people in."

"I feel nervous, too," replied her neighbor. "You know the old building has been condemned for years. I'm glad I'm not back under the balcony. It's just packed. What if it should come down!"

"Oh, mercy! Don't suggest such a horrible thing. I know I shan't be able to enjoy the play. I just feel that something dreadful is going to happen."

Ben Flint, sitting in front of them and listening to the conversation, grunted with disgust. "The fussy old thing. I'd like to see myself worrying about something but the play," he thought. "Women aren't happy unless they're scared about something."

However, when the curtain went up even Miss Lenn forgot everything else. It was a very good play. Every one was tense with excitement when suddenly the quiet was broken by a loud crash under the balcony, followed by several piercing screams.

"The balcony is falling," some one shouted. "Oh, oh!"

A thin cloud rose up over the edge of the balcony. "Fire! Fire!" the frightened yell rang out. "Help! Help!" In a second every one was on his feet, pushing, screaming, yelling, trying to reach the door. There was real danger of a stampede. The audience was out of its head with fright.

Not the least frightened was Ben Flint. He never knew how he did it, but the first thing he knew he had shoved and pushed his way through the crowd to the exit. Pale and trembling he stood panting on the steps. He did not notice the crowd around him. He felt dazed and queer. It was awful to be so frightened. It was like being homesick and seasick and hit in the head all at once.

The first thing he realized he felt a hand on his arm. "Why, it's poor little Ben Flint," said Miss Lenn, her voice full of sympathy. "Were you frightened, Ben? I'm sorry. It was only a little piece of plastering that fell off the ceiling under the balcony." She put her arm around his shoulder. "Come on back in, dear, and see the rest of the show."

MORE DEADLY.

Tourist in Western Town: I suppose men still die around here with their boots on?

Sheriff: Yep, but 'tain't from six-shooters now as much as from six cylinders.

Something to Do

A BOXING DUMMY.

You can slip on your boxing gloves for a fast round or two whenever you feel like it, with this padded boxing dummy for a partner. It will duck and swing about in a very lively fashion, and will catch you on the chin on some of the rebounds if you are not on your guard. It will take you only a short time to set up this boxing dummy in your home gym or your room.

You will need two small grain sacks of durable canvas, a flexible coil spring about twelve inches long, a two-by-two board six feet long, and two bolts with rings, together with two large screw-eyes for fastening the dummy to the floor and ceiling or rafter. Rip the bottom of one of the sacks and stitch it to the top of the other to form a canvas sack about six feet high, and tapering from a thickness (when padded) of one foot at the top to eighteen inches at the base of the sack. Rags, straw or excelsior is then stuffed about the two-by-two shaft, placed at the middle of the sack and extending the length of the sack. Drive bolts with rings at the top and bottom of the two-by-two board, or use large screw-eyes instead, and gather the ends of the sack together at the top and bottom, fastening them with stout cord and driving a nail or two into the ends of the board.

Fasten a large screw-eye in the rafter, and directly underneath fasten another to the floor. Connect the ring at the top of the dummy by fastening it in one end of the coil spring, and hook the lower screw-eye or bolt into the one in the floor. The dummy is held in a perpendicular position by a length of wire or rope, fastened to the ring in the ceiling.

Mother (to Willie): Here it is Monday. Tomorrow will be Tuesday and the next day Wednesday. The whole week half gone and nothing done yet.

CONVENIENT.

Talkative Woman (on board ship): Can you swim?

Sailor: Only at times, ma'm.

Talkative Woman: Only at times! How strange! And when do these moments of ability come to you.

Sailor: In the water, ma'm.

AS SCIENCE SEES IT

CAN FISH DROWN?

You know, since you go swimming, that you cannot remain long under water. You must have air and you must, therefore, come to the surface at regular intervals to breathe it. But how about those animals which live continually under water? Can they drown? In other words, must they have air in order that they may live? All living things need air; that is, they need the oxygen, which is part of the air they all breathe. And if they are for any reason deprived of it, they will die. Fish are no exception to this rule. They must breathe air, even though they do not breathe it as we do.

All water, unless it has been boiled, contains air; and the fish get their supply of it directly. The water flows in a continuous stream through the gill-slits just back of their eyes, and as it does so, its air goes directly to the blood vessels in this part of the fish's body.

But if fish are placed in water that has previously been boiled so as to exclude all the air dissolved in it, they will die in a very short time. This is one reason, too, why the water in a fish bowl should be changed occasionally. Water that is old loses some of its oxygen and takes on other gases that are apt to prove decidedly unhealthy to the fish that live in it.

TELLING THE COOK.

Customer: "Chicken croquettes, please."

Waiter: "Fowl ball!!!"

NO, LET'S HEAR IT.

Have you heard the story of the Scotchman who went crazy trying to shoot off a cannon a little at a time?

HELP IN NEED.

"Is Annabelle really so dumb?" "Is she? Why, she's so dumb she thinks hold-up men are swimming instructors."

MILD CRIME.

Judge: Professor, you are accused of murdering your entire class.

Prof.: Don't be hard on me, Judge. It was only a small class.

NATIVE LAND.

A kindergarten teacher asked her youngsters to name a country. With no knowledge of geography, none answered—except one small boy who waved frantically. "Very well, Freddy," said the teacher, "What country can you name?" "Tis of thee!" he cried.

SOME JOB!

"Johnny, stop poking little Edward!"

"I ain't pokin' him, Ma, I'm countin' his measles."

AROUND the WORLD

A ROMAN WALL IN ENGLAND.

The Romans came to England about two thousand years ago and ruled the country for many years. They built forts and palaces, residences, roads, baths and theaters, the ruins of which can be seen in various parts of the country even today.

But they were not always at peace in the country. Savage tribes came down from the north periodically to attack the Romans at more or less regular intervals. And so, to keep these hordes away and to protect the settlements of the Romans to the south, the invaders built two walls from coast to coast. One of these was built from the Firth of Forth in Scotland to the Firth of Clyde; the second wall, further south, was over seventy miles long and extended from the mouth of the River Tyne to the mouth of the Solway.

The walls were guarded at regular intervals by soldiers stationed in forts and it served admirably as a means of defense for many years. But trouble in Italy forced the Romans to leave and they left, among other things, the two roads they built so many years ago. The ruins can still be seen winding over hill and dale across England, mute evidence of the civilization that existed there nearly two thousand years ago.

—The Globe Trotter.

UNCONSCIOUS.

"There's a fellow unconscious in there," said the town wag.

"Dear, dear!" exclaimed a sympathetic passer-by. "What's the matter with him?"

The town wag removed his toothpick.

"Forgot to wind his alarm clock," he replied.

ANSWERS TO PUZZLES.

1. The words in the Turkey cross-word puzzle are: Horizontal—1, do; 3, turkey; 7, emerge; 9, Ga.; 10, sag; 11, oleo; 14, is; 15, 8; 17, eat; 18, sic; 20, Clara; 22, net; 24, era; 25, St.; 26, sip; 28, ace; 30, pumpkin; 32, tea. Vertical—1, dress; 2, okra; 3, tea; 4, um; 5, eggs; 6, ye; 8, potato; 9, gas; 12, tea; 13, era; 14, ices; 16, scrape; 19, in; 21, lacks; 23, tip; 27, put; 29, E. I.; 31, me.

The parts of the turkey are drumstick, gray, breast and heart.

2. The things in the Thanksgiving dinner were: 1, cranberry; 2, catsup; 3, turkey; 4, lobster; 5, celery; 6, terrapin; 7, salmon; 8, pickles; 9, crullers; 10, potatoes; 11, doughnuts; 12, roast pig; 13, macaroni; 14, beans; 15, tomatoes; 16, tea; 17, salad; 18, turnips; 19, beets; 20, corn; 21, hominy; 22, rolls; 23, mangoes; 24, rice; 25, oysters; 26, apple sauce; 27, pumpkin pie; 28, plum pudding; 29, ice cream; 30, nuts; 31, raisins.

CAN YOU READ THIS LETTER!

Go overseas to the West Indies and raise Potatoes and Bees.

Three foreign countries: Russia, Holland, Persia.

BOYS & GIRLS EARN XMAS MONEY

Write for 50 Sets St. Nicholas Christmas Seals. Sell for 10c a set. When sold send us $3.00 and keep $2.00. No work just fun. St. Nicholas Seal Co., Dept. 200 AC, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE ADVENTURES OF PETER PEN

BY NICK NICHOLS

SHADES OF BAGDAD!

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE THIS LITTLE CARPET CAN TAKE ALL OF PETER PEN'S FRIENDS TO THE LAND OF JUST S'POSIN? WATCH!!

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S YOUNG FOLK'S SECTION

Features of All Kinds for Boys and Girls

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Chapter 55—A Duel for a Kingdom.

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Little Orphan Annie

MARION GRAY

YESSIR, SANDY - HE'S GOIN' TO POKE HIS BEAK INTO A LOT MORE 'N HE'S LOOKIN' FOR 'FORE LONG - THOSE NOSEY BIRDS ALWAYS DO -

PUPIL No. 840 - ONE REEL - BY INK

HELLO TEACHER, HOWDY DOO - GOOD MORNING.

GOOD MORNING, ROSCOE.

SEE THIS YERE BUNCH A SWELL DAISIES?

I DO, ROSCOE.

WELL, I PICKED 'EM JIST FER YOU -

NOW ROSCOE, YOU MUST SAY "I PICKED THEM FOR YOU ALONE."

NIX! NIX! I DIDN'T PICK 'EM FER YOU ALONE,

'CAUSE JIMMY GALLIVER WAS WITH ME.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927

Mr. and Mrs. -

By Briggs

NOV 27-27

©1927 N.Y. TRIBUNE, INC.

AND SO - FAR FAR INTO THE NIGHT

Briggs 27

BAW!

WINNIE WINKLE

THE BREADWINNER

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune.

BRANNER

